RR Chairman Hears Plans

Past investments and future planning for Arlington Heights downtown renovation were reviewed before Ben W. Heineman, chairman of the board of the Chicago and North Western Railway, by a delegation of village officials last Friday.

Trustee John J. Walsh Jr., representing the village board in lieu of hospitalized Pres. John G. Woods, Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson and Village Atty. Jack Siegel met with Heineman in his Loop offices.

"We reviewed our thinking on the possibility of depressing the North Western tracks in Arlington Heights and/or other means of track crossing the railroad would consider desirable," Walsh told the Herald Tuesday.

"Purpose of the meeting," he said, "was to draw the reaction of the North Western Railway to the project."

"THERE WERE drawbacks from the viewpoint of the railroad but Heineman was very receptive to the kind of planning we had done," he continued.

"They put forward objections primarily from the cost standpoint but they did not close the door to a solution. We both felt there could be mutual benefit.

"The encouraging thing about it is this particular railroad and Heineman in particular was very much interested in what we are doing. He indicated they would continue this interest and would continue to work with us in seeking a solution," Walsh said.

Heineman told Arlington spokesmen the railroad was impressed with the village's efforts at downtown renewal.

Knot Undone For Street Improvement

A snag in progress on a major street inprovement has disappeared with the announcement that Bill Cook, owner of Bill Cook Buick at Davis and Euclid Streets, will dedicate to Arlington Heights a 10-foot side swath of his property abutting Davis.

The agreement was announced by Harold Klingner, board of local improvements (BOLI) member, at Thursday's meeting.

Cook owns all the property abutting the southwest side of Davis between Euclid and Salem Avenue. His promised dedication will enable BOLI to widen Davis to 32 feet with sidewalks and a five-foot parkway.

The widening of Davis is part of a project which includes the improvement of Salem and Eastman Street south of the Chicago and North Western tracks.

PROGRESS ON that project was held up because there now is only a 33-foot dedicated right-of-way for Davis — wide enough for just a 24-foot street with no parking.

Additional footage for Davis could not be acquired from the railroad because it needs the land for crossing gates at Euclid.

Cook's agreement to dedicate the 10 feet of his property for an increased Davis Street right-of-way is the result of his meeting with Klingner and special commissioner Robert Bishop.

BOLI had authorized them to meet with Cook and present three proposals under consideration for the improvement of Davis.

Among them were a 36-foot-

Boy Hit in Stomach By 'Rocket'

An Arlington Heights youth was taken to Northwest Community Hospital Sunday, a victim of a rocket malfunction.

According to police, Mark A. Wall, 15, 1429 W. Brown, was working on a homemade rocket in the basement of Robert H. Clare, 1315 W. Elm, when it exploded and struck him in the stomach.

HIS ROCKET was a CO-2 cartridge which he was stuffing with match heads. He was treated and released from the hospital.

With the youth at the time of the misfire were Steven F. Lane, 14, of 923 N. Race; Douglas A. Robson, 15, of 927 N. Chicago and Paul V. Clare, 15, of 1315 W. Elm.

Pupils Show Music Methods

SEVERAL THIRD GRADERS from Westgate Elementary School clap to basic rhythms as taught by the Carl Orff music method. Thirteen youngsters filed into the South Junior High School cafeteria Monday night and gave a display of foot-stamping, clapping and finger-snapping to more than 60 persons attending the school board-staff meeting.

But this was no nonsense. It was a serious attempt by third graders at Westgate Elementary School to demonstrate to parents and school officials the new Carl Orff method of learning music.

UNDER THE DIRECTION of their music teacher, Madeline Sauerbier, the children showed how basic rhythms can lead to a firm foundation in understanding the more complex facets of music.

In order to learn rhythm, Miss Sauerbier explained, the children are taught chants, hand-clapping and finger-snapping routines, combined with certain body movements.

After learning the simple rhythms, the children are taught to synchronize the techniques, she said. She demonstrated the synchronization by having half the children clap their hands, snap their fingers and slap their thighs to one beat while the other half kept time to a counter beat.

MISS SAUERBIER then showed how these rhythm patterns are later applied to simple percussion instruments such as the sounding block and bells. Three youngsters

Teachers Ask Pay Hike

The Arlington Heights District 25 school board will meet Monday night to consider a proposal by the Arlington Teachers Association (ATA) that the annual base salary for teachers be increased by $150.

The association, however, is not asking for any change in the current salary index. The requested increase would raise the base salary from $5,300 to $5,450 a year. The base salary is the annual income for a beginning teacher holding a bachelor's degree.

Elaborating on the base salary request, an ATA statement said the association proposal did not represent an ideal salary schedule, but merely "a step in the right direction."

The school board last year raised the base salary from $5,150 to $5,300 as part of overall schedule that was estimated to cost the district an extra $130,090 a year.

THE SCHOOL board salary committee is expected to make recommendations on the ATA proposal. The committee met with ATA members several weeks ago and discussed future salary levels. There was no word on what the committee's recommendations would be.

A request will also be made for a liberalization of policies governing sick leave, the provision of a medical and hospitalization plan for teachers, a four per cent salary increment for teachers coaching interscholastic sports, and two days' leave each year for personal business.

The proposal for liberalization of sick leave policy asks that each teacher receive 10 days a year and that unused days be credited to the following year. It further requests that seven days after accumulated sick leave is exhausted, the teacher receive a salary equivalent to the difference between his regular salary and his substitutes's.

Also, the association is asking that two days' paid leave be provided to teachers when absence is caused by a death in the family. The two days would not be deducted from the regular sick leave.

In addition, the proposal allows teachers two days a year for personal business. Again, this time should not be deducted from regular sick leave or holidays, according to the proposal.

Currently, a 60-day limit is placed upon accumulated sick leave.

THE FORMAL statement said, "The association feels the 60-day limit in accumulated sick leave is inadequate and unfair. The teachers who over a period of years have used little sick leave are forced to give up days to which they would normally be entitled."

The four per cent increment for teachers coaching interscholastic sports, the association asserts, is based on the feeling that the program is separate from regular intramural activities. The district sponsors interscholastic basketball among children from the district's junior high schools.

The basic medical and hospitalization plan sought would include a major medical clause.

Village Backs Downtown Site

by MARY CAMILLE SCHLOTT
Staff Writer

Park and village officials have agreed to locate the proposed Arlington Heights cultural center in the downtown area. The agreement came Saturday after the village offered to back its desire for a downtown cultural center with hard cash.

Officials said the village would share the cost of acquiring a downtown site to replace the less expensive, five-acre location which the park board had planned for a theater and fine arts facility.

That key problem — cost of relocation — solved, park board members and trustees set March 12, also a Saturday, as the date for their next meeting. At that time the two boards will discuss ways to finance the cultural center and be closer to a decision on what the facility should include.

BY THAT DATE, too, the officials should know whether the federal government, which must approve the cultural center's relocation, is likely to do so.

Trustees said they would use money from the village's builder donation fund to make up the difference between the cost of purchasing a block downtown and the cash value of the present cultural center site south of the Nike base near the Surrey Ridge subdivision.

Trustees said they would also see that parking would be available nearby, so that an unspecified block-square downtown site, probably about 2½ acres, would be enough. The park board had previously considered the five acres a necessity, but that estimate included parking space.

BY THE MARCH 12 meeting the two boards hope to learn:

—If the federal government, which provided the present cultural center site, a former Nike base outpost, will agree to a swap of locations.

Just what facilities Village Theatre and other interested community organizations, including women's clubs and art and music groups, agree are desirable for a downtown cultural center.

—How much these organizations will be able to put in the kitty to cover the center's operating costs.

—What will be the best way of financing the cultural center's purchase and construction.

Present at the Saturday morning meeting were Park Board Pres. Jack Edwards, park commissioners Charles Cronin and Douglas Thomson, village trustees Jack Walsh, Frank Palmatier, John White and Roy Bressler, Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson and Park Supt. Thomas Thornton.

JOHN F. LOBENHOFER and other representatives of Village Theatre, local amateur theater group that says it can raise $100,000 to build the theater arts building, will be asked to the March 12 joint meeting, both boards agreed.

Village trustees were assigned the task of looking into the financing arrangements for the cultural facility before March 12. Park Attorney Charles Bobinette will be asked to check out the land swap proposal with

Garbage Pickup Rate Hike Is Under Study

The Arlington Heights Village Board's finance committee has under consideration a request by the Laseke Disposal Co. which could result in an increase of 25 to 50 cents in the monthly garbage collection fee.

When committee members met with company officials last Thursday, Atty. Paul H. Knott, representing the disposal firm, presented a certified audit indicating the company is losing money under current rates.

The financial statement, prepared by the Arthur Andersen Co., certified public accountants, listed operating losses last year at $8,605.

THE CURRENT contract effective since November, 1964, will expire this November. The Laseke Disposal Co. wants to petition the village for immediate modification of the contract. Company officials indicated they would appear before the finance committee to seek recommendations for a rate-increase before it is submitted to the village board.

The current rate provides garbage pickup twice a week.

Despite the company's income increases from $344,413 in 1964 to $386,797 in 1965, Henry Laseke, owner of the company, said higher operating costs caused the loss.

Knott said the higher costs primarily were attributable to increased labor expenses and increased costs of truck operation. The addition of extra men to provide uniform back door service, and salary increases, have added $50,000 to Laseke's labor costs, Knott said. New equipment has added to truck and hauling expenses.

He told the board that when the current contract was negotiated it was predicated upon a return of 10 per cent on invested dollars — an amount he admitted was high. He stated that auditor projections showed an increase of 25 cents a month would yield the company a 1.5 per cent return and an increase of 50 cents monthly would yield a 4.6 per cent return this year.

WITH VILLAGE growth, the return would increase next year to 4.2 per cent for a 25 cent increase and 7.5 per cent for a 50 cent increase.

The firm did not indicate, however, how large an increase would be sought.

Knott met flat opposition when he told the committee Laseke might petition for a reduction in service as well as an increased rate. He noted the current contract sets no limit on the amount of rubbish to be picked up at each home. Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson and committee members told him they would oppose any limit on load pickups.

Hanson said if a limit were set, the excess "will end up on every vacant lot in town."

THE VILLAGE board is expected to act Monday on a post card survey on residents' attitudes towards back door pickup. The survey was promised when the back door service was begun 15 months ago.

Formerly residents had the option of curbside pickup at $2.10 a month or backdoor pickup at $2.95. Presumably, results of the survey could affect Laseke's rate request. (A

Subdivision Plat Okays Are Sought

Two final plats of subdivision will be before the Arlington Heights Village Board when it meets Monday. Both received favorable recommendation from the plan commission last Wednesday.

The commission okayed a plat containing 69 single family lots in Unit 2 of Arlington Terrace subdivision. The subdivision is south of Palatine Road and east of Buffalo Grove Road. Developer is Fidelity Builders.

COMMISSION approval also was given to the final plat of Meister-Neiberg's Ivy Hill subdivision Unit 6. At the same time, Vista Road and Burke Drive dedications by the Commonwealth Edison Co. were approved. The streets will cross the power company's highline right-of-way.

The 65-acre Unit 6, a residential development north of the existing Ivy Hill subdivision, includes the first segment of the planned MacDonald Creek Parkway. (A

Objections Holding Up Assessment

Progress on the special assessment program for improving Olive Street in Arlington Heights has been held up by objections by our Savior Lutheran Church and the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Kenneth Stonesifer attorney for the board of local improvements (BOLI) reported Thursday that an attorney for Our Saviour Lutheran Church has filed an objection to the special assessment project in Circuit Court. Approval of the project will be delayed until the objection is heard in court.

SANITARY DISTRICT opposition was reported by Charles McBride, representative of BOLI consulting engineers Consoer, Townsend and Associates. He said the district would not issue a permit for the proposed sanitary sewer because it would connect a drainage structure to an existing combined sewer.

McBride reported that the sanitary district would approve the plans if an interceptor were constructed from Marion Street.

Egnineers will appeal the sanitary district decision and report to BOLI next Thursday.

March 10 Deadline On Paving Deposits

Arlington Heights residents on Kaspar Avenue between Northwest Highway and Oakton Street have until March 10 to get their deposits in if they wish to have the street paved by private contract instead of through special assessment.

At last Thursday's hearing on the project, the board of local improvements (BOLI) continued formal hearings until March 10, when it will vote on having the project done by special assessment.

BOLI members indicated that they will definitely vote for special assessments unless residents along the street can arrange to have the street paved by private contract and get their escrow deposits in to the village engineer by March 10.

It is estimated that improvement costs generally run 15 to 30 per cent higher by special assessment than by private contract because of the extra legal, engineering and other work involved. Thus residents might save substantially if they can get together to have their own contractor do the work.

RESIDENTS concerned were to have had escrow deposits covering cost of construction in by last Thursday.

But it was revealed that only a small percentage of residents had submitted deposits.

BOLI will not go along with paving streets by private contract unless it is done in contiguous sections. Thus even if a majority of residents on a block wish to have the project done by private contract, it might be stymied by a few holdouts who won't—or couldn't—put up escrow deposits.

One resident stated that many homeowners along the street had not gotten deposits in because they were uncertain what BOLI would do and were unwilling to get bank loans.

BOLI'S STATED purpose in continuing hearings on the project until March 10 was to have modifications made in engineering plans and give Atty. Kenneth Stonesifer time to prepare the legal resolution. Implicit was a desire by BOLI members to give residents wishing to get the project done by private contract another chance to rally their forces.

In answer to questions from the audience, BOLI members indicated that standard bank letters of credit will be accepted for escrow deposits in lieu of cash or certified checks. This was a move to accommodate residents who will borrow to cover the cost of the project but do not wish to process a loan until they are sure the project will go through. (A

'Take Me Out To a Ball Game'

It isn't just the Braves' attorneys and Milwaukee County Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller who have their minds on baseball this early in the year.

The Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce is lining up reservations for two baseball outings, one for the Sox-Kansas City game in Chicago June 15 and the other for the Cubs-Cincinnati game July 20. Chamber members interested in the $6-per-game package, which includes transportation, refreshments and snacks, should contact the chamber office. (A

Thomas Jr. High 'Adopts' Orphan

The student council of Arlington Heights' Thomas Junior High School has voted 35 - 1 in favor of adopting financially an orphan in Greece.

The proposal was taken before the council by Craig Sjogren, an eighth grader.

The north side school will contribute $10 a month for food, education and clothing for the Greek orphan. (A

Talks Begin On Acquiring Library Site

Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel has had preliminary contacts with the attorneys representing present owners of two properties where the new Arlington Heights Memorial Library will be located, the library board was told last Thursday.

Voters last January approved purchase of the full block bounded by Dunton, Euclid, Vail and Fremont as a site for a new library, expected to open next year. A survey of the site has been completed. (A

Garbage Pickup Rate Hike Is Under Study

The Arlington Heights Village Board's finance committee has under consideration a request by the Laseke Disposal Co. which could result in an increase of 25 to 50 cents in the monthly garbage collection fee.

When committee members met with company officials last Thursday, Atty. Paul H. Knott, representing the disposal firm, presented a certified audit indicating the company is losing money under current rates.

The financial statement, prepared by the Arthur Andersen Co., certified public accountants, listed operating losses last year at $8,605.

THE CURRENT contract effective since November, 1964, will expire this November. The Laseke Disposal Co. wants to petition the village for immediate modification of the contract. Company officials indicated they would appear before the finance committee to seek recommendations for a rate-increase before it is submitted to the village board.

The current rate provides garbage pickup twice a week.

Despite the company's income increases from $344,413 in 1964 to $386,797 in 1965, Henry Laseke, owner of the company, said higher operating costs caused the loss.

Knott said the higher costs primarily were attributable to increased labor expenses and increased costs of truck operation. The addition of extra men to provide uniform back door service, and salary increases, have added $50,000 to Laseke's labor costs, Knott said. New equipment has added to truck and hauling expenses.

He told the board that when the current contract was negotiated it was predicated upon a return of 10 per cent on invested dollars — an amount he admitted was high. He stated that auditor projections showed an increase of 25 cents a month would yield the company a 1.5 per cent return and an increase of 50 cents monthly would yield a 4.6 per cent return this year.

WITH VILLAGE growth, the return would increase next year to 4.2 per cent for a 25 cent increase and 7.5 per cent for a 50 cent increase.

The firm did not indicate, however, how large an increase would be sought.

Knott met flat opposition when he told the committee Laseke might petition for a reduction in service as well as an increased rate. He noted the current contract sets no limit on the amount of rubbish to be picked up at each home. Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson and committee members told him they would oppose any limit on load pickups.

Hanson said if a limit were set, the excess "will end up on every vacant lot in town."

THE VILLAGE board is expected to act Monday on a post card survey on residents' attitudes towards back door pickup. The survey was promised when the back door service was begun 15 months ago.

Formerly residents had the option of curbside pickup at $2.10 a month or backdoor pickup at $2.95. Presumably, results of the survey could affect Laseke's rate request. (A

Subdivision Plat Okays Are Sought

Two final plats of subdivision will be before the Arlington Heights Village Board when it meets Monday. Both received favorable recommendation from the plan commission last Wednesday.

The commission okayed a plat containing 69 single family lots in Unit 2 of Arlington Terrace subdivision. The subdivision is south of Palatine Road and east of Buffalo Grove Road. Developer is Fidelity Builders.

COMMISSION approval also was given to the final plat of Meister-Neiberg's Ivy Hill subdivision Unit 6. At the same time, Vista Road and Burke Drive dedications by the Commonwealth Edison Co. were approved. The streets will cross the power company's highline right-of-way.

The 65-acre Unit 6, a residential development north of the existing Ivy Hill subdivision, includes the first segment of the planned MacDonald Creek Parkway. (A

Objections Holding Up Assessment

Progress on the special assessment program for improving Olive Street in Arlington Heights has been held up by objections by our Savior Lutheran Church and the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Kenneth Stonesifer attorney for the board of local improvements (BOLI) reported Thursday that an attorney for Our Saviour Lutheran Church has filed an objection to the special assessment project in Circuit Court. Approval of the project will be delayed until the objection is heard in court.

SANITARY DISTRICT opposition was reported by Charles McBride, representative of BOLI consulting engineers Consoer, Townsend and Associates. He said the district would not issue a permit for the proposed sanitary sewer because it would connect a drainage structure to an existing combined sewer.

McBride reported that the sanitary district would approve the plans if an interceptor were constructed from Marion Street.

Egnineers will appeal the sanitary district decision and report to BOLI next Thursday.

March 10 Deadline On Paving Deposits

Arlington Heights residents on Kaspar Avenue between Northwest Highway and Oakton Street have until March 10 to get their deposits in if they wish to have the street paved by private contract instead of through special assessment.

At last Thursday's hearing on the project, the board of local improvements (BOLI) continued formal hearings until March 10, when it will vote on having the project done by special assessment.

BOLI members indicated that they will definitely vote for special assessments unless residents along the street can arrange to have the street paved by private contract and get their escrow deposits in to the village engineer by March 10.

It is estimated that improvement costs generally run 15 to 30 per cent higher by special assessment than by private contract because of the extra legal, engineering and other work involved. Thus residents might save substantially if they can get together to have their own contractor do the work.

RESIDENTS concerned were to have had escrow deposits covering cost of construction in by last Thursday.

But it was revealed that only a small percentage of residents had submitted deposits.

BOLI will not go along with paving streets by private contract unless it is done in contiguous sections. Thus even if a majority of residents on a block wish to have the project done by private contract, it might be stymied by a few holdouts who won't—or couldn't—put up escrow deposits.

One resident stated that many homeowners along the street had not gotten deposits in because they were uncertain what BOLI would do and were unwilling to get bank loans.

BOLI'S STATED purpose in continuing hearings on the project until March 10 was to have modifications made in engineering plans and give Atty. Kenneth Stonesifer time to prepare the legal resolution. Implicit was a desire by BOLI members to give residents wishing to get the project done by private contract another chance to rally their forces.

In answer to questions from the audience, BOLI members indicated that standard bank letters of credit will be accepted for escrow deposits in lieu of cash or certified checks. This was a move to accommodate residents who will borrow to cover the cost of the project but do not wish to process a loan until they are sure the project will go through. (A

Plans Requested For Extension Of Lillian St.

The Arlington Heights board of local improvements (BOLI) Thursday directed its consulting engineers to prepare plans for the extension of Lillian Street from the planned Arlington Highlands subdivision east to Arlington Heights Road.

If approved, the proposed extension will run between the Market Basket shopping center, located at Palatine and Arlington Heights Roads, and the Pure Oil Station to the south of it. It would provide direct access to Arlington Highlands from Arlington Heights Road. The final plan of that subdivision was approved recently by the village board.

BOLI engineers are to prepare cost estimates and specifications by the March 24 BOLI meeting. At that time BOLI Atty. Kenneth Stonesifer, is to present a resolution setting a date for formal public hearings on the project. (A

Kids' Bowling Enrolls 144

A gross of Arlington Heights youngsters—an even 144—have enrolled in the park district's junior mixed bowling course. The course, run in cooperation with Beverly Lanes, 8 S. Beverly Ave., is held each Thursday and Friday at 4 p.m. at the lanes.

When enrollments for the course, originally scheduled on Friday nights, passed the 72 mark (the previous high enrollment was 65,) the course was split into two classes.

Instructors Les Zikes and John Miller of Beverly Lanes start the eight-week course at the very beginning: the first session was devoted to shoe fitting and off-the-alley basics.

The junior bowling lessons are for children aged 10 through 13. Cost of the course is 80 cents a week, which includes instruction, two games, shoe rental and tournament trophies.

While no score was kept the first few weeks, the youngsters will now begin keeping scores and will average them. A tournament will be conducted the last two weeks of the program.

Split Vote Grants Some Zone Changes

In a split vote, the Arlington Heights Zoning Board of Appeals Monday gave partial approval to zoning variations sought by builder Ray Carroll to build on 30 under-sized lots along N. Walnut Avenue, south of Thomas Street.

The board granted variations for five of the 60-foot lots after the builder agreed to reduce the total number of lots to 27. He will do so by combining one block of 10 lots into nine, a block of eight lots into seven and a group of seven lots into six. Current village standards require 70-foot frontages; Carroll's lots were subdivided before the current standards were in force, and a variation would be necessary to make them buildable.

VOTING FOR THE limited variation were zoning board members Frederic Marks, Mrs. Alice Harms, George Hauff and Arthur Shogren. Against were Chairman John Kirkland and John Mathison.

Marks will draft findings for the board; Kirkland indicated he would submit a minority report. (A

Seek Score For Unique Card Hand

Any pinochle buffs in the audience?

Mrs. Al Kehe, 535 W. Euclid St., was dealt such an unusual hand last week neither she nor any of her pinochle-conscious friends have been able to score it: five queens and five jacks.

She was playing with her "Cousins Club" — a group of six cousins, at the home of Mrs. Fred Grewe, 306 W. Elm St., when the hand was dealt. Six-handed pinochle requires three double decks, and each player is dealt 20 cards.

"I was so elated. But then we tried to score it. We've heard of three, and even four sets of jacks and queens, but never five." One set is known as a pinochle. (A

Election March 9 For PTA Council

The Arlington Heights Council PTA will hold its election of officers at its meeting on March 9, at 1:30 p.m., at Kensington School.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. V. J. Brazier, second vice president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers. Her subject will be "How Good Is Your PTA Unit?"

NON-MEDICAL PEOPLE CANNOT DIAGNOSE
To diagnose, or find out the cause of an ailment requires more than intelligence. A medical education plus observational experience is needed.

PAIN OR DISCOMFORT RELIEF IMPORTANT
Sometimes a home remedy or non-prescription medicine helps. But, if such pains or discomforts keep returning, it is of greater importance to find out the cause. For pain is an urgent cry from your body that something is wrong and it needs help.

THEN YOU SHOULD CONSULT A PHYSICIAN
Otherwise, a possibly easily cured ailment can gain a foothold and become a serious disease. A physician will check your medical history, give your body an adequate physical examination and study your symptoms. If still in doubt about the cause of your trouble, or to positively confirm his diagnosis, he may give some laboratory tests or require X-rays.

PHYSICIANS TREAT THE CAUSE
Self-treatments only try to relieve the pain or discomfort. That is why you usually will save much sickness-time and possible future harm by quickly consulting a physician about any recurring body problem.

MANY NEW MEDICINES ARE AVAILABLE
Your physician can prescribe the one he thinks will help you most. We stock them as soon as they are released for safe use.

Federal Aid Foes Back Him

Auld Enters Race for High School Board Seat

The chairman of the Citizens Committee for the sixth high school, John K. Auld of 1009 Watling Road, Arlington Heights, has filed as a candidate for the District 214 board.

Auld's petition signers include a number of persons who have been Public opponents of the high school district receiving federal financing.

In seeking the school board seat, Auld will be opposing incumbent board member Dr. Frank J. Smith of 1523 N. Kaspar, Arlington Heights. Smith has consistently supported use of federal money—when available—to help support the high school programs.

Political conservatives, stung by Dr. Smith's persistent and often biting defense of his position during meetings when the board discussed — and finally approved, 5-2 — a Neighborhood Youth Corps program for high schoolers, have talked since last fall of unseating Smith.

AMONG THOSE federal aid opponents were C. Rolland Franzen, C. V. Miller, Thomas Breen, Thomas W. Novotny, and Marvin W. Prellberg, all signers of Auld's nominating petition.

Auld, while acknowledging the likelihood that federal aid may be an issue in the school board election, says he does not oppose all federal aid and does not see himself as a strict conservative.

He says he was approached regarding his candidacy during the sixth Citizen Committee meetings last year and has been urged to run by moderates as well as conservatives and by friends of both national party persuasions.

Owner of Barrington Vending Co., Auld has lived in Arlington Heights for 14 years and was president of the Arlington High Boosters Club in 1963-64. One son, now a student at Knox College, was a high school track star. The other son is enrolled at the high school now.

JOHN AULD

AULD WAS A member of an earlier high school Citizens Committee, in 1963-64, and was asked by the board to head this year's study of the need for a sixth high school.

His name will appear on the ballot after Dr. Smith's, the place determined by the order in which petitions were received. Third on the ballot will be District 214 Board Pres. Arthur Aronson of 2128 N. Schoenbeck Road, Arlington Heights.

Though Aronson, seeking his third term on the high school board, has an Arlington Heights postal address, he lives in unincorporated Prospect Heights. As the sole board member from the unincorporated area, he can only be defeated by someone who also lives in unincorporated territory.

A fourth person has taken out petitions from the administration office. Mrs. Leah Cummins of Elk Grove Village, secretary of the board, says she has had inquiries about where candidates' documents can be secured.

Petitions may be filed with Mrs. Cummins or at the District 214 office, 799 Kensington Road, Mount Prospect, through March 19. Filing papers are available at the District 214 office and from the Cook County Superintendent of Schools.

Our Labor Unrest Is 'First Class'

It seemed like a friendly enough strike.

No Molotov cocktails were thrown. No company or union executives had their homes bombed or cars overturned. Women carried signs. They looked more like suburban housewives than the proletariat of the northwest suburbs.

BAUMANN

They didn't even look professional at it. The women bundled up heavily against the late February chill. They walked, mostly in small groups, and mostly slowly.

There were no billy-swinging, horse-mounted cops present to keep them in order. Apparently, either the police or strikers have grown up since the days of the Haymarket riots.

When the pickets got really chilled, they weren't too proud to duck into a heated trailer parked at curbside, propping placards against the trailers as standins for the cold-toed strikers.

When they were carrying the placards, they held them high for motorists to see, and they smiled broadly for photographers.

Still, it was exciting in a way. Pickets don't often appear in Arlington Heights, unless they're protesting bigotry or water rates.

The signs carried by the striking Ill[illegible]s Bell Telephone Co. accounting office workers—members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers—added spice to the air. Their slogans demanded respect for the dignity of labor. (No More Bargaining with the Office Boys). They defended our fair village (Bell Considers Arlington Heights a Second Class Town).

And they stressed patriotism (Hitler Dreamed of the Power the Bell Telephone Co. has).

The result? The strike ended Tuesday. Starting wages in the Arlington Heights Bell offices will be boosted $3.50 a week; general wage boosts of $2 to $4 a week also were agreed to, with Arlington Heights workers earning 50 cents to $1 over that amount.

The strikers apparently defended Arlington Heights' reputation as a first class town.

Having resisted another Munich agreement and stopped Hitler cold in his tracks, the accounting employes are now back at work.

Presumably, now that they're not bargaining with "office boys," they're taking orders from them.

The whole thing lasted just one week. Having recently reviewed the family budget, I'm hoping it will have caused at least a week's delay in telephone billing.

South Church to Hold Christian Camp Night

Some people judge the hope of arrival of Spring by the visit of the first robin, others by the first crocus to pop out of the ground.

According to Ron Gabbard, Director of Christian Education at the South Church, Community Baptist, South Church in Mount Prospect "Camp Night" is the real advance notice of springtime.

It is at "Camp Night," scheduled for 4:30 p.m. and lasting to 6 p.m. Sunday that youth of all ages and their parents will have an opportunity to hear about the schedule of Christian camps for the coming season.

ANOTHER portent of Spring at South Church, according to William E. Powell of Mount Prospect, is the adult information meeting to be held following the Wednesday evening Lenten Service, 7:45, March 9. All adults acquainted or unacquainted with South Church are invited to this meeting.

Powell, who is chairman of the Board of Deacons, and Kenneth E. Samuelson of Arlington Heights, chairman of the Evangelism committee, are co-chairmen of this event.

Powell pointed out that both meetings are continued evidence of the South Church Community approach to all groups.

THE PROGRAM FOR the family groups on "Camping Night," will include a welcome and introduction by Gordon Abbott; a talk on "The Value of Christian Camping" by the Rev. Richard Haworth, Director of Education for the Chicago Baptist Association; a slide presentation on "Our Program" by Joe Stampf, Director of Camping for the Association; "Moment of Registration" by Gabbard; "Moment of Worship" by the Rev. John Di Gangi, Associate Pastor, all followed by refreshments and an open period for questions and answers.

The camping program includes the Green Lake Assembly program; Day Camping; and general discussion of middle and senior, junior and family camping.

According to Gabbord the evening will be an outdoor indoor session.

THE ADULT information session will follow the March 9 Lenten sermon conducted by Rev. Di Gangi. The subject of the sermon will be "When the Curtain Falls."

Powell said the guests at the service will be introduced to church leaders who will endeavor to explain the activities of the various board and committees, stressing not only their work in relation to the church program within itself but their relationship to the community in general. South Church is a "community style" church.

Federal Aid Foes Back Him

Auld Enters Race for High School Board Seat

The chairman of the Citizens Committee for the sixth high school, John K. Auld of 1009 Watling Road, Arlington Heights, has filed as a candidate for the District 214 board.

Auld's petition signers include a number of persons who have been Public opponents of the high school district receiving federal financing.

In seeking the school board seat, Auld will be opposing incumbent board member Dr. Frank J. Smith of 1523 N. Kaspar, Arlington Heights. Smith has consistently supported use of federal money—when available—to help support the high school programs.

Political conservatives, stung by Dr. Smith's persistent and often biting defense of his position during meetings when the board discussed — and finally approved, 5-2 — a Neighborhood Youth Corps program for high schoolers, have talked since last fall of unseating Smith.

AMONG THOSE federal aid opponents were C. Rolland Franzen, C. V. Miller, Thomas Breen, Thomas W. Novotny, and Marvin W. Prellberg, all signers of Auld's nominating petition.

Auld, while acknowledging the likelihood that federal aid may be an issue in the school board election, says he does not oppose all federal aid and does not see himself as a strict conservative.

He says he was approached regarding his candidacy during the sixth Citizen Committee meetings last year and has been urged to run by moderates as well as conservatives and by friends of both national party persuasions.

Owner of Barrington Vending Co., Auld has lived in Arlington Heights for 14 years and was president of the Arlington High Boosters Club in 1963-64. One son, now a student at Knox College, was a high school track star. The other son is enrolled at the high school now.

AULD WAS A member of an earlier high school Citizens Committee, in 1963-64, and was asked by the board to head this year's study of the need for a sixth high school.

His name will appear on the ballot after Dr. Smith's, the place determined by the order in which petitions were received. Third on the ballot will be District 214 Board Pres. Arthur Aronson of 2128 N. Schoenbeck Road, Arlington Heights.

JOHN AULD

Though Aronson, seeking his third term on the high school board, has an Arlington Heights postal address, he lives in unincorporated Prospect Heights. As the sole board member from the unincorporated area, he can only be defeated by someone who also lives in unincorporated territory.

A fourth person has taken out petitions from the administration office. Mrs. Leah Cummins of Elk Grove Village, secretary of the board, says she has had inquiries about where candidates' documents can be secured.

Petitions may be filed with Mrs. Cummins or at the District 214 office, 799 Kensington Road, Mount Prospect, through March 19. Filing papers are available at the District 214 office and from the Cook County Superintendent of Schools.

Our Labor Unrest Is 'First Class'

It seemed like a friendly enough strike.

Students Demonstrate Techniques in Music

This part of the demonstration brought laughter from those attending when a small girl sighed a relieved "whew" after successfully completing her solo on the sounding block.

With a knowledge of rhythm patterns, Miss Sauerbier continued, the children are able to learn easier to read music. First they are taught to clap to a measure of music to insure an understanding of the rhythm, she explained.

Then they learn to sing the song in syllables (do, re, me, etc.) utilizing the rhythm, she said. The youngsters, half the group singing "sol" and "me" and the other half singing a melody, demonstrated their ability to sing simple harmonic arrangements.

AFTER THE PUPILS thoroughly understand the rhythm and syllable arrangement, Miss Sauerbier said, words are substituted for the syllables.

She later explained that the Carl Orff method, a Russian technique, was relatively new in this country. She described it as "rather experimental."

The 13 children giving the demonstration Monday night came from Miss Sauerbier's four music classes at Westgate. She said she began teaching the method last fall.

One member of the audience said he thought the method tended to teach the children at an early age the current dance gyrations of the teenage set. However, most of the parents expressed keen interest in the technique.

FOLLOWING THE demonstration, three District 25 teachers and the principal of Westgate, Mrs. Helen Castor, explained to the school board how students develop abilities in written expression. The three teachers were Ruth Black, fifth grade teacher at Kensington School, Mrs. Velna Mertens, teaching third grade at Park School, and Sheila Wilson, first grade teacher at Dwyer School.

After a brief introduction by Mrs. Castor, Miss Wilson explained how the foundation is laid for written expression. She said children have a surprisingly good vocabulary and knowledge of grammar when they come to school. This ability is applied to formal writing techniques, she explained.

After learning simple sentences, they are taught to compose simple stories, according to Miss Wilson. The children draw pictures to illustrate their stories, she said.

MISS WILSON displayed some humorous examples of first spelling attempts. Such spellings as "anist" (honest), "iksited" (excited) and "wansapanatim" (once upon a time) drew laughter from board members and parents.

She said that children were not penalized for such spellings because they are taught to associate word sounds with proper spelling.

Mrs. Merten explained that third graders learn an extension of the techniques taught in the first and second grades.

"MOST OF THE children are ready to write more extensive stories by the time they reach third grade," she said. They also are taught to write simple rhyme and blank verse poems, according to Mrs. Merten. This, she said, cultivates an excellence in writing style.

Miss Black said that story-telling skills are very well developed by the time a child reaches fifth grade.

She pointed out, "They hear, they feel, they perceive much more than we give them credit for."

Each of the teachers read samples of their students' writing.

Board member Charles O. Bennett—a writer himself—praised the teachers, saying, "I am pleased each of you stated that you teach the children to write by telling them they must write."

Township Set to Go On Thomas Paving

Wheeling Township Road Com. William Leuhring is ready to proceed immediately with the improvement of the township portion of Thomas Street between Arlington Heights and Wilke Roads, Township Supervisor Albert D. Peters told a combined meeting of Arlington Heights trustees and the board of local imprvements (BOLI) Monday night.

The announcement surprised some participants who apparently anticipated more temporizing over means of paying for improvements on the here paved, there half-paved and elsewhere unpaved street.

It cleared the way for BOLI to request its consulting engineers to prepare plans for improving the village portion of Thomas east of Wilke and west of Arlington Heights Road.

THAT REQUEST had two exceptions:

—The section between Highland and Ridge, which will be paved by the developer of Northwest Highlands; and

—The section between Ridge and Kennicott Avenues.

The later abuts the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged and has not been dedicated. BOLI member Harold Klingner said it should be handled as a separate project because condemnation may be required which could jeopardize chances of getting the rest of the street paved this year.

Improvement of Thomas has been talked about by both township and village officials since last spring, but there has been no concrete progress because of divided jurisdiction — it runs through the village but portions of it abut unincorporated land under township jurisdiction.

ACCORDING TO Supt. Peters, there are two sections of Thomas between Arlington Heights and Wilke Roads to be improved by the township:

—A western portion between Wilke and Harvard Avenue (about 1,600 feet);

—An eastern portion between Arlington Heights Road and Highland Avenue (about 1,700 feet).

In both cases only the north half of the street is under township jurisdiction.

Supt. Peters said that Leuhring intends to improve the eastern portion with township road and bridge funds, and the western part with state motor fuel tax funds available to the township.

IN THE LATTER case, he noted, a request must be submitted first to the county superintendent of highways. He said that no difficulty is anticipated in getting county approval for the project.

The township portion of the improvement will follow village specifications except that the township highway department will not put in gutters and curbs.

Supt. Peters said the township highway department is ready to start work immediately on its portion between Arlington Heights Road and Highland Avenue. Preliminary work of relocating drainage facilities and filling in is necessary between Dunton and Highland. That section will take longer but will be done as part of one project.

Peters indicated that the township will work together with the village on the project and use the same contractors if possible. The township will begin as soon as the village is ready and the county highway department approves the use of motor fuel tax finds.

TOWNSHIP road and bridge funds used for the project will be from last year's budget.

Peters told the Herald that the township highway department is able to undertake the project because that budget included sufficient funds for township road improvement. Until last year, the highway commissioner was given only enough funds to maintain roads.

Peters explained that the township did not undertake the project through special assessments levied by the newly formed township board of local improvements because the highway commissioner thought it unwise to proceed on that basis.

The law permitting townships to improve by special assessments is new and its legality has never been tested in court, he noted. "To our knowledge, no township has improved by this method," he said.

Area News Roundup

PALATINE TOWNSHIP—Alexander MacArthur announced Monday he will not seek re-election as Palatine Township Republican committeeman. He endorsed Robert Hesse as his successor, Hesse, the townhip attorney and a Village of Palatine trustee, is also seeking endorsement from the Third District committeemen to run for the State House of Representatives. MacArthur said his retirement was prompted "because I'm not getting any younger."

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS—The Village of Arlington Heights has offered to back with cash its request that the park district locate a cultural center in the downtown area. Village spokesmen told the park board they would commit funds from builder donations to make up the difference in cost between a downtown site and a five-acre tract the park district acquired near the Nike base for a cultural facility.

BLOOMINGDALE TOWNSHIP—Both the Roselle and Bloomingdale School districts have okayed increases for teachers for the 1966-67 year. Salary for Roselle teachers is up $50, with the base for a beginner with bachelor's degree at $5,350; Bloomingdale teachers will get $100 raises, with the base at $5,400.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS—Teachers in District 23 also got an increase this year, but it fell $50 short of what they wanted. The school board Monday agreed on a base salary of $5,300, up from the $5,225 level this year. The Prospect Heights Education Association had requested $5,350.

ELK GROVE—Base salary of $5,400—a raise of $100—is the goal of District 59 teachers, whose council has presented an "index" schedule to the school board. The index is graded on teaching experience and advanced work.

ITASCA—The village board this week slated a referendum for April 2, asking voters to approve $140,000 for development of a green belt area. The funds would be used toward purchase, to be shared by the federal government, of 51 acres west of the village.

ADDISON TOWNSHIP—School districts in the township are concerned about potential loss of valuations and a resulting decrease in tax funds because of a difference of opinion over the rate of assessment of industry properties. The difficulty arose recently when five industries in the Addison Industrial District protested their assessed valuations before the board of review, and received reductions totaling almost $49,500.

Mother of Viet Nam Victim Says 'He Died for a Cause'

"A lot of people have been saying, 'What a waste,' " spoke Mrs. James Paterson, the mother of Ross J. Paterson, the first soldier from Palatine to be killed in Viet Nam.

"It would have been a waste had he been killed by a car out on the street," she said. "But he died for a cause. If some day people can be free because of his death, it was worth it."

Mr. and Mrs. James Paterson, 361 N. Ela Road, are proud parents. They speak readily of their only son who was killed on Feb. 16. He was a helicopter pilot with the 1st Cavalry (Air Mobile) Division of the U.S. Army.

ROSS PATERSON was only 22. He came to this country when he was 14 with his parents from England [illegible] years ago.

"Want to return to England?" his parents had kidded him several times.

"You can go, not me," he would reply. Ross loved this country. He was proud to be an American citizen. He and his parents became naturalized citizens in 1963 and he joined the Army in 1964. He went to Viet Nam in August, 1964.

He was buried in Memory Gardens Cemetery Monday in Arlington Heights. Arlington Heights was Ross' first home in the United States. He attended Arlington High School.

A short service was held for him at Lauterburg & Oehler Funeral Home in Arlington Heights and then a full military ceremony was held at the cemetery. The Rev. Samuel N. Keys, vicar of St. Simon Episcopal Church, officiated.

MORE THAN a hundred former friends from school days in Arlington Heights attended.

Mrs. Paterson recalled the Battle of Britain in which British flyers fought off the German air force.

"A thousand men fought that battle and made it possible for people like us to come to America and live as we want," she said. "We hope to look back on our son's death and see that it was worth it also."

Ross had always been interested in flying. Through an Army man stationed here a few years ago, he became interested in the Army Air corps.

IN VIET NAM he flew a rocket-carrying helicopter which gave close support to ground troops when regular artillery would have endangered our own men because of their closeness to the enemy.

"He never told us much," Mrs. Paterson said. "He never mentioned his awards and always gave us the impression he did very little."

Ross was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal shortly before his death. When he died while on a night patrol, he had just recently been promoted from warrant to chief warrant officer.

IN A LETTER, Ross remarked his war was an "impersonal" one, having fired at unseen targets. "I've never seen a Viet Cong and I hope it stays that way," he wrote.

"It's been gratifying to know people care so much," his parents said. They have in the past week received many letters of sympathy and encouragement from people they do not know.

The Patersons received a letter from Army Chief of Staff Gen. Harold K. Johnson.

The general wrote, "It is with sorrow that I write to you at this time of personal grief. The loss of your son, Warrant Officer Ross J. Paterson, on Feb. 16, in Viet Nam, is also our nation's loss because he served his country with bravery and honor.

"I can understand why you may find it difficult to comprehend fully the purpose served by the loss of your son in a remote place such as Viet Nam. Though God's ways often are hidden from us, we believe He has a purpose in each life, and that in His sight there is a Nobleness in the sacrifice of life so that freedom and loved ones shall not perish."

GEN. JOHNSON went on to recall this country's other struggles in recent years with the Communists and concluded, "This is why the fulfillment of God's purpose sometimes calls for the ultimate sacrifice of our most precious treasure.

"For His gift of life, your son is forever noble among men."

The Patersons said they are well aware that many men are dying in Viet Nam, many of them fathers.

For this reason, the Patersons have asked that in lieu of flowers any donations be given to the Ross J. Paterson Memorial Fund. Money in this fund will be used to aid widows of 1st Cavalrymen.

Money for the fund can be sent to the Bank of Elk Grove.

English Language Teachers Start Work

Four teachers hired by Arlington Heights School District 25 to teach English as a second language began interviewing students from foreign language speaking families this week.

Assistant Supt. Robert Campbell said personal interviews designed to determine the particular needs of each student began Monday and should be completed by the end of the week. About 53 children, most of whom are from Spanish-speaking homes, are involved in the program.

Campbell said the interviews may be followed by tests to further determine the needs of the student. The interviewing is part of the first phase of a four-part program to teach English to children who have difficulty in learning because of the language barrier.

THE PROGRAM was announced last week after district officials received confirmation that $27,000 in federal funds had been approved for the program. Actual instruction of the children should begin within two weeks, Campbell said.

Cul-de-sac-Plan Set for Hearing

Public hearings on the installation of a cul-de-sac on Belmont Avenue north of Oakton Street have been scheduled for 8 p.m. next Thursday, March 10, by the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements.

Belmont north of Oakton presently dead-ends at the south boundary of Greens Park and Olive School. The board of local improvements is considering having a cul-de-sac installed there to improve traffic flow.

United Fund Favored By Council

A motion to organize a United Fund in Schaumburg Township was passed by members of the Community Council Tuesday evening. Further planning will begin this month when committee reports are complete.

Mrs. Gordon Mullins and Charles Ritz reported they had contacted their respective village boards and had come up with 32 organizations that solicit funds within the two villages. Contact with the fund raising groups brought mostly affirmative responses to the question of joining in a united fund program.

The next steps will involve getting budgets and commitments of help from the organizations. (B10 wide street requiring the acquisition of an additional 17 feet of right-of-way and a 24-foot-wide street that would fall within the present 33-foot right-of-way but would allow no parking.

COOK'S dedication enables BOLI to install a street wide enough for the heavy traffic anticipated in the future without having to purchase expensive commercial property or resorting to the legal harangues of condemnation which could stall the project for another year or more.

BOLI Atty. Kenneth Stonesifer was directed to prepare a plat of dedication showing the 10-foot strip for submission to Cook's attorney by the March 10 BOLI meeting.

A resolution of appreciation commending Klingner, Bishop and Cook for their efforts in "reaching this agreement so obviously mutually beneficial to the village and Bill Cook agency" was enthusiastically approved by BOLI.

IN CONNECTION with the improvement of Salem Avenue, BOLI passed a recommendation to the village board that it vacate to Cook two small slivers of land along Salem just south of Davis.

Salem at that point makes an odd curve. Vacation of the slivers will add slightly to the straightening of the curve.

Klingner proposed the vacation in consideration of Cook's larger dedication. He noted that the land is useless to the village but might be useful to Cook, who is planning a 135-foot-long addition to the east of his present building.

Woods Is Home From Hospital

Arlington Heights Village President John G. Woods Tuesday left Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines, where he spent eight days recovering from virus pneumonia.

He expects to remain home for another week or so before returning to work.

Trustee Roy Bressler has acted as village president pro-tem during President Woods' illness.

Recommend Rate Boost For Taxis

A proposed taxi cab rate increase and two subdivision plats will be on the Arlington Heights Village Board's agenda Monday.

The board's finance committee will recommend a taxi rate of 45 dents for the first half mile and 10 cents for each additional quarter mile, 10 cents for each additional passenger and 10 cents for each two minutes of waiting time.

The rate is substantially as requested by Thomas R. Gillen, president of City Transportation, which operates cabs in Arlington Heights. However, Gillen had sought a rate of 50 cents for the first half mile.

CURRENT RATES, according to Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson, are the equivalent of 52.5 cents for the first half mile and 7.5 cents for each additional quarter mile. The manager said rates in neighboring communities which regulate taxi rates vary between 35 and 45 cents for the first half mile.

The two subdivision plats which will come before the board both carry the favorable recommendation of the plan commission. They are Ivy Hill Unit 6 and Arlington Terrace Unit 2, both north side single-family developments.

Increased Parking Fees Under Study

Increases in commuter parking rates and in fines for at least some parking violations are being considered by the Arlington Heights Village Board's finance committee.

The committee last Thursday received recommendations from Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson that daily parking rates for railroad parking lots be raised from 25 to 50 cents a day. He also recommended some increase for such violations as parking in front of driveways and fire plugs.

TRUSTEE JOHN J. Walsh Jr., a member of the committee, characterized the 25-cent rate which applies to the 215 railroad lots as a bargain considering their convenience and lighted and frequently patrolled.

Hanson said the increase would help the village's parking lot bonding status; he said he would report back to the committee in 10 days to two weeks, and the group is expected to consider both requests at that time. (AF

Comco Officers Will Be Elected

The meeting is scheduled Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Hasbrook Park field house.

The nominating committee is composed of George Sieben, chairman, and Donald Sweeney, Mrs. John Gross, Mrs. Anthony Tomaso and Mrs. Jack A. Lytle. Comco meetings are open to the public.

General Services Administration.

Because the present cultural center site was acquired after it was declared surplus by the government, the GSA must approve the swap. The federal agency previously approved a swap of park land for school-owned property.

Just what facilities the cultural center will include are yet to be determined, but it is certain that at least a 500-seat theater will be provided from the Village Theatre funds.

TRUSTEES, at Saturday's meeting, said they felt some income-producing users were a necessity for the center. They mentioned providing space for a restaurant or leasing office space not yet needed for community use. They were also frank in saying they hoped Countryside Art Gallery would be interested in relocating.

Park board plans for the cultural center — at the larger, decentralized location — have included the theater, a summer band shell, a separate art building and botanical gardens. These proposals came from a meeting in 1963 between park board members, drama club representatives, and persons from the Woman's Club and the art center.

Available funds have made it likely that only the theater could be built in the first stage.

Candidates Seek GOP Backing

The two candidates for Wheeling Township Republican committeeman, Eugene Schlickman and Thomas Novotny, have been invited to appear before the Township Republican Organization at 8 p.m. Tuesday to outline their reasons for seeking office.

Each of the candidates is expected to ask the organization's support for the committeeman position. The organization probably will endorse one of the candidates after the presentations Tuesday. The meeting, to be held at Republican headquarters, will be closed to the public.

Jury Rules Suicide in Youth Death

Suicide while in a despondent frame of mind was the ruling of a county coroner's jury on the death of Lee M. Engh, 20 of 2108 Cherry Hill Drive, Arlington Heights.

According to Arlington Heights police, his father, Howard Engh, reported that he found his son unconscious in his car in their garage at 2 a.m. Sunday. The engine was not running but the doors were closed and there was a strong odor of exhaust fumes.

ENGH WAS taken to Northwest Community Hospital where attempts to revive him failed.

Students Demonstrate Techniques in Music

kept a counter beat on the instruments while the others set the rhythm pattern with hands and feet.

This part of the demonstration brought laughter from those attending when a small girl sighed a relieved "whew" after successfully completing her solo on the sounding block.

With a knowledge of rhythm patterns, Miss Sauerbier continued, the children are able to learn easier to read music. First they are taught to clap to a measure of music to insure an understanding of the rhythm, she explained.

Then they learn to sing the song in syllables (do, re, me, etc.) utilizing the rhythm, she said. The youngsters, half the group singing "sol" and "me" and the other half singing a melody, demonstrated their ability to sing simple harmonic arrangements.

AFTER THE PUPILS thoroughly understand the rhythm and syllable arrangement, Miss Sauerbier said, words are substituted for the syllables.

She later explained that the Carl Orff method, a Russian technique, was relatively new in this country. She described it as "rather experimental."

The 13 children giving the demonstration Monday night came from Miss Sauerbier's four music classes at Westgate. She said she began teaching the method last fall.

One member of the audience said he thought the method tended to teach the children at an early age the current dance gyrations of the teenage set. However, most of the parents expressed keen interest in the technique.

FOLLOWING THE demonstration, three District 25 teachers and the principal of Westgate, Mrs. Helen Castor, explained to the school board how students develop abilities in written expression. The three teachers were Ruth Black, fifth grade teacher at Kensington School, Mrs. Velna Mertens, teaching third grade at Park School, and Sheila Wilson, first grade teacher at Dwyer School.

After a brief introduction by Mrs. Castor, Miss Wilson explained how the foundation is laid for written expression. She said children have a surprisingly good vocabulary and knowledge of grammar when they come to school. This ability is applied to formal writing techniques, she explained.

After learning simple sentences, they are taught to compose simple stories, according to Miss Wilson. The children draw pictures to illustrate their stories, she said.

MISS WILSON displayed some humorous examples of first spelling attempts. Such spellings as "anist" (honest), "iksited" (excited) and "wansapanatim" (once upon a time) drew laughter from board members and parents.

She said that children were not penalized for such spellings because they are taught to associate word sounds with proper spelling.

Mrs. Merten explained that third graders learn an extension of the techniques taught in the first and second grades.

"MOST OF THE children are ready to write more extensive stories by the time they reach third grade," she said. They also are taught to write simple rhyme and blank verse poems, according to Mrs. Merten. This, she said, cultivates an excellence in writing style.

Miss Black said that story-telling skills are very well developed by the time a child reaches fifth grade.

She pointed out, "They hear, they feel, they perceive much more than we give them credit for."

Each of the teachers read samples of their students' writing.

Board member Charles O. Bennett—a writer himself—praised the teachers, saying, "I am pleased each of you stated that you teach the children to write by telling them they must write."

THIRD GRADER Nancy McNeal, 232 S. Dwyer, Arlington Heights, grins through the keyboard of a xylophone as she shows how basic percussion instruments are used in the Carl Orff technique of teaching music. Township Set to Go On Thomas Paving

Wheeling Township Road Com. William Leuhring is ready to proceed immediately with the improvement of the township portion of Thomas Street between Arlington Heights and Wilke Roads, Township Supervisor Albert D. Peters told a combined meeting of Arlington Heights trustees and the board of local imprvements (BOLI) Monday night.

The announcement surprised some participants who apparently anticipated more temporizing over means of paying for improvements on the here paved, there half-paved and elsewhere unpaved street.

It cleared the way for BOLI to request its consulting engineers to prepare plans for improving the village portion of Thomas east of Wilke and west of Arlington Heights Road.

THAT REQUEST had two exceptions:

—The section between Highland and Ridge, which will be paved by the developer of Northwest Highlands; and

—The section between Ridge and Kennicott Avenues.

The later abuts the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged and has not been dedicated. BOLI member Harold Klingner said it should be handled as a separate project because condemnation may be required which could jeopardize chances of getting the rest of the street paved this year.

Improvement of Thomas has been talked about by both township and village officials since last spring, but there has been no concrete progress because of divided jurisdiction — it runs through the village but portions of it abut unincorporated land under township jurisdiction.

ACCORDING TO Supt. Peters, there are two sections of Thomas between Arlington Heights and Wilke Roads to be improved by the township:

—A western portion between Wilke and Harvard Avenue (about 1,600 feet);

—An eastern portion between Arlington Heights Road and Highland Avenue (about 1,700 feet).

In both cases only the north half of the street is under township jurisdiction.

Supt. Peters said that Leuhring intends to improve the eastern portion with township road and bridge funds, and the western part with state motor fuel tax funds available to the township.

IN THE LATTER case, he noted, a request must be submitted first to the county superintendent of highways. He said that no difficulty is anticipated in getting county approval for the project.

The township portion of the improvement will follow village specifications except that the township highway department will not put in gutters and curbs.

Supt. Peters said the township highway department is ready to start work immediately on its portion between Arlington Heights Road and Highland Avenue. Preliminary work of relocating drainage facilities and filling in is necessary between Dunton and Highland. That section will take longer but will be done as part of one project.

Peters indicated that the township will work together with the village on the project and use the same contractors if possible. The township will begin as soon as the village is ready and the county highway department approves the use of motor fuel tax finds.

TOWNSHIP road and bridge funds used for the project will be from last year's budget.

Peters told the Herald that the township highway department is able to undertake the project because that budget included sufficient funds for township road improvement. Until last year, the highway commissioner was given only enough funds to maintain roads.

Peters explained that the township did not undertake the project through special assessments levied by the newly formed township board of local improvements because the highway commissioner thought it unwise to proceed on that basis.

The law permitting townships to improve by special assessments is new and its legality has never been tested in court. he noted. "To our knowledge, no township has improved by this method," he said.

Area News Roundup

PALATINE TOWNSHIP—Alexander MacArthur announced Monday he will not seek re-election as Palatine Township Republican committeeman. He endorsed Robert Hesse as his successor, Hesse, the townhip attorney and a Village of Palatine trustee, is also seeking endorsement from the Third District committeemen to run for the State House of Representatives. MacArthur said his retirement was prompted "because I'm not getting any younger."

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS—The Village of Arlington Heights has offered to back with cash its request that the park district locate a cultural center in the downtown area. Village spokesmen told the park board they would commit funds from builder donations to make up the difference in cost between a downtown site and a five-acre tract the park district acquired near the Nike base for a cultural facility.

BLOOMINGDALE TOWNSHIP—Both the Roselle and Bloomingdale School districts have okayed increases for teachers for the 1966-67 year. Salary for Roselle teachers is up $50, with the base for a beginner with bachelor's degree at $5,350; Bloomingdale teachers will get $100 raises, with the base at $5,400.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS—Teachers in District 23 also got an increase this year, but it fell $50 short of what they wanted. The school board Monday agreed on a base salary of $5,300, up from the $5,225 level this year. The Prospect Heights Education Association had requested $5,350.

ELK GROVE—Base salary of $5,400—a raise of $100—is the goal of District 59 teachers, whose council has presented an "index" schedule to the school board. The index is graded on teaching experience and advanced work.

ITASCA—The village board this week slated a referendum for April 2, asking voters to approve $140,000 for development of a green belt area. The funds would be used toward purchase, to be shared by the federal government, of 51 acres west of the village.

ADDISON TOWNSHIP—School districts in the township are concerned about potential loss of valuations and a resulting decrease in tax funds because of a difference of opinion over the rate of assessment of industry properties. The difficulty arose recently when five industries in the Addison Industrial District protested their assessed valuations before the board of review, and received reductions totaling almost $49,500.

Mother of Viet Nam Victim Says 'He Died for a Cause'

"A lot of people have been saying, 'What a waste,' " spoke Mrs. James Paterson, the mother of Ross J. Paterson, the first soldier from Palatine to be killed in Viet Nam.

"It would have been a waste had he been killed by a car out on the street," she said. "But he died for a cause. If some day people can be free because of his death, it was worth it."

Mr. and Mrs. James Paterson, 361 N. Ela Road, are proud parents. They speak readily of their only son who was killed on Feb. 16. He was a helicopter pilot with the 1st Cavalry (Air Mobile) Division of the U.S. Army.

ROSS PATERSON was only 22. He came to this country when he was 14 with his parents from England [illegible] years ago.

"Want to return to England?" his parents had kidded him several times.

English Language Teachers Start Work

Four teachers hired by Arlington Heights School District 25 to teach English as a second language began interviewing students from foreign language speaking families this week.

Assistant Supt. Robert Campbell said personal interviews designed to determine the particular needs of each student began Monday and should be completed by the end of the week. About 53 children, most of whom are from Spanish-speaking homes, are involved in the program.

Campbell said the interviews may be followed by tests to further determine the needs of the student. The interviewing is part of the first phase of a four-part program to teach English to children who have difficulty in learning because of the language barrier.

THE PROGRAM was announced last week after district officials received confirmation that $27,000 in federal funds had been approved for the program. Actual instruction of the children should begin within two weeks, Campbell said.

'Fantastick' Held Over for 2 Performances

Production Plays To Capacity House

For the first time, Arlington High School has "held over" a student play production for extra performances.

The high school's winter play, "The Fantasticks," will be presented Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre. Tickets may be purchased both nights at the door.

The play was presented to capacity houses last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights with a number of patrons turned away Saturday night.

Lyovonne M. Trad, director, said the extra performances would meet the unusual demand for tickets as well as provide student cast members with "valuable educational experience in learning how to play to an audience."

She said three nights are not sufficient for students to get the "feel" of an audience and learn how to pace and direct a production to audience response.

THE POSTING of "Held Over" signs scored another "first" for this play. The production also marked the first time the winter play has been a musical and the first time a regular performance was presented as a benefit.

All proceeds of last Thursday's performance were turned over to the Helene Bristol Memorial Scholarship Fund.

A check for $400 was presented Tuesday to Don Morton, executive vice president of Arlington Heights Federal Saving & Loan Association, by Miss Trad; Bruno Waara, Arlington High School principal; and Joanne Mayer, Arlington senior who has the female lead in the two-act musical.

"We felt that no other show epitomized Mrs. Bristol's spirit quite like 'The Fantasticks,'" said Miss Trad. "Its charm, spirit, and optimism are reminiscent of the woman who attended many of our productions and did so much for the speech arts in High School District 214."

The scholarship fund was established in memory of Mrs. Bristol, education editor for Paddock Publications, who died Dec. 31.

EXPLAINING THE unusual selection of a musical for the winter play, Miss Trad said:

"Musical theatre is an integral part of the theatrical experience at Arlington. Perhaps one of the most charming and most original musicals to appear recently is "The Fantasticks.' It was originally part of a group of one-act plays presented several years ago at Barnard Collge. Lore Noto, the producer, saw the shows and was so charmed by 'The Fantasticks' that he commissioned the writers to develop it. The version we are presenting at Arlington opened in New York at the Sullivan Street Playhouse on May 3, 1960."

Utilizing a small cast and a plain wood platform with four poles, "The Fantasticks" attempts to create its own world by the use of music and words. When night is needed, a cardboard moon might be hung upon a pole, but for the most part "The Fantasticks" sets itself the task of creating a certain moonlight of the mind.

Its blend of satire and romanticism, bright comedy and serious verse, have made it one of the most rewarding and unusual events of the Arlington season.

WITH BOOK and lyrics by Tom Jones and music by Harvey L. Schmidt, the show includes such recent hit songs as "Try to Remember," "Soon It's Gonna Rain," "Much More," and "They Were You."

The musical features Kathleen Manatt and Linda Piepenbrink at twin pianos and Mark Hipple at the drums.

Technical director is Vernell Doyle, and Patricia Smith and Dan Elenz are assistants to Miss Trad.

Cast members include Joanne Mayer, Mark Faro, Bruce Elliott, Douglas A. Olipra, Douglas MacDonald, Steven Clark, Curtis Wilson, Robert Kindler, and Cindy Flodin. (A15

Union Teachers Claim Higher Pay

The average union teacher makes $831 a year more than his non-union counterpart.

So says the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, citing a study made by its research department and reported in the February issue of the "American Teacher," the union publication.

The report, based on a nationwide survey of salaries in every district enrolling more than 6,000 students, says that the average union teacher will earn $7,932 during the 1965-66 school year while the average non-union teacher will earn $7,101.

THE FINDINGS were computed, the AFT magazine says, by learning the average salary paid teachers across the nation and then computing the average salary of union teachers in districts where there is AFT membership.

If districts under 6,000 had not been excluded, the difference would have been even greater, the publication said.

The survey admitted that teachers' union figures from the large cities may be a factor in the salary gap cited. But the report said it also found differences between union and non-union teacher salaries in smaller districts.

In school districts enrolling between 6,000 and 11,999 — the present size of High School District 214 — the union teachers averaged $291 more than non-union teachers, the AFT publication said.

IN DISTRICTS enrolling between 12,000 and 24,999 students — the size that High School District 214 will be by 1968 — the American Federation of Teachers study says it has found union teachers are paid $498 more than non-union teachers.

What were the reasons?

"We can only hypothesize," the AFL-CIO study concluded, "But it is generally recognized that the union teacher has an impact in three ways. Most indirectly, his very presence prods the school board into giving the teachers a raise. More directly, the competition of a teachers' union with the non-union association has beneficial effects on teacher militancy. Most directly, the union teachers win the bargaining elections and negotiate aggressively for all teachers." (B10

'Fantastick' Held Over for 2 Performances

Production Plays To Capacity House

For the first time, Arlington High School has "held over" a student play production for extra performances.

The high school's winter play, "The Fantasticks," will be presented Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

Tickets may be purchased both nights at the door.

The play was presented to capacity houses last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights with a number of patrons turned away Saturday night.

Lyovonne M. Trad, director, said the extra performances would meet the unusual demand for tickets as well as provide student cast members with "valuable educational experience in learning how to play to an audience."

She said three nights are not sufficient for students to get the "feel" of an audience and learn how to pace and direct a production to audience response.

THE POSTING of "Held Over" signs scored another "first" for this play. The production also marked the first time the winter play has been a musical and the first time a regular performance was presented as a benefit.

All proceeds of last Thursday's performance were turned over to the Helene Bristol Memorial Scholarship Fund.

A check for $400 was presented Tuesday to Don Morton, executive vice president of Arlington Heights Federal Saving & Loan Association, by Miss Trad; Bruno Waara, Arlington High School principal; and Joanne Mayer, Arlington senior who has the female lead in the two-act musical.

"We felt that no other show epitomized Mrs. Bristol's spirit quite like 'The Fantasticks,' " said Miss Trad. "Its charm, spirit, and optimism are reminiscent of the woman who attended many of our productions and did so much for the speech arts in High School District 214."

The scholarship fund was established in memory of Mrs. Bristol, education editor for Paddock Publications, who died Dec. 31.

EXPLAINING THE unusual selection of a musical for the winter play, Miss Trad said:

"Musical theatre is an integral part of the theatrical experience at Arlington. Perhaps one of the most charming and most original musicals to appear recently is "The Fantasticks.' It was originally part of a group of one-act plays presented several years ago at Barnard Collge. Lore Noto, the producer, saw the shows and was so charmed by 'The Fantasticks' that he commissioned the writers to develop it. The version we are presenting at Arlington opened in New York at the Sullivan Street Playhouse on May 3, 1960."

Church Changes Discussed at St. James Meet

by Sally Leighton

The spirit of Vatican II came to Arlington Heights Sunday as 250 persons heard three speakers explain the documents on ecumenism, the new liturgy and "The Church in the Modern World."

The Vatican II setting was complete to "Protestant observers," several of them managing to make one or more of the three sessions at St. James Church.

Msgr. Daniel Cantwell, Dr. Russell Barta, and the Rev. Robert Reicher criss-crossed themes often in their separate speeches as they discussed the Roman Catholic Church's movement; inward to self-study, outward to embrace all Christians as brothers under the sign of baptism, and horizontally, to look to the resources of men and of earth for the answers to our common problems, rather than expect the magical answers to prayer which abrogate all laws of nature.

Msgr. Cantwell discussed in detail the shared guilt of the Roman Church for the historical fact of the Reformation.

"Before a Catholic can condemn anyone for leaving the Church in Luther's day, he must ask himself what he himself might have done under Pope Alexander VI." But separated or not, "Christians share the word of God, the life of grace, and the concept of service to others in the name of Christ. With this rich patrimony of all Christians the Holy Spirit has been at work outside the Catholic community as well as inside. What the issue will be, no one knows, but ecumenism is the work of every Christian. We can no longer wait for others to come to us but must reach out to them."

Dr. Barta reiterated the notion of the people of God meeting at the altar to touch God together in life-giving sacraments: "Catholic education is useless in forming Christians if the experience at the altar is meaningless, dull, unrelated to children's and men's ways of knowing. Liturgy is a social act—there's no free enterprise in worship. If one objects to being asked to participate in the liturgy with others, he might remember that one of man's deepest griefs is his sense of aloneness. The liturgy helps him break out of this isolation and also, by praying and worshipping with his fellow man, he may once again learn to feel some responsibility for him."

Among the changes in liturgy, in addition to singing, "even if slightly off key," he said, are the kinds of language and participation in action by the people. The biblical style of language has been reinstated, a style that moves away from legalism and toward personalism, where God speaks to His people."

"Sacraments are now described in terms of 'encounter.' So far have we accepted biblical language that we now routinely refer to such things as witness, commitment and decision without embarrassment. Other things will follow."

Father Reicher took up discussion of the Schema on the Church in the Modern World from the point of view of the social historian. Trends in the documents are strongly pastoral, instead of authoritarian and legal, he noted.

There is a new appreciation of the value of human existence here, in place of the former emphasis on eternity. There is insistence upon the need for enlightened laymen to do His work in the world without waiting for the Church to lead the way in disciplines not strictly related to religion. There is respect for the competence of laymen, an opening to them for enlightenment in areas where much needs to be done and all lights are welcome.

"Today the Church would ask a Camus, a Sartre, a Hume or a Kant for their reflections on the human condition," said Father Reicher. "There is no longer the estrangement from other philosophies which might conceivably help man in his search for truth. Truth is not to be feared; it is to be sought wherever there is promise." (A

Questions Asked Often Provocative

The groping mood of the Catholic laity in the wake of Vatican I was expressed in questions posed to speakers at the "Report on Renewal" Sunday at St. James Church.

The reactions appeared to range from fear of "freedom" and interfaith dialogue to an absorbed curiosity about the new way of looking at issues.

Like Alice, many Catholics are finding things "curiouser and curiouser" in their church.

Some sample questions to Msgr. Cantwell:

Q. Doesn't the Roman Catholic Church still teach it is the true Church?

A. Yes, but. . .. doesn't every church really beleive this? If not, there would be no reason for leaving one for another.

Q. Are Catholics who leave the Church still considered condemned?

A. The Church is in no mood any longer to issue thundering condemnations. We can't know the hearts of others. Are they deserting the faith, or have they failed to find Christ in one church and seek Him elsewhere? We are willing to let God be the judge.

Q. What about the "wild ones" in the Church, those who don't care what changes come or what they talk about to whom? I'm thinking of those who are even talking about throwing out such things as confession.

A. You mean our "ecumaniacs?" There are always some who go too far and lose all sense of proportion in trying to see the other fellow's side. Still, I don't know myself of any subject I'd want closed. There is so much to learn and understand we must listen to all who have some insight. I think the question of confession, for example, needs some re-examination.

To Dr. Barta:

Q. How can I read the Bible by myself and be sure I'm really understanding it, without a guide?

A. You might ask your Protestant brethren.

Q. The Bible doesn't make me feel closer to God, neither does the new liturgy. It makes me feel strange. What can I do?

A. I know how you feel. Our culture has made those things seem abnormal which used to unite men, things like singing and praying together. My own liturgy for "clammer-uppers." preference right now is for a Because I feel (grimace) repelled by my conditioning when some stranger grasps my hand during a chorus of, say, "We Shall Overcome," that does not mean I always will. The new liturgy is designed to help me "overcome."

Q. What do you think of the C.C.D.? (catechetics for Catholics in public school)

A. This has been the stepchild of the Church for a long time. All our energies have been poured into our own schools, so we don't have resources in money, personnel, or materials to do a good job.

To Father Reicher:

Q. You said the suburbs are "antiseptic." What did you mean?

A. I mean suburban people have cut themselves off from all contact with those they might be helping. But as Christians, you are not your own, you can't hide. You must find ways to serve the less "antiseptic."

Q. What kind of interchange is possible?

A. Interracial family days is one. Pairing of inner and outer city parishes is another. Father Dennis Geaney has made a list of 12 programs you might use for a starter. I'd be glad to tell you how to get his paper on it.

Q. What can we do if our parish is lagging behind on these things, if the pastor is against them?

A. Ignore him. Do them yourself. You heard what the council fathers said: the layman must do things on his own responsibility because they need doing, without waiting for the clergy to lead them.

Q. We've talked a lot about the freedom of the laity today, and freedom of conscience. We've been told all these years what to do. How are we going to handle this new freedom?

A. A little frightening, isn't it? Makes you more responsible for yourself. But you'll learn quickly, and you'll learn to give freely because you want to, not because someone has told you to. (A

Seek to Ease Parking Jam Around Library

Library board members last Thursday asked Library Trustee Robert Blackburn to meet with the village manager to discuss parking problems around the library at 112 N. Belmont Ave.

The board last month had agreed to request a ban on parking in front of the structure. Trustees cited traffic jamming in front of the building; Belmont Street is wide enough to accommodate only two cars, and one lane is usually filled with parked autos. (A

April 9 Elections Are Set For Six Local School Boards

by DAVE CRIPPEN
Staff Writer

Elections are only a few weeks away in the numerous school districts covering Arlington Heights. The elections will be held on April 9.

Including the new junior college District 301, there are six school boards which serve Arlington Heights. The five other boards govern elementary Districts 25, 59, 21 and 23 and high school Distrct 214.

Long before the April election, which are specified by the state school code as the second Saturday of the month, the wheels of the election machinery in each district are set into motion. Though the purpose of each district's election is to find qualified members of the community to serve on the board, the method of finding condidates differs.

ELEMENTARY districts 25, 21, and 23 utilize a plan known as the "school caucus." By this plan, a nominating committee is formed of representatives from non-political, non-religious organizations in the community. After the committee is organized a screening committee is selected from the group to interview interested citizens and to prepare a brief list of qualified candidates.

The screening committee then submits its recommendations to the nominating committee, which elects candidates.

Chairman of the current nominating committee for District 25, James Warriner, said that 28 organizations in the district were asked to send two delegates. The Parent Teacher Associations from each of the schools are among the organizations asked, he explained.

"Every year a new organization is asked to send a representative," he pointed out. "In order to qualify, the group must have been a recognized organization for at least two years. A two-thirds vote by the committee approves the organization's acceptance."

DESCRIBING what he considered the principal advantage of the caucus system, Warriner said, "I think it enables the committee to find the most capable people available to serve on the school board."

Backing of the nominating committee has been tantamount to election since the system was introduced in 1964.

"I don't know of any candidates who have run against the nominating committee's slate and been successful," said Warriner.

The organization of the nominating committee itself takes much preparation. The first meeting of the committee, usually in January, is for orientation purposes. A second meeting is held to elect a nominating committee. In late February the members elect their candidates.

Junior College District 301 and high school District 214, which cover all of Arlington Heights and surrounding area, do not use the caucus method because of their size.

JACK W. MARTIN, assistant to the superintendent of District 214, said "We've never had any suggestion to form a nominating committee because the district is so large."

These districts and elementary District 59 elect board members through a simple general election. A. M. (Bud) Bernstein, president of District 59's school board, said he felt the caucus lends itself to patronage in elections.

"The school systems have remained independent in our district," he said. "They are not subject to any partisan controls."

Bernstein added, "The general election not only frees the school district from organized control, it opens up the election to diversity."

However, Ludwig Bodzewski, District 59 assistant superintendent, said that the caucus system has been considered as a means of whipping up more public interest in the school board.

"People should start considering this possibility," he said. "But we have made no judgments pro or con."

CHAIRMAN OF THE District 23 nominating committee, Dennis Schackner, said he felt that the caucus system enabled the community to find the most qualified candidates for the board. It avoids, he said, the election of biased candidates who have "an ax to grind."

"If a certain group has an ax to grind and there is enough support they would get elected," he stated. "I don't think this would be good for the community."

Schackner said he thought the caucus system had one major drawback.

"People assume that the caucus' candidate is going to get elected regardless of their vote," he explained. "With this kind of thinking anybody could run against the caucus candidate and beat him without too much trouble."

There have been cases in District 23, in fact, when a candidate ran without caucus-backing and won. Leroy Weinberg, a current board member up for re-election this year, defeated committee-backed candidate a few years ago. This year Weinberg is being backed by the nominating body.

EXPLAINING THE basis for committee-backing Schackner said, "We try to have a balanced board. In other words, we seek people from all walks of professional life."

School District 23 covers the northeast part of Arlington Heights. District 25 serves the major portion of the village and District 59 includes the southern portion. District 21 extends into an area zoned industrial in the extreme north end of Arlington Heights.

District 25's nominating committee recently slated Mrs. Marian Malcolmson, incumbent school board member, and James W. Penn. If elected, Penn will fill the post of retiring board member Joseph Faner. Both have filed petitions.

In addition to Weinberg, the District 23 nominating committee backed Donald Elston and Martha Koelsch. All three are incumbents. Elston was appointed to the board last year to fill a vacancy left by Edward Janos.

Mrs. Joseph Stiller and Don McGlothlin were named by the District 21 caucus as candidates.

CHARLES VAN Abrahams and the Rev. David Crail, minister of Wesleyan Methodist Church, have filed petitions for the election race in District 59. No other candidates as yet have filed.

Seeking re-election to District 214's school board are Frank Smith and Art Aronson, president of the board. John Auld of Arlington Heights has also filed.

Thus far, incumbents Paul O'Dea and Richard L. Johnson are the only candidates who have filed for the junior college board race. (A

Newcomer Coffees Planned

The first of a new series of League of Women Voters coffees for new residents has been set for next Wednesday, March 9.

Mrs. W. F. Marier, voter service chairman for the local 100-member LWV, will be hostess to the 10 a.m. coffee in her home at 437 S. Windsor Drive, Arlington Heights.

Information on local government—how to register, where to vote, how local taxing bodies are organized and what they do and why—will be the featured topic at the coffee, first in a series being planned by the LWV.

THE NONPARTISAN organization hopes the coffees will help new residents learn how government works here.

Date for the second coffee, Mrs. Marier said, has been set for March 30, also a Wednesday.

Assisting the voter service chairman with both will be Mrs. Robert Korte and Mrs. Paul Richardson, both of Arlington Heights. Mrs. Richardson is membership chairman for the league.

Newcomers interested in attending should call Mrs. Marier at 392-5648. (A

Police Plan Warnings on Seat Belts

Arlington Heights police will not be stopping cars and checking to see that they have seat belts, said Police Chief L. W. Calderwood, Tuesday.

He was referring to the new law effective March 1, which requires all 1961 and later model cars to be equipped with seat belts.

For the time being, Arlington Heights police will not arrest violators but will issue warnings to persons involved in accidents whose cars do not have belts.

"After a certain amount of publicity and the people are informed," he said, "we'll issue citations to those involved in accidents without belts." (A

Church Changes Discussed at St. James Meet

by Sally Leighton

The spirit of Vatican II came to Arlington Heights Sunday as 250 persons heard three speakers explain the documents on ecumenism, the new liturgy and "The Church in the Modern World."

The Vatican II setting was complete to "Protestant observers," several of them managing to make one or more of the three sessions at St. James Church.

Msgr. Daniel Cantwell, Dr. Russell Barta, and the Rev. Robert Reicher criss-crossed themes often in their separate speeches as they discussed the Roman Catholic Church's movement; inward to self-study, outward to embrace all Christians as brothers under the sign of baptism, and horizontally, to look to the resources of men and of earth for the answers to our common problems, rather than expect the magical answers to prayer which abrogate all laws of nature.

Msgr. Cantwell discussed in detail the shared guilt of the Roman Church for the historical fact of the Reformation.

"Before a Catholic can condemn anyone for leaving the Church in Luther's day, he must ask himself what he himself might have done under Pope Alexander VI." But separated or not, "Christians share the word of God, the life of grace, and the concept of service to others in the name of Christ. With this rich patrimony of all Christians the Holy Spirit has been at work outside the Catholic community as well as inside. What the issue will be, no one knows, but ecumenism is the work of every Christian. We can no longer wait for others to come to us but must reach out to them."

Dr. Barta reiterated the notion of the people of God meeting at the altar to touch God together in life-giving sacraments: "Catholic education is useless in forming Christians if the experience at the altar is meaningless, dull, unrelated to children's and men's ways of knowing. Liturgy is a social act—there's no free enterprise in worship. If one objects to being asked to participate in the liturgy with others, he might remember that one of man's deepest griefs is his sense of aloneness. The liturgy helps him break out of this isolation and also, by praying and worshipping with his fellow man, he may once again learn to feel some responsibility for him."

Among the changes in liturgy, in addition to singing, "even if slightly off key," he said, are the kinds of language and participation in action by the people. The biblical style of language has been reinstated, a style that moves away from legalism and toward personalism, where God speaks to His people."

"Sacraments are now described in terms of 'encounter.' So far have we accepted biblical language that we now routinely refer to such things as witness, commitment and decision without embarrassment. Other things will follow."

Father Reicher took up discussion of the Schema on the Church in the Modern World from the point of view of the social historian. Trends in the documents are strongly pastoral, instead of authoritarian and legal, he noted.

There is a new appreciation of the value of human existence here, in place of the former emphasis on eternity. There is insistence upon the need for enlightened laymen to do His work in the world without waiting for the Church to lead the way in disciplines not strictly related to religion. There is respect for the competence of laymen, an opening to them for enlightenment in areas where much needs to be done and all lights are welcome.

"Today the Church would ask a Camus, a Sartre, a Hume or a Kant for their reflections on the human condition," said Father Reicher. "There is no longer the estrangement from other philosophies which might conceivably help man in his search for truth. Truth is not to be feared; it is to be sought wherever there is promise." (A

Questions Asked Often Provocative

The groping mood of the Catholic laity in the wake of Vatican I was expressed in questions posed to speakers at the "Report on Renewal" Sunday at St. James Church.

The reactions appeared to range from fear of "freedom" and interfaith dialogue to an absorbed curiosity about the new way of looking at issues.

Like Alice, many Catholics are finding things "curiouser and curiouser" in their church.

Some sample questions to Msgr. Cantwell:

Q. Doesn't the Roman Catholic Church still teach it is the true Church?

A. Yes, but. . .. doesn't every church really beleive this? If not, there would be no reason for leaving one for another.

Q. Are Catholics who leave the Church still considered condemned?

A. The Church is in no mood any longer to issue thundering condemnations. We can't know the hearts of others. Are they deserting the faith, or have they failed to find Christ in one church and seek Him elsewhere? We are willing to let God be the judge.

Q. What about the "wild ones" in the Church, those who don't care what changes come or what they talk about to whom? I'm thinking of those who are even talking about throwing out such things as confession.

A. You mean our "ecumaniacs?" There are always some who go too far and lose all sense of proportion in trying to see the other fellow's side. Still, I don't know myself of any subject I'd want closed. There is so much to learn and understand we must listen to all who have some insight. I think the question of confession, for example, needs some re-examination.

To Dr. Barta:

Q. How can I read the Bible by myself and be sure I'm really understanding it, without a guide?

A. You might ask your Protestant brethren.

Q. The Bible doesn't make me feel closer to God, neither does the new liturgy. It makes me feel strange. What can I do?

A. I know how you feel. Our culture has made those things seem abnormal which used to unite men, things like singing and praying together. My own liturgy for "clammer-uppers." preference right now is for a Because I feel (grimace) repelled by my conditioning when some stranger grasps my hand during a chorus of, say, "We Shall Overcome," that does not mean I always will. The new liturgy is designed to help me "overcome."

Q. What do you think of the C.C.D.? (catechetics for Catholics in public school)

A. This has been the stepchild of the Church for a long time. All our energies have been poured into our own schools, so we don't have resources in money, personnel, or materials to do a good job.

To Father Reicher:

Q. You said the suburbs are "antiseptic." What did you mean?

A. I mean suburban people have cut themselves off from all contact with those they might be helping. But as Christians, you are not your own, you can't hide. You must find ways to serve the less "antiseptic."

Q. What kind of interchange is possible?

A. Interracial family days is one. Pairing of inner and outer city parishes is another. Father Dennis Geaney has made a list of 12 programs you might use for a starter. I'd be glad to tell you how to get his paper on it.

Q. What can we do if our parish is lagging behind on these things, if the pastor is against them?

A. Ignore him. Do them yourself. You heard what the council fathers said: the layman must do things on his own responsibility because they need doing, without waiting for the clergy to lead them.

Q. We've talked a lot about the freedom of the laity today, and freedom of conscience. We've been told all these years what to do. How are we going to handle this new freedom?

A. A little frightening, isn't it? Makes you more responsible for yourself. But you'll learn quickly, and you'll learn to give freely because you want to, not because someone has told you to. (A

April 9 Elections Are Set For Six Local School Boards

by DAVE CRIPPEN
Staff Writer

Elections are only a few weeks away in the numerous school districts covering Arlington Heights. The elections will be held on April 9.

Including the new junior college District 301, there are six school boards which serve Arlington Heights. The five other boards govern elementary Districts 25, 59, 21 and 23 and high school Distrct 214.

Long before the April election, which are specified by the state school code as the second Saturday of the month, the wheels of the election machinery in each district are set into motion. Though the purpose of each district's election is tc find qualified members of the community to serve on the board, the method of finding condidates differs.

ELEMENTARY districts 25, 21, and 23 utilize a plan known as the "school caucus." By this plan, a nominating committee is formed of representatives from non-political, non-religious organizations in the community. After the committee is organized a screening committee is selected from the group to interview interested citizens and to prepare a brief list of qualified candidates.

The screening committee then submits its recommendations to the nominating committee, which elects candidates.

Chairman of the current nominating committee for District 25, James Warriner, said that 28 organizations in the district were asked to send two delegates. The Parent Teacher Associations from each of the schools are among the organizations asked, he explained.

"Every year a new organization is asked to send a representative," he pointed out. "In order to qualify, the group must have been a recognized organization for at least two years. A two-thirds vote by the committee approves the organization's acceptance."

DESCRIBING what he considered the principal advantage of the caucus system, Warriner said, "I think it enables the committee to find the most capable people available to serve on the school board."

Backing of the nominating committee has been tantamount to election since the system was introduced in 1964.

"I don't know of any candidates who have run against the nominating committee's slate and been successful," said Warriner.

The organization of the nominating committee itself takes much preparation. The first meeting of the committee, usually in January, is for orientation purposes. A second meeting is held to elect a nominating committee. In late February the members elect their candidates.

Junior College District 301 and high school District 214, which cover all of Arlington Heights and surrounding area, do not use the caucus method because of their size.

JACK W. MARTIN, assistant to the superintendent of District 214, said "We've never had any suggestion to form a nominating committee because the district is so large."

These districts and elementary District 59 elect board members through a simple general election. A. M. (Bud) Bernstein, president of District 59's school board, said he felt the caucus lends itself to patronage in elections.

"The school systems have remained independent in our district," he said. "They are not subject to any partisan controls."

Bernstein added, "The general election not only frees the school district from organized control, it opens up the election to diversity."

However, Ludwig Bodzewski, District 59 assistant superintendent, said that the caucus system has been considered as a means of whipping up more public interest in the school board.

"People should start considering this possibility," he said. "But we have made no judgments pro or con."

CHAIRMAN OF THE District 23 nominating committee, Dennis Schackner, said he felt that the caucus system enabled the community to find the most qualified candidates for the board. It avoids, he said, the election of biased candidates who have "an ax to grind."

"If a certain group has an ax to grind and there is enough support they would get elected," he stated. "I don't think this would be good for the community."

Schackner said he thought the caucus system had one major drawback.

"People assume that the caucus' candidate is going to get elected regardless of their vote," he explained. "With this kind of thinking anybody could run against the caucus candidate and beat him without too much trouble."

There have been cases in District 23, in fact, when a candidate ran without caucus-backing and won. Leroy Weinberg, a current board member up for re-election this year, defeated committee-backed candidate a few years ago. This year Weinberg is being backed by the nominating body.

EXPLAINING THE basis for committee-backing Schackner said, "We try to have a balanced board. In other words, we seek people from all walks of professional life."

School District 23 covers the northeast part of Arlington Heights. District 25 serves the major portion of the village and District 59 includes the southern portion. District 21 extends into an area zoned industrial in the extreme north end of Arlington Heights.

District 25's nominating committee recently slated Mrs. Marian Malcolmson, incumbent school board member, and James W. Penn. If elected, Penn will fill the post of retiring board member Joseph Faner. Both have filed petitions.

In addition to Weinberg, the District 23 nominating committee backed Donald Elston and Martha Koelsch. All three are incumbents. Elston was appointed to the board last year to fill a vacancy left by Edward Janos.

Mrs. Joseph Stiller and Don McGlothlin were named by the District 21 caucus as candidates.

CHARLES VAN Abrahams and the Rev. David Crail, minister of Wesleyan Methodist Church, have filed petitions for the election race in District 59. No other candidates as yet have filed.

Seeking re-election to District 214's school board are Frank Smith and Art Aronson, president of the board. John Auld of Arlington Heights has also filed.

Thus far, incumbents Paul O'Dea and Richard L. Johnson are the only candidates who have filed for the junior college board race. (A

Authorize Assistant To College President

The District 301 Junior College Board last week voted to hire an administrative assistant on a short-term basis for maximum salary of $1,400 a month.

The board's vote at its regular meeting enables Dr. Robert Lahti, junior college president, to offer the job to L. W. Demarrais who would work with Lahti for two or three months until permanent staff could be hired. Lahti, who recommended Demarrais, said the prospective administrative assistant is completing work on his Ph.D. at the University of Michigan.

Lahti told the board that Demarrais' educational experience should be valuable in helping to prepare the June referendum on junior college construction.

"I DON'T FEEL comforable about rushing permanent employment of administrative staff," Lahti said. "I'd feel more comfortable with a temporary person."

There was no word on whether Demarrais had accepted the job. He is reported to have taken part in several past developmental studies.

During the meeting, Board President John Haas reported that the district so far had spent approximately $34,000 of the $100,000 granted by the State Office of Public Instruction last summer.

Lahti told the board that the remainder of the money would go for consultant fees and other expenses.

IN OTHER action, the board refused to vote on a purchasing policy presented by Lahti and asked that the policy statement be clarified before the board accepted it.

Board member James Hamill said the portion of the policy dealing with purchases over $2,000 was ambiguous and should state clearly that such purchases need board approval. A vote probably will be taken on the policy statement at the next meeting March 10.

In introducing the policy statement, Lahti said, "We have reached the stage where we will be purchasing at a faster rate."

Lahti announced at the meeting that a representative of Arthur D. Little, Inc., research consultants, was in the area collecting information for projected enrollment and curriculum. (B 10

New Governmental Study Is Planned

"Somewhere in the school experience, a student should become knowledgeable of the workings of United States government at all levels," according to Thomas Rife, head of the division of social science and foreign languages at Wheeling High School.

Next year WHS will offer a new course entitled American Problems. It will be offered for one semester and will deal with local, state, and national government, and a study of some economic and social problems. Everyone except entering freshmen will be permitted to select the course.

Two other new courses for next year are Latin American History and Far Eastern History, he said. Both are "college prep" courses—for seniors only. Latin American History will give a general survey of Latin America — its origins, geography, and development.

FAR EASTERN History will deal with the history of China, and Japan, imperialism in the Far East, modern history of Korea, the Far Eastern islands, Asiatic Russia, and current problems of East vs. West.

Both are one semester courses.

World History II, also a new course, will cover the history and development of China, Africa, Russia, and India. It is a full year course for sophomores, juniors and seniors.

World Geography, another one-semester course, will deal with effects of land reforms, climate, oceans, and other geographical features. It will also place an emphasis on political geography. (10Y

New Club, Council Aid Viet Nam GIs

BY MARY LEE BARTON

The newly-formed Human Relations Club at Sacred Heart of Mary High School held its "kick-off" assembly February 24, and inauguarated co-operatively with the Student Council the drive to aid the soldiers in Viet Nam.

Sophomore Sharon Kilfoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kilfoy, 411 S. Carlyle in Arlington Heights, acted as moderator at the assembly and introduced each of the three speakers.

The first speaker, Senior Donna Ipsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ipsen of 2221 N. Verde in Arlington Heights, spoke on the topic of Christian Commitment in Viet Nam. The United States as a Christian nation, is obligated to give aid where it is needed, she said.

SHEILA CONDON, '67, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Condon, 515 W. Fairview in Arlington Heights, introduced the newly formed Human Relations Club at SHM. The essence of her speech was the advancement of human relations among all peoples, and the abolishment of all forms of prejudice.

Last to speak was freshman Kathy Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fox, 443 Banbury in Arlington Heights. Kathy's speech inaugurated the Human Relations drive, the purpose of which is not only to aid the United States forces but also to instill among the student body a general feeling of patriotism and an awareness of Christian commitment towards others.

During a ten-day period beginning February 28, students are requested to bring in such articles as magazines, food seasonings, stationery and toilet articles, which will then be packaged and sent to the American forces in Viet Nam.

Authorize Assistant To College President

The District 301 Junior College Board last week voted to hire an administrative assistant on a short-term basis for maximum salary of $1,400 a month.

The board's vote at its regular meeting enables Dr. Robert Lahti, junior college president, to offer the job to L. W. Demarrais who would work with Lahti for two or three months until permanent staff could be hired. Lahti, who recommended Demarrais, said the prospective administrative assistant is completing work on his Ph.D. at the University of Michigan.

Lahti told the board that Demarrais' educational experience should be valuable in helping to prepare the June referendum on junior college construction.

"I DON'T FEEL comforable about rushing permanent employment of administrative staff," Lahti said. "I'd feel more comfortable with a temporary person."

There was no word on whether Demarrais had accepted the job. He is reported to have taken part in several past developmental studies.

During the meeting, Board President John Haas reported that the district so far had spent approximately $34,000 of the $100,000 granted by the State Office of Public Instruction last summer.

Lahti told the board that the remainder of the money would go for consultant fees and other expenses.

IN OTHER action, the board refused to vote on a purchasing policy presented by Lahti and asked that the policy statement be clarified before the board accepted it.

Board member James Hamill said the portion of the policy dealing with purchases over $2,000 was ambiguous and should state clearly that such purchases need board approval. A vote probably will be taken on the policy statement at the next meeting March 10.

In introducing the policy statement, Lahti said, "We have reached the stage where we will be purchasing at a faster rate."

Lahti announced at the meeting that a representative of Arthur D. Little, Inc., research consultants, was in the area collecting information for projected enrollment and curriculum. (B 10

Symphonic Band Set For State Contest

Prospect High School Symphonic Band will be participating in the State Music Organization Contest sponsored by the Illinois High School Association March 12 at Zion Benton High School.

Prospect High School Symphonic is in double "A" category with Zion Benton, Wheeling, Niles West, Aurora West and Proviso East.

Prospect's band will play five selected numbers: "Jubilee March," by George Kenny; "Second Suite," by Robert E. Jager; "Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral," by Richard Wagner; "The Force of Destiny," by G. Verdi; and "Charles County Overture," by Joseph Wilcox Jenkins.

THE JUDGES WILL select three songs from the five and judge the band on them; then the band will be judged on sight reading ability. The judges will use standard ratings to grade the band; the ratings are as follows: 1.-superior; 2.-excellent; 3.-good; 4.-fair; 5.-poor.

The contest judges will be Dr. William Tietz from Platteville Teachers College; Don Cuthbert from Beloit, Wisconsin. The sight reading judge will be Otto Graham, Sr., retired band director at Waukegan Township High School. (10Y

"Somewhere in the school experience, a student should become knowledgeable of the workings of United States government at all levels," according to Thomas Rife, head of the division of social science and foreign languages at Wheeling High School.

Next year WHS will offer a new course entitled American Problems. It will be offered for one semester and will deal with local, state, and national government, and a study of some economic and social problems. Everyone except entering freshmen will be permitted to select the course.

Two other new courses for next year are Latin American History and Far Eastern History, he said. Both are "college prep" courses—for seniors only. Latin American History will give a general survey of Latin America — its origins, geography, and development.

FAR EASTERN History will deal with the history of China, and Japan, imperialism in the Far East, modern history of Korea, the Far Eastern islands, Asiatic Russia, and current problems of East vs. West.

Both are one semester courses.

World History II, also a new course, will cover the history and development of China, Africa, Russia, and India. It is a full year course for sophomores, juniors and seniors.

World Geography, another one-semester course, will deal with effects of land reforms, climate, oceans, and other geographical features. It will also place an emphasis on political geography. (10Y

Four Choral Groups In March 5 Concert

The choral department of Forest View High School will present its Winter Concert on Saturday at 8 p.m. in the theater.

Four choral groups will perform: the choir, girls' glee club, freshman girl's chorus and the vocals.

Highlights of the concert will include the choir's rendition of from the Requiem by Mozart, "Cantata Domino" by Pitoni and one of Ray Coniff's choral arrangements, "Try a Little Tenderness."

The Girls' Glee Club will offer the popular selections "Lullaby of Birdland." folk song "Five Hundred Miles," and the Firestone Hour theme, "If I Could Tell You" along with several other familiar selections.

THE FRESHMAN girl's chorus will feature several modern pieces including "Nocturne" and "Country Lane." The folk song "Where Have All the Flowers Gone?" will also be sung. The vocales, a group of 10 girls, will perform "Barbara Allen" and the famous standard popular tune "Laura."

The male section of the choir will be featured on two selections, "The Pasture" from a poem by Robert Frost and the great spiritual "Dry Bones."

The combined girls of the choir, girls' glee club and the freshman girls' chorus will sing the Harry Simeone arrangement of Pietro Mascagnis "Anthem for Spring" from his opera Cavalieria Rusticana.

The public is invited. Tickets will be on sale at the door, $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. (10Y

Draft of Area Doctors Seen Causing Pinch

Medicare to Add To Patient Load

By DAN PRIBILSKI
Staff Writer

"We don't anticipate any deluge of over-65 patients come July 1," said Allan Campbell, Northwest Community Hospital administrator.

July 1 is the day Medicare goes into effect.

"Perhaps over the long haul, maybe there will be a large increase," said Campbell.

He said the hospital now has an average of 17 per cent of its patients in the over-65 category. Admittedly only guessing, Campbell said the per centage might rise to 20 per cent.

Campbell stressed that the hospital board of directors has not yet made any decision on providing facilities within the Medicare program. The attitude is "wait and see."

GENERAL practitioner, Dr. Thomas Sammons, of Palatine, perhaps put his finger directly on any troubles for northwest suburbia:

"I've not thought too much about it (Medicare). Personally, I think the way the population is growing and with the drafting of young physicians, these present much more of a challenge than Medicare could ever hope to."

Dr. Sammons is a man very much aware of the possibilities of military induction. His associate, Dr. David T. McCann, has received his draft notice. And he, himself, is subject to the draft.

Harold E. Salmon, administrator of Sherman Hospital, Elgin, commented that his hospital is already at 100 per cent capacity. Any added patient load through Medicare would just make the waiting list for admission longer.

AS IT IS, staffing the hospitals for present needs is a hard enough job. Salmon also remarked about the draft.

"We're all trying to keep up with the population," he said, and at Sherman, the critical need emerging most immediately is getting adequate nursing staffs, particularly male nurses.

He said Secy. of Defense McNamara has called for 900 male nurses. "I doubt there's that many in the whole country." And before this call, Salmon said, McNamara put out a call for 4,500 nurses and now also a need for 2,000 physicians.

THE "GUNS versus butter" issue—war versus home front needs—can be seen easily in this medical plight.

Both Campbell and Salmon said their hospitals are beginning to feel a slight pinch because of the Viet Nam war.

"One of our doctors recently got his notice," Campbell said.

One factor in favor of northwest suburbia, at least as far as Medicare is concerned, is that the population is basically young. The proportion of over-65 residents is small compared to that of Chicago where Medicare and possible "overloading" of facilities may be felt sooner.

Medicare, through its in-and-out-patient program with the specific mention of nursing homes, will bring a strain on nursing home facilities, the administrators said.

The shortage of nurses, particularly in relation to nursing homes, will be felt more than ever.

AN EFFORT to increase the number of nurses was given a boost last year when the Illinois legislature made it easier for girls to get nurses training through junior colleges.

"Nurses under Medicare will be the hardest hit," commented Kathie Abbott, an associate administrator of the Illinois Nurses Association.

She said a guideline of 300 nurses per 100,000 population has been adopted. And in the Chicago and suburban area, the ratio is only 180 to 100,000.

Publishers Discuss Suburb Press Future

Major concern over the future of independent suburban publishing was expressed at last week's meeting of the Suburban Press Foundation in Chicago, though the subject of entry of Big City dailies into suburban publishing was not on the program.

Complete program for the two-day business seminar at the Drake Hotel was planned months ago. Headlining the program were improvement of classified and circulation departments for suburban publishers, along with several panels on getting more advertising, including cooperative advertising.

AS EXPECTED, number one interest on the part of many was in how the new suburban daily newspaper, published by Field Enterprises, in Arlington Heights was progressing. Conversation ran long and loud on the subject, far into the night, as the 130 publishers and their representatives expressed concern at what was likely to happen to independent publishing.

"Our suburbs have always had a separate voice," stated one worried publisher, "one that stressed local government should be maintained to make certain the Big Cities do not gobble up the suburbs. If the Big City dailies take over suburban publishing, that voice will cease to be heard for it is hard for a Big City daily to serve two masters."

"WE OUGHT to arouse our suburbanites to the danger of helping the Big City publisher take over his community voice," stated another publisher. "If they'd quit buying his paper, the Big City publisher would likely lose interest and drop the plan for expansion into suburban publishing."

Another publisher compared the entry of Field Enterprises into suburban publishing to the recent move of the Kansas City Star to take over the suburban field at low, unrealistic advertising rates, then when victory was won, and near-monopoly gained, advertising rates were boosted, to the dismay of local advertisers.

Consensus of publisher thinking was that if the new idea in suburban dailies succeeded in the Chicago area, the formula would spread throughout all metropolitan areas of the country.

Promptness Counts in Annexation

Where rival annexation proceedings over the same land are instituted by different municipalities the proceeding first instituted must have preference, Attorney General William G. Clark held today.

Therefore, Clark's opinion advised State's Atty. George E. Sangmeister of Will County, the annexation by the City of Joliet of certain property lying contiguous to and between Joliet and the village of Rockdale, which was completed before Rockdale launched its annexation proceedings, is valid.

THE COUNTY clerk of Will County may properly extend the tax rates of the City of Joliet against the annexed property, Clark's opinion held. The property would not be subject to taxation by the Village of Rockdale, Clark's opinion held.

Clark's opinion stated that Illinois courts have not passed upon such an annexation problem.

"However," Clark's opinion stated, "a review of authorities from other jurisdictions indicates that your problem is disposed of by a well established rule of law. This rule is that where there are two proceedings by different municipalities to annex the same area, the proceedings first initiated must have precedence. This was the rule at common law. Of course, the prior annexation must be valid."

Car Safety To Be Topic For Seminar

The controversial topic "How Safe Are Our Cars?" will be the theme of the ninth annual Illinois Editors' Traffic Safety Seminar April 29, at the Moraine-on-the-Lake Hotel, Highland Park.

SEMINAR president Willard S. Hansen, editor of the Champaign News-Gazette, said the following speakers have been scheduled for the April 29 meeting:

Do You Have the Economic Sense of a Vegetable Farmer?

Has anyone ever asked you this question? Well, perhaps your wife, while driving through a new subdivision, has asked you something like—why didn't we buy farm land a few years ago around Des Plaines, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect or some place that seemed far out then but is now filled with shopping centers, industrial parks, or $40,000 homes on ⅓ acre lots. You know, many an acre that once grew fine tomatoes now costs plenty of "potatoes."

But you need not be defensive. Expanding population keeps expanding — exceedingly so in metropolitan areas. You can still buy outlying farm land that in a few years will be needed for more shopping centers, industrial sites, and residential developments. And, more grade schools will be built on land purchased for thousands of dollars an acre from someone using vegetable-farmer economics who paid only hundreds of dollars an acre.

We have such farms for sale now. There is, for example, a 160 acre farm located right across the street from village sewer and water in a northwest suburban town within commuting distance of Chicago and centrally located in relation to Barrington, Elgin and Crystal Lake. The house on this farm has 4 bedrooms, 2 big baths. It's not "Winnetka," but with some new decorating and modest remodeling, an ambitious young family might enjoy farm living as well as the farm investment. But if you are finicky about getting richer, just rent the house and lease the land to a grain farmer or keep it in the government's soil bank. Two quite elderly men own this 160 acre farm and they do not wish to wait around 5 or 10 years. They wish to sell now at a present day bargain price.

Of course, if you have a high annual income and could use more tax benefits, there is a much larger farm that will soon become available. This farm has a good residence, with fine big barns and most important, it is located on a principal highway on the edge of one of the finest, fastest growing northwest suburban cities, with excellent schools and 22 Chicago and North Western trains daily to Chicago.

Our real estate firm specializes in close-in farm land that should mature into much higher uses within 5 to 10 years. We will be glad to supply details on selected properties. Simply write or phone, or drive out on a week-end and see us and the farms.

Draft of Area Doctors Seen Causing Pinch

Medicare to Add To Patient Load

By DAN PRIBILSKI
Staff Writer

"We don't anticipate any deluge of over-65 patients come July 1," said Allan Campbell, Northwest Community Hospital administrator.

July 1 is the day Medicare goes into effect.

"Perhaps over the long haul, maybe there will be a large increase," said Campbell.

He said the hospital now has an average of 17 per cent of its patients in the over-65 category. Admittedly only guessing, Campbell said the per centage might rise to 20 per cent.

Campbell stressed that the hospital board of directors has not yet made any decision on providing facilities within the Medicare program. The attitude is "wait and see."

GENERAL practitioner, Dr. Thomas Sammons, of Palatine, perhaps put his finger directly on any troubles for northwest suburbia:

"I've not thought too much about it (Medicare). Personally, I think the way the population is growing and with the drafting of young physicians, these present much more of a challenge than Medicare could ever hope to."

Dr. Sammons is a man very much aware of the possibilities of military induction. His associate, Dr. David T. McCann, has received his draft notice. And he, himself, is subject to the draft.

Harold E. Salmon, administrator of Sherman Hospital, Elgin, commented that his hospital is already at 100 per cent capacity. Any added patient load through Medicare would just make the waiting list for admission longer.

AS IT IS, staffing the hospitals for present needs is a hard enough job. Salmon also remarked about the draft.

"We're all trying to keep up with the population," he said, and at Sherman, the critical need emerging most immediately is getting adequate nursing staffs, particularly male nurses.

He said Secy. of Defense McNamara has called for 900 male nurses. "I doubt there's that many in the whole country." And before this call, Salmon said, McNamara put out a call for 4,500 nurses and now also a need for 2,000 physicians.

THE "GUNS versus butter" issue—war versus home front needs—can be seen easily in this medical plight.

Both Campbell and Salmon said their hospitals are beginning to feel a slight pinch because of the Viet Nam war.

"One of our doctors recently got his notice," Campbell said.

One factor in favor of northwest suburbia, at least as far as Medicare is concerned, is that the population is basically young. The proportion of over-65 residents is small compared to that of Chicago where Medicare and possible "overloading" of facilities may be felt sooner.

Medicare, through its in-and-out-patient program with the specific mention of nursing homes, will bring a strain on nursing home facilities, the administrators said.

The shortage of nurses, particularly in relation to nursing homes, will be felt more than ever.

AN EFFORT to increase the number of nurses was given a boost last year when the Illinois legislature made it easier for girls to get nurses training through junior colleges.

"Nurses under Medicare will be the hardest hit," commented Kathie Abbott, an associate administrator of the Illinois Nurses Association.

She said a guideline of 300 nurses per 100,000 population has been adopted. And in the Chicago and suburban area, the ratio is only 180 to 100,000. (A15

Therefore, Clark's opinion advised State's Atty. George E. Sangmeister of Will County, the annexation by the City of Joliet of certain property lying contiguous to and between Joliet and the village of Rockdale, which was completed before Rockdale launched its annexation proceedings, is valid.

THE COUNTY clerk of Will County may properly extend the tax rates of the City of Joliet against the annexed property, Clark's opinion held. The property would not be subject to taxation by the Village of Rockdale, Clark's opinion held.

Lahti Attends National Meeting

Dr. Robert Lahti, president of District 301 Junior College, is in St. Louis this week for the annual convention of the National Association of Junior Colleges.

Lahti left Sunday to join an estimated 1,500 junior college board members and administrators from across the country at the meeting.

LAHTI IS is member of the association's commission on administration. He said none of the District 301 board members would attend the convention this year.

The convention begins Sunday and will end Friday. Lahti said he expects to return late Thursday or early Friday. (B10

SEEING-EYE RADAR

by ED LANDWEHR

Big boats use radar to warn them of approaching obstacles in fog and at night. Now a miniature radar will be marketed for the blind.

Carried by a sightless person, this electronic emits signals for ten feet or so and trips a vibrator warning of any obstacle that comes into the person's path.

This is a very worthwhile invention, and we hope at LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights that we can be a source of service for this kind of electronic. Many folks hereabouts have found the phone number CLearbrook 5-0700 to be a source of prompt service for their TV and radio sets, too — in fact, any electronic instrument.

College Delays on Site Condemnation

District 301 junior college board last week continued its postponement of beginning condemnation action of the 181-acre Rathje farm.

But board members generally agreed that the controversial site, part of 4,000 acres zoned industrial by Schaumburg, is still "first choice" for the junior college campus. The Rathje farm is on the northwest corner of Golf and Meacham Roads.

A Hoffman Estates resident, Mrs. W. J. Hayter, 384 Carleton Rd., asked the board why they had delayed initiation of condemnation proceedings. Mrs. Hayter, a member of District 54 school board, said she attended the meeting not as a school official but as an interested citizen.

"AS A MEMBER of the township," she said, "I can say that residents of the area have not been heard." Mrs. Hayter contended that Schaumburg Village Pres. Robert O. Atcher, who has vowed opposition to condemnation of the site, did not represent "the groundswell of public opinion."

"Don't penalize the people because Schaumburg officials aren't tending to their knitting," she added.

Board president John Haas responded, saying that the board was still convinced that the Rathje farm is the best available site.

Haas said that soil tests were being made on some other sites originally considered by the board and that additional information was expected.

BOARD member and chairman of the site committee, Milton Hansen, warned that selection of the site must be based in part on the availability of utilities offered by the community in which the college would be located. He indicated that selection of the Rathje farm probably would not encourage Schaumburg to provide these utilities.

"To the extent that we will be dependent on the municipality," he said, "we should be sure we really can depend on it."

Board member James Hamil said there was a possibility Hoffman Estates could provide the services.

Junior college president Dr. Robert Lahti told the board that a final decision would have to be made by at least one week before April 7. That is the date scheduled for the first "squatters session" when architects will study the site and draw up a master plan. (B 10

Great Books Leader Training Scheduled

The Great Books Foundation will begin a tuition-free leader training course April 4 at the Maywood Recreation Center for adults in the West Suburban area.

Mrs. P. L. Hubbell, Jr., area coordinator, said the course would be the only offered this year for the area.

Participants, who don't have to meet any formal educational requirements or have had any previous Great Books experience, will meet for eight consecutive weeks, April 4 through May 23, from 8 to 10 p.m.

THE COURSE is designed to teach the individual how to conduct a discussion of a Great Book through the use of questions. Completion of the course allows the person to become a co-leader of a discussion group.

Mrs. Hubbell also explained that "preparation during the course will increase your ability to read analytically, to think systematically, to listen intently and to express yourself effectively — skills which will be lifelong assets."

For additional information or to register for the course, Mrs. Hubbell should be contacted at 10 South Louis, Mount Prospect, (CL 9-0827). (B10

Assessment Procedure Revised

School districts and other governmental bodies will benefit from an adjustment in Cook County Assessor P. J. Cullerton's policy regarding partial assessments of newly constructed buildings.

As an assistance to rapidly growing school districts and other governmental services hard pressed for revenue in areas of rapidly expanding population, Cullerton has instituted a system of partial assessment of buildings based on completion and occupancy. This was done to eliminate the non-assessment of structures which were completed and occupied after the legal assessment date, Jan. 1.

PRIOR TO THIS change, a substantial part of the first year's building tax was escaped although the residents were enjoying the services of the schools and municipal functions.

The last revision, put into effect by Assessor P. J. Cullerton, eliminates the special consideration accorded to residential buildings; hereafter all buildings regardless of use will be valued according to one schedule of percentage assessment with the final date of Sept. 1 for all classes of construction. Lahti Attends National Meeting

Dr. Robert Lahti, president of District 301 Junior College, is in St. Louis this week for the annual convention of the National Association of Junior Colleges.

Lahti left Sunday to join an estimated 1,500 junior college board members and administrators from across the country at the meeting.

LAHTI IS is member of the association's commission on administration. He said none of the District 301 board members would attend the convention this year.

The convention begins Sunday and will end Friday. Lahti said he expects to return late Thursday or early Friday. (B10

A $50 CHECK for Clearbrook Center for the Retarded was presented last Thursday to Bob Gillespie (left) by Scott Schneberger, senior at Arlington High and president of the school Key Club. Club members dressed as Santa Clauses at basketball games raised the sum for the center. Gillespie is director of sheltered workshop and vocational training at Clearbrook Center.

College Delays on Site Condemnation

District 301 junior college board last week continued its postponement of beginning condemnation action of the 181-acre Rathje farm.

But board members generally agreed that the controversial site, part of 4,000 acres zoned industrial by Schaumburg, is still "first choice" for the junior college campus. The Rathje farm is on the northwest corner of Golf and Meacham Roads.

A Hoffman Estates resident, Mrs. W. J. Hayter, 384 Carleton Rd., asked the board why they had delayed initiation of condemnation proceedings. Mrs. Hayter, a member of District 54 school board, said she attended the meeting not as a school official but as an interested citizen.

"AS A MEMBER of the township," she said, "I can say that residents of the area have not been heard." Mrs. Hayter contended that Schaumburg Village Pres. Robert O. Atcher, who has vowed opposition to condemnation of the site, did not represent "the groundswell of public opinion."

"Don't penalize the people because Schaumburg officials aren't tending to their knitting," she added.

Board president John Haas responded, saying that the board was still convinced that the Rathje farm is the best available site.

Haas said that soil tests were being made on some other sites originally considered by the board and that additional information was expected.

BOARD member and chairman of the site committee, Milton Hansen, warned that selection of the site must be based in part on the availability of utilities offered by the community in which the college would be located. He indicated that selection of the Rathje farm probably would not encourage Schaumburg to provide these utilities.

"To the extent that we will be dependent on the municipality," he said, "we should be sure we really can depend on it."

Board member James Hamil said there was a possibility Hoffman Estates could provide the services.

Junior college president Dr. Robert Lahti told the board that a final decision would have to be made by at least one week before April 7. That is the date scheduled for the first "squatters session" when architects will study the site and draw up a master plan. (B 10

The Great Books Foundation will begin a tuition-free leader training course April 4 at the Maywood Recreation Center for adults in the West Suburban area.

Mrs. P. L. Hubbell, Jr., area coordinator, said the course would be the only offered this year for the area.

Participants, who don't have to meet any formal educational requirements or have had any previous Great Books experience, will meet for eight consecutive weeks, April 4 through May 23, from 8 to 10 p.m.

THE COURSE is designed to teach the individual how to conduct a discussion of a Great Book through the use of questions. Completion of the course allows the person to become a co-leader of a discussion group.

Mrs. Hubbell also explained that "preparation during the course will increase your ability to read analytically, to think systematically, to listen intently and to express yourself effectively — skills which will be lifelong assets."

SEEING-EYE RADAR

by ED LANDWEHR

Big boats use radar to warn them of approaching obstacles in fog and at night. Now a miniature radar will be marketed for the blind.

Carried by a sightless person, this electronic emits signals for ten feet or so and trips a vibrator warning of any obstacle that comes into the person's path.

This is a very worthwhile invention, and we hope at LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights that we can be a source of service for this kind of electronic. Many folks hereabouts have found the phone number CLearbrook 5-0700 to be a source of prompt service for their TV and radio sets, too — in fact, any electronic instrument.

Supersonic Aircraft Planned to 'Fit' O'Hare

By PAT HENSEL
Staff Writer

Airborne buses and supersonic airliners will be coming to O'Hare Field in the not-too-distant future.

But aircraft manufacturing firms have been given the warning to design airplanes to fit the airfield, so that airfields won't have to be rebuilt to fit the airplane.

It had, for some time, been feared that the busiest airfield in the world—which took years to plan and develop — would become obsolete overnight.

Supersonic airplanes were being designed which simply could not land or take off in such "close quarters."

ANOTHER LOOK at the situation indicated it would be much less costly, and replace many fewer people, if aircraft were made which could accommodate themselves to existing landing strips.

Though the United States government has clamped a tight lid on the whole new concept of supersonic aircraft, manufacturing firms are designing flying buses which will take off and land vertically.

Some will be jet-copters which will provide a more leisurely journey. Still others will be tiny jets with built-in lift and landing devices.

ALL THEY WILL need in the way of a landing strip will be the ground they stand on.

For folks who want to get somewhere three times faster than sound, there will be supersonic airliners. Sound travels at 738 m.p.h. at sea level. Supersonics will be able to travel 2,000 m.p.h. or more.

The cloud of secrecy is for a good reason: A fleet of 680 supersonic fighter-bombers is to be the backbone of the strategic air command.

Development of the craft for military purposes has taken top priority with President Johnson's Supersonic Transport Development committee, according to Kirby Brannon, manager of the Federal Aviation Agency's Chicago area office.

HE SAID, "Supersonic transport is strictly in the development stages. We don't hear too much about it until they're ready to go with something."

He suggested that Brig. Gen. J. C. Maxwell or his deputy Barney Vierling in Washington, D. C. might be able to provide more information. They could not.

What has held up the development of supersonic aircraft, so far? A very elementary problem:

How do high-speed airplanes take off from existing airports —even an airport as large as O'Hare? At present stage of development, it was estimated they needed a landing strip at least twice as long as any existing at any airfield in the world.

BUT, THE military couldn't wait. That's why manufacturers were requested to develop high-speed craft which could lift off vertically and set down in a small cornfield.

The president's committee decided this after investigating the two possible areas of approach:

Either increase the size of the airfields or build supersonics to fit existing airstrips.

The U. S. government may wind up paying 85 or more per cent of the cost of developing more vertical take-off and landing devices for supersonics.

Aircraft manufacturing firms are competing to get some of the development funds. Once the problem is licked for military craft, the commercial market is wide open.

ONE MODEL in existence now can be converted to carry up to 1,000 passengers, and would be available at cut-rate fares because of this.

One of the engineering devices in the development stage is a right-angle wing which can be folded against a fuselage for take-off and landing on short, undeveloped airstrips.

Such aircraft would be able to cruise at 100 m.p.h., or blast away at 1,700 m.p.h.

No solution apparently has been found for the noise of the blasting away. If communities were worried that longer airstrips would replace their homes, then they can be even more worried that noise will blast them off the edge of sanity.

THE FEDERAL agency is trying to solve these problems along with those of landing space.

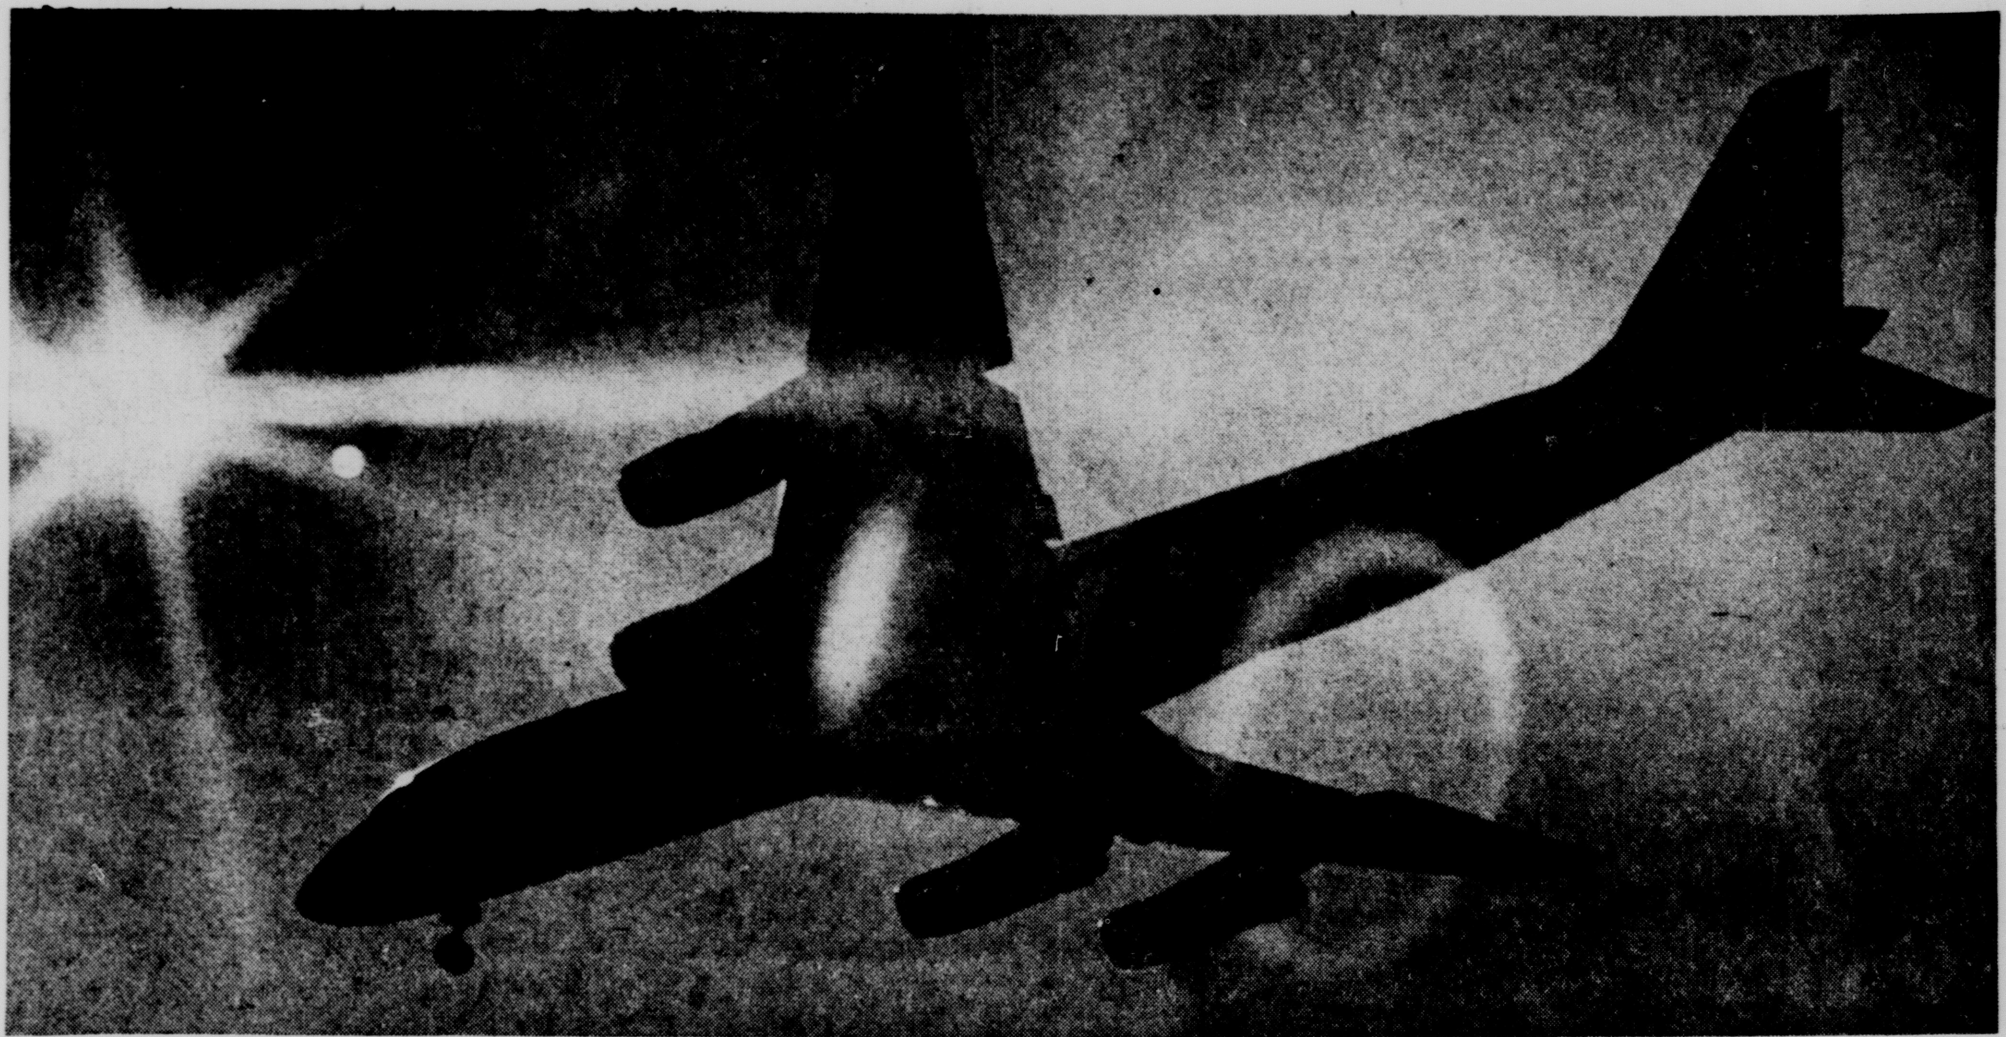
Brannon said he's convinced commercial supersonics will not move into O'Hare the way subsonic jets moved in a few years ago.

Airport operators still have not recovered from noise problems, maintenance problems, heavy weights and jet blasts. For this reason, they have been invited to participate, to some extent, in the decisions on the supersonic machine.

Long ducts leading into engines, sound-reducing fan engines, and re-designed exhausts will cut the high-compression whine, the approach squeal and the low-frequency exhaust thunder.

When these problems are solved, it will take less time to get to O'Hare from Los Angeles than it takes to get out of the O'Hare Field parking lot.

(A15



SUPERSONIC TRANSPORTS will be the air buses and airliners of tomorrow. Lifting off from a brief airstrip at O'Hare, they'll zip to New York and California in less time than it takes to phone the folks you're coming. Right now, supersonics are being developed for military purposes—and the nature of their missions demands they be built to take off and land on a moment's notice in a small cornfield. Noise will be the next problem to solve, and airport authorities have assured commercial aircraft manufacturers they want no part of supersonics until the sound is turned down. (Staff Photo)

One of the engineering devices in the development stage is a right-angle wing which can be folded against a fuselage for take-off and landing on short, undeveloped airstrips.

Such aircraft would be able to cruise at 100 m.p.h., or blast away at 1,700 m.p.h.

No solution apparently has been found for the noise of the blasting away. If communities were worried that longer airstrips would replace their homes, then they can be even more worried that noise will blast them off the edge of sanity.

THE FEDERAL agency is trying to solve these problems along with those of landing space.

Brannon said he's convinced commercial supersonics will not move into O'Hare the way subsonic jets moved in a few years ago.

Airport operators still have not recovered from noise problems, maintenance problems, heavy weights and jet blasts. For this reason, they have been invited to participate, to some extent, in the decisions on the supersonic machine.

Long ducts leading into engines, sound-reducing fan engines, and re-designed exhausts will cut the high-compression whine, the approach squeal and the low-frequency exhaust thunder.

When these problems are solved, it will take less time to get to O'Hare from Los Angeles than it takes to get out of the O'Hare Field parking lot.

SUPERSONIC TRANSPORTS will be the air buses and airliners of tomorrow. Lifting off from a brief airstrip at O'Hare, they'll zip to New York and California in less time than it takes to phone the folks you're coming. Right now, supersonics are being developed for military purposes—and the nature of their missions demands they be built to take off and land on a moment's notice in a small cornfield. Noise will be the next problem to solve, and airport authorities have assured commercial aircraft manufacturers they want no part of supersonics until the sound is turned down. (Staff Photo)

Policy on Gaps Will Be Drafted

The Arlington Heights sidewalk policy in search of an author has found one in the public safety committee of the village board.

The public safety committee agreed to accept responsibility for studying and proposing a uniform sidewalk policy for the village after lengthy discussion at Monday night's joint meeting of the board of local improvements (BOLI) and Trustees Thomas Hanlon, Frank Palmatier and John J. Walsh Jr. who are members of the committee.

As a first step a committee meeting was scheduled for 8:30 p.m. March 15. BOLI members Harold Klingner and Russell Colvin will attend to present views of their board.

Results of Monday's meeting was mutual acknowledgment that —Communications between the two boards have deteriorated; —There is no comprehensive policy; —Work should begin on one.

BOLI HAS ASKED that the village board establish an objective set of standards for determining where sidewalks should be installed.

They claim that their request goes back to July 8, 1965 and earlier that it has not been answered by the village board.

Trustee Walsh told them he wanted to set the record straight between the two boards and referred to past minutes of BOLI and village board meetings to point out that the BOLI request has been answered by a map submitted by Kent Bristol, former administrative assistant to the village manager, which denoted areas where sidewalks should be placed.

"I would agree that we didn't give you a policy," he said. "But it should have been clear that we did not ignore your request."

BOLI members find the map inadequate because, according to Klingner, some areas BOLI considered essential were not included and others they felt should be omitted were included.

RESTATING THE BOLI case, Pres. Sam Rudder said they are looking for an objective policy to apply to each piece of property to determine whether it fits the requirements for sidewalk placement or not.

Ever present in the minds of BOLI members is the spectre of hundreds of property owners gathered at their meetings to protest assessments.

"We have lousy public relations," said Klingner. "We always call people in to spend their money against their will. Those that attend our meetings almost without exception oppose us because we are spending their money."

Trustee Palmatier cautioned that a sidewalk policy could not be set on general principles but would have to be worked out with reference to particular cases.

He acknowledged that it ought to be the responsibility of the trustees to spend hours in committee work to come up with a policy.

Such a policy should be applied with such restraint that you are not following an idea but serving village needs, he said.

SUGGESTIONS FOR a sidewalk policy prepared by BOLI members Chaps and Colvin and presented by them at last Thursday's BOLI meeting were passed around Monday.

At Colvin's insistence they were read and discussed.

Colvin's proposals were that sidewalks be placed:

—On all streets abutting property containing a commercial, professional or manufacturing building, provided the public uses the building;

—On front and side streets abutting any lot with a multi-family residence;

—Along all major arterial streets in built-up areas;

—In any built-up area to fill gaps where sidewalks already have been built along at least half the block;

—In any block that has average pedestrian traffic in excess of 50 people.

He listed four cases where sidewalks should not be installed. Three of them referred to the timing of development of an area.

The fourth stated that sidewalks should not be installed in the interior of established single-family residential neighborhoods designed and landscaped never to have sidewalks, for example, Stonegate, Scarsdale, Scarsdale Estates, Sherwood and Laurinwood.

Chaps was essentially in agreement with Colvin's proposals. His were, however, more comprehensive and called for specific surveys of pedestrian traffic.

Trustees will use the BOLI proposals as a starting point when they begin consideration of a sidewalk policy in committee meetings. (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Mrs. D. W. McCammon, 516 S. Phelps, has been receiving congratulations from friends and neighbors for more than a week now, on having been a big winner in a supermarket game.

However, Betty had to come down from "Cloud 9" to make and carry out plans for two birthday parties. The first was for 7-year-old Gary on Feb. 19, to mark his Feb. 23 birthday. Bruce Alvin, Bobby Hoffman, Ted Kerger, Keith Moller, David Tambeaux, Kevin Donovan and Raymond Loch were guests for birthday cake and ice cream and an afternoon at the movies.

Last Saturday a party was given to mark Karol's ninth birthday. Her guests were Teresa Krueger, Beth Ann Briscoe, Julie Moller, Charlene Weiss, Gail Gislason, Nathalie Straub, Cindy Christiansen and Tricia Schroeder. After a festive luncheon at the McCammon home, they too, attended the movies.

DICK SMITH, son of the Richard Smiths, 515 S. Prindle, received his bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from Iowa State University at a graduation ceremony Saturday. His parents drove to Ames to attend the exercises and to spend the weekend with their son and his wife, Barbara.

Monday of last week was a red letter day in the James Thorstad home, 412 S. Phelps. That day they were told 21-month-old Johnny would not need surgery and could be taken home from Children's Memorial Hospital, where he had been undergoing tests for three weeks.

Last Tuesday was another red letter day for the family, but it was enjoyed most by Barby. It was her sixth birthday.

TO CELEBRATE, she invited several of her friends to accompany her home from their morning kindergarten class for a birthday luncheon. Guests were Denise Domas, Karla Soukup, Kim McMillen, Bonnie Lucas, David Brown, Tommy Crane, Carol Todd and Linda Nelson.

Debby Byrnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Byrnes, 437 S. Phelps, enjoyed a birthday dinner with her parents and sister, Nancy, on Thursday before leaving for an evening of swimming at the "Y." An avid enthusiast of the sport, Debby, in addition to attending swim sessions twice a week, is entered in the meets held there every Saturday.

When Keith Longrie, son of the Lyle Longries, 429 S. Forrest, came home from school on Wednesday of last week, he brought Mark Hermanson and Scott Kunz to share birthday cake and ice cream with him and his brother, Mark.

SATURDAY WAS the family's day to celebrate and the 6-year-old was allowed to say how it would be done. He chose to spend the afternoon bowling and followed it up with a festive dinner at home. Members of the family in on all phases of the celebration were Keith's parents, sister, Marcia, and brothers, Mark and Chuck, and Chuck's wife, Sandy.

Sunday dinner at the Ron Drews home, 517 S. Forrest, was a gala affair to honor Cheryl's Feb. 25 birthday. Showering attention on the 2-year-old were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Draper, and an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Zambuto with cousins, Laurie and Kris, all of Chicago. Although it was not her birthday, 4-year-old Debby came in for her share of attention.

Debby May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl May, 2005 E. Park, may be only 5, but her Feb. 21 birthday celebration would do justice to one twice her age. It started the Saturday before with cake and ice cream for neighborhood friends, Nancy Johnson, Konni Knutsen, Nancy Post, Kelly Donovan, Karla Soukup and Laura Schneider. After several hours of playing games, each guest left for home carrying a prize. Sandy Burke also joined the group for a short time.

ON SUNDAY Debby's grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Williams, hosted a dinner at her home in Chicago in honor of the event. Guests who helped celebrate were two aunts, Mrs. Kenneth Harvey and her two sons and Mrs. Fred Castillo with her three children, and an uncle, David Williams. Knowing Debby's preference for pie over cake, her grandmother served chocolate cream pie while the guests sang "Happy Birthday."

Monday the scene of the three-day celebration switched back to the May home, where a late dinner was served to the birthday girl's godparents and their families, the Robert Hunters of Melrose Park and Mr. and Mrs. Wally Mysliwiec and his mother, of Berwyn.

Ellen Jahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jahn, joined the ranks of the teenagers Saturday and was congratulated on the step at a family party at the Jahn home, 420 S. Waterman. Joining the family for cake and ice cream were an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William O'Connell of Rolling Meadows.

ELLEN AND HER brothers, Mark and Paul, with their mother, were guests of their grandmother, Mrs. Marie Koenig of Chicago, on Sunday. Part of the treat planned for them was a trip to the Loop to see "The Ugly Dachshund."

Since his mother was in the hospital on his Feb. 22 birthday, Alan Cerva will celebrate with his friends belatedly.

However, his parents, Don and Norma, 425 S. Forrest, gave a small family party for the 5-year-old Sunday evening. Cake and coffee were served to Alan's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cerva of Elmwood Park, and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan, 412 S. Forrest, enjoyed "getting away from it all" when they joined three other couples for a weekend of tobogganing and skiing at Lake Lawn, Wis.

MR. AND MRS. Ray Fritz, 420 S. Phelps, were married eight years Feb. 22 and observed the event by having a quiet dinner Sunday at Ignatz and Mary's Grove Inn with Ray's mother.

Fran Conway, 513 S. Prindle, had a Feb. 23 birthday. His wife, Eunice, and their children, Jimmy and Sharon, helped him celebrate it quietly at home.

Mrs. John Brunsfeld, 416 S. Phelps, was hostess a week ago Monday at an evening get-together for the Birthday Club. More than a dozen members were present to congratulate Mrs. A. E. Dassonville, 428 S. Phelps, on her Feb. 22 birthday, and to enjoy coffee and birthday cake with her.

The Arlington Acres Civic Assn. will hold a board meeting Wednesday, March 9, at 9 p.m., at Lauterburg and Oehler's. The meeting is open to the general membership and board members are hoping to see many area residents present, since plans for the future of the association are to be discussed.

Robbed of $1,755

Two masked men committed a daring daylight hold-up of the Sealtest Ice Cream Company plant in Rolling Meadows last Friday.

They made off with $1,755 in checks and currency from an open safe, after terrorizing the officer manager with guns and shutting him in a closet.

Ronald Koeppen, 2415 Jay Lane, Rolling Meadows, remained in the closet until he heard the bandits close the front door behind them. Then finding all his phones disabled, he ran to the nearby Gaare Oil Co. to telephone police.

KOEPPEN TOLD police he was alone in the office, talking on the telephone about 11:30 a.m., and did not observe the men enter until one of them pointed a gun at him. Both men were armed, one with a revolver and the other with an automatic.

He said the faces of the men were hidden under rubber Halloween-type masks. One man carried an athletic bag.

the world's only self-cleaning ovens are electric

Don't touch this dirty oven. It cleans itself electrically.

Throw away your brushes, scouring pads, special cleaners. Oven cleaners are obsolete. Today, many new electric ovens clean themselves—automatically. All you do is set the controls to "clean." The oven takes over. Electrically, every trace of grease and dirt is destroyed. Your oven will be as bright and clean as the day you bought it. You'll never have to clean an oven again. Only modern electric ovens can do this for you.

It's easier to be a good cook with electricity

SURFACE COOKING: Exact temperature settings provide precise and constant heat control. Larger heating surfaces allow cooking at lower temperatures, require much less water. Result: More vitamins, flavor, color and texture. You can even prepare a delicate sauce without a double boiler. OVEN COOKING: Faster, because less preheating is needed. More moisture is retained, because only electric ovens are insulated on all 6 sides; meats are juicier, cakes richer. COOLER: Electricity cooks the food, not the cook. CLEANER: Self-cleaning units; flameless heat can't scorch utensils or soil kitchen walls. SAFE: No flame. ECONOMICAL: Far less food shrinkage; far lower cleaning expenses; no pilot light cost. Last Tuesday was another red letter day for the family, but it was enjoyed most by Barby. It was her sixth birthday.

TO CELEBRATE, she invited several of her friends to accompany her home from their morning kindergarten class for a birthday luncheon. Guests were Denise Domas, Karla Soukup, Kim McMillen, Bonnie Lucas, David Brown, Tommy Crane, Carol Todd and Linda Nelson.

Debby Byrnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Byrnes, 437 S. Phelps, enjoyed a birthday dinner with her parents and sister, Nancy, on Thursday before leaving for an evening of swimming at the "Y." An avid enthusiast of the sport, Debby, in addition to attending swim sessions twice a week, is entered in the meets held there every Saturday.

When Keith Longrie, son of the Lyle Longries, 429 S. Forrest, came home from school on Wednesday of last week, he brought Mark Hermanson and Scott Kunz to share birthday cake and ice cream with him and his brother, Mark.

SATURDAY WAS the family's day to celebrate and the 6-year-old was allowed to say how it would be done. He chose to spend the afternoon bowling and followed it up with a festive dinner at home. Members of the family in on all phases of the celebration were Keith's parents, sister, Marcia, and brothers, Mark and Chuck, and Chuck's wife, Sandy.

Sunday dinner at the Ron Drews home, 517 S. Forrest, was a gala affair to honor Cheryl's Feb. 25 birthday. Showering attention on the 2-year-old were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Draper, and an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Zambuto with cousins, Laurie and Kris, all of Chicago. Although it was not her birthday, 4-year-old Debby came in for her share of attention.

Debby May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl May, 2005 E. Park, may be only 5, but her Feb. 21 birthday celebration would do justice to one twice her age. It started the Saturday before with cake and ice cream for neighborhood friends, Nancy Johnson, Konni Knutsen, Nancy Post, Kelly Donovan, Karla Soukup and Laura Schneider. After several hours of playing games, each guest left for home carrying a prize. Sandy Burke also joined the group for a short time.

ON SUNDAY Debby's grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Williams, hosted a dinner at her home in Chicago in honor of the event. Guests who helped celebrate were two aunts, Mrs. Kenneth Harvey and her two sons and Mrs. Fred Castillo with her three children, and an uncle, David Williams. Knowing Debby's preference for pie over cake, her grandmother served chocolate cream pie while the guests sang "Happy Birthday."

Monday the scene of the three-day celebration switched back to the May home, where a late dinner was served to the birthday girl's godparents and their families, the Robert Hunters of Melrose Park and Mr. and Mrs. Wally Mysliwiec and his mother, of Berwyn.

Ellen Jahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jahn, joined the ranks of the teenagers Saturday and was congratulated on the step at a family party at the Jahn home, 420 S. Waterman. Joining the family for cake and ice cream were an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William O'Connell of Rolling Meadows.

ELLEN AND HER brothers, Mark and Paul, with their mother, were guests of their grandmother, Mrs. Marie Koenig of Chicago, on Sunday. Part of the treat planned for them was a trip to the Loop to see "The Ugly Dachshund."

Since his mother was in the hospital on his Feb. 22 birthday, Alan Cerva will celebrate with his friends belatedly.

However, his parents, Don and Norma, 425 S. Forrest, gave a small family party for the 5-year-old Sunday evening. Cake and coffee were served to Alan's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cerva of Elmwood Park, and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan, 412 S. Forrest, enjoyed "getting away from it all" when they joined three other couples for a weekend of tobogganing and skiing at Lake Lawn, Wis.

MR. AND MRS. Ray Fritz, 420 S. Phelps, were married eight years Feb. 22 and observed the event by having a quiet dinner Sunday at Ignatz and Mary's Grove Inn with Ray's mother.

Fran Conway, 513 S. Prindle, had a Feb. 23 birthday. His wife, Eunice, and their children, Jimmy and Sharon, helped him celebrate it quietly at home.

Mrs. John Brunsfeld, 416 S. Phelps, was hostess a week ago Monday at an evening get-together for the Birthday Club. More than a dozen members were present to congratulate Mrs. A. E. Dassonville, 428 S. Phelps, on her Feb. 22 birthday, and to enjoy coffee and birthday cake with her.

The Arlington Acres Civic Assn. will hold a board meeting Wednesday, March 9, at 9 p.m., at Lauterburg and Oehler's. The meeting is open to the general membership and board members are hoping to see many area residents present, since plans for the future of the association are to be discussed.

Robbed of $1,755

Two masked men committed a daring daylight hold-up of the Sealtest Ice Cream Company plant in Rolling Meadows last Friday.

They made off with $1,755 in checks and currency from an open safe, after terrorizing the officer manager with guns and shutting him in a closet.

Ronald Koeppen, 2415 Jay Lane, Rolling Meadows, remained in the closet until he heard the bandits close the front door behind them. Then finding all his phones disabled, he ran to the nearby Gaare Oil Co. to telephone police.

KOEPPEN TOLD police he was alone in the office, talking on the telephone about 11:30 a.m., and did not observe the men enter until one of them pointed a gun at him. Both men were armed, one with a revolver and the other with an automatic.

He said the faces of the men were hidden under rubber Halloween-type masks. One man carried an athletic bag.

the world's only self-cleaning ovens are electric

Don't touch this dirty oven. It cleans itself electrically.

Throw away your brushes, scouring pads, special cleaners. Oven cleaners are obsolete. Today, many new electric ovens clean themselves—automatically. All you do is set the controls to "clean." The oven takes over. Electrically, every trace of grease and dirt is destroyed. Your oven will be as bright and clean as the day you bought it. You'll never have to clean an oven again. Only modern electric ovens can do this for you.

It's easier to be a good cook with electricity

SURFACE COOKING: Exact temperature settings provide precise and constant heat control. Larger heating surfaces allow cooking at lower temperatures, require much less water. Result: More vitamins, flavor, color and texture. You can even prepare a delicate sauce without a double boiler. OVEN COOKING: Faster, because less preheating is needed. More moisture is retained, because only electric ovens are insulated on all 6 sides; meats are juicier, cakes richer. COOLER: Electricity cooks the food, not the cook. CLEANER: Self-cleaning units; flameless heat can't scorch utensils or soil kitchen walls. SAFE: No flame. ECONOMICAL: Far less food shrinkage; far lower cleaning expenses; no pilot light cost. Independent Voters Honor Mrs. Chapman

State Rep. Eugenia S. Chapman (D-Arlington Heights) Saturday was honored by the Independent Voters of Illinois for her service in the General Assembly.

Mrs. Chapman was presented a Best Legislator Award and a Best Freshman Citation by IVI Board Chairman Robert T. Drake during an awards brunch at the Lake Tower Inn, Chicago. She was one of 11 members of the House so honored.

The Arlington Heights representative was picked for the Best Legislator Award, according to Drake, "for her consistently good record of votes for and sponsorship of legislation benefiting Illinois children and young people. Her awareness of the rights of all working people also has been well demonstrated."

DURING HER first term in Springfield, Mrs. Chapman was the chief sponsor of the Junior College Act, hailed as the "most significant education legislation of our lifetimes" by the State Chamber of Commerce. She was a member of the education committee, the public aid, health, safety and welfare committee, and the roads and bridges committee.

Her IVI Best Freshman Citation reads: "For unusual competence and diligence in promoting good legislation to meet the needs of all Illinois citizens."

Mrs. Chapman, who announced her candidacy for reelection two weeks ago, said Sunday that she was grateful for the inspiration and support she received from her constituents and local educators during her first term.

"This type of support is vital if we are to do all that needs to be done to make our Illinois educational system a model for the nation," she said.

THE IVI AWARDS came just a week after Mrs. Chapman was endorsed in her re-election quest by the Northwest Suburban Division of the Illinois Educational Association, a group made up of area teachers and school administrators. (B10

Independent Voters Honor Mrs. Chapman

State Rep. Eugenia S. Chapman (D-Arlington Heights) Saturday was honored by the Independent Voters of Illinois for her service in the General Assembly.

Mrs. Chapman was presented a Best Legislator Award and a Best Freshman Citation by IVI Board Chairman Robert T. Drake during an awards brunch at the Lake Tower Inn, Chicago. She was one of 11 members of the House so honored.

The Arlington Heights representative was picked for the Best Legislator Award, according to Drake, "for her consistently good record of votes for and sponsorship of legislation benefiting Illinois children and young people. Her awareness of the rights of all working people also has been well demonstrated."

DURING HER first term in Springfield, Mrs. Chapman was the chief sponsor of the Junior College Act, hailed as the "most significant education legislation of our lifetimes" by the State Chamber of Commerce. She was a member of the education committee, the public aid, health, safety and welfare committee, and the roads and bridges committee.

Her IVI Best Freshman Citation reads: "For unusual competence and diligence in promoting good legislation to meet the needs of all Illinois citizens."

Mrs. Chapman, who announced her candidacy for re-election two weeks ago, said Sunday that she was grateful for the inspiration and support she received from her constituents and local educators during her first term.

"This type of support is vital if we are to do all that needs to be done to make our Illinois educational system a model for the nation," she said.

THE IVI AWARDS came just a week after Mrs. Chapman was endorsed in her re-election quest by the Northwest Suburban Division of the Illinois Educational Association, a group made up of area teachers and school administrators. (B10

We understand that the idea of building homes along the fairways of a golf course originated in Palm Springs, California.

Regardless of where it started, we have seen from our own experience how a combination of a large site and the open greenery of acres of golf course provides a most distinctive and exclusive setting for the fine custom-built residence.

If you are seeking a close-in yet still rural setting and desire to build or buy a home in the general area of $75,000, we invite your inspection of our acre or larger home-sites in varying degree of proximity to the fairways and greens of the Long Grove Country Club.

Property office is located on Route 53, approximately two miles north of Rand Road (U.S. 12), or one mile west of the juncture of Routes 53 and 83.

Long Grove Country Club Estates is located in the historic Village of Long Grove, east of Barrington, west of Deerfield. Take Routes 12 or 83 to our farm office on Route 53.

Regardless of where it started, we have seen from our own experience how a combination of a large site and the open greenery of acres of golf course provides a most distinctive and exclusive setting for the fine custom-built residence.

If you are seeking a close-in yet still rural setting and desire to build or buy a home in the general area of $75,000, we invite your inspection of our acre or larger home-sites in varying degree of proximity to the fairways and greens of the Long Grove Country Club.

World Voting Exhibit On Display Next Week

Shoppers at the Randhurst Shopping Center in Mount Prospect will see the first World Voting Exposition on display from Monday, March 7, through Sunday, March 13.

Paul G. Dasso, president of the Randhurst Merchants Association, said the exposition, produced by the Citizens Honest Elections Foundation, has exhibits portraying the history of voting, importance of one vote, and the perils of not voting. It was first shown at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in January, and in February at the Evergreen Plaza in Chicago.

Don R. Grimes, president of Independent Grocers Alliance, is chairman of the non-partisan Citizens Honest Elections Foundation, and James A. Brow, Park Ridge attorney, is its executive director.

DASSO SAID the exposition provides a unique opportunity for parents to encourage their children to take a more active part when they become voting citizens of tomorrow's America. Assisting him with plans for the display are John Nelson, manager of the Montgomery Ward store at Randhurst and vice president of the Merchants Association, and Richard B. McCarthy, promotion manager.

The exposition displays the history of voting around the world, showing voting in ancient Greece as well as election activities today. One section portrays the apathy of the American voter with an animated world map, which shows that the United States ranks 41st of 82 free world countries in voting participation. Only 58 per cent of eligible Americans have voted in the last eight Presidential elections, and their record in local elections is even worse, Mr. Grimes said.

Maps and illustrations show how one vote has changed history, depicting five elections in which less than one vote per precinct was the margin between the winning and losing Presidential candidate.

A "Cracker Barrel" polling place of the 9th century shows actual buttons and campaign posters used in historic American elections. Campaign songs sung in elections back to Jefferson's day are other features of the show.

THE EXPOSITION will be displayed at other shopping centers, schools and auditoriums throughout Illinois following its Randhurst showing, Grimes said, as part of CHEF's educational program to foster greater activity in government affairs and to recruit watchers and challengers for the 1966 elections.

As a non-partisan organization, CHEF has trained more than 7,000 volunteer citizens to man the polls since its founding in 1961. Many of these people have served as election judges, while most have worked in precincts where voting irregularities have occurred in the past. (Rh

Closed Meet to Discuss Jr. College Site Problem

District 301 junior college board and the village boards of Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates were to meet behind closed doors yesterday (Wednesday) noon to discuss the controversial selection of a site for the junior college.

Plans for the meeting were announced Tuesday after members of the three boards received final notification. The luncheon meeting was to be sponsored by the Pioneer Publications, officials reported, but the press and public were to be barred from the discussion. A similar meeting was called two weeks ago but had to be postponed because members of the junior college board were not notified in time.

JUNIOR COLLEGE board member Jesslyn Nicklas said she was told the meeting was to be closed in order that junior college officials and members of the village boards could discuss differences more freely.

"The point of the meeting," she said, "is a simple, informal discussion. No decisions are going to be made." Any final decision, she noted, must come through a public board meeting.

Robert O. Atcher, village president of Schaumburg, said Tuesday afternoon that he would attend the meeting.

Atcher has raised vocal opposition to the junior college board's tentative selection of a 181-acre site which is part of 4,000 acres zoned for industrial development.

The 181 acres, formerly known as the Rathje farm, is located on the northwest corner of Golf and Meacham Roads.

ATCHER SAID he will present to the junior college board several alternative sites during the meeting.

"The selection of the site is the only area in which I have any disagreement," Atcher stressed. He added that he would like the junior college to be built in Schaumburg, but not in the heart of the village's industrial land.

Junior college board member A. M. (Bud) Bernstein said he would be unable to attend the meeting. Junior college president Dr. Robert Lahti was not expected to attend the meeting because he was in St. Louis at the annual convention of National Association of Junior Colleges.

The junior college board two weeks ago postponed initiation of condemnation proceedings on the Rathje farm in order that other possible sites might be reconsidered. (B10

Citizens Committee To Meet on Monday

Final preparations are underway for the first meeting of the Junior College District 301 citizens committee to be held at 8 p.m. Monday in Arlington High School Little Theater.

District 301 board member Mrs. Jesslyn Nicklas, who originally proposed formation of the committee, was expected to send out 600 to 1,000 letters to citizens and organizations in the community college area. The letters ask for participation on the committee.

THE MEETING Monday will be a general session at which participants will be asked to serve on one of five committees. These committees are finance, curriculum, enrollment potential and appropriate campus size, community services and adult education, and public information. Those attending the meeting may choose the committee on which they want to serve.

Mrs. Nicklas emphasized that service on the citizens committee is not confined to those who received letters. Anyone interested in problems of the district, she said, would be welcomed on the committee.

Request Office, Apartment Zone

A public hearing is scheduled at 5 p.m. Friday, March 11, in the Arlington Heights Village Hall to rezone a tract of land on Euclid Avenue just west of Wheeling Road in Wheeling Township.

J. M. Brickman Mid-West Corp. developers, are asking that the 2.53 acre plot be changed from R-5, general residence district, to B-4, general service district.

An office and apartment building is proposed for the site. (B10

Closed Meet to Discuss Jr. College Site Problem

District 301 junior college board and the village boards of Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates were to meet behind closed doors yesterday (Wednesday) noon to discuss the controversial selection of a site for the junior college.

Plans for the meeting were announced Tuesday after members of the three boards received final notification. The luncheon meeting was to be sponsored by the Pioneer Publications, officials reported, but the press and public were to be barred from the discussion. A similar meeting was called two weeks ago but had to be postponed because members of the junior college board were not notified in time.

JUNIOR COLLEGE board member Jesslyn Nicklas said she was told the meeting was to be closed in order that junior college officials and members of the village boards could discuss differences more freely.

"The point of the meeting," she said, "is a simple, informal discussion. No decisions are going to be made." Any final decision, she noted, must come through a public board meeting.

Robert O. Atcher, village president of Schaumburg, said Tuesday afternoon that he would attend the meeting.

Atcher has raised vocal opposition to the junior college board's tentative selection of a 181-acre site which is part of 4,000 acres zoned for industrial development.

The 181 acres, formerly known as the Rathje farm, is located on the northwest corner of Golf and Meacham Roads.

ATCHER SAID he will present to the junior college board several alternative sites during the meeting.

"The selection of the site is the only area in which I have any disagreement," Atcher stressed. He added that he would like the junior college to be built in Schaumburg, but not in the heart of the village's industrial land.

Junior college board member A. M. (Bud) Bernstein said he would be unable to attend the meeting. Junior college president Dr. Robert Lahti was not expected to attend the meeting because he was in St. Louis at the annual convention of National Association of Junior Colleges.

The junior college board two weeks ago postponed initiation of condemnation proceedings on the Rathje farm in order that other possible sites might be reconsidered. (B10

Fines totaling $208,682 were collected during January in the five suburban districts of the Circuit Court of Cook County.

SUMS RECEIVED are turned back to the municipalities by the Circuit Court. Most of the fines were the result of traffic offenses.

January's total collection represented a decrease from the $213,506 received during the month of December, although the 1966 total was an increase over the $158,258 received during January 1965.

McDonough notified Chief Judge Boyle and the presiding judges of each of the districts that checks covering the amounts specified are in the mail to all municipalities.

FOLLOWING are the amounts collected in January in each district, and the high and low fine-payers within the districts:

2nd Municipal District (north suburbs) — $37,945; Skokie, $9,075; Golf, $147.

3rd Municipal District (northwest suburbs) — $36,077; Des Plaines, $5,682; Bartlett, $263.

4th Municipal District (west suburbs) — $57,160; Cicero, $7,318; River Forest, $765.

5th Municipal District (southwest suburbs) — $44,140; Bridgeview, $5,011; Palos Heights, $107.

Citizens Committee To Meet on Monday

Final preparations are underway for the first meeting of the Junior College District 301 citizens committee to be held at 8 p.m. Monday in Arlington High School Little Theater.

District 301 board member Mrs. Jesslyn Nicklas, who originally proposed formation of the committee, was expected to send out 600 to 1,000 letters to citizens and organizations in the community college area. The letters ask for participation on the committee.

THE MEETING Monday will be a general session at which participants will be asked to serve on one of five committees. These committees are finance, curriculum, enrollment potential and appropriate campus size, community services and adult education, and public information. Those attending the meeting may choose the committee on which they want to serve.

Mrs. Nicklas emphasized that service on the citizens committee is not confined to those who received letters. Anyone interested in problems of the district, she said, would be welcomed on the committee.

Federal Help Expected for Sanitary District Projects

Needs of the Chicago Sanitary District for expansion and improvements over the next six years could exceed one-half billion dollars with the federal government underwriting 30 per cent of the cost, according to a report of the U. S. Senate subcommittee on air and water pollution.

Disclosure of the far-reaching program, larger than that of any other metropolitan area in the United States, was made recently by Frank W. Chesrow, president of the District.

Citing a report sent to him by the Senate Committee on Public Works incorporating a study by the subcommittee on air and water pollution, the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago has been listed for federal aid toward an immediate program involving 50 projects with a total cost of $171,585,400.

OUT OF THIS sum, it is estimated that the federal government would provide $51,475,620. Additional needs through 1972 would involve another 69 projects costing $333,989,900, of which the federal government would bear a cost of $100,196,970.

In commenting on the effect of such expenditure on the Sanitary District budget, President Chesrow pointed out:

"We must continue to maintain our pay-as-you-go policy for the construction of new projects so as not to impose any additional burden on local taxpayers. Therefore, we are seeking federal grants not only for sewage treatment projects but for beautification, recreational areas, and the like which will make up the difference in our construction funds, thus precluding the necessity for any additional taxes."

The only metropolitan area that could involve a greater program would be New York City, but the committee's report notes that New York was unable to provide information for a program to meet its present requirements. However, it was estimated that for the next six years New York would require an outlay of $780 million, with the federal government assuming $234 million of this expenditure.

IN SUMMARIZING its recommendations for congressional grants for sewage treatment, the subcommittee on air and water pollution stated:

"There are three basic elements in the federal government's water pollution control effort: treatment, enforcement, and research. Treatment plans will be disjointed and inadequate if public bodies lack the capability to develop and establish meaningful water quality standards. Enforcement will mean little if no way is available to achieve adequate treatment. And without research, the economic costs of treatment could overwhelm us."

"The Sanitary District has been aware of the increasing interest on the part of the federal government in sewage treatment requirements of metropolitan areas and has successfully made its own plans known in Washington," President Chesrow said. "The result is that of the 100 largest cities in the United States, Chicago and suburban areas have listed for the largest single appropriation to meet immediate needs.

"We have been advised that several of our projects now under way are eligible for federal support and will receive grants as soon as congress takes appropriate action.

"MUCH CREDIT for our eligibility for such assistance lies in our program and pioneering work in the field of sewage treatment bridging some 75 years of experience. Included in our recognized achievements are the construction of the largest sewage treatment plant in the world (West-Southwest Works), the largest Zimpro process installation for sewage treatment, the thoroughness with which we treat our sewage, and the fact that over the years we have been able to protect our primary source of domestic water supply; namely, that area of Lake Michigan from which the city and 114 communities in the metropolitan area draw their water."

President Chesrow has already sent Vinton W. Bacon, superintendent of the District, and Roger G. Seaman, the president's executive assistant, to Washington to make immediate application for federal grants now available and presumably available as soon as the present Congress takes further action on water pollution. Post Office Exposes Chain Letter Fraud

Post Office Department officials have warned that a massive, fraudulent chain letter scheme was being attempted in this country, apparently by a South American resident.

Postal officials moved fast to head off the scheme. Fraud orders are being obtained against the promoter. The fraud orders will permit postal authorities to stamp the letters "fraudulent" and return them to the senders.

Billed as an "International Vacation" plan, the scheme has resulted in thousands of letters being sent by the same person to boxholders in at least seven cities — New Orleans, New York City, Cleveland, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Milwaukee and Pittsburgh. The letters, written in Spanish-influenced English, were sent merely to the post office box numbers. They cost about 6 cents each for mailing from Santiago, Chile.

CHIEF POSTAL Inspector Henry B. Montague warned that the scheme is out-and-out fraud. Any chain letter that requires payment of anything of value is illegal under the Federal lottery statute, Montague said.

The letter writer in this case asks that $10 be sent to the first name on the list, which is the same in each letter, and that the recipient seek out five other persons to send the letter to after removing the first name from the list. The chain is to then continue. The promoter says it is possible to receive 3,125 checks of $10 each.

A chain letter plan invariably gets broken when someone fails to carry it on.

The six names and addresses listed by the letter writer in this case include a Bahamas address, a charitable organization in the United States, a deceased New York City man, a New Jersey fund, and a Chile resident with an English or American name.

First on the list is a Spanish name with a California address. Second is the Bahamas address. Postal inspectors suspect that three of the names on the list are actually the same person and that the charitable organization was added to the list to give the scheme an air of respectability.

THE LETTER-WRITER says that the initiator of the scheme is a Mexican who is now traveling in Europe with his wife.

"Don't be fooled by this scheme," Montague warned. "Someone has devised a clumsy way of trying to bilk thousands of Americans. These frauds never bear fruit for anyone but the initial instigators, and in this instance, due to early discovery of the scheme, the promoter probably will not recover his postage and printing investment." GOP Committeemen Disagree on Candidates

By T. WILLIAM SWINFORD
Staff Writer

Republican committeemen from the 3rd District for the State Senate and House apparently are deadlocked on the question of whether to make endorsements, as well as the choice of candidates, for the June primary election.

Meeting in closed session last Saturday at Old Orchard Country Club in Mount Prospect, and again Sunday night at the home of Carl Hansen, Elk Grove Township committeeman, the leaders heard eight candidates for the three positions.

Four candidates presented themselves for consideration of endorsement for the Senate seat, currently held by Sen. John Graham (R-Barrington); and four sought the endorsement for two House seats, one currently held by Rep. Eugene Schlickman, (R-Arlington Heights).

ALTHOUGH NO decision has been reached by the eight committeemen on either race, the Senate squabble seems to be causing the problem.

Announced candidates are Graham; Robert O. Atcher, Schaumburg village president; William Davies, Streamwood village attorney, and Richard E. Wiley of Northfield Township.

Representative candidates are Schlickman; David J. Regner of Mount Prospect, Elk Grove Township auditor; Fred J. Downey of Hoffman Estates, Schaumburg Township School Board president; and Robert Hesse, Palatine village trustee.

Hansen is in charge of the representative selection committee, and Harold Smith, Barrington Township GOP committeeman, heads the senatorial committee.

ALTHOUGH committeemen are not talking about the deliberations, beyond saying discussions are being held and the ground rules have not been set, it is known that Smith, of Graham's home township; Alex MacArthur, Palatine Township GOP committeeman, and Jesse Lehman, Schaumburg Township GOP committeeman, are pro-Graham and anti-Atcher.

Graham was endorsed Monday by precinct captains and officials for the Schaumburg Township organization.

Thomas Houser, GOP committeeman of Wheeling Township, and campaign manager for Charles H. Percy, GOP candidate for the U. S. Senate, reportedly is not taking a stand because of his affiliation with Percy.

This leaves Hansen, Eugene Devitt of Hanover Township; Floyd Fulle of Maine Township, and Sam Young of Northfield Township, to swing an endorsement vote.

Hansen said it has not been determined what majority will be needed for an endorsement, nor whether all committeemen will abide by a decision of a majority.

THE DISTRICT — including six full townships, about half of Northfield Township and a portion of Maine Township — was created in recent remapping of the state.

Schlickman, a former Arlington Heights trustee, and an attorney, had his maiden year in the house following the 1964 at-large election.

Regner, who has been seen as a Hansen protege in recent years, having worked his way quickly up the GOP organization and into an auditor's seat, received the Elk Grove Township endorsement Monday night.

He told Paddock Publications Tuesday morning he hoped to win the second seat in the district and was counting heavily on support in Wheeling and Elk Grove Townships.

Rapport has existed between Houser and Hansen over the years, with both men active in Percy's campaign for governor two years ago.

Regner refused to comment on the possibility of his making a deal for support with one of the senatorial candidates.

COMMITTEEMEN agreed that all contenders are "excellent candidates." Hansen and Smith said, "Each candidate made an excellent presentation."

Houser said, "It is not safe to say the committeemen are split. It's fair to say the committeemen are discussing to see if that kind of recommendation (an endorsement) is feasible. If not, then each committeeman will go back to his organization with or without a recommendation."

Houser said that unless the vote is unanimous or "very close," then individual recommendations will have to be made to organizations.

"WE'RE STILL working on the whole thing. Discussions are proceeding," Smith said.

Hansen said, "Well I don't know if that is true or not" when asked if the committeemen are deadlocked. "I think the matter is subject to further discussion and it's impossible at this point in time to predict the outcome."

If an endorsement is given, Hansen indicated it can be expected before March 28, the last day for filing petitions.

Smith indicated an endorsement will be made before March 21, the first day for petition filing.

Cook Courts Catching Up With Big Backlog of Cases

The Circuit Court of Cook County, during the first two years of the Judicial Article, disposed of more than a million more cases than were filed in the same period, John W. Freels, director of the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts, reported.

Speaking before the mid-year meeting of the American Judicature Society in the Palmer House, Freels noted that during 1964 and 1965 a total of 3,371,004 cases of all types were filed in the Circuit Court here, while 4,477,789 cases were terminated during this period.

Traffic, personal property tax, and other small cases constituted the bulk of these gains, the court director stated. "The results, however, demonstrate what can be done by a unified court able to assign judicial manpower to any type of work needing special attention," he added.

FREELS POINTED out that the number of judges hearing civil cases has been increased from 28 to 60 since Judge John S. Boyle was appointed Chief Judge of Cook County Jan. 1, 1964, the date judicial reform went into effect.

The civil cases, most of which arise from personal injury accidents, constitute the bulk of the Court's backlog and with increased court facilities in the new Civic Center and more judicial personnel, "We can expect consistent and even greater reductions in the backlog," Freels said.

On Dec. 31, 1964, there were 4,422 civil cases which had been filed prior to 1960 and thus were a minimum of five years old, Freels said. By the end of last year, only 362 of these cases remained on the trial docket, many of which had been to the Appellate or Supreme Courts and remanded for another trial, he added.

Another advantage of the state-wide court system is the power of the Illinois Supreme Court to assign Appellate and circuit judges where they are needed or the work load heaviest, Freels said.

THE SUPREME Court has appointed a Courts Commission which under the Judicial Article has the power after notice and hearing to retire any judge for disability or suspend without pay or remove a Judge for cause, the director said.

"The very existence of the commission and its power to act in proper cases, has resulted in the retirement of several judges who might otherwise have been called up before the commission," Freels said. "Since the commission has no power beyond removal, the voluntary action of these Judges, of course, closed these cases."

New court facilities, circuit riding teams, and the use of data processing has developed an efficient system in the five suburban districts of the county, where there is no backlog and a trial can be had within three months after a case is filed, Freels said.

EVEN MORE impressive are the financial results of the judicial reform, Freels said. In 1963, the last year under the old court system, the total of all fines collected by all the suburban communities was $370,000 and the costs $175,000. In 1965, the fines paid to these same communities totaled more than $2 million and the county collected one-half that much again in costs, Freels added.

Throughout Cook County, 208 separate courts have been united into one county-wide court system, Freels noted. There are 21 circuit districts in the state.

"We feel our first two years have been a real success story," Freels told the meeting. "Many hopes about the Judicial Article have been fulfilled and many plans have been realized. We have also benefited by other changes which though not previously planned, have been very welcome. The results of the immediate past indicate that our hopes for the future will be fulfilled."

College Board Supported On Choice of Rathje Site

Apparent support of their position on site selection was given Junior College District 301 board members by the Schaumburg Township Community Council Tuesday evening.

James Hamill and Paul O'Dea of Hoffman Estates appeared before the council to present information concerning the Rathje (Wild) property in Schaumburg as the college board's site. Recent controversy has stirred in Schaumburg over the 186 acres, which are zoned for industry, and which the board may condemn for their use.

"The Rathje farm is still the best site unless we can come up with something better," stated Hamill, reviewing all the sites considered by the board in the past months. He said that the best and first choice was the forest preserve land, which is not available to them.

POINTS mentioned in favor of the Rathje site over other possibilities were location and accessibility, size, price, physical environment and utilities.

O'Dea emphasized three points in favor of having the junior college within Schaumburg Township. The first value, he said, would be aesthetic, with the prospect of a well designed campus.

The financial benefits would come with increased business as additional people traveled into the community. Also, industry would be attracted to an area where educational resources are good. The third benefit he pointed out was the cultural one.

Two Hoffman village board members present voiced their personal support of the site choice. George Seaver commented, "You can't put a dollar and cents value on a college. What you might lose in real estate tax could be a gain in sales taxes."

RONALD FRANCK agreed, "Any tax loss would be a gain if we had the college."

Mrs. Gordon Mullins of Schaumburg, admittedly a "minority opinion," maintained the use of the 186 acres for a college was too great a tax loss. Mrs. William Hayber, District 54 school board member, clashed with Mrs. Mullins, but emphasized, "This is not a Hoffman-Schaumburg battle. You have to look at the total township picture."

It was pointed out that the present value of the disputed land is $300 an acre on the tax rolls. John Overton, also of the District 54 school board, said, "Let's assume that this (186 acres) is the last 5 per cent of the industrial land to be used. With 95 per cent of the industrial area filled, there would be such a rich tax base that we wouldn't miss the 5 per cent."

JUNIOR COLLEGE board members Paul O'Dea and James Hamill attended a meeting of the Schaumburg community council Tuesday night. Hamill and O'Dea told the council why the controversial Rathje farm was top on junior college District 301's list of tentative sites. (B10

Hamill and O'Dea noted that there were still other possibilities for sites, although none they feel is as satisfactory from all standpoints. But, said O'Dea, "It would be difficult to remain in a community that doesn't want the college."

LAST WEEK, the board of directors of the Schaumburg Township Community Council drafted a resolution stating, "The board of directors supports the position that the junior college board has taken in the selection of the Wild (Rathje) property for the proposed campus and regards the location of the institution within our community of greater value than the reservation of the land for potential future industrial development."

The resolution ws drafted by Mr. and Mrs. James McNulty, Mrs. William Hayter and Mrs. Larry Froid. Board members not present when the resolution was drawn were Mrs. Gordon Mullins and Mrs. John Adams.

College Board Supported On Choice of Rathje Site

Apparent support of their position on site selection was given Junior College District 301 board members by the Schaumburg Township Community Council Tuesday evening.

James Hamill and Paul O'Dea of Hoffman Estates appeared before the council to present information concerning the Rathje (Wild) property in Schaumburg as the college board's site. Recent controversy has stirred in Schaumburg over the 186 acres, which are zoned for industry, and which the board may condemn for their use.

"The Rathje farm is still the best site unless we can come up with something better," stated Hamill, reviewing all the sites considered by the board in the past months. He said that the best and first choice was the forest preserve land, which is not available to them.

POINTS mentioned in favor of the Rathje site over other possibilities were location and accessibility, size, price, physical environment and utilities.

O'Dea emphasized three points in favor of having the junior college within Schaumburg Township. The first value, he said, would be aesthetic, with the prospect of a well designed campus.

The financial benefits would come with increased business as additional people traveled into the community. Also, industry would be attracted to an area where educational resources are good. The third benefit he pointed out was the cultural one.

Two Hoffman village board members present voiced their personal support of the site choice. George Seaver commented, "You can't put a dollar and cents value on a college. What you might lose in real estate tax could be a gain in sales taxes."

RONALD FRANCK agreed, "Any tax loss would be a gain if we had the college."

Mrs. Gordon Mullins of Schaumburg, admittedly a "minority opinion," maintained the use of the 186 acres for a college was too great a tax loss. Mrs. William Hayber, District 54 school board member, clashed with Mrs. Mullins, but emphasized, "This is not a Hoffman-Schaumburg battle. You have to look at the total township picture."

It was pointed out that the present value of the disputed land is $300 an acre on the tax rolls. John Overton, also of the District 54 school board, said, "Let's assume that this (186 acres) is the last 5 per cent of the industrial land to be used. With 95 per cent of the industrial area filled, there would be such a rich tax base that we wouldn't miss the 5 per cent."

JUNIOR COLLEGE board members Paul O'Dea and James Hamill attended a meeting of the Schaumburg community council Tuesday night. Hamill and O'Dea told the council why the controversial Rathje farm was top on junior college District 301's list of tentative sites. (B10

Hamill and O'Dea noted that there were still other possibilities for sites, although none they feel is as satisfactory from all standpoints. But, said O'Dea, "It would be difficult to remain in a community that doesn't want the college."

LAST WEEK, the board of directors of the Schaumburg Township Community Council drafted a resolution stating, "The board of directors supports the position that the junior college board has taken in the selection of the Wild (Rathje) property for the proposed campus and regards the location of the institution within our community of greater value than the reservation of the land for potential future industrial development."

The resolution ws drafted by Mr. and Mrs. James McNulty, Mrs. William Hayter and Mrs. Larry Froid. Board members not present when the resolution was drawn were Mrs. Gordon Mullins and Mrs. John Adams.

Birthday Celebrates Receive Good Wishes

Sidelights
Of Arlington Heights

Arlington Heights, Scarsdale & Estates, Stonegate

Sue Smith, 439-4851 Betty Ainslie, CL 3-9021
Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298

Results of Monday's news-searching revealed many things this week — time flies; your reporter has sadly neglected a lot of longtime contacts; time flies; people are nicer than ever; time flies. Observations one, two, three and five came from calling one contact to determine if little Jimmy had a birthday party this year — and discovering that little Jimmy is suddenly a college sophomore! Point four is because everyone tried so hard to think of some Sidelights items. These succeeded:

A young lady who is technically only 3½ had 14 candles on her birthday cake Tuesday as she celebrated a birth date that is non-existent 75 per cent of the time. This is not a trick math problem, but a report that Valerie Conley, born Feb. 29, 1952, received family best wishes March 1, when she was 14, sort of. Valerie is the Leap Year daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conley, 107 N. Reuter.

Six sympathetic friends who have easily recognized birthdays every year surprised Valerie Friday evening via a slumber party given by Marilee Jack, 642 S. Evergreen. Marilee's mother reports two tangents of the surprise angle — it did catch the honor guest unawares as per plan, and there was some slumbering at the slumber party. Not too surprising is the fact that sleeping came quite late in the party schedule and lasted well into the morning hours. Non-stop snacking and girl-talk preceded the slumber, a late, late breakfast followed it, and it's possible that the newest "in" thing will be to have a Leap Year birthday.

VICKIE DALE was 7 Feb. 19 and celebrated at an afternoon party in her home, 1020 N. Walnut. Nine neighborhood and school friends were her guests, enjoying a happy schedule of games and giggles. And cake 'n' ice cream, of course.

An after-school party brought Lori Lynn Hausknecht the birthday best wishes of eight local girl friends who were her guests Feb. 15. After a tough day at the scholar's mill, the relaxation and refreshments at 1306 N. Walnut, were much needed and greatly appreciated. Food 'n' fun are downright essential after a day at the books, especially when you're seven.

Among Lori Lynn's guests was Susie Lutzenberger, 1317 N. Mitchell, who assumed the hostess role this week. She was 7 Tuesday, a day just like the Tuesday of Lori's party — long hours until the school's-out bell rang and then real short ones. Susie's celebration was fun, too. Among her eight guests was Lori Lynn.

Jim Dalton Jr. at 522 S. Dunton was 14 Saturday, a fine day and a fine age for celebrating with a family dinner-out date and a James Bond movie. So that's what he did.

WEEKEND VISITORS in the Earl Schmidt home, 724 S. Chestnut, were former neighbors, the Robert Sweet family of Springfield. They were just a week late for a piece of birthday cake, but nevertheless extended belated best wishes to their hosts' daughter, Luann, who was 17 Feb. 19.

Having eight brothers horn in on a girl's birthday party might be a minor catastrophe when you're a child, but eventually it becomes a major cause for happiness. An expert on the matter, Mrs. Marvin Schaeffer, 1216 N. Dunton, recently celebrated a birthday and was totally delighted to have Dan, Al, George, Ted, Gene, Larry, Jerry and Ed at her party. Adding more warm and welcome best wishes were six sisters-in-law, several nieces and nephews, mother and father, the Al Raupps of Woodstock. Neighborhood friends, Albert and Gilbert Behn, joined the happy houseful, and Mrs. Schaeffer can't remember when she so thoroughly enjoyed getting a year older.

Impromptu "coffee and" get-togethers have acquainted Mrs. Robert Gardner, 215 N. Derbyshire, with all of her new neighbors. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner and their children, Mark and Julie, moved here recently from Port Clinton, Ohio, and have found their neighborhood welcomes much warmer than the climate.

WHEN YOU HAVE four little ones, it is really wonderful to get away for a short spell, according to Mrs. James Walsh of 335 Carlyle, referring to a recent weekend she and her husband spent in Chicago. To celebrate their sixth wedding Walsh went to see the film "Sound of Music," stayed at the Drake Hotel and topped a perfect weekend off with dinner at Andres.

The Cafe Bohemia, home of exotic food, was the celebration spot for James Zwissler and his family, the Gordon Zwisslers of 114 Brighton. James was celebrating his 19th birthday. They all sampled bear steak, venison and arctic char fish. "It was sure different," declared Mrs. Zwissler, "and a lot of fun. Even the menu opened up a whole new world of adventures in eating."

SUSAN MILLER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller of 1301 Woodford, made it home in time to help her father celebrate his birthday recently at a family dinner party. Sue, a sophomore at Coe College in Cedar Rapids, has just been made scholarship chairman for her sorority, Alpha Xi Delta.

A three-week trip to Jamaica was just completed by Mr. and Mrs. George Hoban of 645 Burton. They also stopped off in New York on the way home to visit their son. They managed to play golf everyday. "Father needed a vacation and rest and, by golly, so did mother," laughed Mrs. Hoban.

SANDY AUER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Auer of 202 Stratford, had her ninth birthday on Friday so Saturday she entertained some neighborhood girls at a lunch and show treat to celebrate the occasion. The girls were Kim Kiesig, Martha Kellin, Vicki Sullivan, Grace Downey and Patty Dwyer. All seemed to enjoy the show, as well as the popcorn and candy treats given by Sandy's father.

The W. Watkins of 446 Banbury spent a recent winter vacation just resting and sightseeing at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. They were guests of friends from Louisville who have an apartment there.

Most of the time the weather was perfect so they could get a suntan as well as relax.

A weekend trip to Nassau by boat highlighted a recent trip to Coral Gables, Fla. by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Yeazel of 511 Beverly. They just visited and "beached," which meant this couple arrived home with nice tans.

It was a partial business trip for Mr. Yeazel and they also visited with Mrs. Yeazel's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Day, in Coral Gables. (A

Arlington Greens

The February board meeting of the Arlington Greens Community Assn. was held in the home of President A. J. Tomaso, 635 E. Clarendon, Feb. 22. A nominating committee for the coming year's officers was selected and includes Ken Jahnke, Bob Bright, Emily Coward and Terry Shannon. Discussed were social functions planned for the balance of the year; participation in the Memorial Day Parade, the street dance, a family picnic, men's golf outing and the Christmas dance.

Greens residents interested in committee work or helping with any of the activities mentioned are invited to call Mr. Tomaso, CL 5-4102, or inform a board member.

Men and women's bridge games for February were played the second and third Thursdays of the month. High scorers were Ann Danna, 2480, Joy Hauskey, 2430, Lynne Lundell, 2380; George Roby, 5470, John Coward, 5430, and Jerry Kluball, 4580.

MR. AND MRS. George Demoody of Reynoldsburg, Ohio, were houseguests in the George Roby home on N. Beverly for five days last week. They returned home on Thursday.

Haddow Court ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. Mel Kasen on Wednesday of last week for their once-a-month evening coffee.

Rolling Meadows loss was our gain when the Charles A. Brunke family moved into the Greens early in January. Settled in their new home at 1123 N. Beverly Lane are Charles, Doris and the children, Karen, 13, Chuck, 11, Ronald 10, and Janet, 2. Mr. Brunke is maintenance manager for Wells Manufacturing Co. in Skokie.

Mrs. Bette Johnson hosted members of her pinochle club last Wednesday evening. Neighborhood players were Emily Kluball and Joan Vastine joined Elaine Hoppe, Bette Lister, Ann Holfield, Estelle Baranowski and Shirley Dudek.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD Valerie Averill returned to her N. Hickory home Saturday after a three-day stay in Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines, where she underwent surgery. Not home to greet her was her mother who had checked in at Northwest Community Hospital in the pre-dawn hours for the birth of the newest member to the family, William Allan.

Sympathies were offered to Mrs. George Olson Sr. and the junior George Olsons of 508 E. Oakton after the death of Mr. George Olson Sr. last week, and to the O. J. Baileys, 627 E. Clarendon, on the death of his mother, Mrs. Nellie Gehrke, on Friday. (A

Greatest Events In American History— No.9

Mort Wolfson

WE INAUGURATE OUR FIRST PRESIDENT—ON WALL STREET

It's symbolic that the United States—whose people were to become the most prosperous in the world because of Capitalism—should inaugurate their first President on the exact site where the headquarters of Capitalism are now located.

When George Washington was elected President, the capital of the U.S. was New York, and his inauguration was held on the corner of Wall and Broad Streets. Today, of course, that area is the financial center of the country.

At the time Washington was inaugurated, Apr. 30, 1789, nobody was sure whether America would succeed. In fact, many thought it wouldn't.

Therefore, everything Washington was to do was vital.

The only proof needed to show that he was successful is that America itself succeeded—and that's the greatest tribute anyone can give George Washington.

You're missing a lot when you own a Volkswagen.

A VW has fewer parts than other cars because it needs fewer parts.

There's no bulky drive shaft to transfer engine power to the rear wheels. Our car's engine is in back to start with (and to maintain traction with). That's why it doesn't need a drive shaft.

And it doesn't need a radiator, or a water pump, or hoses. Because the engine's cooled with air, not water.

(When you drive your first VW, you may miss putting in antifreeze, rust inhibitors, and whatnot. But you'll soon get used to it.)

The stuff a Volkswagen doesn't use, it doesn't have to haul (and waste gas on). Which is one reason it averages 32 miles per gallon of regular.

And the parts you don't buy, you'll never repair.

So you can't waste money on that.

Now you know why you can drive a VW for years and years with a lot of parts missing. And never miss them.

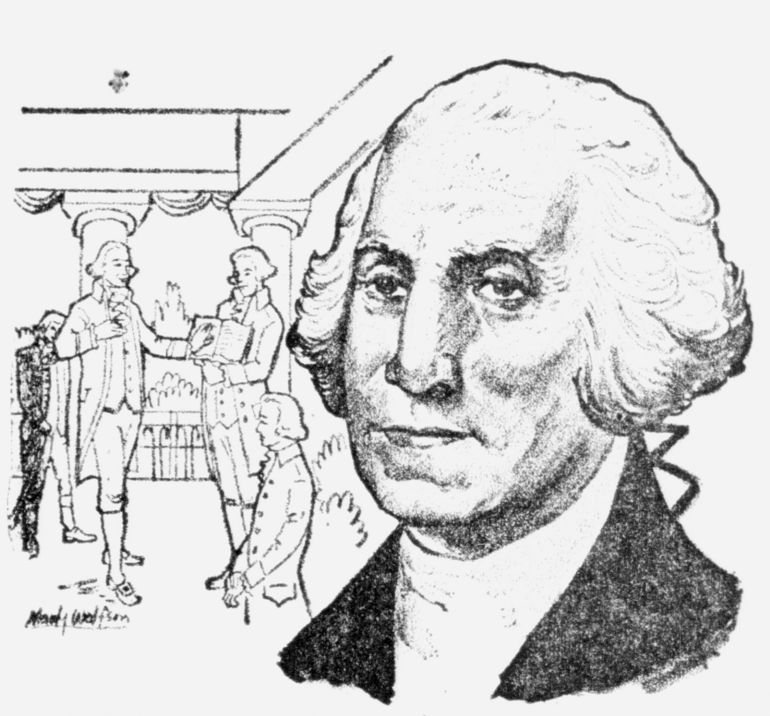
Greatest Events In American History— No.9



WE INAUGURATE OUR FIRST PRESIDENT—ON WALL STREET

It's symbolic that the United States—whose people were to become the most prosperous in the world because of Capitalism—should inaugurate their first President on the exact site where the headquarters of Capitalism are now located.

When George Washington was elected President, the capital of the U.S. was New York, and his inauguration was held on the corner of Wall and Broad Streets. Today, of course, that area is the financial center of the country.

At the time Washington was inaugurated, Apr. 30, 1789, nobody was sure whether America would succeed. In fact, many thought it wouldn't.

Therefore, everything Washington was to do was vital.

The only proof needed to show that he was successful is that America itself succeeded—and that's the greatest tribute anyone can give George Washington.

You're missing a lot when you own a Volkswagen.

A VW has fewer parts than other cars because it needs fewer parts.

There's no bulky drive shaft to transfer engine power to the rear wheels. Our car's engine is in back to start with (and to maintain traction with). That's why it doesn't need a drive shaft.

And it doesn't need a radiator, or a water pump, or hoses. Because the engine's cooled with air, not water.

(When you drive your first VW, you may miss putting in antifreeze, rust inhibitors, and whatnot. But you'll soon get used to it.)

The stuff a Volkswagen doesn't use, it doesn't have to haul (and waste gas on). Which is one reason it averages 32 miles per gallon of regular.

And the parts you don't buy, you'll never repair.

So you can't waste money on that.

Now you know why you can drive a VW for years and years with a lot of parts missing. And never miss them.

FROM RIDGE PARK

John Bartik, son of John and Virginia, had a supper and evening party Feb. 18 for his sixth birthday. Guests invited to 643 N. Kaspar included Diane Hughes, Jim Oertel, Bobby Finger, Steve Tosch and Cheryl Reynolds.

Feb. 17, for his 11th birthday, Danny Cunningham's parents, Lorraine and Vincent, invited guests for dinner. Joining in the celebration at 802 N. Harvard were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cunningham, and aunts and uncles, Mr. and Mrs. J. Heindl and Mr. and Mrs. F. Guarine and family.

Helping Mary Francis Erd celebrate her fifth birthday Feb. 22 at 650 N. Kaspar were her parents, Shirley and Stephen, and her brothers and sisters.

Among those enjoying the evening at the K of C clubhouse in Arlington Heights Feb. 19 for a Mardi Gras party were Jane and Al Klein, 1003 N. Kennicott and Joan and George Wojtkiewicz, 920 N. Ridge.

BEARING A double load of presents, Sue and Kevin Ringel's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Dyke, drove to 722 N. Ridge on Feb. 21 from Lake Geneva to spend the day celebrating the birthdays of Sue, 7, and Kevin, 8.

On Feb. 19, Curtis A. Haines, 716 N. Ridge, treated his wife, Flora, to an evening out for her birthday. They were the dinner guests of friends in Elmhurst and from there they went to see Carol Channing in "Hello, Dolly."

Kathleen and Joseph Dunne, 1016 N. Illinois, donned Japanese garb Feb. 19 to go to the St. James annual Mardi Gras dance at Rolling Green Country Club. Joining them in the festivities were Mary Louise and Dieter Burkhardt, Claire and Harry Logue and Audrey and Jim Ostler.

On the same evening, Kathy Dunne with her escort, Jim Wojcik of St. Viator's, attended a semi-formal French dance at Sacred Heart of Mary High School.

WILLIAM AND MARY Griffin, 1521 W. Oakton, had a busy day Feb. 19. There was a family celebration for John's 11th birthday in the afternoon and in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Art Leu of Palatine, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Grant and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bowland of Arlington Heights were guests for cards.

Francis Bich Jr., 1014 N. Patton, received his diploma from law school at De Paul University in Chicago. His son, Joseph, celebrated his birthday Feb. 24 with a dinner party attended by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Babs of Arlington Heights.

Joan Wojtkiewicz, 920 N. Ridge, and her five children were Friday dinner guests of her brother and his wife, the Ken Rhodes in Norridge Park.

Mickey and Bee Danes, 725 N. Harvard, are back after two weeks in Florida, during which her married daughter and family moved in and took over for Bee.

Besides sightseeing, they visited former Deerfield residents, the Paul Rusts in Boca Raton, and were their guests on a trip to Fort Lauderdale, where they walked jungle paths to the Maikai for dinner. There they watched authentic Polynesian dancers. Among the other sights enjoyed were the Busch Gardens, Miami, Miami Beach and Sarasota, where they toured the John North Museum.

FROM SHERWOOD

Guests of Donna Davis for her birthday Feb. 18 were treated to the show to see "That Darn Cat" and afterwards to sundaes at Rapp's. Enjoying the evening were Kathy Kelly, Sue Collins, Susie Shields, Cindy Ross, Laura Behrens, Kathy Narup, Sharon Steed and her brother and sister, Denise and David.

Donna is the daughter of Sally and Raymond Davis, 1138 N. Patton.

Herb and Doris Cornelius, 1108 Watling, had Steve with them when they drove to Florida for a two-week vacation. En route they stopped in St. Augustine and spent the afternoon touring the old fort and the mission church. In Miami they spent four days visiting Doris' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston. The weather, they said, was ideal for sightseeing. Among the stops were the Parrot Jungle in Coral Gables, Marineland, the Everglades and Cypress Gardens. They also went to Clearwater and Destin.

The Nick Shumans, 1001 W. Clarendon, celebrated their anniversary by going into Chicago for the Feb. 19 weekend. With the Sheraton as a home base, they went to Old Town for shopping and sightseeing and attended a performance of "Hello, Dolly."

NICK'S BROTHER and sister-in-law, the A. R. Shumans of Summit, N. J., paid them a brief visit Feb. 23 and were dinner guests at a small family reunion. Other guests included his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Linn E. Shew of Des Plaines, and his niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kittridge of Skokie.

Other Florida vacationers were Willard and Adelma Landmeier, 1007 Burgoyne, and their daughter, Sandra. Sightseeing and visiting friends in Pompano Beach made the three weeks go much too fast. Boca Raton, their home away from home, was right on the beach so they didn't have far to travel for a swim. Sightseeing included the Sea Aquarium.

CHESTER GUILIANI arrived home at 1314 Watling on Feb. 18, before his telegram arrived telling his wife, Ann, he would be home in time to take her to the Sherwood dinner dance. He had been on a business trip for Universal Oil for three weeks.

His first stop was in Japan and then on to Taipai, Formosa, Australia, Hong Kong, Korea, Hawaii and then to San Francisco. Too tired to go 25 miles further, he phoned his daughter, Jill, and her husband, John Kennedy, and they met him for dinner and a short visit. (A FULL MILITARY HONORS were accorded a Palatine youth, a victim of the Viet Nam war, who was buried Monday. Ross J. Paterson, 22, a graduate of Arlington High School, was a helicopter pilot with the 1st Cavalry (Air Mobile) Division of the U.S. Army when he was killed Feb. 16. Burial was at Memory Gardens cemetery in Arlington Heights. Arlington was his first home after coming to the United States from England at the age of 14. Said his mother, Mrs. James Paterson, 361 N. Ela Road, "It would have been a waste had he been killed by a car out on the street. But he died for a cause. If some day some people can be free because of his death, it was worth it." (B10

Church Schedules Double Services

Beginning Sunday the Kingswood Methodist Church of Arlington Heights will conduct two Sunday School sessions and two worship services.

One Sunday School session and worship service will be held at 9:15 a.m., and one Sunday School session and worship service will be held at 10:30 a.m. The change to two services has a dual purpose: to provide a convenience to those families in which the parents wish to attend a worship service while their children are in Sunday School and to alleviate the crowded conditions caused by a large enrollment and limited space.

ACCORDING TO Dwight Hall, Sunday School superintendent, this plan is not meant to deter those families who prefer to have their children attend classes at one hour and then attend worship service as a family at another hour. Rather it is hoped that this program will increase the flexibility of the church's program for the membership and the community.

The 9:15 o'clock Sunday School session will offer classes for every age group from3 years old through high school, with a nursery for pre-three-year-olds. The 10:30 o'clock session will be identical except that there will be no junior high or senior high classes. The two worship services will be practically identical.

THE NURSERY AND pre-school classes will be held in the parsonage. Classes for older children and young people will be held in the church building. This will allow these older children and youth to share in the opening moments of the worship service, then go to classes.

The Kingswood Methodist Church is at 813 East Dundee Road, one half mile west of Buffalo Grove Road. (AG

Cancer Register Lists 52 Deaths

The annual report of the Northwest Community Hospital cancer register showed that 52 persons died of cancer during 1965.

The fatalities represented less than one-third of the total 167 cases diagnosed and treated by the hospital last year. Of the total cases 77 were men and 90 were females, according to the report.

The 52 deaths brought to 304 the number of persons who have died of cancer in the past six years.

THE MOST frequent variety of the disease was cancer of the breast with 22 cases reported. Next on the list was cancer of the colon with 21 cases. Cancer of the blood and related organs accounted for 19 of the cases. Fifteen cases of lung cancer and 14 of cancer of the cervix were reported.

The 1965 report showed the disease struck 68 persons between the ages of 50 and 69. Fifty-three persons from 25 to 49 years old were afflicted with cancer last year. Forty-one cases were reported for persons over 70, one for youth 14 to 24 years old and four for children one to 14 years of age. (B10

Wage Pact Ends Telephone Strike

Accounting employes at the Arlington Heights offices of Illinois Bell Telephone Co. left their 24-hour picket lines and returned to work Tuesday morning.

The strike was halted after members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers ratified a wage agreement Monday. Officials of the union and telephone company reached tentative agreement last Saturday. About 145 accounting and clerical employes of the Arlington Heights offices were involved in the strike. All are members of the eletcrical workers union.

THE AGREEMENT, effective Feb. 20, boosts the employes' wages $2 to $4 a week. Arlington Heights workers will get from 50 cents to $1 over this amount, the telephone company reported.

Previous to the agreement, workers were making $99 for a regular 40 hour work week. With the wage terms of the agreement, they will now be paid $104 a week.

In addition starting wages in Arlington Heights will increase $3.50 a week. The telephone company reported that over-all wage agreement, combined with a basic medical expense plan to become effective in March, will cost an additional $333,000 annually.

Union members set up picket lines last Wednesday morning after they and other members of Local 811 refused to ratify an agreement reached earlier between union officials and telephone company executives.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK
Sports Editor

Freeland Is Mat Standout . . .

Wrestlers in the Paddock area didn't create too much commotion on a state-wide basis in high school ranks this winter, but an area graduate is making some noise on a collegiate level.

George Freeland, who landed a fourth place state slot at 138 pounds in 1965 while wrestling for Prospect High School was voted the outstanding wrestler in the Midland College Invitational Tournament at Fremont, Neb., last Saturday.

Freeland, a freshman at Yankton College in South Dakota, copped the 145-pound championship in a 10-school tourney, taking the title with a 5-0 overtime score after an 8-8 tie in regulation time.

Freeland grabbed the 145-pound title in the University of South Dakota Invitational tourney earlier in the season. He is unbeaten in 13 bouts on a varsity level for Yankton with the Tri-State Conference headliner coming up this weekend.

Freshmen are eligible to compete in varsity athletics in the Tri-State Conference.

Freeland enjoyed an impressive senior year at Prospect under coach Dick Mudge. As the Knight co-captain, George lost only four bouts. His major nemesis was Bill Laursen of East Leyden, who won the state title at 145 this year.

Last winter Laursen fashioned two victories over Freeland and they both came in tourney action.

In the sectional at Palatine Laursen disposed of the once-beaten Freeland by a surprising 15-2 score. The two boys battled again in the state tourney with third place at stake this time. Freeland gave Laursen an interesting argument but succumbed 4-2.

Three of the top four scorers on Duke's freshman basketball team are Illinois products. Pekin's Dave Golden is second with a 15.4 average; Waukegan's Gene Bromstead is third with 14.6; and Highland Park's Fred Lind is fourth at 7.9. Golden and Lind were All-Staters, and Bromstead was headed that way until injured in a freak shot gun accident.

Vitoux Learns Fencing Art . . .

Fencing is a sport we were first introduced to in a physical education class at the University of Illinois.

Illini coach Mac Garrett recruits several of his varsity candidates through these physical education classes because the sport is conducted on such a limited basis in high schools.

It takes time to learn the sport of fencing and that's why Garret sees hope for one of his varsity foil candidates, sophomore Mike Vitoux of Arlington Heights.

Vitoux is taking his lumps right now, but in the meantime he's finding out what it takes to become a good fencer.

At the last report Vitoux had compiled a 9-12 over-all mark for the Illini in foil competition.

"Mike has been coming along very well," head coach Garret points out. "He's developing an aggressive style and is gaining confidence."

Vitoux has faced some pretty stiff competition this season. He's fenced against National Collegiate Athletic Association title contenders Air Force Academy and Princeton. The latter captured the title last year.

Three times this season Vitoux has been a winner in dual meet competition. His best performance came against the University of Chicago when he went undefeated in three bouts.

GEORGE FREELAND

The North Shore Rugby Club, a member of the Midwest Rugby Football Union, is looking for players. The squad holds two practice sessions each week at Warren Twp. High School in Gurnee. Anyone interested should contact Ron Seegers of Mount Prospect, CLearbrook 3-3390.

Janky Called Top Prospect . . .

Who are the best college prospects among the seniors in Chicago area basketball this year?

The names that come immediately to mind are 6-9 Dan Issel of Batavia, 6-8 Larry Saunders of York, 6-7 Jim Brad- of of East Leyden, 6-10 Larry Rosenzweig of New Trier, 6-2 Rich Bradshaw of Chicago Marshall, 6-6 Rick Bailey of Wheaton Central, 6-1 Mel Reddick of Morgan Park, and 6-6 Mike Reeves of Glenbrook South.

But the best prospect of all may be a youngster who hasn't attracted the state-wide headlines but who has attracted the college scouts.

George Janky of Chicago St. Rita is a 6-7, 240-pound center who won't be seen in the Illinois state finals this month because St. Rita is a member of the Chicago Catholic League and division members aren't eligible for the Illinois High School Association tourney.

Some scouts call Janky the best big man in Illinois. Others say he may be the top prospect in the midwest and perhaps in the country.

Adolph Rupp, coach of Kentucky's powerful Wildcats, says Janky is "the best high school player I've seen since Cliff Hagen."

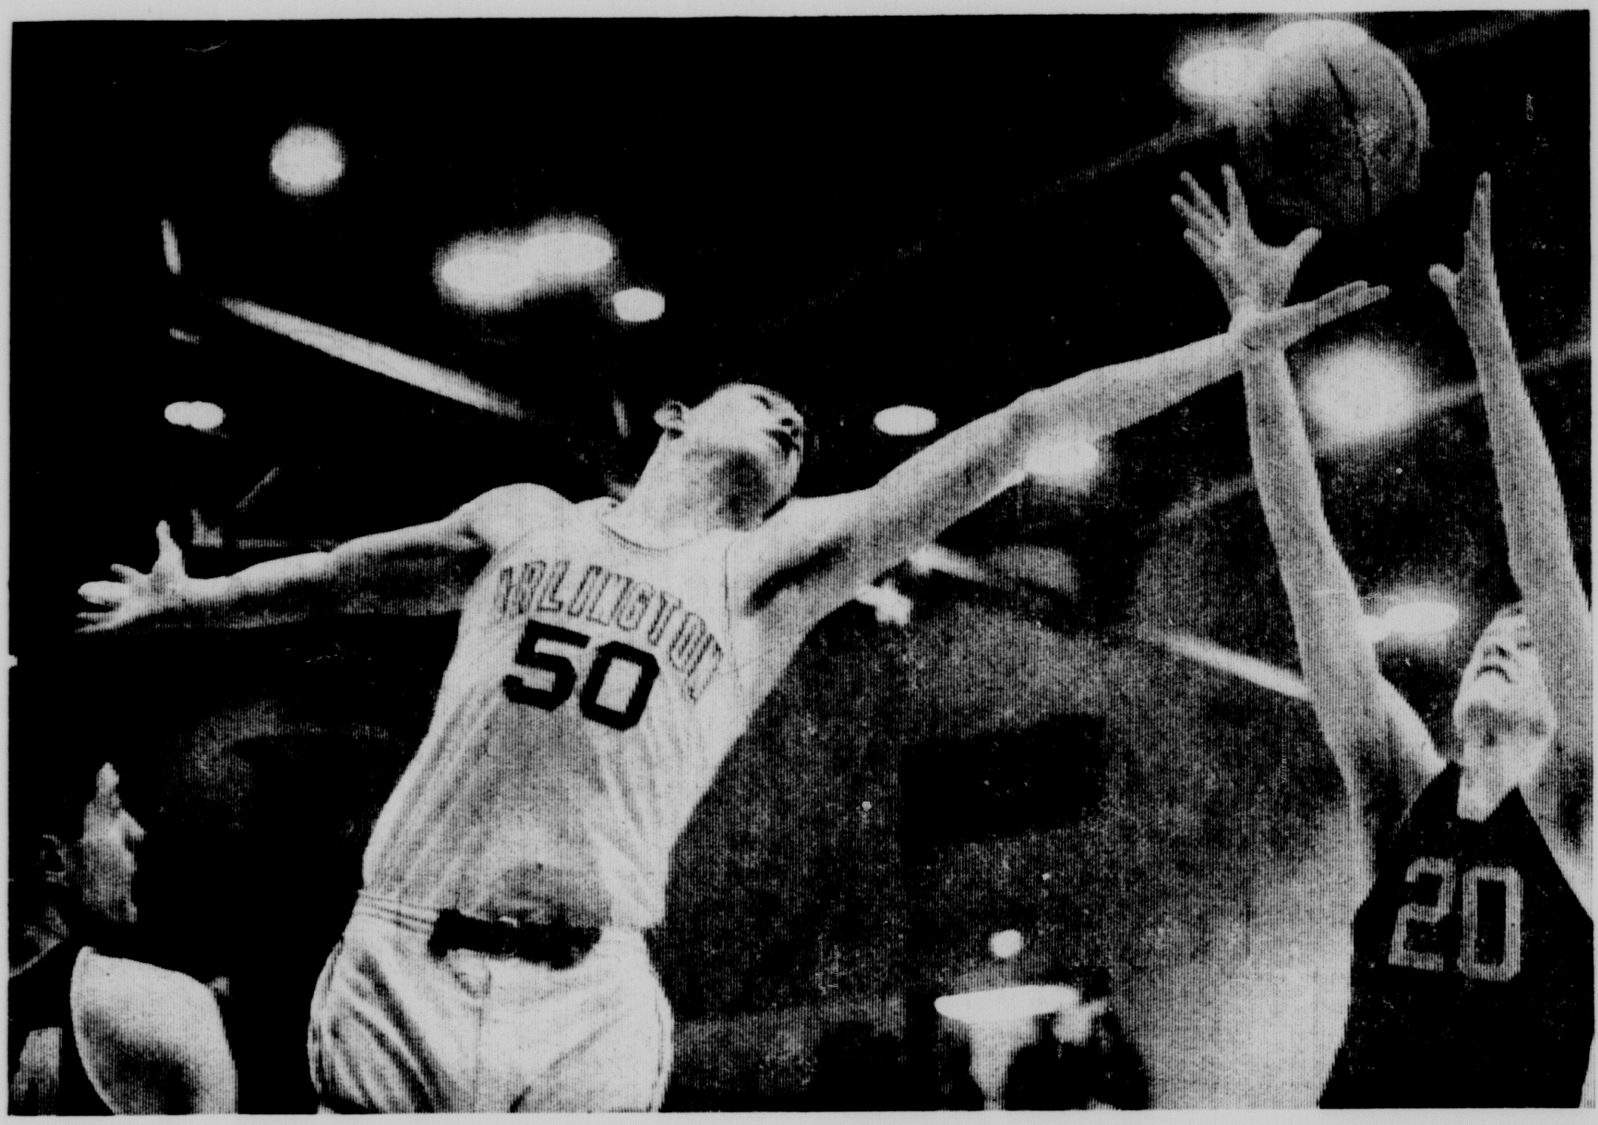
Janky, who's averaging around 27 points per game, is hitting over .700 from the field (that's not a typographical error) and is pulling down rebounds at an average of 18 per game. He hit 22 of 25 shots in one outing this winter.

St. Rita has a strong club and it's a shame more basketball fans in Illinois won't be able to see this super-star in action.

Southern California coach John McKay will be the featured speaker at the Illinois High School Football Coaches Clinic at the University of Illinois April 22-23. McKay's USC teams have won 40 games, lost 19, and tied two in six years.

Ten Years Ago This Week . . .

Arlington shocked favored Barrington in double overtime, 69-67, to win the regional basketball title. . . Tom Jacobsen, who scored only one basket in the regional, threw in a 20-footer to whip the Broncos. . . John Sujack had 25 points for the Cards. . . Arlington had won only one game since early December before brushing past Palatine, Glenbrook, and Barrington for the regional title. . . Sujack earned all-conference honors in the West Suburban.



BATTLE FOR CONTROL. Arlington High School's Jim Donchess (50) reaches out in an effort to gain control of the basketball from La Grange's Al Botkin (20) during West Suburban Conference feature last Friday evening. Donchess scored 22 points to help the Cardinals slip by the Lions 65-63 in their final conference game in history.

The village of Arlington Heights can't lose tonight.

No matter what transpires over four periods in the second semi-final game of the Prospect Regional basketball tournament there will be an Arlington Heights entry in the championship bout.

For the first time in history neighbors Arlington and St. Viator will meet in varsity basketball, and the stakes are high.

The loser puts the uniforms away for another season. The winner moves into the championship game of the Prospect Regional tournament.

They should pack 'em in at the Prospect fieldhouse for the 7:30 p.m. tip-off.

ARLINGTON AND St. Viator moved into this hardwood showdown with snappy victories Tuesday evening in first round tilts.

The Cardinals crushed Palatine, 89-49, and the Lions pummeled Mundelein, 86-72.

Arlington's Ted Wissen and St. Viator's Larry Nomellini shouldn't have any trouble getting their squads mentally ready for the semi-final test.

THIS IS A natural rivalry that just hasn't had a chance to get off the ground since St. Viator opened its doors for the first time.

Tabbing this semi-final headliner is extremely difficult. They haven't played any common opponents so the records don't really say too much.

Arlington stands 16-6 today.

5-11	Townley	G	Hogan	5-11
5-10	Barker	G	Collins	5-10

TIME:
7:30 p.m. Thursday.
PLACE:
Prospect High School Fieldhouse.
COACHES:
Arlington, Ted Wissen; St. Viator, Larry Nomellini.

The Cards wrapped up a second place finish in the strong West Suburban Conference.

St. Viator stands 11-12. The Lions were fifth in the rugged Chicagoland Prep League but did thrash state-ranked DeLaSalle.

THE SIZE advantage belongs to Arlington although it's not that pronounced. If Wissen opens with the same alignment tonight that started against Palatine, he'll have 6-6 Jim Donchess, 6-6 Bruce Hubbard, and 6-3 Steve Allen under the basket.

Nomellini should counter with 6-7 Paul Pomplun, 6-4 Paul Dumke, and 6-1 Emille Bataille.

The rebound scraps should be interesting.

IN THE BATTLE of centers Donchess, a fast-improving 6-6 Cardinal junior, will tangle with Pomplun, a highly regarded 6-7 Lion senior.

Donchess has come on strong in recent weeks and now owns 214 points in 22 games. He has a nice touch around the basket and can hit the boards with authority.

Pomplun has been worth 369 points in 23 outings and 197 of those markers have come in the last nine contests. An all-conference performer Paul is a rugged rebounder and a capable workman around the basket.

DUMKE IS ANOTHER strong board-man for St. Viator, and this 6-4 senior can also score. He had a slump going a few weeks ago but has chipped in 16 and 18 over his past two games to lift his scoring standard to 12.6.

Bataille, a steady 6-1 senior, is a deceiving player for the Lions. He has quick hands and can also climb up on those boards. He's also had some decent nights on the attack.

Hubbard, an all-conference end in football who packs a solid 196 pounds on his 6-6 frame, complements Donchess in the rebounding department for Arlington. Bruce hasn't been a big scorer but that doesn't mean he isn't capable. He's had a high of 16.

ALLEN, ARLINGTON'S high-scoring junior, has been working at both forward and guard but will probably open at forward tonight against St. Viator. This slick 6-3 performer hit Palatine for 31 points Tuesday and has 369 in 23 Cardinal games. Steve is a poised two-year varsity veteran who was the only Arlington player named to the all-conference team. Despite his slender frame he can also rebound effectively.

Opening at guards for St. Viator will be two juniors, 5-11 Frank Hogan and 5-10 Dan Collins.

Hogan is one of the finest

WAYNE SELVIG
Has Strong Entry

PROSPECT HIGH, coached by Rick Farris, is the defending champion, and the Knights picked off the Mid-Suburban Conference title last Saturday to boost their district stock.

Coach Tom Walthouse's Arlington Cardinals were unbeaten in duals over the 1965-66 campaign and last Friday claimed the West Suburban Conference title. The Cards loom as one of the teams to beat at Barrington.

Wayne Selvig's Wheeling crew sparkled with a strong second place in the Mid-Suburban and gives the Paddock area another rugged district entry.

Other teams to watch at Barrington will be the host Broncos, Maine East, and Waukegan.

Based on past performances, the top Paddock area performers in the distrct, by event, look like this:

TRAMPOLINE

Rick Car of Prospect was second in district action last winter and he's enjoying another outstanding year. He had a 163 in topping the Mid-Suburban Conference. Other Paddock area boys to watch will be Tom Riesing of Arlington, Dave Hippensteel of Forest View, Gerry Fontecchio of Wheeling, and Bill Nendel of Prospect. Nendel was ninth and Hippensteel tenth in the district last year.

SIDE HORSE

Bruce Cole of Prospect was sixth in the 1965 district and should be among the leaders tonight. He had a 160 routine in winning the conference meet. Forest View's Mike Damore, although he slipped to fourth in the conference; Wheeling's Wayne Coats, second in the league; and Arlington's Steve LeVan, Hank Taylor, and Sam Cullison are other possibilities from the area.

HORIZONTAL BAR

Arlington has two standouts here in Jim Johannesen and Bert Schmitt, the 1-2 finishers in the West Suburban Conference. Johannesen was tenth in the district in 1965 but rebounded to finish sixth in the state. Schmitt was sixth in the district and fifth in the state. Gary Funke of Conant, conference champ Bruce Boult of Prospect, and Bob Johnson of Wheeling also come in with handsome credentials.

PARALLEL BARS

Here's another event loaded with talent. Arlington has Johannesen and Schmitt, Prospect has Stu Bedford and Jeff Long, Wheeling has conference titlist Greg Shornden and Mike Bangs, and Conant has Funke. Bedford was fourth in the district and seventh in the state in 1965. Schmitt was fifth in the district. The Paddock area should make itself known on the parallel bars.

STILL RINGS

Conference champ Jim Bowker gives Wheeling a strong entry on the rings as the Wildcat flashed a 163 routine in the Mid-Suburban finals. Doug Dattilo and Roy Rettburg have been consistent performers for Arlington. Conant's Funke and Prospect's Vince Franzone turned in sharp efforts in the

KICKIN' IT AROUND

Freeland Is Mat Standout . . .

GEORGE FREELAND

Wrestlers in the Paddock area didn't create too much commotion on a state-wide basis in high school ranks this winter, but an area graduate is making some noise on a collegiate level.

George Freeland, who landed a fourth place state slot at 138 pounds in 1965 while wrestling for Prospect High School was voted the outstanding wrestler in the Midland College Invitational Tournament at Fremont, Neb., last Saturday.

Freeland, a freshman at Yankton College in South Dakota, copped the 145-pound championship in a 10-school tourney, taking the title with a 5-0 overtime score after an 8-8 tie in regulation time.

Freeland grabbed the 145-pound title in the University of South Dakota Invitational tourney earlier in the season. He is unbeaten in 13 bouts on a varsity level for Yankton with the Tri-State Conference headliner coming up this weekend.

Freshmen are eligible to compete in varsity athletics in the Tri-State Conference.

Freeland enjoyed an impressive senior year at Prospect under coach Dick Mudge. As the Knight co-captain, George lost only four bouts. His major nemesis was Bill Laursen of East Leyden, who won the state title at 145 this year.

Last winter Laursen fashioned two victories over Freeland and they both came in tourney action.

In the sectional at Palatine Laursen disposed of the once-beaten Freeland by a surprising 15-2 score. The two boys battled again in the state tourney with third place at stake this time. Freeland gave Laursen an interesting argument but succumbed 4-2.

Three of the top four scorers on Duke's freshman basketball team are Illinois products. Pekin's Dave Golden is second with a 15.4 average; Waukegan's Gene Bromstead is third with 14.6; and Highland Park's Fred Lind is fourth at 7.9. Golden and Lind were All-Staters, and Bromstead was headed that way until injured in a freak shot gun accident.

Vitoux Learns Fencing Art . . .

Fencing is a sport we were first introduced to in a physical education class at the University of Illinois.

Illini coach Mac Garrett recruits several of his varsity candidates through these physical education classes because the sport is conducted on such a limited basis in high schools.

It takes time to learn the sport of fencing and that's why Garret sees hope for one of his varsity foil candidates, sophomore Mike Vitoux of Arlington Heights.

Vitoux is taking his lumps right now, but in the meantime he's finding out what it takes to become a good fencer.

At the last report Vitoux had compiled a 9-12 over-all mark for the Illini in foil competition.

"Mike has been coming along very well," head coach Garret points out. "He's developing an aggressive style and is gaining confidence."

Vitoux has faced some pretty stiff competition this season. He's fenced against National Collegiate Athletic Association title contenders Air Force Academy and Princeton. The latter captured the title last year.

Three times this season Vitoux has been a winner in dual meet competition. His best performance came against the University of Chicago when he went undefeated in three bouts.

The North Shore Rugby Club, a member of the Midwest Rugby Football Union, is looking for players. The squad holds two practice sessions each week at Warren Twp. High School in Gurnee. Anyone interested should contact Ron Seegers of Mount Prospect, CLearbrook 3-3390.

Janky Called Top Prospect . . .

Who are the best college prospects among the seniors in Chicago area basketball this year?

The names that come immediately to mind are 6-9 Dan Issel of Batavia, 6-8 Larry Saunders of York, 6-7 Jim Bradof of East Leyden, 6-10 Larry Rosenzweig of New Trier, 6-2 Rich Bradshaw of Chicago Marshall, 6-6 Rick Bailey of Wheaton Central, 6-1 Mel Reddick of Morgan Park, and 6-6 Mike Reeves of Glenbrook South.

But the best prospect of all may be a youngster who hasn't attracted the state-wide headlines but who has attracted the college scouts.

George Janky of Chicago St. Rita is a 6-7, 240-pound center who won't be seen in the Illinois state finals this month because St. Rita is a member of the Chicago Catholic League and division members aren't eligible for the Illinois High School Association tourney.

Some scouts call Janky the best big man in Illinois. Others say he may be the top prospect in the midwest and perhaps in the country.

Adolph Rupp, coach of Kentucky's powerful Wildcats, says Janky is "the best high school player I've seen since Cliff Hagen."

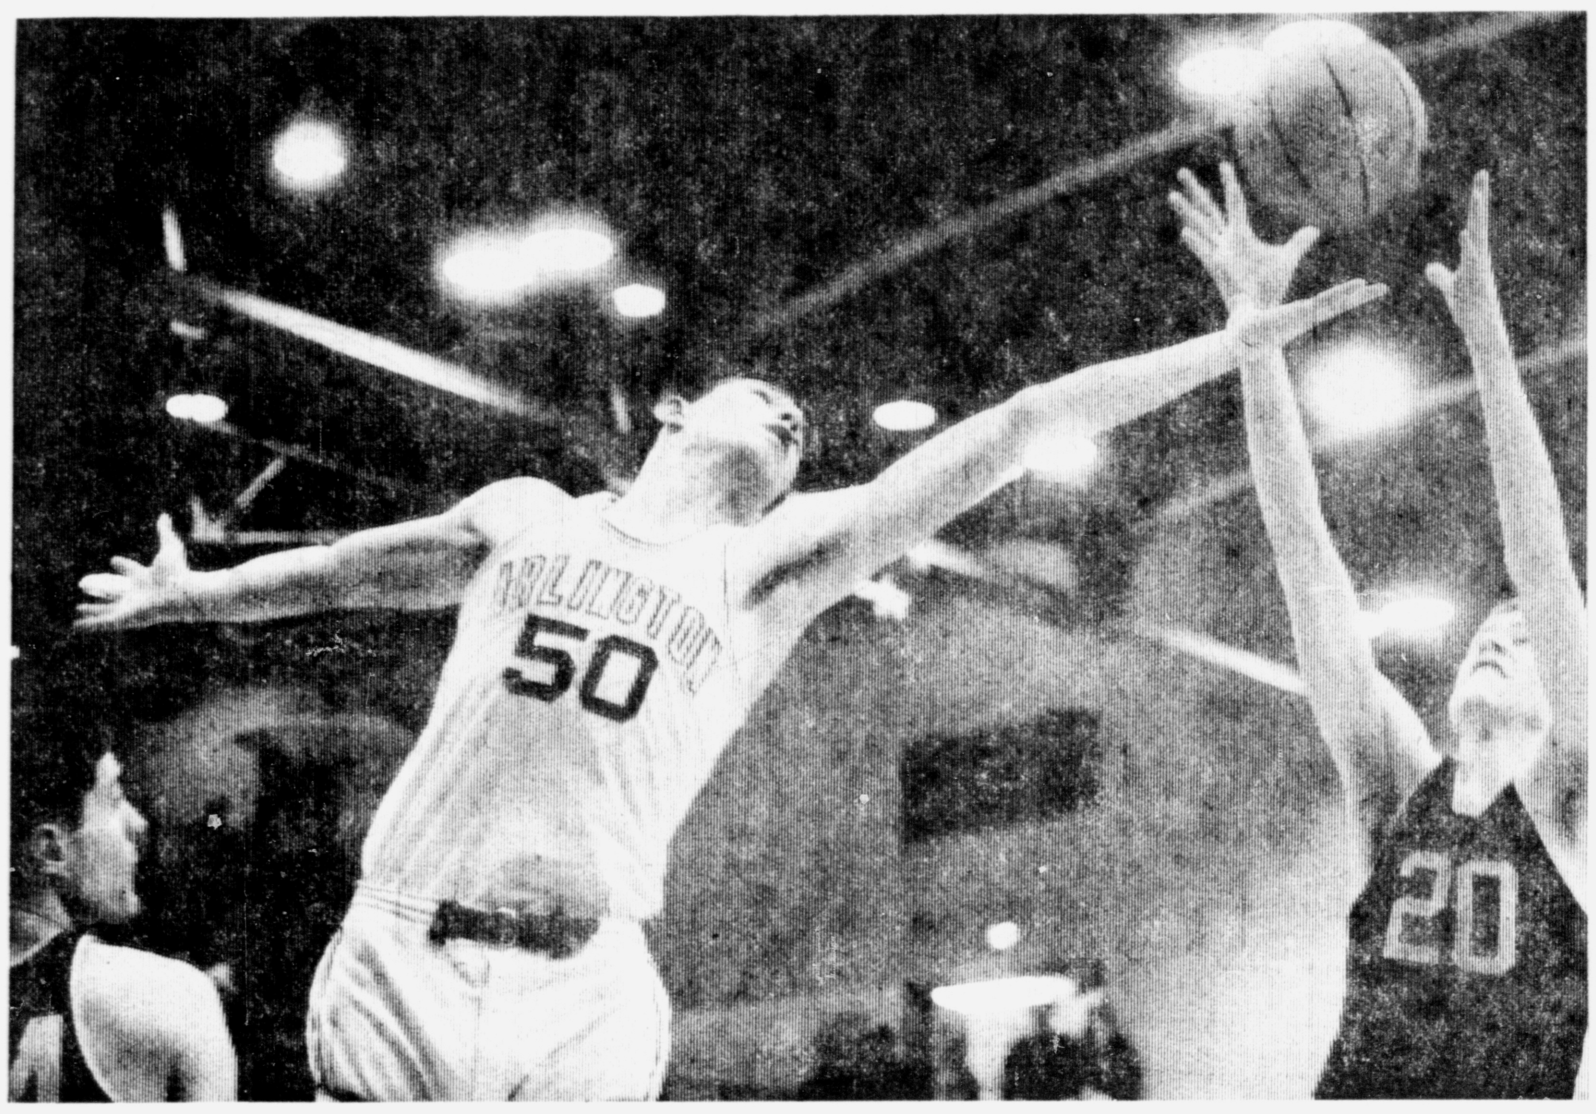
Janky, who's averaging around 27 points per game, is hitting over .700 from the field (that's not a typographical error) and is pulling down rebounds at an average of 18 per game. He hit 22 of 25 shots in one outing this winter.

St. Rita has a strong club and it's a shame more basketball fans in Illinois won't be able to see this super-star in action.

Southern California coach John McKay will be the featured speaker at the Illinois High School Football Coaches Clinic at the University of Illinois April 22-23. McKay's USC teams have won 40 games, lost 19, and tied two in six years.

Ten Years Ago This Week . . .

Arlington shocked favored Barrington in double overtime, 69-67, to win the regional basketball title. . . Tom Jacobsen, who scored only one basket in the regional, threw in a 20-footer to whip the Broncos. . . John Sujack had 25 points for the Cards. . . Arlington had won only one game since early December before brushing past Palatine, Glenbrook, and Barrington for the regional title. . . Sujack earned all-conference honors in the West Suburban.



BATTLE FOR CONTROL. Arlington High School's Jim Donchess (50) reaches out in an effort to gain control of the basketball from La Grange's Al Botkin (20) during West Suburban Conference feature last Friday evening. Donchess scored 22 points to help the Cardinals slip by the Lions 65-63 in their final conference game in history.

Pirates Fall At Evanston Track Dual

Palatine's varsity trackmen, hampered some by sickness, took a thumping from Evanston last Friday afternoon. The Pirates fell 100-9 in an indoor dual.

The locals also lost a sophomore meet with Evanston 83-21, and a freshman running, 92-8.

RICK ORTMAN and Art Dannenberg had the best finishes for the Pirates in the varsity clash. Senior Ortman ran second in the half-mile, while junior Dannenberg had a second in the high hurdles and a third in the lows.

Bill Meister had a third in the high hurdles and Jerry Weyrich a third in the mile run to complete the scoring. It's considered likely Palatine would have had at least a few more points in the meet, except for illness that sidelined hurdler Bob Payne and quarter-milers Bill Bahnfleth and John Blanchard, also mainstays on the relay teams.

TUMBLING

Arlington's Johannesen has been a consistent winner in this event although Jim had to settle for second place in the conference. Richard Dyson of Wheeling topped the Mid-Suburban tumblers with a 147 routine. Gerry Fontecchio of Wheeling was sixth in the district last winter, and Tom Riejsing of Arlington gained a third place tie in the conference finals. Rich Berger of Prospect was second in the Mid-Suburban and the Knight's Bob Goffinski tied Fontecchio for third. Randy Griggs is a Palatine hopeful.

ALL-AROUND

Arlington boasts a powerful package in Johannesen and Schmitt. Johannesen has been gaining most of the all-around honors this winter, but Schmitt ruled the West Suburban gymnasts. Bert was third in the district all-around as a junior. Conant's Funke, Mid-Suburban Conference champ, is another all-around standout.

The essence of the Mid-Suburban League was extracted Saturday, as the coaches of the conference designated 10 athletes as all-MSL basketball players. Five others were cited for special mention.

The all-league team, predictably, was dominated by players from the six-team loop's first three teams. Prospect, co-titlist with Forest View, had three selections on the honor squad, while Forest View and Palatine had two each. Conant, Maine West and Wheeling were each represented by one player.

One of those honored — Forest View's senior forward Pat Dunnigan — was a repeater from last year's all-MSL team. Only one — Prospect Junior Tom Lundstedt — was other than a senior. And two — Dunnigan and Lundstedt — were nominated by the league for all-state consideration.

The all-conference players — by position — are these:

PAT DUNNIGAN

When looking for a master of all cage trades, failure at none, look no further than Dunnigan. Forest View's 6-3 forward was picked last year and now, the second time around, he has also earned an all-state recommendation.

In his first 22 games Dunnigan has 369 points, a 16.8 average. That's moderately good scoring but when combined with his 10 rebounds, four assists, and tremendous defense in each outing Dunnigan becomes much more important than a mere producer.

Dunnigan's speed, quick hands and good moves have, at times, enabled him to double at guard for the Falcons. Those same qualities also enabled him to end second among Mid-Suburban scorers with 158 points.

DAN AGARD

Agard, a 6-2 forward, is the kind of player who is only noticed when he isn't there. BUT, when he's not present Prospect's quintet is hurt. The Knights senior, an all-state football guard in the fall, has 167 points this year, 80 of those in league.

A specialty for Agard is defense. When Prospect came up against a top scorer or when someone among the opposition broke loose for a bushel of points, the call went out for Agard. It wasn't unusual for an enemy performer to have over 15 points in a first half and only two, or one, or none after the intermission. The reason? Agard!

JERRY McCORMICK

One of the few veterans available to Palatine headman Bud Mueller for the 1965-66 season, McCormick began the season disappointingly but developed until he had become the team's principal scoring threat at the campaign's end. Part of an impressively-balanced front three for the Pirates, he was in double figures in all but one league game, and ended third in the MSL scoring race with 148 points. For the season, he hit 237 points, a 10.8 per game average.

A 6-1, 170-pound senior, McCormick combined good speed and spring with a fine shooting touch to become a menace to the opposition from the inside or outside. His markmanship extended to the free throw line, where he hit 70 per cent in league play.

SPECIAL MENTION

Scott Bischoff, Wheeling; Byron Borgardt, Forest View; Jim Buckholz, Forest View; Paul Kozlicki, Palatine; Larry Powell, Conant.

TOM NEUCKRANZ

Neuckranz is the best scorer in Wheeling history. He ended his varsity career with 410 points, a school record, and had 255, another new mark, during the past season. In the league he totaled 87 points.

Dependability was the tag for the 'Cats 6-1 forward. A straight "A" student, Neuckranz just didn't make mistakes. His passing, ball-handling and defense all bore the steady and workman-like trademark. He is the only member of his team to draw all-league honors.

TOM LUNDSTEDT

Superlatives aren't needed when discussing Lundstedt. The statistics compiled by Prospect's 6-3 center-forward are impressive enough to speak for themselves.

In 23 games this year Lundstedt has made 177 of 308 goal tries (57.5 per cent) and 139 of 198 at the line (70.2 per cent) for 493 points, a 21.4 average. He led the M-SL with 186 points. He has 237 rebounds this season, 10 per contest. He has four school scoring records to his credit and two others within his immediate grasp. With the ball in his hands he's been unbeatable.

No wonder, though only a junior, Lundstedt was one of those two designated by league mentors as having all-state potential.

DAVE WILLY

Willy's development into a first-rate ballplayer was clearly a large factor in Palatine's success this season. A strong 6-3, 190-pounder, he played both forward and center during the campaign. and was regarded as both a good rebounder and skilled shooter.

Though his scoring tailed off in the last three league games, he still ended the MSL campaign with 133 points, fourth in the conference. For the season, he led all the Pirates with 268 points, an average of 12.2. Possessed with fine speed for a big player, he could move the ball as well as shoot it.

JIM BAUMGARDT

Rejuvenation has been the key to Baumgardt's success. He missed five early season games due to injury, came back slowly but caught fire toward the end to pull Forest View into an M-SL first place tie. He's a 6-5 center.

Baumgardt has 165 points this year, a 10.3 average, but 96 of those came in the last five league games. His best showing came in the final pair of M-SL contests when he got 21 points and eight rebounds to knock off Prospect and 27 points and eight rebounds to clinch the title tie against Conant. He was the ninth best league scorer with 114 points.

JOHN GLASSHOF

Perhaps the deadliest long shooter in the league, Glasshof was recognized as a specialist in set shots at ranges of 25 feet He ended fifth in the league's scoring race with 127 points, despite being one of the most closely-guarded players in the conference.

An excellent ball-handler as well as a shooter, the 5-11, 170-pound senior will nevertheless be remembered most at Conant for his scoring. In two seasons, without missing a single game, he totaled 610 points, establishing the scoring standard at the young school. He averaged, in his Conant career, 14.2 points per game.

TONY KULASA

A 5-11 floor general, Kulasa's specialty has been scoring most when his team most needs points. From his guard spot Kulasa has had his top showings in the final game of the Pontiac Holiday Tourney and in crucial league encounters with rivals Forest View and Maine West.

Kulasa has used deadly accuracy from over 15 feet to connect for 150 points this season, a 6.5 average. He owns 103 markers in league play, good enough for the 10th conference spot.

KEN MUELLER

One of the best outside shots in the league was Maine West's 5-9 guard, Mueller. His one-handed push shot from over 15 feet went in often enough to give him 302 points in 20 games, a 15.1 average, and he was fifth best in the league with 127 points.

Just three times in those 20 outings was Mueller held to less than 10 points. With a high of 25 he totaled over 20 markers five times this season. His speed and sureness afoot made him a player to beware of on defense. He's the lone Warriors' representative among the M-SL honor cagers.

SPECIAL MENTION

Wheeling's 6-0 Scott Bischoff, had 218 points this deason, a 9.9 average, and, along with his rebounding power, displayed 98 points in the league. . . Jim Buckholz, of Forest View, was an outside threat from his guard post during the past year as his 158 points, 69 in league, will attest. . . Another Falcons' special mention is Byron Borgardt, a 5-11 guard who has tallied 153 points, a 6.9 average, and 54 in the M-SL but makes defense his strong point. . .

From Dist. 211, Palatine's Paul Kozlicki and Conant's Larry Powell were both singled out for special mention. Kozlicki, a 6-2 forward, was the third member of Palatine's balanced three, and as a strong operative near the basket totaled 254 points for the season, with 121 for seventh in the MSL . . . Powell, a 6-7 center badly hindered by illness during the season, came on very strongly in the latter games, building to a 12.5 scoring average and turning in strong defensive and rebounding work.

shooters in the area, possessing a nice touch from the 15-20 foot range. He's quick and can drive with the best and has authored 341 markers in 21 outings, missing two games at the outset of the season because of illness.

COLLINS CAN score although he hasn't had that many prolific nights. Dan is steady, rarely making mistakes. He'll hustle from the opening tip to the final gun. Dan has a 9.3 average.

Pete Barker and Terry Townley should get the first call at guards for Arlington, and they work well together in the backcourt.

Barker has been a pleasant surprise since receiving extensive duty. Pete spent some time on the bench at the outset of the campaign but has responded with some nifty efforts in the new year. He has 150 points for the season.

TOWNLEY, A 5-11 junior, likes to maneuver in close to the basket although he can bomb from the outside with accuracy. Terry has 254 points in 22 games, with a 17-point contribution against Palatine Tuesday.

Jim Jorgensen, a 6-4 senior forward at Arlington, works as sixth man or a front-line starter for the Cardinals. In either capacity Jorgensen can be helpful. He can score (149 points for the season) and also hit the boards.

Johnny Gregory, a quick 5-7 guard, serves as the number one reserve for St. Viator. If one of the big men under the basket gets in foul trouble, Collins moves from guard to forward and Gregory works with Hogan in the backcourt.

In Land of Lincoln

Jonland Tops Juvenile Boys

Twenty-three Mount Prospect speed skaters traveled to the University of Illinois Ice Arena in Champaign, to participate in the weekend Land of Lincoln skating meet. After two days of spirited competition the Prospect club finished with a commendable thirty point team effort.

All but two of the points were scored by the "one-two" punch of the Prospect Juvenile boys class. Gary Jonland with a total of eighteen points won the Juvenile Individual crown, pushed again to the limit by his speedy team mate Bobby Knight. Jonland took the championship by winning the 440, the one third and half mile events and finishing second to Knight in the 1/6 mile final.

Knight in finishing ahead of Gary in the 1/6th mile race established a new state record of 27.1 seconds for this distance. Besides his record busting win, Bobby took a second in the 440 and a third in the half mile which gave him ten points and a second place finish in the overall individual Juvenile championship. Bobby Haenisch, midget boy skater, took a third in this class to round out the team total.

JIM ZUCKERMANDEL missed adding to the total by taking close fifths in three of the senior men's events. The Bantam boys in class B competition were again led by Tom Grunnah who took a pair of firsts and promises to fortify Prospect in the Pony class in coming years. Rich Vehe, another sparkling Bantam, took a second and a fourth and Jim Tangney took one second place ribbon as a reward for his performance.

At the conclusion of the meet it was announced that the Mount Prospect Speed Skating club had placed nine of its young skaters on the sixty skater roster of Illinois speed skaters qualified to compete in the National Indoor Championships in St. Louis this coming weekend.

In the Men's divisions the following were qualified by points earned in Illinois Indoor competition: Bobby Haenisch, Gary Jonland, Bobby Knight, Tom Tangney, Tim Jilek and Jim Zuckermandel. Mary Cunningham, Teresa Griffin and Mary Lou Haenisch will be Prospect's representatives in the Girls Division. This again is a new high representation for the local club in National competition.

Coach Herman Haenisch, enjoying one of the most satisfying seasons in the club's short history, will be working his skaters into sharp form this week in practice sessions at the Polar Dome in Dundee.

TRANSFIXED. That appears to be the condition of Palatine's Doug Spruance (15) and Prospect's Tom Lundstedt (13) as they pause to gaze during the action in the Friday night Pirates-Knights game. Pirates Fall At Evanston Track Dual Palatine's varsity trackmen, hampered some by sickness, took a thumping from Evanston last Friday afternoon. The Pirates fell 100-9 in an indoor dual.

The locals also lost a sophomore meet with Evanston 83-21, and a freshman running, 92-8.

RICK ORTMAN and Art Dannenberg had the best finishes for the Pirates in the varsity clash. Senior Ortman ran second in the half-mile, while junior Dannenberg had a second in the high hurdles and a third in the lows.

Bill Meister had a third in the high hurdles and Jerry Weyrich a third in the mile run to complete the scoring. It's considered likely Palatine would have had at least a few more points in the meet, except for illness that sidelined hurdler Bob Payne and quarter-milers Bill Bahnfleth and John Blanchard, also mainstays on the relay teams.

In two seasons, without missing a single game, he totaled 610 points, establishing the scoring standard at the young school. He averaged, in his Conant career, 14.2 points per game.

TONY KULASA

A 5-11 floor general, Kulasa's specialty has been scoring most when his team most needs points. From his guard spot Kulasa has had his top showings in the final game of the Pontiac Holiday Tourney and in crucial league encounters with rivals Forest View and Maine West.

Kulasa has used deadly accuracy from over 15 feet to connect for 150 points this season, a 6.5 average. He owns 103 markers in league play, good enough for the 10th conference spot.

KEN MUELLER

One of the best outside shots in the league was Maine West's 5-9 guard, Mueller. His one-handed push shot from over 15 feet went in often enough to give him 302 points in 20 games, a 15.1 average, and he was fifth best in the league with 127 points.

Just three times in those 20 outings was Mueller held to less than 10 points. With a high of 25 he totaled over 20 markers five times this season. His speed and sureness afoot made him a player to beware of on defense. He's the lone Warriors' representative among the M-SL honor cagers.

SPECIAL MENTION

Wheeling's 6-0 Scott Bischoff, had 218 points this deason, a 9.9 average, and, along with his rebounding power, displayed 98 points in the league. . . Jim Buckholz, of Forest View, was an outside threat from his guard post during the past year as his 158 points, 69 in league, will attest. . . Another Falcons' special mention is Byron Borgardt, a 5-11 guard who has tallied 153 points, a 6.9 average, and 54 in the M-SL but makes defense his strong point. . .

From Dist. 211, Palatine's Paul Kozlicki and Conant's Larry Powell were both singled out for special mention. Kozlicki, a 6-2 forward, was the third member of Palatine's balanced three, and as a strong operative near the basket totaled 254 points for the season, with 121 for seventh in the MSL . . . Powell, a 6-7 center badly hindered by illness during the season, came on very strongly in the latter games, building to a 12.5 scoring average and turning in strong defensive and rebounding work.

shooters in the area, possessing a nice touch from the 15-20 foot range. He's quick and can drive with the best and has authored 341 markers in 21 outings, missing two games at the outset of the season because of illness.

COLLINS CAN score although he hasn't had that many prolific nights. Dan is steady, rarely making mistakes. He'll hustle from the opening tip to the final gun. Dan has a 9.3 average.

Pete Barker and Terry Townley should get the first call at guards for Arlington, and they work well together in the backcourt.

Barker has been a pleasant surprise since receiving extensive duty. Pete spent some time on the bench at the outset of the campaign but has responded with some nifty efforts in the new year. He has 150 points for the season.

TOWNLEY, A 5-11 junior, likes to maneuver in close to the basket although he can bomb from the outside with accuracy. Terry has 254 points in 22 games, with a 17-point contribution against Palatine Tuesday.

Jim Jorgensen, a 6-4 senior forward at Arlington, works as sixth man or a front-line starter for the Cardinals. In either capacity Jorgensen can be helpful. He can score (149 points for the season) and also hit the boards.

Johnny Gregory, a quick 5-7 guard, serves as the number one reserve for St. Viator. If one of the big men under the basket gets in foul trouble, Collins moves from guard to forward and Gregory works with Hogan in the backcourt.

In Land of Lincoln

Jonland Tops Juvenile Boys

Twenty-three Mount Prospect speed skaters traveled to the University of Illinois Ice Arena in Champaign, to participate in the weekend Land of Lincoln skating meet. After two days of spirited competition the Prospect club finished with a commendable thirty point team effort.

All but two of the points were scored by the "one-two" punch of the Prospect Juvenile boys class. Gary Jonland with a total of eighteen points won the Juvenile Individual crown, pushed again to the limit by his speedy team mate Bobby Knight. Jonland took the championship by winning the 440, the one third and half mile events and finishing second to Knight in the 1/6 mile final.

Knight in finishing ahead of Gary in the 1/6th mile race established a new state record of 27.1 seconds for this distance. Besides his record busting win, Bobby took a second in the 440 and a third in the half mile which gave him ten points and a second place finish in the overall individual Juvenile championship. Bobby Haenisch, midget boy skater, took a third in this class to round out the team total.

JIM ZUCKERMANDEL missed adding to the total by taking close fifths in three of the senior men's events. The Bantam boys in class B competition were again led by Tom Grunnah who took a pair of firsts and promises to fortify Prospect in the Pony class in coming years. Rich Vehe, another sparkling Bantam, took a second and a fourth and Jim Tangney took one second place ribbon as a reward for his performance.

At the conclusion of the meet it was announced that the Mount Prospect Speed Skating club had placed nine of its young skaters on the sixty skater roster of Illinois speed skaters qualified to compete in the National Indoor Championships in St. Louis this coming weekend.

In the Men's divisions the following were qualified by points earned in Illinois Indoor competition: Bobby Haenisch, Gary Jonland, Bobby Knight, Tom Tangney, Tim Jilek and Jim Zuckermandel. Mary Cunningham, Teresa Griffin and Mary Lou Haenisch will be Prospect's representatives in the Girls Division. This again is a new high representation for the local club in National competition.

Coach Herman Haenisch, enjoying one of the most satisfying seasons in the club's short history, will be working his skaters into sharp form this week in practice sessions at the Polar Dome in Dundee.

Fouls Key 86-72 Win

Lions Bump Mustangs In Regional Cage Tilt

by KEN KNOX

There was a time Tuesday night when it was reasonable to wonder if anyone was going to finish the St. Viator-Mundelein regional tourney confrontation at Prospect High School.

The game, to put it succinctly, was foul-splashed. And as the contest was whistled toward its conclusion, the players were banished with such regularity that the tourney limit of 10 players a team seemed somehow inadequate. Four Lions and three Mustangs were dismissed.

Before it subsided, 56 fouls had been charged, 27 on St. Viator and 29 on Mundelein. Eighty-eight free throws were offered up, and 62 had been converted into points.

Yet in all that, there was happiness for St. Viator.

The Lions, chiefly on the crest of one of their amazing foul shot performances, built up a huge first half lead and went on to vanquish Mundelein 86-72.

BY THE TRIUMPH, Larry Nomellini's crew advanced step one on the Illinois high school tournament trail, and won the right to challenge Arlington in the Prospect tourney semi-finals Thursday night at 7:30 p.m.

Of all the factors that influenced the game, none stood out so clearly as the Lions' proficiency at the line. It was that proficiency that allowed the victors to get several steps ahead of the Mustangs, and to put them in a position where they had to scramble furiously to come back. They did, in fact, make a strong rush late in the game, but the Lions beat them back.

At the half, St. Viator had Mundelein down 52-31. Twenty of the Lions' points came on free throws, out of just 23 attempts. In the second quarter especially, every infraction by the Mustangs meant points for St. Viator, for the Lions — with patented underhanded casualness — rippled the nets 15 times in 15 tries. Carrying that over into the third quarter, they had the Mundelein boosters aghast as they hit 23 before they finally missed, compiling 26 hits in the first 29 tries.

FOR THE GAME, St. Viator hit 34 of 45, a sterling .755 mark. Mundelein was more than respectable with 28 of 44, or .636, but they didn't come frequently enough or early enough to keep the Mustangs abreast.

St. Viator never trailed in the game, taking a 1-0 lead on a free throw by Paul Dumke at 7:47 and building that until they were up 17-11 at the quarter.

The last two points of the quarter for the Lions were dropped in on a 25-footer by guard Frank Hogan, as he warmed up for a splendid performance.

Though the Lions spread their scoring generously among the starters, and 10 boys had a part in the triumph before the game was over, it was Hogan who stood as a rock through the frantic turmoil. It was not just that he led all scorers with 23 points, including an 11 for 15 foul shot effort. His ball-handling kept the Lions on the move and helped keep the Mustangs away when they were pressing, and his driving aggressiveness set up several easy shots for his teammates and led to some sensational lay-ups of his own.

IT WAS HOGAN and Dumke leading the way as the Lions produced an amazing 35-point second quarter, the assault that just about wrecked Mundelein. Hogan had nine of those points and Dumke 13, all but five of his night's total. Between them, they were 10 for 10 at the foul line in the period.

Mundelein was unable to launch a consistent attack all through the first half, as the Lions held them to nine field goals. The Mustangs were also crippled by quick four-foul loads on regulars Roddy Johns and Tom Perry, but the Lions too had those problems. Dumke and guard Dan Collins had the same burden after two periods.

Johns and Perry went quickly in the second half, followed by teammate Ron Hansen. And before it was over, the Lions were relieved of Hogan, Dumke, Collins and Emille Bataille, who added 14 points before his departure. Only Paul Pomplun of the starters remained standing at game's end, and it was just as well because he had 16 points and — especially early — helped form the barrier that forced Mundelein to seek its points from outside.

THE MUSTANGS began a rush for the lead during the third quarter, but the Lions — again mainly on Hogan's efforts — held them off. It was in the fourth period that things got sticky for Nomellini's five.

Mundelein went on a spurt that cut the St. Viator lead to 74-62 with still five minutes to play, and gave indications of being the kind of momentum that might carry the Mustangs right on past. Hansen was one of the factors in that uprising, hitting seven points in less than three minutes of that period, but then — mercifully for the Lions — he was dismissed on fouls.

Sophomore guard Steve Harris then took over, and before he finished, he had produced 12 points in the quarter, 22 for the game. He was hitting from under the basket and from 30 feet out, but the Mustangs couldn't get any closer than that 12-point difference. The reserves, in fact, came on to make it a 14-point advantage at game's end.

LaGrange's Sophs Top Card Five

Everything clicked for LaGrange's frosh-soph Cubs Friday evening as they rolled to an 85-58 victory over host Arlington.

The visitors shot in front 18-10 after one period and coasted the rest of the way to their 12th victory in 14 West Suubrban Conference games.

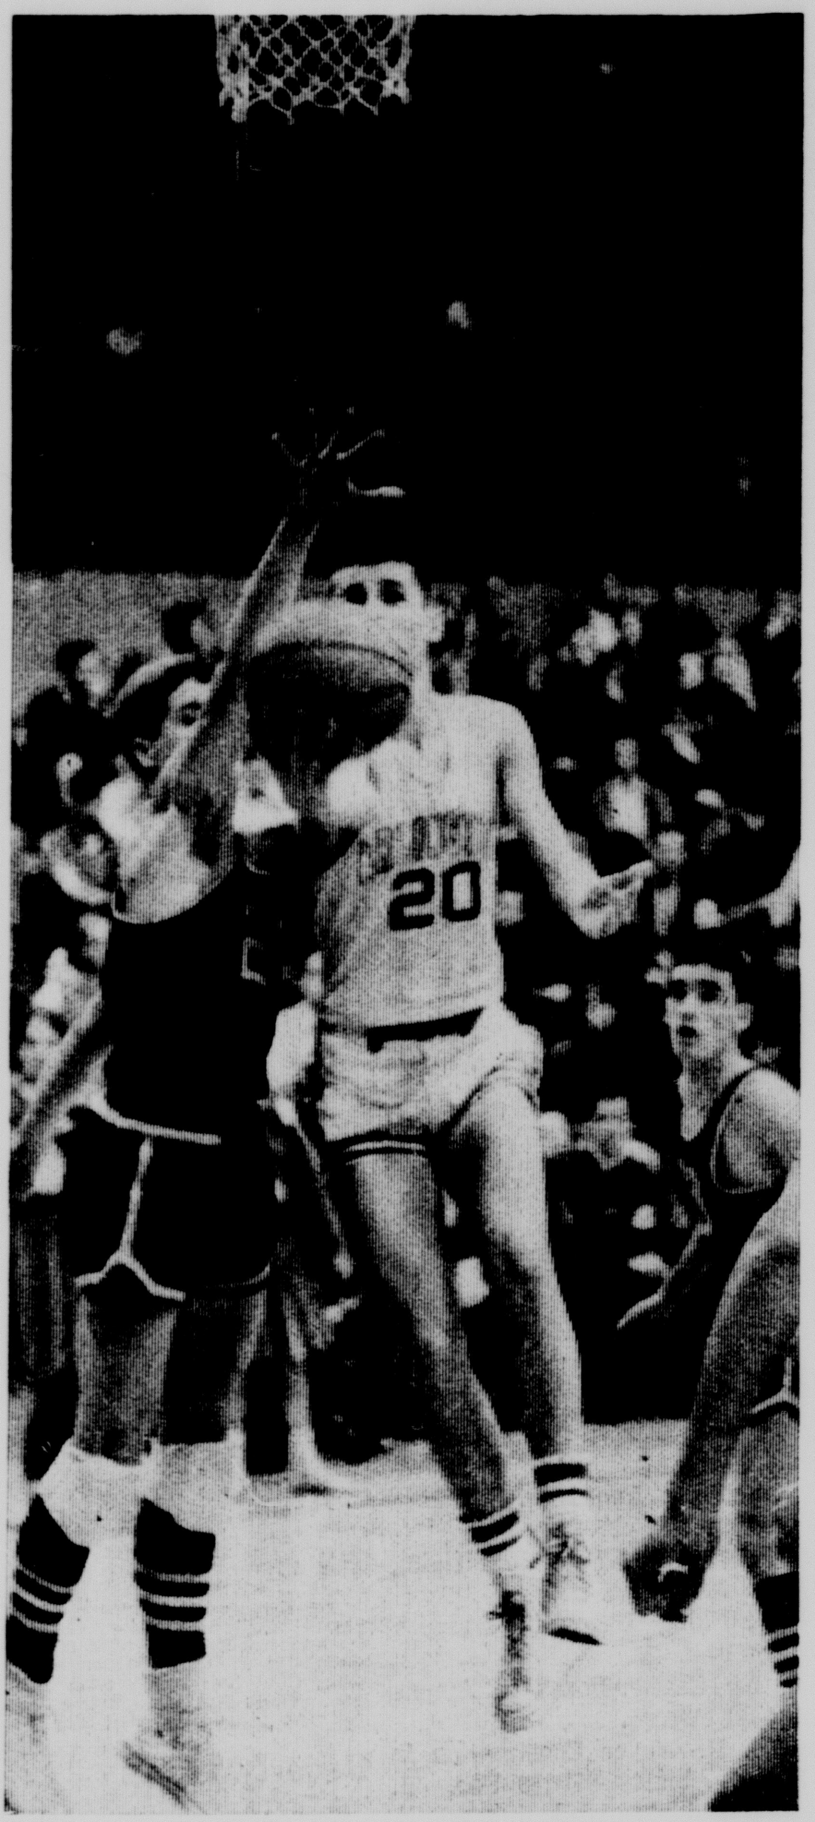
LaGrange fell one point short of an Arlington gymnasium mark for one team in a frosh-soph game. Arlington holds the record of 86 set in 1954 against Palatine.

The Cardinals had three men in double figures with Greg Lemein flipping in 15 on five baskets and five free throws. Bill Liddell contributed 12, John Theroux 10, and Keith Culberson eight.

Twelve boys tallied for LaGrange with Bill Bauer high with 18.

Sparkling Debut

Pete Skoglund, Northwestern's highly-touted sophomore swimmer, had a sparkling debut in the Wildcats' regular season opener against Michigan State and Iowa State. Skoglund broke a school record and a meet mark by winning the 200-yard backstroke in 2:02.2. He also was a member of the medley relay team that set a new school standard in the same meet.



SWEEPING IN FOR two points is Arlington High School's all-conference junior Steve Allen (20). Al Botkin of La Grange applies the pressure on defense as Allen drives for the basket. Steve tossed in 17 points Friday to help lead the Cardinals to a 65-63 victory over La Grange. (Staff photo)

Forest View Beaten in Regional Cage Contest

by MICHAEL HESS

Playing tournament basketball is like walking that tightrope across Niagara Falls, one false move and it's the end.

Forest View's cagers began tourney action Tuesday night. But, their first step brought a disastrous finish for the Falcons.

In the regional at Maine East, FV was bumped off by Maine West. Final tally of that shocker was 59-52. Coach Ken Arneson's defeated forces were stunned by the biggest setback upset of this Paddock area hoop season.

Twice before this year Forest View had beaten the Warriors. Scores of 51-48 and 57-45 had helped push MW to the bottom of Mid-Suburban League standings which the Falcons topped. Maine carried a lowly 3-17 record into the third encounter while 16-6 was FV's mark.

ONCE PLAY began, however, even the memory of past showings was swept aside.

Only once in the contest did Forest View hold the lead. That was with 7:42 left in the first quarter when a 15-footer by Byron Borgardt put the Falcons in front 2-0. MW came back, tied the totals at 2-2, moved out to a 7-2 margin and established a 17-10 gap after one period.

At the half Maine was still in front 30-24. FV narrowed the opposition advantage a bit in quarter three and was behind by only 41-38 as the final period got under way. The Warriors were not to be denied though and led by as many as 12 before settling for their seven point triumph.

Villain of the affair as far as Forest View was concerned was MW guard Ken Mueller.

A 5-9 sharpshooter, Mueller put in seven of 12 goal tries, most from around 20 feet. More important that what he did from the floor was Mueller's showing at the line. There he connected on 16 straight attempts to end with 30 points.

AGAINST THAT performance the best Forest View had to offer was junior Ted Lambert, who gained 13 points from three quarters of effort. Backing him up were Borgardt with 11 markers and Pat Dunnigan, in the last game of a brilliant prep career, with 10.

Following Borgardt's opening two-pointer, Mueller put in two free throws and Paul Moehling another for MW. The score was 3-2 and before the Falcons could score again Ken Mach and Al Fritz made goals for the leaders. Howie Brasch and Dunnigan scored to bring their team close, at 11-10.

Then Mueller hit a 15-footer, Moehling stole the ball and drove for a lay-up and two more at the line from Mueller made it 17-11.

During the second quarter seven points from Fritz and four at the line by Mueller helped offset points counted by Lambert and Jim Baumgardt for Forest View. Lambert's marker from the corner brought his quintet to within six at the intermission.

Second half play found Borgardt and Mueller trading goals. Mueller hit another, to make the score 34-26, before a string of five in a row at the charity stripe by Lambert cut the gap to 34-31. But Mueller, who had 10 points in the period, popped one in from the base line and the margin remained three until the last quarter started.

OVER THE final eight minutes the Warriors continued the type of play which had put them in front. At what they did they were experts.

The five Maine players all were short, fast and sure handed. They hustled, they jumped, they pushed, they shoved. They used a collapsing zone on defense and kept FV from getting a lot of easy shots or a lot of rebounds. Their harassing tactics caused the Falcons to commit 17 turnovers and 25 fouls. Offensively they passed and waited, passed and waited, and then were able to make the most of their opportunities.

Dale Haase put in the initial closing quarter point for Maine. He sank the first of 16 that MW would hit from the line in that ending action. Mueller followed with two more at the line.

Jeff Grismer countered for FV with two foul shots but Mueller answered with a six-footer. After Borgardt also popped a free throw the score was 46-41. Neither side made a field goal during the next three minutes but Maine made seven at the line.

PAT DUNNIGAN
Ends Cage Career

THEIR BURST of gift tosses had given the Warriors a 53-41 lead with 2:37 left. The final MW foul shot resulted when Dunnigan picked up his fifth personal foul and was waved from the game and that marked the end for Forest View.

Dunnigan, a senior, had played his concluding cage game for the Falcons. This season he had 381 points, a 16.5 average, and in a three year career for FV he had 861 points. Dunnigan and Forest View have become synonymous. Dunnigan and the never-say-die spirit of an irreplaceable competitor have also become synonymous.

When Dunnigan left the floor, FV's quintet might as well have left with him. The rest of the game was played for practice. The Forest View defeat was complete. The Falcons had been knocked from the tourney tightrope before they even had a chance to get started.

Cards Rout Pirates In Regional Action

by BOB FRISK

Arlington had a ball playing basketball Tuesday evening.

It wasn't so much fun for Palatine.

Not since Arlington hammered Deerfield on a brisk evening in March in 1962 has a Cardinal varsity poured through as many points as they did Tuesday in the Prospect Regional tournament.

Jumping out to a big lead in the first period and coasting the rest of the way, the Cardinals shelled Palatine with surprising ease, 89-49, in the third game of the Prospect tournament.

Those 89 points represent the best offensive effort by an Arlington High varsity since a 90-43 thumping of Deerfield in 1962 on this same Prospect floor. Arlington's rout of Deerfield also came in first round regional action.

WITH THE victory Tuesday Coach Ted Wissen's Cardinals moved into the regional semi-finals and hiked their season record to 16-6.

The loss wrapped up Palatine's season with the varsity Pirates showing a 10-13 log.

There was never much doubt about the outcome Tuesday as junior Steve Allen whipped in his first four shots to send the Cardinals off and running.

ALLEN, WHO reached his career high with 31 points, had ten points in the opening stanza as the Cardinals streaked out on top, 17-6. The Pirates just couldn't get untracked and only had one basket in that first period.

Arlington's strength on the boards continued to pay big dividends in the second period as the Cards played volleyball under the basket until they could pop in the points.

Palatine couldn't buy a basket in that opening half, going ten minutes at one stretch without a field goal, but Doug Spruance ended the offensive famine with a tip-in with 2:34 left before the intermission.

Allen had 16 points at the break and Arlington enjoyed a 38-19 lead.

THE SECOND half didn't show too much for the fans as play became ragged and the teams paraded up and down the court to the free throw line.

Arlington's biggest spread in the third period came when Allen flipped in two free throws to set a 63-35 cushion heading into the concluding eight minutes.

The reserves took over for the Cards midway in the final period and a free throw by guard Jim Bressler gave the winners their 89th point with 27 seconds remaining.

ALLEN was high for both clubs with 31 points, including a red-hot 17-for-18 night at the free throw line. Steve cooled off from the field after a fast start but still achieved his career high.

Terry Townley was next in line for Arlington with 17 points as the 5-11 junior shook off a mild offensive slump which had seen him score only 13 markers in three previous outings.

Arlington spent most of the evening at the free throw line, dropping in 37 of 49 gift tosses.

Dave Willy was high for Palatine with 14 points, showing an eight-for-nine night at the free throw line. Brian McCartney threw in eight in a relief role.

STEVE ALLEN
Career High

Lundstedt on All-Suburban

Prospect High School's Tom Lundstedt earned a first team berth at forward on the Suburban Press and Radio Association's all-suburban prep basketball squad released this week.

Lundstedt, a 6-3 junior, was one of 18 boys named to the honor team.

Arlington High School's Steve Allen earned special mention recognition.

Other boys named to the first team were as follows:

FORWARDS—Al Armour (Thornridge), Parker Wellington (Hinsdale), Mike Reeves (Glenbrook South), Rufus Woods (North Chicago), and Roy Houston (Evanston).

CENTERS—Larry Saunders (York), Dan Issel (Batavia), Larry Rosenzweig (New Trier), Jim Bradof (East Leyden), Bruce Butchke (Crete-Monee), Drew Corley (Carl Sandburg).

GUARDS—Randy Crews (Bradley-Bourbonnais), Johnny Posen (Morton East), Langston Hughes (Waukegan); Lamarr Thomas (Thornton), Ned Reese (York), Tom Gribben (Morton West).

The players and their coaches will be honored at a special banquet on Thursday, March 31, at Richard's Restaurant in Berwyn.

York Frosh Hand Cards Seventh Loss

Visiting York exploded for 22 points in the third period Saturday morning and scored a 57-50 frosh 'A' basketball victory over Arlington.

The Cardinals were on top 21-19 at the intermission, but York enjoyed a 22-12 third period advantage.

The loss was the third straight for Arlington and seventh in 16 games this winter. The Cards will play in the Barrington frosh tourney to conclude the season.

Jim Baumgartner was high for Arlington against York with 16 points. Dean Schmelzer contributed 15 and Mike McCann 10.

Proviso West Wins Own Thinclad Meet

Proviso West hosted — and won — its first annual invitational track meet last Saturday, ruling a 12-team field with a 51-point total.

The Panthers won four of the 15 events and placed high in several others to pace the field, and finish 12 points ahead of Thornton in the team standings. Proviso East was third and Mid-Suburban League entry Maine West fourth.

The two local schools entered — Palatine and Arlington — finished well down the list. The Pirates were ninth with 11 points and the Cardinals 11th with 3½ points.

THE BRIGHTEST performance from the local entries came from Duane Hosimer. The Palatine senior ruled the shot put competition, heaving the sphere 51-11½. That was two inches better than the effort of Hinsdale Central's R. Lipschulz, and was the only first by an Arlington or Palatine boy in the Hillside affair.

Palatine, which had to leave quarter-miler Bill Bahnfleth and hurdler Bob Payne home because of illness, gained its other points from Rick Ortman and John Blanchard.

Ortman ran a blazing race with Maine's Ed Lusk in the 660 yard run, and was nipped at the wire with a clocking of 1:26.2. Blanchard ran fourth in the 330 yard run, with a time of :37.8.

Arlington's points were provided by Steve Ewart. The senior, who qualified for the state in the 440 last year, tied for second in the quarter with a :53.5 timing.

The meet had one double winner, Thornton's Rocket winning the high jump and the broad jump, the latter with a fine effort of 22-3. Other good performances came from Proviso West pole vaulter Joe Viktor, with a 13-8 vault, and from Proviso East's Ward, with a 4:28.5 in the mile. Maine's Lee Labadie was second in 4:29.5.

Neither Arlington nor Palatine scored in a sophomore meet held at the same time, and Proviso West won that too with a 61-point team score.

Fouls Key 86-72 Win

Lions Bump Mustangs In Regional Cage Tilt

by KEN KNOX

There was a time Tuesday night when it was reasonable to wonder if anyone was going to finish the St. Viator-Mundelein regional tourney confrontation at Prospect High School.

The game, to put it succinctly, was foul-splashed. And as the contest was whistled toward its conclusion, the players were banished with such regularity that the tourney limit of 10 players a team seemed somehow inadequate. Four Lions and three Mustangs were dismissed.

Before it subsided, 56 fouls had been charged, 27 on St. Viator and 29 on Mundelein. Eighty-eight free throws were offered up, and 62 had been converted into points.

Yet in all that, there was happiness for St. Viator.

The Lions, chiefly on the crest of one of their amazing foul shot performances, built up a huge first half lead and went on to vanquish Mundelein 86-72.

BY THE TRIUMPH, Larry Nomellini's crew advanced step one on the Illinois high school tournament trail, and won the right to challenge Arlington in the Prospect tourney semi-finals Thursday night at 7:30 p.m.

Of all the factors that influenced the game, none stood out so clearly as the Lions' proficiency at the line. It was that proficiency that allowed the victors to get several steps ahead of the Mustangs, and to put them in a position where they had to scramble furiously to come back. They did, in fact, make a strong rush late in the game, but the Lions beat them back.

At the half, St. Viator had Mundelein down 52-31. Twenty of the Lions' points came on free throws, out of just 23 attempts. In the second quarter especially, every infraction by the Mustangs meant points for St. Viator, for the Lions — with patented underhanded casualness — rippled the nets 15 times in 15 tries. Carrying that over into the third quarter, they had the Mundelein boosters aghast as they hit 23 before they finally missed, compiling 26 hits in the first 29 tries.

FOR THE GAME, St. Viator hit 34 of 45, a sterling .755 mark. Mundelein was more than respectable with 28 of 44, or .636, but they didn't come frequently enough or early enough to keep the Mustangs abreast.

St. Viator never trailed in the game, taking a 1-0 lead on a free throw by Paul Dumke at 7:47 and building that until they were up 17-11 at the quarter.

The last two points of the quarter for the Lions were dropped in on a 25-footer by guard Frank Hogan, as he warmed up for a splendid performance.

Though the Lions spread their scoring generously among the starters, and 10 boys had a part in the triumph before the game was over, it was Hogan who stood as a rock through the frantic turmoil. It was not just that he led all scorers with 23 points, including an 11 for 15 foul shot effort. His ball-handling kept the Lions on the move and helped keep the Mustangs away when they were pressing, and his driving aggressiveness set up several easy shots for his teammates and led to some sensational lay-ups of his own.

IT WAS HOGAN and Dumke leading the way as the Lions produced an amazing 35-point second quarter, the assault that just about wrecked Mundelein. Hogan had nine of those points and Dumke 13, all but five of his night's total. Between them, they were 10 for 10 at the foul line in the period.

Mundelein was unable to launch a consistent attack all through the first half, as the Lions held them to nine field goals. The Mustangs were also crippled by quick four-foul loads on regulars Roddy Johns and Tom Perry, but the Lions too had those problems. Dumke and guard Dan Collins had the same burden after two periods.

Johns and Perry went quickly in the second half, followed by teammate Ron Hansen. And before it was over, the Lions were relieved of Hogan, Dumke, Collins and Emille Bataille, who added 14 points before his departure. Only Paul Pomplun of the starters remained standing at game's end, and it was just as well because he had 16 points and — especially early — helped form the barrier that forced Mundelein to seek its points from outside.

THE MUSTANGS began a rush for the lead during the third quarter, but the Lions — again mainly on Hogan's efforts — held them off. It was in the fourth period that things got sticky for Nomellini's five.

Mundelein went on a spurt that cut the St. Viator lead to 74-62 with still five minutes to play, and gave indications of being the kind of momentum that might carry the Mustangs right on past. Hansen was one of the factors in that uprising, hitting seven points in less than three minutes of that period, but then — mercifully for the Lions — he was dismissed on fouls.

Sophomore guard Steve Harris then took over, and before he finished, he had produced 12 points in the quarter, 22 for the game. He was hitting from under the basket and from 30 feet out, but the Mustangs couldn't get any closer than that 12-point difference. The reserves, in fact, came on to make it a 14-point advantage at game's end.

LaGrange's Sophs Top Card Five

Everything clicked for LaGrange's frosh-soph Cubs Friday evening as they rolled to an 85-58 victory over host Arlington.

The visitors shot in front 18-10 after one period and coasted the rest of the way to their 12th victory in 14 West Suubrban Conference games.

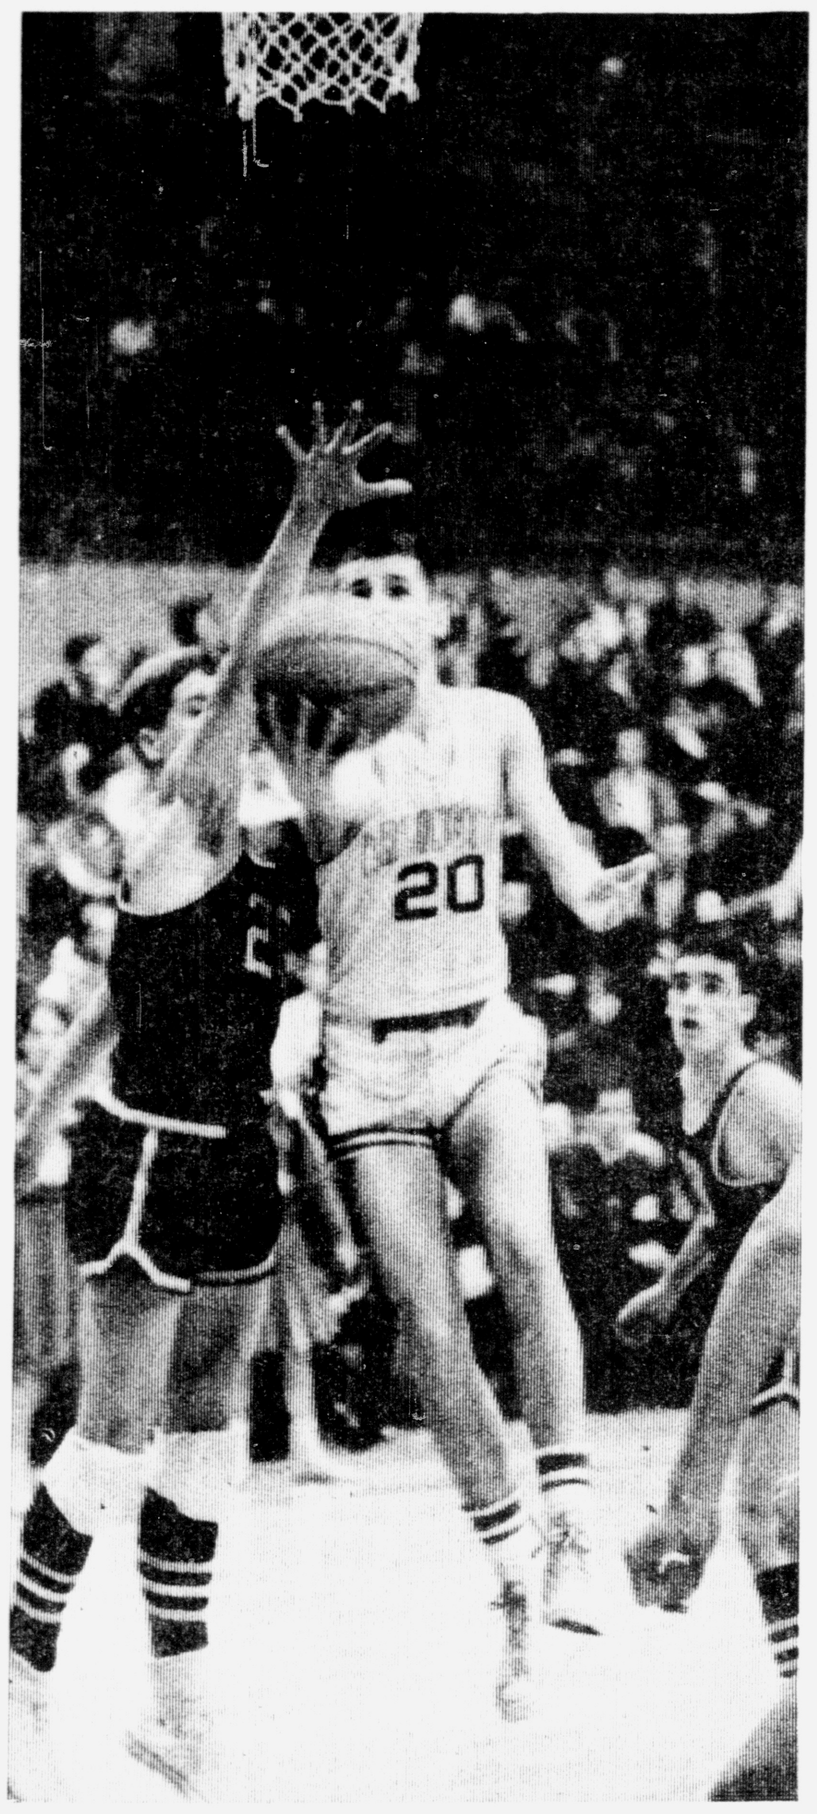
LaGrange fell one point short of an Arlington gymnasium mark for one team in a frosh-soph game. Arlington holds the record of 86 set in 1954 against Palatine.

The Cardinals had three men in double figures with Greg Lemein flipping in 15 on five baskets and five free throws. Bill Liddell contributed 12, John Theroux 10, and Keith Culberson eight.

Twelve boys tallied for LaGrange with Bill Bauer high with 18.

Sparkling Debut

Pete Skoglund, Northwestern's highly-touted sophomore swimmer, had a sparkling debut in the Wildcats' regular season opener against Michigan State and Iowa State. Skoglund broke a school record and a meet mark by winning the 200-yard backstroke in 2:02.2. He also was a member of the medley relay team that set a new school standard in the same meet.



SWEEPING IN FOR two points is Arlington High School's all-conference junior Steve Allen (20). Al Botkin of La Grange applies the pressure on defense as Allen drives for the basket. Steve tossed in 17 points Friday to help lead the Cardinals to a 65-63 victory over La Grange. (Staff photo)

Forest View Beaten in Regional Cage Contest

by MICHAEL HESS

Playing tournament basketball is like walking that tightrope across Niagara Falls, one false move and it's the end.

Forest View's cagers began tourney action Tuesday night. But, their first step brought a disastrous finish for the Falcons.

In the regional at Maine East, FV was bumped off by Maine West. Final tally of that shocker was 59-52. Coach Ken Arneson's defeated forces were stunned by the biggest setback upset of this Paddock area hoop season.

Twice before this year Forest View had beaten the Warriors. Scores of 51-48 and 57-45 had helped push MW to the bottom of Mid-Suburban League standings which the Falcons topped. Maine carried a lowly 3-17 record into the third encounter while 16-6 was FV's mark.

ONCE PLAY began, however, even the memory of past showings was swept aside.

Only once in the contest did Forest View hold the lead. That was with 7:42 left in the first quarter when a 15-footer by Byron Borgardt put the Falcons in front 2-0. MW came back, tied the totals at 2-2, moved out to a 7-2 margin and established a 17-10 gap after one period.

At the half Maine was still in front 30-24. FV narrowed the opposition advantage a bit in quarter three and was behind by only 41-38 as the final period got under way. The Warriors were not to be denied though and led by as many as 12 before settling for their seven point triumph.

Villain of the affair as far as Forest View was concerned was MW guard Ken Mueller.

A 5-9 sharpshooter, Mueller put in seven of 12 goal tries, most from around 20 feet. More important that what he did from the floor was Mueller's showing at the line. There he connected on 16 straight attempts to end with 30 points.

AGAINST THAT performance the best Forest View had to offer was junior Ted Lambert, who gained 13 points from three quarters of effort. Backing him up were Borgardt with 11 markers and Pat Dunnigan, in the last game of a brilliant prep career, with 10.

Following Borgardt's opening two-pointer, Mueller put in two free throws and Paul Moehling another for MW. The score was 3-2 and before the Falcons could score again Ken Mach and Al Fritz made goals for the leaders. Howie Brasch and Dunnigan scored to bring their team close, at 11-10.

Then Mueller hit a 15-footer, Moehling stole the ball and drove for a lay-up and two more at the line from Mueller made it 17-11.

During the second quarter seven points from Fritz and four at the line by Mueller helped offset points counted by Lambert and Jim Baumgardt for Forest View. Lambert's marker from the corner brought his quintet to within six at the intermission.

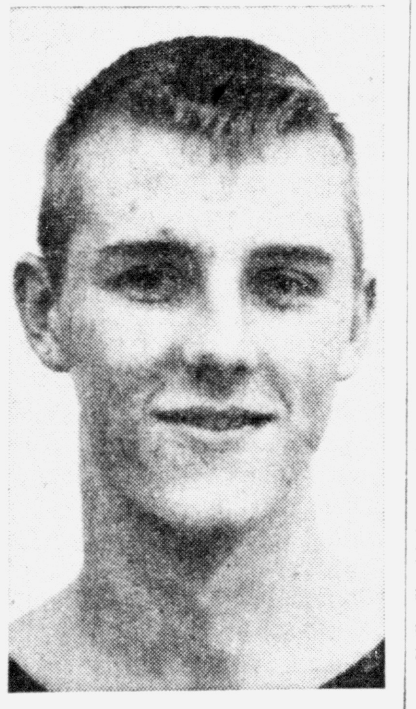
Second half play found Borgardt and Mueller trading goals. Mueller hit another, to make the score 34-26, before a string of five in a row at the charity stripe by Lambert cut the gap to 34-31. But Mueller, who had 10 points in the period, popped one in from the base line and the margin remained three until the last quarter started.

OVER THE final eight minutes the Warriors continued the type of play which had put them in front. At what they did they were experts.

The five Maine players all were short, fast and sure handed. They hustled, they jumped, they pushed, they shoved. They used a collapsing zone on defense and kept FV from getting a lot of easy shots or a lot of rebounds. Their harassing tactics caused the Falcons to commit 17 turnovers and 25 fouls. Offensively they passed and waited, passed and waited, and then were able to make the most of their opportunities.

Dale Haase put in the initial closing quarter point for Maine. He sank the first of 16 that MW would hit from the line in that ending action. Mueller followed with two more at the line.

Jeff Grismer countered for FV with two foul shots but Mueller answered with a six-footer. After Borgardt also popped a free throw the score was 46-41. Neither side made a field goal during the next three minutes but Maine made seven at the line.



PAT DUNNIGAN
Ends Cage Career

THEIR BURST of gift tosses had given the Warriors a 53-41 lead with 2:37 left. The final MW foul shot resulted when Dunnigan picked up his fifth personal foul and was waved from the game and that marked the end for Forest View.

Dunnigan, a senior, had played his concluding cage game for the Falcons. This season he had 381 points, a 16.5 average, and in a three year career for FV he had 861 points. Dunnigan and Forest View have become synonymous. Dunnigan and the never-say-die spirit of an irreplaceable competitor have also become synonymous.

When Dunnigan left the floor, FV's quintet might as well have left with him. The rest of the game was played for practice. The Forest View defeat was complete. The Falcons had been knocked from the tourney tightrope before they even had a chance to get started.

Coast to 89-49 Win

Cards Rout Pirates In Regional Action

by BOB FRISK

Arlington had a ball playing basketball Tuesday evening.

It wasn't so much fun for Palatine.

Not since Arlington hammered Deerfield on a brisk evening in March in 1962 has a Cardinal varsity poured through as many points as they did Tuesday in the Prospect Regional tournament.

Jumping out to a big lead in the first period and coasting the rest of the way, the Cardinals shelled Palatine with surprising ease, 89-49, in the third game of the Prospect tournament.

Those 89 points represent the best offensive effort by an Arlington High varsity since a 90-43 thumping of Deerfield in 1962 on this same Prospect floor. Arlington's rout of Deerfield also came in first round regional action.

WITH THE victory Tuesday Coach Ted Wissen's Cardinals moved into the regional semi-finals and hiked their season record to 16-6.

The loss wrapped up Palatine's season with the varsity Pirates showing a 10-13 log.

There was never much doubt about the outcome Tuesday as junior Steve Allen whipped in his first four shots to send the Cardinals off and running.

ALLEN, WHO reached his career high with 31 points, had ten points in the opening stanza as the Cardinals streaked out on top, 17-6. The Pirates just couldn't get untracked and only had one basket in that first period.

Arlington's strength on the boards continued to pay big dividends in the second period as the Cards played volleyball under the basket until they could pop in the points.

Palatine couldn't buy a basket in that opening half, going ten minutes at one stretch without a field goal, but Doug Spruance ended the offensive famine with a tip-in with 2:34 left before the intermission.

Allen had 16 points at the break and Arlington enjoyed a 38-19 lead.

THE SECOND half didn't show too much for the fans as play became ragged and the teams paraded up and down the court to the free throw line.

Arlington's biggest spread in the third period came when Allen flipped in two free throws to set a 63-35 cushion heading into the concluding eight minutes.

The reserves took over for the Cards midway in the final period and a free throw by guard Jim Bressler gave the winners their 89th point with 27 seconds remaining.

ALLEN was high for both clubs with 31 points, including a red-hot 17-for-18 night at the free throw line. Steve cooled off from the field after a fast start but still achieved his career high.

Terry Townley was next in line for Arlington with 17 points as the 5-11 junior shook off a mild offensive slump which had seen him score only 13 markers in three previous outings.

Arlington spent most of the evening at the free throw line, dropping in 37 of 49 gift tosses.

Dave Willy was high for Palatine with 14 points, showing an eight-for-nine night at the free throw line. Brian McCartney threw in eight in a relief role.

STEVE ALLEN
Career High

Lundstedt on All-Suburban

Prospect High School's Tom Lundstedt earned a first team berth at forward on the Suburban Press and Radio Association's all-suburban prep basketball squad released this week.

Lundstedt, a 6-3 junior, was one of 18 boys named to the honor team.

Arlington High School's Steve Allen earned special mention recognition.

Other boys named to the first team were as follows:

FORWARDS—Al Armour (Thornridge), Parker Wellington (Hinsdale), Mike Reeves (Glenbrook South), Rufus Woods (North Chicago), and Roy Houston (Evanston).

CENTERS—Larry Saunders (York), Dan Issel (Batavia), Larry Rosenzweig (New Trier), Jim Bradof (East Leyden), Bruce Butchke (Crete-Monee), Drew Corley (Carl Sandburg).

GUARDS—Randy Crews (Bradley-Bourbonnais), Johnny Posen (Morton East), Langston Hughes (Waukegan); Lamarr Thomas (Thornton), Ned Reese (York), Tom Gribben (Morton West).

The players and their coaches will be honored at a special banquet on Thursday, March 31, at Richard's Restaurant in Berwyn.

York Frosh Hand Cards Seventh Loss

Visiting York exploded for 22 points in the third period Saturday morning and scored a 57-50 frosh 'A' basketball victory over Arlington.

The Cardinals were on top 21-19 at the intermission, but York enjoyed a 22-12 third period advantage.

The loss was the third straight for Arlington and seventh in 16 games this winter. The Cards will play in the Barrington frosh tourney to conclude the season.

Jim Baumgartner was high for Arlington against York with 16 points. Dean Schmelzer contributed 15 and Mike McCann 10.

Proviso West Wins Own Thinclad Meet

Proviso West hosted — and won — its first annual invitational track meet last Saturday, ruling a 12-team field with a 51-point total.

The Panthers won four of the 15 events and placed high in several others to pace the field, and finish 12 points ahead of Thornton in the team standings. Proviso East was third and Mid-Suburban League entry Maine West fourth.

The two local schools entered — Palatine and Arlington — finished well down the list. The Pirates were ninth with 11 points and the Cardinals 11th with 3½ points.

THE BRIGHTEST performance from the local entries came from Duane Hosimer. The Palatine senior ruled the shot put competition, heaving the sphere 51-11½. That was two inches better than the effort of Hinsdale Central's R. Lipschulz, and was the only first by an Arlington or Palatine boy in the Hillside affair.

Palatine, which had to leave quarter-miler Bill Bahnfleth and hurdler Bob Payne home because of illness, gained its other points from Rick Ortman and John Blanchard.

Ortman ran a blazing race with Maine's Ed Lusk in the 660 yard run, and was nipped at the wire with a clocking of 1:26.2. Blanchard ran fourth in the 330 yard run, with a time of :37.8.

Arlington's points were provided by Steve Ewart. The senior, who qualified for the state in the 440 last year, tied for second in the quarter with a :53.5 timing.

The meet had one double winner, Thornton's Rocket winning the high jump and the broad jump, the latter with a fine effort of 22-3. Other good performances came from Proviso West pole vaulter Joe Viktor, with a 13-8 vault, and from Proviso East's Ward, with a 4:28.5 in the mile. Maine's Lee Labadie was second in 4:29.5.

Neither Arlington nor Palatine scored in a sophomore meet held at the same time, and Proviso West won that too with a 61-point team score.

Steve's Awaits Lattof

Ladies' Units In Showdown

There's going to be a big shoot-out—make that bowl-out—in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League this Saturday evening.

Steve's Restaurant and Lattof Chevrolet—currently sparring 1-2 in the PWCTL — are to meet head-on in the evening's action at Beverly Lanes.

DONNA REINHARDT

The showdown was set up last Saturday, as Steve's clutched a lead that dwindled to one point. The Restaurant girls stopped Rolling Meadows Bowl —still a menace itself—by a 3-1 count. At the same time, Lattof was blanking Striking Lanes 4-0 to push to a step behind Steve's. In the other half of the league, River Rand Bowl applied the 3-1 treatment to Morton Pontiac to escape the cellar and put Morton there.

THERE WERE moments Saturday night when Steve's probably wondered if it was going to keep its supremacy. Rolling Meadows Bowl opened up with a brisk 928 game that bested Steve's by 100 pins, and featured a 222 from Jean Ladd and a 214 from Esther Hugo.

But RMB plunged after that while Steve's kept its level, in the process picking up the remaining three points. Ann Neumann led the winners with 535, but Harriet Fuchs of RMB was best of all in the clash with 536.

Lattof was gifted with a good night to meet Striking Lanes, because the Striking ladies had an evening of almost pure disaster. Only one of them—Jean Ladd with 508—ended over 500 after three games, and the team's best game was an 836.

DONNA REINHARDT, with a 224 game in the total, paced the Lattof assault. She had a 590 series, best of the night in the league. It was that 224 that insured the shutout for her team, as it came in the second game when Lattofs nipped the losers by eight pins.

River Rand's ascent was directed by Ethel Juenger, who rolled a 561 total. The victors had a fairly easy time of it in winning games one and three, and lost the second by 37. Nancy Dietz, who led Morton with a 526, saved her best game—a 187—for game two and helped Morton to its one point.

This Saturday, besides the Steve's-Lattof grappling, there will be a struggle between deadlocked River Rand and Striking Lanes, and Rolling Meadows Bowl will seek to gain on the struggling leaders by meeting Morton Pontiac.

Railers Win First of 2nd Round

Chalet Wins Another; Position Night Ahead

It may be getting time to ask that question in the Paddock Classic Traveling League: who can catch Concourse Sports Chalet?

The Sports moved in for a share of the PCTL's top on January 22, and they've had it to themselves since the weekend after that. They stayed there this past Saturday, in fact plumping their margin to six points by clouting Jeffery Lanes 7-0.

HARVEY RANDOLPH

Since this weekend's action will mark the halfway mark in the league's second round, the question about catching Chalet seems in order.

One team that could do the catching — in Saturday's position night play at Beverly Lanes — is Bill Cook Buick. Buick, back up to second in the PCTL, edged in there with a 7-0 effort of its own over Morton Pontiac.

Brim's Pioneer Lanes, which had been running in tandem with Sports Chalet, slipped to third with a 5-2 setback from City Welding Sales and Service.

THERE WAS some big news and noise from the bottom of the stack, where The Brass Rail — champions of the first round — finally entered the victory ledger in the current round. The Railers rode outstanding performances from Harvey Randolph and John Giovannelli to a 5-2 triumph over Karlsen Pharmacy.

Sports Chalet, in stopping Jeffery Lanes, did it at Jeffery with some fine balance again. No one had a 600 for the Sports, but Dave Catherwood had 596 and three others were in the 560s. Jeffery, which lost no game by more than 39 pins in the match, had a 609 from Don Christensen for its best.

The Buick men — at their home Rolling Meadows Bowl — trotted out even more impressive balance in their blanking of Morton. No one was lower than Al Haase's 573, while Al Jordan with 611 and Norb Leja with 600 even were the best. Morton gained its best from George White, with 583, and didn't get close in any of the games as Buick rolled a healthy 2948 team series.

PIONEER AND CITY Welding traded good and bad games in their series, but because the Welders had two of the good ones, they won the meeting. Pioneer actually had the best single game of the series, when it won the second game 1006-870.

But City Welding, behind Bill Smith's 599, had the best of it. For Pioneer, George Schmidt rolled 610 in defeat, including one game of 253.

The best individual game of the night — and the PCTL season — came as The Brass Rail stopped Karlsen Pharmacy at Striking Lanes. It was a 278 from Harvey Randolph, and it started him on the way to a 683 series, one of the season's best. John Giovannelli, who had a 259 game in his total, ended with 666 for the victors.

Karlsen was not disgraced however, for the losers still had one team game over 1000 and a team series of 2857. And Joe Simonis added a 635 series to boost himself back into the league's individual average lead. Morton's Bob Glaser had dipped with a 537 series.

This Saturday, in position night at Beverly Lanes, it'll be that showdown between Sports Chalet and Bill Cook Buick; a third place struggle between Brim's Pioneer and Morton Pontiac; City Welding vs. Jeffery Lanes; and Karlsen Pharmacy against The Brass Rail in a rematch.

THE STANDINGS:

Sports Chalet	39
Bill Cook Buick	33

Steve's Awaits Lattof

Ladies' Units In Showdown

There's going to be a big shoot-out—make that bowl-out—in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League this Saturday evening.

Steve's Restaurant and Lattof Chevrolet—currently sparring 1-2 in the PWCTL — are to meet head-on in the evening's action at Beverly Lanes.

DONNA REINHARDT

The showdown was set up last Saturday, as Steve's clutched a lead that dwindled to one point. The Restaurant girls stopped Rolling Meadows Bowl —still a menace itself—by a 3-1 count. At the same time, Lattof was blanking Striking Lanes 4-0 to push to a step behind Steve's. In the other half of the league, River Rand Bowl applied the 3-1 treatment to Morton Pontiac to escape the cellar and put Morton there.

THERE WERE moments Saturday night when Steve's probably wondered if it was going to keep its supremacy. Rolling Meadows Bowl opened up with a brisk 928 game that bested Steve's by 100 pins, and featured a 222 from Jean Ladd and a 214 from Esther Hugo.

But RMB plunged after that while Steve's kept its level, in the process picking up the remaining three points. Ann Neumann led the winners with 535, but Harriet Fuchs of RMB was best of all in the clash with 536.

Lattof was gifted with a good night to meet Striking Lanes, because the Striking ladies had an evening of almost pure disaster. Only one of them—Jean Ladd with 508—ended over 500 after three games, and the team's best game was an 836.

DONNA REINHARDT, with a 224 game in the total, paced the Lattof assault. She had a 590 series, best of the night in the league. It was that 224 that insured the shutout for her team, as it came in the second game when Lattofs nipped the losers by eight pins.

River Rand's ascent was directed by Ethel Juenger, who rolled a 561 total. The victors had a fairly easy time of it in winning games one and three, and lost the second by 37. Nancy Dietz, who led Morton with a 526, saved her best game—a 187—for game two and helped Morton to its one point.

This Saturday, besides the Steve's-Lattof grappling, there will be a struggle between deadlocked River Rand and Striking Lanes, and Rolling Meadows Bowl will seek to gain on the struggling leaders by meeting Morton Pontiac.

Railers Win First of 2nd Round

Chalet Wins Another; Position Night Ahead

It may be getting time to ask that question in the Paddock Classic Traveling League: who can catch Concourse Sports Chalet?

The Sports moved in for a share of the PCTL's top on January 22, and they've had it to themselves since the weekend after that. They stayed there this past Saturday, in fact plumping their margin to six points by clouting Jeffery Lanes 7-0.

Since this weekend's action will mark the halfway mark in the league's second round, the question about catching Chalet seems in order.

One team that could do the catching — in Saturday's position night play at Beverly Lanes — is Bill Cook Buick. Buick, back up to second in the PCTL, edged in there with a 7-0 effort of its own over Morton Pontiac.

Brim's Pioneer Lanes, which had been running in tandem with Sports Chalet, slipped to third with a 5-2 setback from City Welding Sales and Service.

THERE WAS some big news and noise from the bottom of the stack, where The Brass Rail — champions of the first round — finally entered the victory ledger in the current round. The Railers rode outstanding performances from Harvey Randolph and John Giovannelli to a 5-2 triumph over Karlsen Pharmacy.

Sports Chalet, in stopping Jeffery Lanes, did it at Jeffery with some fine balance again. No one had a 600 for the Sports, but Dave Catherwood had 596 and three others were in the 560s. Jeffery, which lost no game by more than 39 pins in the match, had a 609 from Don Christensen for its best.

The Buick men — at their home Rolling Meadows Bowl — trotted out even more impressive balance in their blanking of Morton. No one was lower than Al Haase's 573, while Al Jordan with 611 and Norb Leja with 600 even were the best. Morton gained its best from George White, with 583, and didn't get close in any of the games as Buick rolled a healthy 2948 team series.

PIONEER AND CITY Welding traded good and bad games in their series, but because the Welders had two of the good ones, they won the meeting. Pioneer actually had the best single game of the series, when it won the second game 1006-870.

But City Welding, behind Bill Smith's 599, had the best of it. For Pioneer, George Schmidt rolled 610 in defeat, including one game of 253.

The best individual game of the night — and the PCTL season — came as The Brass Rail stopped Karlsen Pharmacy at Striking Lanes. It was a 278 from Harvey Randolph, and it started him on the way to a 683 series, one of the season's best. John Giovannelli, who had a 259 game in his total, ended with 666 for the victors.

Karlsen was not disgraced however, for the losers still had one team game over 1000 and a team series of 2857. And Joe Simonis added a 635 series to boost himself back into the league's individual average lead. Morton's Bob Glaser had dipped with a 537 series.

This Saturday, in position night at Beverly Lanes, it'll be that showdown between Sports Chalet and Bill Cook Buick; a third place struggle between Brim's Pioneer and Morton Pontiac; City Welding vs. Jeffery Lanes; and Karlsen Pharmacy against The Brass Rail in a rematch.

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

Old Timer—

Although most dog owners recognize that puppies require more care than when they are grown, it is not always realized that elderly canines are just as much in need of special attention.

When your pet begins to show gray around his muzzle, when he becomes less interested in play and likes to take frequent naps, there are many ways in which you can help him enjoy a ripe old age. Older dogs, like elderly people, are happiest in their regular routine. They lack the ability to adapt themselves to changes in environment and habits. The aged pet should be taken for walks along the same routes, his food dish and water bowl should be kept in the same place and his bed should be comfortably soft and shielded from cold drafts.

Grooming should be kept up with a daily brushing; if he has a long coat, make sure all the snarls are out. Nails should be clipped and his ears should be kept clear of excess wax. If he begins to shake his head and paw at his ears, as if they hurt, have your veterinarian check them. Ear problems in older dogs can often prove to be quite serious and they should be attended to at once.

One important point, and one which humans are often concerned about in their own day to day living, your dog's waistline is just as important to him. With the reduction of the metabolic rate that occurs in old age and with lessened activity, the older dog's caloric requirements are less. However, Gaines Research advises that the diet should still be a complete one and that the new soft-moist foods now on the market will provide a complete and balanced diet.

By the way, a rule of thumb used by most dog breeders, relative to a dog's age as compared to a human, is that a dog at one year is about equivalent to seven in a human. A dog at 10 is, therefore, an "Old Timer."

Dognapping—

This subject has been brought up before and bears repeating from time to time. Many people lose their dog, not because he has strayed, but because he was picked up by a very lucrative organization which deals in stolen dogs.

Estimates run as high as 50 million dollars a year in the stolen dog traffic. The number of dogs amounts to perhaps two million, of which most end up in other states, and in many cases with faked papers.

A few points to remember are never to let your dog stray from your yard without you knowing it. If you have a good purebred dog in a run or kennel, don't leave the house without making sure that kennel doors are locked. A favorite stunt for the people who pick up dogs is to check at the front door and see if anyone is home. If not, they just go to the kennel, open it if it is not locked, and pick up the dog.

Educational Materials—

The Pet Food Institute has released a list of material available from its members, showing various booklets and films which can be had by contacting the companies involved.

These items range from care of puppies to dog show equipment supplies. You can obtain this list by contacting Pet Food Institute, 333 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Barks & Bays—

Writing about old dogs makes this editor reflect a bit—the family beagle, "Tally," is over 12 and still thinks she is only 2. She proves it when you play and run with her.

Wheeling Jayvees Suffer 47-43 Loss

The Wheeling JV basketball unit ended the 1965-66 cage season on a losing note, as it dropped a close 47-43 home court decision to Maine West in last Friday night's preliminary game.

The junior Wildcats stayed close to Maine West during the whole contest. With approximately five minutes left in the final quarter Wheeling's Jay Newman tied the score at 39-39. However, two minutes later Maine West had regained the lead 45-39, aided by some Wildcat errors.

With a little over one minute left in the game Newman again came through with a basket on a steal to bring Wheeling within two points 45-43. However, Phil Murdock put the Warriors four points out in front with 37 seconds left on a pair of free throws, 47-43, and that was the end of the scoring.

Wheeling ended the season with a 3-7 MSL record and a 5 win and 11 loss record over-all. High scorer in the game was Maine West's Murdock with 16 points. Newman had 13 to lead Wheeling.

Maine West finished with a 7-3 Mid Suburban League standard and an 8-8 season record.

Prospect's Gymnasts Capture Mid-Suburban League Crown

The winner and still champion . . .

One year ago Prospect gymnasts won the Mid-Suburban League title. They again grabbed that honor position last Saturday.

In the conference meet the Knights got 110.5 points and took first. Combined with their first in dual meet standings that gave the charges of coach Rick Farris the championship.

Wheeling, which hosted the M-SL affair, gave the leaders a battle. The 'Cats got 107 points for second and were also number two in duals to finish as runner-up in the over-all standings.

THOSE TWO top teams took six of seven firsts in the league meet.

For Prospect, Rick Carr won on the trampoline, Bruce Cole on the side horse and Bruce Boult on the horizontal bar. Bowker took the rings, Greg Shorenden the parallel bars and Dick Dyson tumbling for headman Wayne Selvig's Wheeling entry.

Only other high spot went to Conant's Gary Funke. He was best in the all-around event for the Cougars, who were third with 49 points and third in duals.

Ending fourth in final Mid-Suburban rankings was Maine West. Palatine and Forest View closed in a deadlock for fifth.

POINTS IN the meet were awarded on a basis of 11 for first, nine for second, eight for third, etc. Scores for each performer, which determined his place and team points, came from the combined totals from two judges with 200 points being a perfect score.

By event, the varsity M-SL gymnastics action developed as follows:

TRAMPOLINE

Prospect picked up its most team points here, 21, with a first, fifth and seventh. Cole's 160, on two 80's, gave him the top spot while number five was Ken Barr at 120 and seven was Jim Anderson at 114. COACH RICK FARRIS
Another Title For Prospect

Wildcats' Thinclads Beat Prospect 53-47

Led by Steve Zasadny, Wheeling triumphed 53-47 over Prospect in an indoor track meet staged last week.

A height of 12 feet, three inches gave Zasadny a first in the pole vault and also a new school record for the event. He also was best in the high jump with a leap of five feet, eight inches.

Another school record for the 'Cats was set by Jim Lisafeld. The junior speedster turned in a 5.5 for the 50 yard dash to take first and establish the mark.

Leading the Knights' efforts was senior Jack Pollard. He won the 880 yard run in 2:01.0 and the mile in 4:43.1. Pollard also took a second in the 50 at 5.9. His 880 time was a new Prospect field house record.

OTHER FIRSTS for Wheeling went to Jon Lemerende, with a heave of 42 feet, 11½ inches; Bill Lytle, with a 56.6 in the 440; Tom Paturalski, at 7.7 in the low hurdles and the four lap relay team.

Vaughn Pederson, with an 8.2 timing in the high hurdles and 7.7 to tie Paturalski in the lows; Leroy Rateike, with a leap of 19 feet, one inch in the broad jump; and the mile relay team, clocked at 3:56.7 took other firsts for Prospect. Phil Cordina took a trio of runner-up spots for the Knights with seconds in the shot, high jump and pole vault.

Getting seconds for Wheeling were Bob Bromley, Paul Fiegen, Jim Humphries and Doug Steinman. Bromley ended number two in the high hurdles while similar positions went to Fiegen in the 880, Humphries in the 440 and Steinman in the mile.

At the sophomore level the Wildcats also won. The final tally there found the Knights on the short end of a 60-40 score.

Taking firsts for Wheeling's sophs were Tom Johann, Coe Meyer, Tom Nelson, Bob Malsin and the four-lap relay team. Johann won the high and low hurdles, Meyer the 50 yard dash and broad jump while Nelson and Malsin tied for pole vault honors.

BEST FOR Prospect at the soph level were Steve Holmes, Bob Benoche, Dan Ducey, Jeff Schneider and the mile relay team. Holmes won the 880 and mile while Benoche took the 440, Ducey the high jump and Schneider the shot put.

In a freshmen division meet the Knights were overwhelmed by the 'Cats 66-33.

Mike Mitchell led the frosh winners with firsts in the 50 yard dash, high jump and broad jump. Nick Silvestri, John Lytle, Bob Buerger and Jeff Minikel also won for Wheeling as did the four lap relay team. Best for Prospect was Paulson with firsts in two events.

Arlington Jayvees Win Title

Arlington's junior-varsity Cardinals wrapped up the West Suburban Conference championship Saturday morning with a resounding 93-77 victory over York.

Coach Al Allen's outfit broke on top fast and coasted in with its seventh straight victory and eighth in nine league encounters.

Arlington's only conference loss was a two-point decision to LaGrange in early January.

Jim Bressler fired in 24 points to pace the Cardinal assault against York. Bressler had eight baskets and eight free throws.

Steve Conley collected 21 and George Bergstrom 19 for the winners.

Arlington enjoyed a 48-35 lead at halftime.

Allen's Cards finished the season with a 10-3 record, winning three straight, losing three straight, and then running off a string of seven successes.

Arlington also won the junior-varsity football title in the West Suburban.

Severns Beaten In State Mat Action

This year's state meet wrestling competition was tough, very tough. Just ask Forest View's Mike Severns.

Severns was the lone Paddock area entry to advance to the Illinois grappling finals last weekend in Evanston. He wrestled at 180 pounds.

In his first bout Severns met John Imrie of Hinsdale Central. Imrie won 6-4 and eventually took second place at the weight class. Then Severns was shut out 4-0 by Ron Ponticore of Niles East who finished fourth.

BEST AT 180 pounds was Bob Melville from Waukegan. He topped Imrie 6-3 for the title. Melville's school took four of 12 individual firsts and team honors by a 65-26 margin over runner-up Wheaton Central.

Including his two closing setbacks, Severns over-all season match record for the Falcons was 20-6. He was the first FV matman ever to make the state finals.

"I have nothing but praise for Severns," said Forest View coach Hal Henson. At 172 pounds he was a light 180-pounder but he still did very well for us all season. When you consider that four 1965 champs were defeated this year it shows what a high calibre of wrestling Severns ran into in the state meet."

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

Old Timer—

Although most dog owners recognize that puppies require more care than when they are grown, it is not always realized that elderly canines are just as much in need of special attention.

When your pet begins to show gray around his muzzle, when he becomes less interested in play and likes to take frequent naps, there are many ways in which you can help him enjoy a ripe old age. Older dogs, like elderly people, are happiest in their regular routine. They lack the ability to adapt themselves to changes in environment and habits. The aged pet should be taken for walks along the same routes, his food dish and water bowl should be kept in the same place and his bed should be comfortably soft and shielded from cold drafts.

Grooming should be kept up with a daily brushing; if he has a long coat, make sure all the snarls are out. Nails should be clipped and his ears should be kept clear of excess wax. If he begins to shake his head and paw at his ears, as if they hurt, have your veterinarian check them. Ear problems in older dogs can often prove to be quite serious and they should be attended to at once.

One important point, and one which humans are often concerned about in their own day to day living, your dog's waistline is just as important to him. With the reduction of the metabolic rate that occurs in old age and with lessened activity, the older dog's caloric requirements are less. However, Gaines Research advises that the diet should still be a complete one and that the new soft-moist foods now on the market will provide a complete and balanced diet.

By the way, a rule of thumb used by most dog breeders, relative to a dog's age as compared to a human, is that a dog at one year is about equivalent to seven in a human. A dog at 10 is, therefore, an "Old Timer."

Dognapping—

This subject has been brought up before and bears repeating from time to time. Many people lose their dog, not because he has strayed, but because he was picked up by a very lucrative organization which deals in stolen dogs.

Estimates run as high as 50 million dollars a year in the stolen dog traffic. The number of dogs amounts to perhaps two million, of which most end up in other states, and in many cases with faked papers.

A few points to remember are never to let your dog stray from your yard without you knowing it. If you have a good purebred dog in a run or kennel, don't leave the house without making sure that kennel doors are locked. A favorite stunt for the people who pick up dogs is to check at the front door and see if anyone is home. If not, they just go to the kennel, open it if it is not locked, and pick up the dog.

Educational Materials—

The Pet Food Institute has released a list of material available from its members, showing various booklets and films which can be had by contacting the companies involved.

These items range from care of puppies to dog show equipment supplies. You can obtain this list by contacting Pet Food Institute, 333 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Barks & Bays—

Writing about old dogs makes this editor reflect a bit—the family beagle, "Tally," is over 12 and still thinks she is only 2. She proves it when you play and run with her.

Wheeling Jayvees Suffer 47-43 Loss

The Wheeling JV basketball unit ended the 1965-66 cage season on a losing note, as it dropped a close 47-43 home court decision to Maine West in last Friday night's preliminary game.

The junior Wildcats stayed close to Maine West during the whole contest. With approximately five minutes left in the final quarter Wheeling's Jay Newman tied the score at 39-39. However, two minutes later Maine West had regained the lead 45-39, aided by some Wildcat errors.

With a little over one minute left in the game Newman again came through with a basket on a steal to bring Wheeling within two points 45-43. However, Phil Murdock put the Warriors four points out in front with 37 seconds left on a pair of free throws, 47-43, and that was the end of the scoring.

Wheeling ended the season with a 3-7 MSL record and a 5 win and 11 loss record over-all. High scorer in the game was Maine West's Murdock with 16 points. Newman had 13 to lead Wheeling.

Maine West finished with a 7-3 Mid Suburban League standard and an 8-8 season record.

Knights' Cagers

Prospect lower level basketball teams closed their season with games against New Trier last Saturday. The Knights lost two and won one.

In soph competition Prospect was beaten 78-65 to finish the season with a 7-7 record while the Knights frosh A unit ended also at 7-7 after being downed 45-41 by NT. Lone closing victory went to the frosh B squad which came out on top 54-51 and turned in a 10-3 record.

Prospect's Gymnasts Capture Mid-Suburban League Crown

The winner and still champion . . .

One year ago Prospect gymnasts won the Mid-Suburban League title. They again grabbed that honor position last Saturday.

In the conference meet the Knights got 110.5 points and took first. Combined with their first in dual meet standings that gave the charges of coach Rick Farris the championship.

Wheeling, which hosted the M-SL affair, gave the leaders a battle. The 'Cats got 107 points for second and were also number two in duals to finish as runner-up in the over-all standings.

THOSE TWO top teams took six of seven firsts in the league meet.

For Prospect, Rick Carr won on the trampoline, Bruce Cole on the side horse and Bruce Boult on the horizontal bar. Bowker took the rings, Greg Shorenden the parallel bars and Dick Dyson tumbling for headman Wayne Selvig's Wheeling entry.

Only other high spot went to Conant's Gary Funke. He was best in the all-around event for the Cougars, who were third with 49 points and third in duals.

Ending fourth in final Mid-Suburban rankings was Maine West. Palatine and Forest View closed in a deadlock for fifth.

POINTS IN the meet were awarded on a basis of 11 for first, nine for second, eight for third, etc. Scores for each performer, which determined his place and team points, came from the combined totals from two judges with 200 points being a perfect score.

By event, the varsity M-SL gymnastics action developed as follows:

TRAMPOLINE

Prospect picked up its most team points here, 21, with a first, fifth and seventh. Cole's 160, on two 80's, gave him the top spot while number five was Ken Barr at 120 and seven was Jim Anderson at 114. Wayne Coats, with a 156, was second for the 'Cats, Maine's Larry Scully third at 151 and Mike Damore, of FV, fourth at 147.

team points here, 21, with a first, fifth and seventh. Cole's 160, on two 80's, gave him the top spot while number five was Ken Barr at 120 and seven was Jim Anderson at 114. Wayne Coats, with a 156, was second for the 'Cats, Maine's Larry Scully third at 151 and Mike Damore, of FV, fourth at 147.

HIGH BAR

Three teams, Maine West, Prospect and Wheeling each got 14 points in horizontal bar action. Boult's 69, 74, 143 got him first for the Knights who also got an eighth on Dane Jennings' 113. The Wildcats got a third and fifth from Bob Johnson and Fred Hudson who received 134 and 125 ratings respectively. MW's Jim Nerius, 137, and Ron Sass, 120, were second and sixth. The Cougars' Funke was fourth at 128.

Wildcats' Thinclads Beat Prospect 53-47

Led by Steve Zasadny, Wheeling triumphed 53-47 over Prospect in an indoor track meet staged last week.

A height of 12 feet, three inches gave Zasadny a first in the pole vault and also a new school record for the event. He also was best in the high jump with a leap of five feet, eight inches.

Another school record for the 'Cats was set by Jim Lisafeld. The junior speedster turned in a 5.5 for the 50 yard dash to take first and establish the mark.

Leading the Knights' efforts was senior Jack Pollard. He won the 880 yard run in 2:01.0 and the mile in 4:43.1. Pollard also took a second in the 50 at 5.9. His 880 time was a new Prospect field house record.

OTHER FIRSTS for Wheeling went to Jon Lemerende, with a heave of 42 feet, 11½ inches; Bill Lytle, with a 56.6 in the 440; Tom Paturalski, at 7.7 in the low hurdles and the four lap relay team.

Vaughn Pederson, with an 8.2 timing in the high hurdles and 7.7 to tie Paturalski in the lows; Leroy Rateike, with a leap of 19 feet, one inch in the broad jump; and the mile relay team, clocked at 3:56.7 took other firsts for Prospect. Phil Cordina took a trio of runner-up spots for the Knights with seconds in the shot, high jump and pole vault.

Getting seconds for Wheeling were Bob Bromley, Paul Fiegen, Jim Humphries and Doug Steinman. Bromley ended number two in the high hurdles while similar positions went to Fiegen in the 880, Humphries in the 440 and Steinman in the mile.

At the sophomore level the Wildcats also won. The final tally there found the Knights on the short end of a 60-40 score.

Taking firsts for Wheeling's sophs were Tom Johann, Coe Meyer, Tom Nelson, Bob Malsin and the four-lap relay team. Johann won the high and low hurdles, Meyer the 50 yard dash and broad jump while Nelson and Malsin tied for pole vault honors.

BEST FOR Prospect at the soph level were Steve Holmes, Bob Benoche, Dan Ducey, Jeff Schneider and the mile relay team. Holmes won the 880 and mile while Benoche took the 440, Ducey the high jump and Schneider the shot put.

In a freshmen division meet the Knights were overwhelmed by the 'Cats 66-33.

Mike Mitchell led the frosh winners with firsts in the 50 yard dash, high jump and broad jump. Nick Silvestri, John Lytle, Bob Buerger and Jeff Minikel also won for Wheeling as did the four lap relay team. Best for Prospect was Paulson with firsts in two events.

Arlington Jayvees Win Title

Arlington's junior-varsity Cardinals wrapped up the West Suburban Conference championship Saturday morning with a resounding 93-77 victory over York.

Coach Al Allen's outfit broke on top fast and coasted in with its seventh straight victory and eighth in nine league encounters.

Arlington's only conference loss was a two-point decision to LaGrange in early January.

Jim Bressler fired in 24 points to pace the Cardinal assault against York. Bressler had eight baskets and eight free throws.

Steve Conley collected 21 and George Bergstrom 19 for the winners.

Arlington enjoyed a 48-35 lead at halftime.

Allen's Cards finished the season with a 10-3 record, winning three straight, losing three straight, and then running off a string of seven successes.

Arlington also won the junior-varsity football title in the West Suburban.

Severns Beaten In State Mat Action

This year's state meet wrestling competition was tough, very tough. Just ask Forest View's Mike Severns.

Severns was the lone Paddock area entry to advance to the Illinois grappling finals last weekend in Evanston. He wrestled at 180 pounds.

In his first bout Severns met John Imrie of Hinsdale Central. Imrie won 6-4 and eventually took second place at the weight class. Then Severns was shut out 4-0 by Ron Ponticore of Niles East who finished fourth.

BEST AT 180 pounds was Bob Melville from Waukegan. He topped Imrie 6-3 for the title. Melville's school took four of 12 individual firsts and team honors by a 65-26 margin over runner-up Wheaton Central.

Including his two closing setbacks, Severns over-all season match record for the Falcons was 20-6. He was the first FV matman ever to make the state finals.

"I have nothing but praise for Severns," said Forest View coach Hal Henson. At 172 pounds he was a light 180-pounder but he still did very well for us all season. When you consider that four 1965 champs were defeated this year it shows what a high calibre of wrestling Severns ran into in the state meet."

Prospect's Quintet Ties For M-SL's Cage Title

by MICHAEL HESS

It took 24 hours to learn the outcome.

Last Friday, Prospect cagers topped Palatine 66-49. The winners thus ended Mid-Suburban League play with a 9-1 record.

Not until the next evening, however, did the Knights learn where in conference standings they had finished. Coach Dick Kinneman's five had entered the final league weekend tied for first with Forest View.

PAUL PETERSON
Closes Title Effort

Then, on Saturday, FV beat Conant and also closed at 9-1 in the M-SL. Their identical won-lost standards left Prospect and the Falcons deadlocked for the Mid-Suburban championship.

THE PIRATES wound-up 5-5 in conference and were third. At 3-7 the Cougars were fourth while Wheeling and Maine West tied for fifth at 2-8.

Opening their contest with Palatine, the Knights wasted no time settling the issue. They raced to a 17-7 first quarter margin and were up 36-22 at the intermission. The gap never was smaller than 10 in the second half.

Tom Lundstedt was high scorer in the game. Prospect's center hit for 28 to take the M-SL point title with 186. Only other in double figures for the Knights was Tony Kulasa with 16.

Best for Palatine was Jerry McCormick. He totaled 18 while 12 and 10 points were put in by Mike Ferguson and Dave Willy. McCormick ended third in the league with 148 points, Willy fourth at 132.

KULASA BEGAN THE game for Prospect by connecting from the corner. Lundstedt tapped in a goal and Kulasa drove for two points before McCormick made the score 6-1 with a foul shot.

In quick succession Knights Craig Wolf and Dan Agard made free throws, Lundstedt a lay-up and foul toss and Kulasa a 15-footer. With just 1:28 remaining in the first quarter McCormick made another at the line and Prospect was ahead 15-2.

McCormick made two 20-footers and Randy McWilliams a foul shot for Palatine before period two started. Lundstedt added another goal for the leaders and the tally was 17-7.

The second quarter was a big one for Lundstedt. He sank 12 of his team's 19 points on three of six from the floor and six of seven at the line. McCormick continued his long-range blasting for the Pirates and was aided by three goals from Ferguson.

TOTALS AT intermission were 36-22. Palatine had performed well in the first half. But, the quintet of headman Bud Mueller just couldn't keep up with the Knights, who appeared to have shaken a slump which had slowed their progress during the last six weeks.

The Pirates best period was the third. Three more goals by Ferguson and a pair from McCormick gave them a 15-12 edge during the quarter. Palatine made seven of 12 from the floor plus one free throw to more than off-set twin buckets from both Kulasa and J. D. Thorne.

Through the last eight minutes of action Lundstedt made seven more Prospect points. His production was matched by Willy. With 4:20 left Willy's six-footer brought the Pirates to within 10 of the lead, at 55-45. That was as close as it got.

Over the closing four minutes Prospect got just one more goal, a Lundstedt lay-up, but made nine of nine at the line. Willy's lay-up and a pair of free throws by McWilliams were Palatine's only output before the end. With five seconds left and subs in for both sides, a pair of foul shots by Paul Peterson closed Knights' scoring and set final totals.

THE LINE WAS a very productive place for Prospect in the last M-SL battle. The Knights, with Lundstedt making 10 of 11, put in 22 of 27 attempts (81.5 per cent) on their charity tosses. Palatine hit just nine of 19 (47.4 per cent).

From the floor the winners connected on 22 of 53 (41.5 per cent) and the losers 20 of 46 (43.5 per cent).

That the game was well played by both quintets is indicated by the fact that the combined turnovers total was only 24. The Pirates, their overall record dropped to 10-12, had 10 and Prospect, then 18-4 for the season, had 14.

3rd Knight Title

The Mid-Suburban League hoop title shared by Prospect this season is the third conference basketball championship in the school's history. In the old Interim League the Knights shared 1959-60 honors with East Leyden and then took an undisputed title in 1960-61. Dick Kinneman was also the coach of both those quintet champs.

With Win Over Lions

Cards Gain Highest West Suburban Slot

By BOB FRISK

They held a farewell party at Arlington High School last Friday evening.

LaGrange was the special guest as Arlington said goodbye to West Suburban Conference basketball.

It was a dramatic affair, ragged at times but still exciting.

PETE BARKER
A Steal . . .

BRUCE HUBBARD
A Basket . . .

Arlington nailed down its highest finish in 15 years of West Suburban firing with a heart-stopping 65-63 victory as senior Bruce Hubbard scored from in front with three seconds remaining.

The triumph was Arlington's ninth this season and 79th in history in West Suburban Conference play. The Cardinals, who had never finished higher than third in the league, wound up in second with the win over LaGrange.

A STEAL BY senior guard Pete Barker with one minute remaining opened the door for Hubbard's last-second heroics.

With the score tied at 63-all and LaGrange on the attack, Barker stepped in to swipe the basketball at midcourt.

Fifty-seven seconds later, after Arlington had called two timeouts for strategy sessions, Hubbard, the rugged 6-6 senior forward, went high from in front of the basket to push through the decisive goal.

Hubbard collared the rebound after Steve Allen fired a shot from the side of the basket.

LaGrange called a timeout but couldn't equalize Hubbard's basket in the concluding three seconds.

COACH TED Wissen's host Cardinals shot out on top 8-3 in the first three minutes Friday, but the Lions ran off eight straight points in two minutes. LaGrange held a 21-15 advantage after one quarter.

The visitors, seeking revenge after a 64-49 loss to Arlington in January, didn't let up the pressure in the second period and at one time led by ten points, 31-21, before the Cards flurried on the work of 6-6 junior Jim Donchess.

Donchess, who had 22 points for his varsity high, hit two baskets in the final 40 seconds, and the Cards trailed by only six points at the intermission.

THE CARDS slipped behind by eight points midway in the third quarter and then went to work. Donchess initiated the rush with a free throw and basket and in two minutes Arlington had regained the lead.

Barker hit from the side, Donchess banked one in from about five feet, and Allen dashed down the floor for a layup after LaGrange had kicked the ball around. Allen's layup gave Arlington a 44-43 advantage.

The two clubs were deadlocked at 49-all heading into the final period after 6-5 Bill Van Dyke and Rich Martin hit for the Lions in the closing seconds.

NO MORE than two points separated the adversaries in the hectic windup as the tension mounted.

With 2:33 remaining and the score tied 61-61 LaGrange called a timeout.

When play resumed Al Botkin fired a shot from 13 feet that failed to connect. Hubbard pulled down the rebound for Arlington and was fouled in the scramble.

The 6-6 Arlington forward replied to the pressure situation with two successful free throws, and the Cards were back on top by two points.

LaGrange's Bob Wintermute answered Hubbard with two charity throws of his own at 1:45. The issue was still in doubt.

Donchess and Jorgensen put up shots for Arlington with Jorgensen's effort going in and out. LaGrange covered the rebound and started down the floor.

Arlington's Barker halted the advance . . .

Slams Conant 62-35

FV JV Quint In MSL Title

The party was on Bob Rees Saturday night.

Though the setting was no more lavish than a locker room and the cuisine no more resplendent than soda and cake, no one in attendance had a complaint. For Rees' Forest View junior varsity basketball players had moments before powered their way to an undisputed Mid-Suburban league basketball title.

The Falcons went into their Saturday night game with the knowledge that Prospect had faltered the night before, falling to Palatine and ending with a 7-3 league mark. Rees' FV JVs might have been expected to be tight then, knowing a defeat of Conant would give it all to them, an 8-2 mark and the unobstructed title.

THEY WERE anything but tight. Even the reserves were hot as Forest View charged to a 62-35 finish over the Cougars. The lead mounted steadily as the game progressed, reaching 33 points difference on one occasion.

Even after Rees phased out his regulars, the Falcons dominated the play with energetic ball-handling, good shooting and pressing defense. In addition to their 8-2 conference mark, they closed out a 14-4 campaign over-all.

The Cougars, who dropped their 10th straight in the league had few occasions for cheer. What solace there was came late in the game when—in a bizarre outburst — the losers fired in eight points in 20 seconds. It came with four thefts of the ball and consecutive baskets by Harley Youngmeyer, Chris Shadwell, Larry Robertson and Walt Rieble.

But the rest of the game was all Forest View's. The Falcons' big scoring threat — Ted Lambert — led everyone again with 26 points. Frank Calvello added 11 and Bob Arnold nine, but most of the Falcons had a piece of the action.

Big One Didn't Get Away . . .

FV Wins Title Tie; Stops Conant 66-60

by KEN KNOX

Because he is a fisherman as well as a basketball coach, Ken Arneson surely has heard enough of the tales of "the big one that got away."

He also must know the simple truths of such tales: the big ones either never existed at all, or they were allowed to get away by the man who was in control.

JIM BAUMGARDT
27 Points

Ken Arneson—in his role as basketball coach—went after a genuine big one Saturday night, and he landed it.

The prize was no trophy from the watery depths, but an equal portion of the Mid-Suburban League basketball title. The pressure of the quest was immense, for Arneson—and his Forest View Falcons — knew there was only one way to land the prize. Meeting Conant's Cougars at Hoffman Estates, they had to win.

Prospect's Knights, the MSL's other remaining pretenders to the throne, had won the night before. Thus, if the Falcons were to get even a share of their first conference basketball title, backing in would not do. They had to beat—and they did—a Conant crew that no longer had anything to lose. The final, after a prolonged skirmish, was 66-60.

THE DELAYED conclusion of the MSL campaign left Forest View with nine wins against a single loss. That, of course, was equal to Prospect, so the two divided the booty.

Rol Berg's Cougars ended the league activity at 3-7, which—because of Wheeling's loss to Maine West the evening before—left them an undisputed fourth in the MSL. It also marked the conclusion of the 1965-66 campaign for Conant, because it was removed from state tournament play with a loss in its own district last Thursday. The Cougars closed the books at 7-16 over-all.

Gigantic in victory, again, was Forest View's rejuvenated 6-5 center Jim Baumgardt. Hero of the Falcons' showdown with Prospect the week before, Baumgardt was indomitable once more in a pressure game. Solid defensively and rebounding, he also won a duel with Conant's 6-7 Larry Powell and everyone else on the floor by dumping in 27 points. He had 20 of them in the second half, and produced many of them—truthfully — when the Falcons needed them.

ARNESON, Baumgardt and crew went after the big one in proven fashion. They sank the hook quickly and hard, then held on against a thrashing, churning struggle until the Cougars were finally stilled.

The Falcons ran up a 19-9 first quarter advantage, chiefly by cashing in on a fusillade of fouls assessed against Conant. The official whistle-blowing—which gave Forest View 13 chances from the line—bordered on the ridiculous by quarter's end. Even the mildest of contact was under scrutiny, and by the time that stanza had finished, Conant had been slapped 10 times, Forest View three.

It was an advantage for the Falcons, and they took it. The assessments produced seven charity points for them, and more importantly, halted any rhythm and momentum Conant was building.

THE COUGARS, with both sides pressing furiously on defense and offense, had actually worked to a 6-3 lead by 5:40 of the quarter. Then the shrill notes began to fill the gym, and Forest View moved.

The Falcons went to their biggest lead of the game at the start of the second quarter, when Byron Borgardt popped in another FV free throw to make it 20-9. Then things began to go the other way. The quarry on the line began to fight, and once in each of the last three quarters threatened to snap free. In all three cases, the Falcons gave too much slack on the line, and barely held on. The Cougars would never lead again, but would several times cut the margin to a basket or less.

Fouls were again a factor in the second period, but then whistles were directed against Forest View. The Falcons were stabbed with six, while Conant had but one. The Cougars took advantage of that, and of the fact that Baumgardt sat out the last 4:47 with three fouls, to rule the quarter 14-7. Bill Lunebach, Dick Helmer and Powell did all the Conant scoring, and the difference was cut to 24-23 with less than a minute to go when Powell put in a fancy backward shot under the basket and Helmer drove in. Jeff Grismer, subbing for Baumgardt, made it 26-23 FV at the half by breaking free all alone under the basket with 10 seconds to go.

THE SCORING tempo increased in period three, and two factors keyed it. Conant's long-shooting John Glasshof, completely shut off in the first half, mostly by the furious hounding of Borgardt, began to break loose. But so did Baumgardt, especially when the Cougar's big Powell had to look on from the bench with four fouls.

Baumgardt and Pat Dunnigan—who himself had only four points in the first half—shot FV into a 33-24 advantage. Then Glasshof, with a 25-footer, started a surge that cut it to 33-32. Al Ramsey and John Fabing, sent in from the bench by Berg, hit two quick buckets to reduce it to one.

But Borgardt and Dunnigan put the Falcons back up by four, and then Baumgardt went on a spree with seven points in the last two and a half minutes, the shorter Cougars unable to halt him. Two long field goals by Glasshof kept Conant close 45-40 at the third quarter buzzer.

PERIOD FOUR was ablaze with 41 points ruffling the nets, 21 by Forest View. Powell had returned for Conant, but by then, Baumgardt was unstoppable. He cashed in 10 more points, eight in succession as Forest View built back to a nine-point bulge at 55-46. Two were on free throws, as FV hit 11 of 12 in the tense stretch.

Still Conant came back. Lunebach—who had eight points in the period and 16 for the night to lead the balanced Conant assault—started it with a long jumper. That was at 4:37, and only Dunnigan scored for FV from then until 1:53 as Conant cut things to 57-55. Glasshof, Powell and Walt Riley—who sat out much of the game for fouls and offensive mistakes—put in the points for Conant.

The game's last crucial moments came then, and they revolved around Borgardt. Fouled first by Riley, then by Glasshof in a 22 second stretch, he converted three of four free throws into a 60-55 lead. Both sides fired away after that, with Howie Brasch hitting for Forest View and Lunebach for Conant just before the gun.

The Falcons had landed their prize, and even if it was shared, it was their first basketball title. The Cougars, for their part, could take solace in the knowledge that they went out not with a whimper, but a growl.

"We've been working toward this goal for four seasons," stated Forest View cage coach Ken Arneson. His quintet had just clinched a tie with Prospect for the first Mid-Suburban League basketball championship in school history.

"These boys have delivered when the chips were down," continued Arneson. "They knew what they had to do to get the title because Prospect had won the night before. That put a lot of extra pressure on them but we still won. Everyone on the team deserves a lot of credit."

Grove Frosh Lose a Pair

A 4-13 won-lost standard was compiled by Elk Grove frosh A cagers as a result of their 41-36 setback at the hands of Niles West last Saturday.

In that season ending contest EG fell behind 10-5 after one quarter, stayed close at the half, 19-15, and took a 30-28 lead after three periods. However a [illegible]-6 deficit in the final quarter brought defeat.

High scorer for the Grenadiers in their final '65-'66 effort was Gary Pleickhardt. He tossed in five goals and nine free throws for 19 points. Tom Klemens added 10 markers for the losers and Gregg Peterson had three.

Best point average for the season among coach Ken Grams Grove frosh A's belongs to Joe Kalisz. He averaged 12.4 points per game while Pleickhardt averaged 11.5, Peterson 5.0, Ray Davidson 4.5, Steve Bentall 3.5 and Klemans 3.5.

At the B level Elk Grove was also beaten by Niles. The tally there was 57-27 which left EG with a 2-11 mark under headman Ken Runquist.

Prospect's Quintet Ties For M-SL's Cage Title

by MICHAEL HESS

It took 24 hours to learn the outcome.

Last Friday, Prospect cagers topped Palatine 66-49. The winners thus ended Mid-Suburban League play with a 9-1 record.

Not until the next evening, however, did the Knights learn where in conference standings they had finished. Coach Dick Kinneman's five had entered the final league weekend tied for first with Forest View.

PAUL PETERSON
Closes Title Effort

Then, on Saturday, FV beat Conant and also closed at 9-1 in the M-SL. Their identical won-lost standards left Prospect and the Falcons deadlocked for the Mid-Suburban championship.

THE PIRATES wound-up 5-5 in conference and were third. At 3-7 the Cougars were fourth while Wheeling and Maine West tied for fifth at 2-8.

Opening their contest with Palatine, the Knights wasted no time settling the issue. They raced to a 17-7 first quarter margin and were up 36-22 at the intermission. The gap never was smaller than 10 in the second half.

Tom Lundstedt was high scorer in the game. Prospect's center hit for 28 to take the M-SL point title with 186. Only other in double figures for the Knights was Tony Kulasa with 16.

Best for Palatine was Jerry McCormick. He totaled 18 while 12 and 10 points were put in by Mike Ferguson and Dave Willy. McCormick ended third in the league with 148 points, Willy fourth at 132.

3rd Knight Title

The Mid-Suburban League hoop title shared by Prospect this season is the third conference basketball championship in the school's history. In the old Interim League the Knights shared 1959-60 honors with East Leyden and then took an undisputed title in 1960-61. Dick Kinneman was also the coach of both those quintet champs.

KULASA BEGAN THE game for Prospect by connecting from the corner. Lundstedt tapped in a goal and Kulasa drove for two points before McCormick made the score 6-1 with a foul shot.

In quick succession Knights Craig Wolf and Dan Agard made free throws, Lundstedt a lay-up and foul toss and Kulasa a 15-footer. With just 1:28 remaining in the first quarter McCormick made another at the line and Prospect was ahead 15-2.

McCormick made two 20-footers and Randy McWilliams a foul shot for Palatine before period two started. Lundstedt added another goal for the leaders and the tally was 17-7.

The second quarter was a big one for Lundstedt. He sank 12 of his team's 19 points on three of six from the floor and six of seven at the line. McCormick continued his long-range blasting for the Pirates and was aided by three goals from Ferguson.

TOTALS AT intermission were 36-22. Palatine had performed well in the first half. But, the quintet of headman Bud Mueller just couldn't keep up with the Knights, who appeared to have shaken a slump which had slowed their progress during the last six weeks.

The Pirates best period was the third. Three more goals by Ferguson and a pair from McCormick gave them a 15-12 edge during the quarter. Palatine made seven of 12 from the floor plus one free throw to more than off-set twin buckets from both Kulasa and J. D. Thorne.

Through the last eight minutes of action Lundstedt made seven more Prospect points. His production was matched by Willy. With 4:20 left Willy's six-footer brought the Pirates to within 10 of the lead, at 55-45. That was as close as it got.

Over the closing four minutes Prospect got just one more goal, a Lundstedt lay-up, but made nine of nine at the line. Willy's lay-up and a pair of free throws by McWilliams were Palatine's only output before the end. With five seconds left and subs in for both sides, a pair of foul shots by Paul Peterson closed Knights' scoring and set final totals.

THE LINE WAS a very productive place for Prospect in the last M-SL battle. The Knights, with Lundstedt making 10 of 11, put in 22 of 27 attempts (81.5 per cent) on their charity tosses. Palatine hit just nine of 19 (47.4 per cent).

From the floor the winners connected on 22 of 53 (41.5 per cent) and the losers 20 of 46 (43.5 per cent).

That the game was well played by both quintets is indicated by the fact that the combined turnovers total was only 24. The Pirates, their overall record dropped to 10-12, had 10 and Prospect, then 18-4 for the season, had 14.

With Win Over Lions

Cards Gain Highest West Suburban Slot

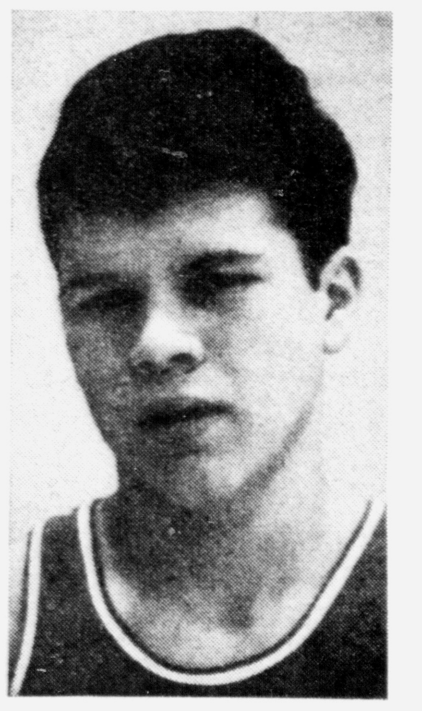
By BOB FRISK

They held a farewell party at Arlington High School last Friday evening.

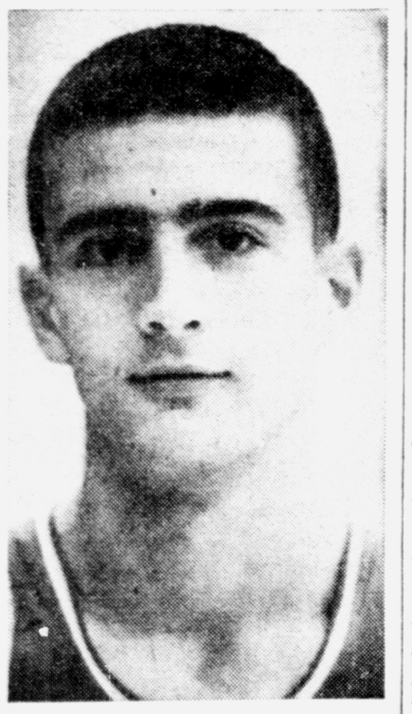
LaGrange was the special guest as Arlington said goodbye to West Suburban Conference basketball.

It was a dramatic affair, ragged at times but still exciting.

Arlington nailed down its highest finish in 15 years of West Suburban firing with a heart-stopping 65-63 victory as senior Bruce Hubbard scored from in front with three seconds remaining.



PETE BARKER
A Steal . . .



BRUCE HUBBARD
A Basket . . .

The triumph was Arlington's ninth this season and 79th in history in West Suburban Conference play. The Cardinals, who had never finished higher than third in the league, wound up in second with the win over LaGrange.

A STEAL BY senior guard Pete Barker with one minute remaining opened the door for Hubbard's last-second heroics.

With the score tied at 63-all and LaGrange on the attack, Barker stepped in to swipe the basketball at midcourt.

Fifty-seven seconds later, after Arlington had called two timeouts for strategy sessions, Hubbard, the rugged 6-6 senior forward, went high from in front of the basket to push through the decisive goal.

Hubbard collared the rebound after Steve Allen fired a shot from the side of the basket.

LaGrange called a timeout but couldn't equalize Hubbard's basket in the concluding three seconds.

COACH TED Wissen's host Cardinals shot out on top 8-3 in the first three minutes Friday, but the Lions ran off eight straight points in two minutes. LaGrange held a 21-15 advantage after one quarter.

The visitors, seeking revenge after a 64-49 loss to Arlington in January, didn't let up the pressure in the second period and at one time led by ten points, 31-21, before the Cards flurried on the work of 6-6 junior Jim Donchess.

Donchess, who had 22 points for his varsity high, hit two baskets in the final 40 seconds, and the Cards trailed by only six points at the intermission.

THE CARDS slipped behind by eight points midway in the third quarter and then went to work. Donchess initiated the rush with a free throw and basket and in two minutes Arlington had regained the lead.

Barker hit from the side, Donchess banked one in from about five feet, and Allen dashed down the floor for a layup after LaGrange had kicked the ball around. Allen's layup gave Arlington a 44-43 advantage.

The two clubs were deadlocked at 49-all heading into the final period after 6-5 Bill Van Dyke and Rich Martin hit for the Lions in the closing seconds.

NO MORE than two points separated the adversaries in the hectic windup as the tension mounted.

With 2:33 remaining and the score tied 61-61 LaGrange called a timeout.

When play resumed Al Botkin fired a shot from 13 feet that failed to connect. Hubbard pulled down the rebound for Arlington and was fouled in the scramble.

The 6-6 Arlington forward replied to the pressure situation with two successful free throws, and the Cards were back on top by two points.

Big One Didn't Get Away . . .

FV Wins Title Tie; Stops Conant 66-60

by KEN KNOX

Because he is a fisherman as well as a basketball coach, Ken Arneson surely has heard enough of the tales of "the big one that got away."

He also must know the simple truths of such tales: the big ones either never existed at all, or they were allowed to get away by the man who was in control.

JIM BAUMGARDT
27 Points

Ken Arneson—in his role as basketball coach—went after a genuine big one Saturday night, and he landed it.

The prize was no trophy from the watery depths, but an equal portion of the Mid-Suburban League basketball title. The pressure of the quest was immense, for Arneson—and his Forest View Falcons — knew there was only one way to land the prize. Meeting Conant's Cougars at Hoffman Estates, they had to win.

Prospect's Knights, the MSL's other remaining pretenders to the throne, had won the night before. Thus, if the Falcons were to get even a share of their first conference basketball title, backing in would not do. They had to beat—and they did—a Conant crew that no longer had anything to lose. The final, after a prolonged skirmish, was 66-60.

THE DELAYED conclusion of the MSL campaign left Forest View with nine wins against a single loss. That, of course, was equal to Prospect, so the two divided the booty.

Rol Berg's Cougars ended the league activity at 3-7, which—because of Wheeling's loss to Maine West the evening before —left them an undisputed fourth in the MSL. It also marked the conclusion of the 1965-66 campaign for Conant, because it was removed from state tournament play with a loss in its own district last Thursday. The Cougars closed the books at 7-16 over-all.

Gigantic in victory, again, was Forest View's rejuvenated 6-5 center Jim Baumgardt. Hero of the Falcons' showdown with Prospect the week before, Baumgardt was indomitable once more in a pressure game. Solid defensively and rebounding, he also won a duel with Conant's 6-7 Larry Powell and everyone else on the floor by dumping in 27 points. He had 20 of them in the second half, and produced many of them—truthfully — when the Falcons needed them.

ARNESON, Baumgardt and crew went after the big one in proven fashion. They sank the hook quickly and hard, then held on against a thrashing, churning struggle until the Cougars were finally stilled.

The Falcons ran up a 19-9 first quarter advantage, chiefly by cashing in on a fusillade of fouls assessed against Conant. The official whistle-blowing—which gave Forest View 13 chances from the line—bordered on the ridiculous by quarter's end. Even the mildest of contact was under scrutiny, and by the time that stanza had finished, Conant had been slapped 10 times, Forest View three.

It was an advantage for the Falcons, and they took it. The assessments produced seven charity points for them, and more importantly, halted any rhythm and momentum Conant was building.

THE COUGARS, with both sides pressing furiously on defense and offense, had actually worked to a 6-3 lead by 5:40 of the quarter. Then the shrill notes began to fill the gym, and Forest View moved.

First FV Title

"We've been working toward this goal for four seasons," stated Forest View cage coach Ken Arneson. His quintet had just clinched a tie with Prospect for the first Mid-Suburban League basketball championship in school history.

"These boys have delivered when the chips were down," continued Arneson. They knew what they had to do to get the title because Prospect had won the night before. That put a lot of extra pressure on them but we still won. Everyone on the team deserves a lot of credit."

The Falcons went to their biggest lead of the game at the start of the second quarter, when Byron Borgardt popped in another FV free throw to make it 20-9. Then things began to go the other way. The quarry on the line began to fight, and once in each of the last three quarters threatened to snap free. In all three cases, the Falcons gave too much slack on the line, and barely held on. The Cougars would never lead again, but would several times cut the margin to a basket or less.

Fouls were again a factor in the second period, but then whistles were directed against Forest View. The Falcons were stabbed with six, while Conant had but one. The Cougars took advantage of that, and of the fact that Baumgardt sat out the last 4:47 with three fouls, to rule the quarter 14-7. Bill Lunebach, Dick Helmer and Powell did all the Conant scoring, and the difference was cut to 24-23 with less than a minute to go when Powell put in a fancy backward shot under the basket and Helmer drove in. Jeff Grismer, subbing for Baumgardt, made it 26-23 FV at the half by breaking free all alone under the basket with 10 seconds to go.

THE SCORING tempo increased in period three, and two factors keyed it. Conant's long-shooting John Glasshof, completely shut off in the first half, mostly by the furious hounding of Borgardt, began to break loose. But so did Baumgardt, especially when the Cougar's big Powell had to look on from the bench with four fouls.

Baumgardt and Pat Dunnigan—who himself had only four points in the first half—shot FV into a 33-24 advantage. Then Glasshof, with a 25-footer, started a surge that cut it to 33-32. Al Ramsey and John Fabing, sent in from the bench by Berg, hit two quick buckets to reduce it to one.

But Borgardt and Dunnigan put the Falcons back up by four, and then Baumgardt went on a spree with seven points in the last two and a half minutes, the shorter Cougars unable to halt him. Two long field goals by Glasshof kept Conant close 45-40 at the third quarter buzzer.

PERIOD FOUR was ablaze with 41 points ruffling the nets, 21 by Forest View. Powell had returned for Conant, but by then, Baumgardt was unstoppable. He cashed in 10 more points, eight in succession as Forest View built back to a nine-point bulge at 55-46. Two were on free throws, as FV hit 11 of 12 in the tense stretch.

Still Conant came back. Lunebach—who had eight points in the period and 16 for the night to lead the balanced Conant assault—started it with a long jumper. That was at 4:37, and only Dunnigan scored for FV from then until 1:53 as Conant cut things to 57-55. Glasshof, Powell and Walt Riley—who sat out much of the game for fouls and offensive mistakes—put in the points for Conant.

The game's last crucial moments came then, and they revolved around Borgardt. Fouled first by Riley, then by Glasshof in a 22 second stretch, he converted three of four free throws into a 60-55 lead. Both sides fired away after that, with Howie Brasch hitting for Forest View and Lunebach for Conant just before the gun.

The Falcons had landed their prize, and even if it was shared, it was their first basketball title. The Cougars, for their part, could take solace in the knowledge that they went out not with a whimper, but a growl.

Grove Frosh Lose a Pair

A 4-13 won-lost standard was compiled by Elk Grove frosh A cagers as a result of their 41-36 setback at the hands of Niles West last Saturday.

In that season ending contest EG fell behind 10-5 after one quarter, stayed close at the half, 19-15, and took a 30-28 lead after three periods. However a 13-6 deficit in the final quarter brought defeat.

High scorer for the Grenadiers in their final '65-'66 effort was Gary Pleickhardt. He tossed in five goals and nine free throws for 19 points. Tom Klemens added 10 markers for the losers and Gregg Peterson had three.

Best point average for the season among coach Ken Grams Grove frosh A's belongs to Joe Kalisz. He averaged 12.4 points per game while Pleickhardt averaged 11.5, Peterson 5.0, Ray Davidson 4.5, Steve Bentall 3.5 and Klemans 3.5.

At the B level Elk Grove was also beaten by Niles. The tally there was 57-27 which left EG with a 2-11 mark under headman Ken Runquist.

Honor 10 Players

Cards' Allen Named To League All-Stars

by BOB FRISK

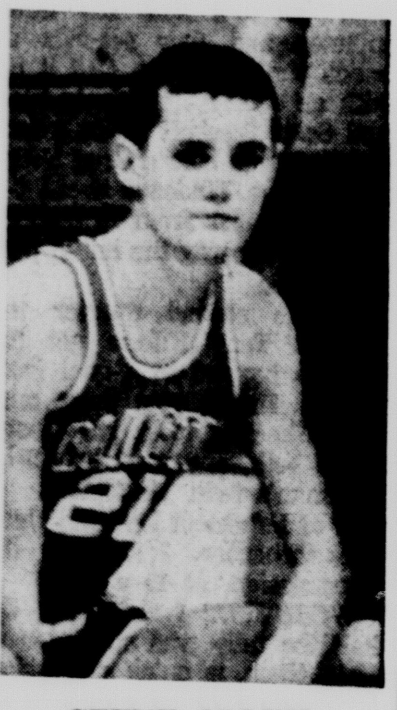
The basketball coaches agree with the football coaches.

Arlington High School's Steve Allen is an all-conference performer.

Allen, a 6-3 junior who earned all-league honors at quarterback in the fall, was the only Cardinal named to the West Suburban Conference all-star basketball team released yesterday (Wednesday) by the eight coaches.



STEVE ALLEN
More Honors

Ten players were named to the honor team with unbeaten league champion York showing three selections.

LaGRANGE and Downers Grove picked up two berths and Arlington, Riverside-Brookfield, and Hinsdale had one each. Glenbard West and Maine East were blanked.

Allen was one of three juniors honored by the coaches. Other third-year boys named were league scoring champion Parker Wellington of Hinsdale and Downers Grove sharpshooter Rick Howat.

Allen, who alternated between forward and guard, tossed in 256 points in 14 conference games, an 18.3 average. He had a high of 27 against LaGrange and was checked below double figures in only one league outing.

ALLEN'S 256 points represented the third best single season effort by an Arlington player in West Suburban play. Gorege Bork had the top mark with 276 in 1959-60 and Tom Jacobsen had 268 in 1956-57. Bork and Jacobsen were conference scoring champions.

WSC All-Stars

Allen (Arlington)	6- 3
Saunders (York)	6- 8
Fiene (York)	6- 1
Reese (York)	6- 0
Van Dyke (LaGrange)	6- 5
Martin (LaGrange)	5-10
Klecka (Riverside)	6- 3
Wellington (Hinsdale)	6- 2
Bocker (Downers)	6- 5
Howat (Downers)	6- 1

Allen finished fifth in league scoring, 27 points behind the leader. In two seasons of conference play Steve scored 381 points for a 13.6 per game average.

Allen was also a stickout in the assists department, repeatedly setting up easy baskets with sharp passes.

Presenting the other all-stars:

LARRY SAUNDERS—The 6-8 York center, who could pick off some All-State honors this season, missed the conference scoring title by two points. Larry bagged 292 in 14 outings for a 20.9 average with a high of 37 against Glenbard West in the finale. Saunders was a ferocious rebounder and standout on defense.

SCOTT FIENE—This jumping-jack York forward was the 10th best scorer in the West Suburban, a consistent performer who could be counted on in the clutch. Fiene's best game in league play was a 24-point contribution against LaGrange. He averaged 14.9 in the conference.

NED REESE—The quarterback of York's powerful attack was this 6-1 senior. Ned was the 14th best league scorer with 175 points. An excellent passer and defensive performer, Reese was the steadying influence on the high-flying Dukes.

BILL VAN DYKE—A 6-5 senior, Van Dyke was a rugged man both in the scoring department and on the boards. He hit for 250 points in 14 conference affairs with a high of 32 against Downers Grove North.

RICH MARTIN—A lightning-fast 5-10 senior, Martin possessed a fine touch from outside and quick hands. He popped in 163 points in league action with a high of 19 against Riverside-Brookfield.

JOEL KLECKA—Riverside's 6-3 senior forward played three years with the varsity, scoring 274 league points. Joel missed four conference games this season with a broken ankle but showed a 13.1 average with a high of 22 against LaGrange.

PARKER WELLINGTON—Wellington, a 6-2 junior, won the league scoring title with 293 points, passing York's Saunders with a 33-point explosion in his final game. Wellington had scored 186 conference points as a soph with the varsity and now finds himself 410 points shy of a career mark in West Suburban play. Parker has good moves around the basket and a nice touch from 10-15 feet out.

BUD BOCKER—Bocker tied for the conference scoring title as a junior with 254 points and collected 265 this season but finished fourth. Bocker, a 6-5 center, was never held below double figures in the league with a high of 29 against Glenbard West.

RICK HOWAT—The hottest shooter in the league over the final half was this 6-1 Downers Grove junior. Howat scored 114 points in seven first half games and 158 in the concluding seven. He had nine or more baskets in eight West Suburban games and bombed LaGrange with 33 points. Howat averaged 24.2 over his final six WSC games.

Arlington Gymnasts Take Varsity Crown

Make room for another trophy in that bulging Arlington High School trophy case.

Arlington's varsity gymnasts, a frequent contributor through the years to the hardware collection at the school, added a West Suburban Conference award last Friday evening.

Coach Tom Walthouse's unbeaten squad, favored to rule the varsity alignment in the league headliner, didn't disappoint their followers at Maine East, piling up 139½ points in the seven-team meet.

Host Maine East, showing a strong squad, posted 103½ for second place and York was third with 87½. The four other units were far behind.

York did emerge with frosh-soph honors Saturday morning as they compiled 129½ points for a three-point advantage over runnerup Arlington.

The Conference championships are determined on the basis of both the league meet and dual record, but Arlington and York still grabbed the coveted first place awards. The Cards and Barons were unbeaten in dual meets.

Two versatile seniors paced Arlington in its varsity accomplishment at Maine.

Jim Johannesen paved the way with 36 points although Johannesen yielded the rugged all-around title to teammate Bert Schmitt. Bert collected 29 markers.

JOHANNESEN SCORED with a first on the horizontal bar (89-86), third on the parallel bars (82-80), second in tumbling (64-64), and third in the all-around (515 points).

Schmitt, a standout senior who has shared many runnerup honors behind Johannesen in the all-around, took home the top prize Friday with a 551 award.

Schmitt scored with a 116 on the side horse, 160 on the high bar (second), 148 on the parallel bar (fifth), and 127 on the still rings (eighth).

Wayne Lessner of York followed Schmitt in the all-around with a strong 166 on the parallel bars. Lessner had 543 total points to 551 for Schmitt and 515 for Johannesen.

TOM RIESING contributed 16½ points for Walthouse's champs with a second on the trampoline (70-75) and tie for third in tumbling (65-62).

Rick Atwater gave Arlington 11 markers thanks to a 120 routine on the trampoline (fifth) and 107 in tumbling (sixth).

Roy Rettburg had a 161 routine on the rings for second place and nine points, and he edged teammate Doug Dattilo who had 160 for third. Steve LeVan came through with a third on the side horse, showing a 145 routine which was only two points shy of second place.

Also scoring for the Arlington varsity were Hank Taylor with a fourth and Sam Cullison with a sixth on the side horse, sophomore Lee Brown with a sixth on the high bar, and Don Von Ebers with a sixth on the parallel bar.

WAYNE CROCKETT paced the Arlington frosh-sophs to their second place finish as he collected 38 points with a first on the parallel bars, second on the side horse, second in the all-around, sixth on the rings, and seventh on the high bar.

Crockett, who was hobbling on crutches the previous night, rebounded with a sparkling effort, missing the all-around title by only six points. Jim Gilbert of York was the winner with 351 points.

Freshman Jim Brousseau collected 17½ markers for Arlington with a tenth on the side horse, tie for second on the high bar, and third in the all-around.

GUY JESSOGNE added 16 points with a second in tumbling and fourth on the tramp, and Jack Finch came through with 15 as he placed second on the parallel bars and fifth on the rings.

Doug Atkins was also in double figures for the Cardinal frosh-sophs with a first on the side horse on a 99 routine.

Also scoring for the Arlington frosh-sophs were Dick Carlson with a fourth on rings, Terry Haines with a sixth on the trampoline, Gary Withey with an eighth on the high bar, Neil Suzuki with a tie for fifth on the parallel bars, Bob Ekstrand with a fifth in tumbling, and Bob Gleichman with a ninth in the all-around.

Chicagoland Prep League

Pomplun, Hogan on All-Star Cage Team

by BOB FRISK

PAUL POMPLUN
Mr. Inside

FRANK HOGAN
Mr. Outside

Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside of St. Viator High School were named to the 1965-66 Chicagoland Prep League all-star basketball squad released this week by the division coaches.

Paul Pomplun, the Lions' 6-7 senior center, and Frank Hogan, 5-11 junior guard, gained two of the ten positions on the Chicagoland honor team.

Pomplun was Mr. Inside, a shrewd operator under the basket who was red-hot over the final seven games of the conference campaign.

Hogan was Mr. Outside, a deadly shooter from 15-20 feet out.

Unanimous selections Tom Hunter and Sevira Brown of Chicago DeLaSalle and Dennis Stankiewicz of St. Ignatius head the Chicagoland all-stars with three teams landing two slots each.

DELASALLE, ST. Viator, and St. Patrick each picked up two positions. Gaining one were St. George, St. Mel, St. Ignatius, and St. Joseph.

CHICAGOLAND ALL-STARS

Hunter (DeLaSalle)	6- 5
Brown (DeLaSalle)	6- 4
Stankiewicz (St. Ignatius)	6- 2
Ryan (St. Mel)	5- 9
Miller (St. Joseph)	6- 4
Geist (St. George)	6- 4
Pomplun (St. Viator)	6- 7
Burke (St. Patrick)	6- 7
Hogan (St. Viator)	5-11
Martinez (St. Patrick)	6- 0

Ten boys, including St. Viator's Dan Collins, were named to the honorable mention list.

Pomplun's selection came as no surprise after the 6-7 senior tore apart the division with some impressive efforts over the final half. Pomplun had 83 points in his first seven league outings this winter and 151 over the final seven.

The lanky Lion tossed in 62 points in his final weekend doubleheader to climb into fifth place in the league scoring derby with 234 points, a 16.7 standard.

Pomplun had 30 or more points in three Chicagoland tilts. He hit St. Mel for 30 both times and collected 32 against St. Joseph.

Pomplun also turned in some strong games under the boards.

HOGAN HAD 112 first half points and 109 in the second half as he wound up league action with a 15.8 average.

The junior sharpshooter enjoyed his finest night when St. Viator shocked DeLaSalle by 17 points. He threw in 32 that time, hitting 12 of 17 shots from the floor.

Hogan was in double figures in 10 of his 14 conference appearances.

Presenting the other all-stars:

TOMMY HUNTER—This 6-5 De La Salle whiz looms as a possible All-Stater. A great jumper, Hunter didn't feature many exceptional nights on the attack because of the Meteor balance. He scored 219 league points with a high of 22 against St. Patrick. Hunter was a strong rebounder.

SEVIRA BROWN—Brown was DeLaSalle's top scorer in league play and the fourth best Chicagoland scorer with 263 points. Sevira's best nights came against St. George (28) and Holy Cross (27).

DENNIS STANKIEWICZ—Dennis tied for the league scoring title with 281 points in 14 games although he was held to only two markers in one outing. Knee problems bothered this St. Ignatius star, but he still came up with some strong performances, both in scoring and under the boards. His best night was a 32-point effort against St. Mel.

JOHNNY RYAN—Ryan tied Stankiewicz for the league scoring crown, concluding his conference season with a 34-point night against St. Viator. This St. Mel sharpshooter was never held under double figures and he hit 20 or better eight times.

TOM MILLER—An injury slowed down Miller midway in the league season, but the 6-4 St. Joseph star still finished with 199 points. Tom had a high of 27 against St. Ignatius, and he flipped in 25 in the season finale against St. Pat's.

DON GEIST—Geist was the third best point-producer in the Chicagoland with 271 points. A regular at St. George for four years, Don was a steady performer on the attack and under the boards. No club had much success stopping this rugged 6-4 senior who enjoyed his best night against St. Mel when he bombed in 34 points.

JOE BURKE—St. Pat's 6-7 center scored 211 points in 14 conference games with a high of 31 against St. Joseph. Burke was steady, a capable rebounder and scorer who could be counted on to deliver in the clutch.

CARLOS MARTINEZ—A star of the present and future is this St. Patrick sophomore. Martinez was as poised as a senior veteran as he worked in the backcourt for the Shampoints with a high of 25 against St. Ignatius.

Named to the honorable mention list were Collins of St. Viseoph, Dennis O'Toole of DeLaSalle, Ray Carski of St. George, Bob Fields of St. Mel, Tom Rice of St. Ignatius, John Lucas of St. Patrick, Don Olson of St. Joseph, Joe Gac of Holy Cross, and Mike Harrison of St. Mel.

Freshman Tourney To Open Saturday

The Fourth Annual Barrington Freshman Basketball Tournament will begin Saturday, at the Barrington High School gymnasium with four games on the schedule for opening day.

Action continues on Monday, March 7, with the championship semi-final games being played, followed by the consolation semi-final games on Tuesday, March 8.

FV's Soph Five Beats Glenbrook

A winning note sounded the end for Forest View soph cagers last Saturday.

The Falcons finished 1965-66 action by beating Glenbrook North 67-55. That left coach Rog Steingraber's charges with an overall record of 9-6.

"Our record was outstanding," said Steingraber, "considering that this same group was 6-12 as freshmen and the large number of injuries we've had. I'm very proud of these boys and the record they've established."

In that last contest with GN, Forest View moved into a 19-3 first quarter lead and was never threatened after that. Pacing FV efforts was Dennis Jones with six for 12 from the floor and seven of eight at the line for 19 points.

Behind Jones for the winners were Earl Thomas with 14 points and 15 rebounds, John Wester with 12 and Mike Messer with nine points and Kevin Grismer with 10 rebounds. Forest View as a team made 45 per cent from the floor (23 of 51), 72 per cent at the line (21 of 29) and pulled down 43 rebounds.

Norton 10th, Spears 18th In Swimming

John Norton of Prospect placed 10th in the 100 yard butterfly and Jim Spears of St. Viator landed an 18th position in the 100 breaststroke last weekend in the state swimming finals at Hinsdale South.

Spears had a 1:06.8 in his heat Friday of the breaststroke, one-tenth of a second slower than his best mark in the New Trier District.

Bruce Johnston of New Trier East won the breaststroke event with a 1:02.9 effort.

Under a new scoring system this year, the top 12 finishers in each event earned points for their schools.

New Trier East won the state title with 223½ points. Hinsdale was second with 211 and Evanston was third with 157½ as the "big three" of Illinois prep swimming again dominated the headliner.

Honor 10 Players

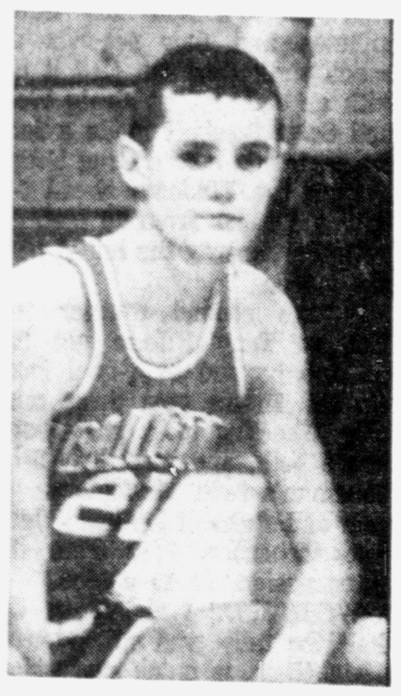
Cards' Allen Named To League All-Stars

by BOB FRISK

The basketball coaches agree with the football coaches.

Arlington High School's Steve Allen is an all-conference performer.

Allen, a 6-3 junior who earned all-league honors at quarterback in the fall, was the only Cardinal named to the West Suburban Conference all-star basketball team released yesterday (Wednesday) by the eight coaches.



STEVE ALLEN
More Honors

Ten players were named to the honor team with unbeaten league champion York showing three selections.

LaGRANGE and Downers Grove picked up two berths and Arlington, Riverside-Brookfield, and Hinsdale had one each. Glenbard West and Maine East were blanked.

Allen was one of three juniors honored by the coaches. Other third-year boys named were league scoring champion Parker Wellington of Hinsdale and Downers Grove sharpshooter Rick Howat.

Allen, who alternated between forward and guard, tossed in 256 points in 14 conference games, an 18.3 average. He had a high of 27 against LaGrange and was checked below double figures in only one league outing.

ALLEN'S 256 points represented the third best single season effort by an Arlington player in West Suburban play. Gorege Bork had the top mark with 276 in 1959-60 and Tom Jacobsen had 268 in 1956-57. Bork and Jacobsen were conference scoring champions.

WSC All-Stars

Allen (Arlington)	6- 3
Saunders (York)	6- 8
Fiene (York)	6- 1
Reese (York)	6- 0
Van Dyke (LaGrange)	6- 5
Martin (LaGrange)	5-10
Klecka (Riverside)	6- 3
Wellington (Hinsdale)	6- 2
Bocker (Downers)	6- 5
Howat (Downers)	6- 1

Allen finished fifth in league scoring, 27 points behind the leader. In two seasons of conference play Steve scored 381 points for a 13.6 per game average.

Allen was also a stickout in the assists department, repeatedly setting up easy baskets with sharp passes.

Presenting the other all-stars:

LARRY SAUNDERS—The 6-8 York center, who could pick off some All-State honors this season, missed the conference scoring title by two points. Larry bagged 292 in 14 outings for a 20.9 average with a high of 37 against Glenbard West in the finale. Saunders was a ferocious rebounder and standout on defense.

SCOTT FIENE—This jumping-jack York forward was the 10th best scorer in the West Suburban, a consistent performer who could be counted on in the clutch. Fiene's best game in league play was a 24-point contribution against LaGrange. He averaged 14.9 in the conference.

NED REESE—The quarterback of York's powerful attack was this 6-1 senior. Ned was the 14th best league scorer with 175 points. An excellent passer and defensive performer, Reese was the steadying influence on the high-flying Dukes.

BILL VAN DYKE—A 6-5 senior, Van Dyke was a rugged man both in the scoring department and on the boards. He hit for 250 points in 14 conference affairs with a high of 32 against Downers Grove North.

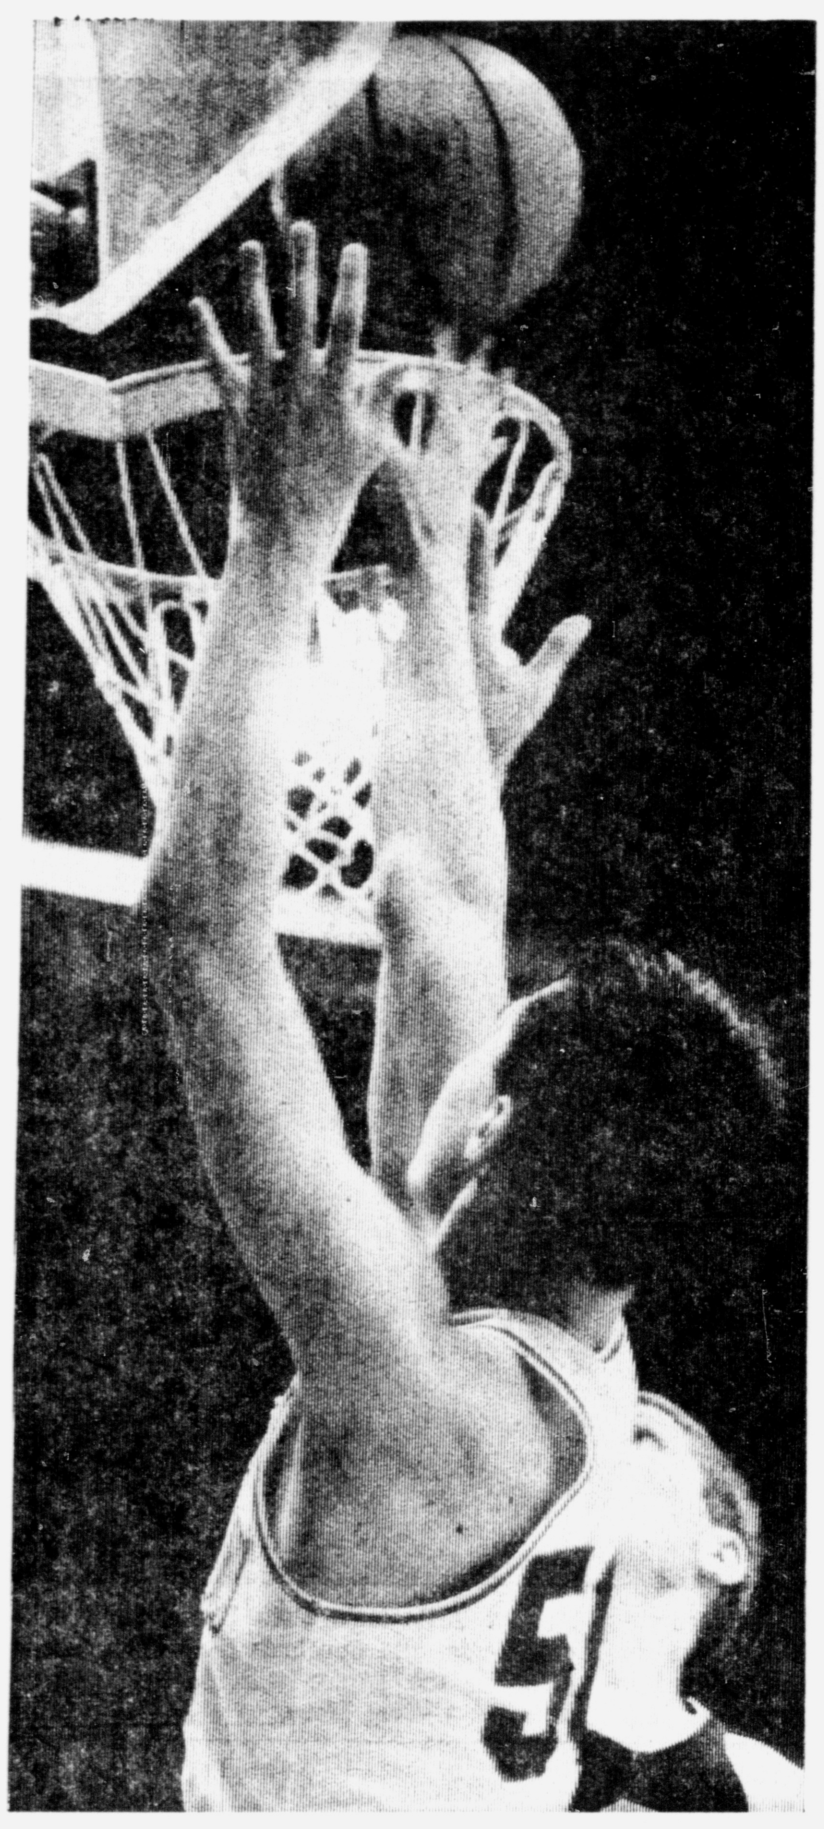
RICH MARTIN—A lightning-fast 5-10 senior, Martin possessed a fine touch from outside and quick hands. He popped in 163 points in league action with a high of 19 against Riverside-Brookfield.

JOEL KLECKA—Riverside's 6-3 senior forward played three years with the varsity, scoring 274 league points. Joel missed four conference games this season with a broken ankle but showed a 13.1 average with a high of 22 against LaGrange.

PARKER WELLINGTON—Wellington, a 6-2 junior, won the league scoring title with 293 points, passing York's Saunders with a 33-point explosion in his final game. Wellington had scored 186 conference points as a soph with the varsity and now finds himself 410 points shy of a career mark in West Suburban play. Parker has good moves around the basket and a nice touch from 10-15 feet out.

BUD BOCKER—Bocker tied for the conference scoring title as a junior with 254 points and collected 265 this season but finished fourth. Bocker, a 6-5 center, was never held below double figures in the league with a high of 29 against Glenbard West.

RICK HOWAT—The hottest shooter in the league over the final half was this 6-1 Downers Grove junior. Howat scored 114 points in seven first half games and 158 in the concluding seven. He had nine or more baskets in eight West Suburban games and bombed LaGrange with 33 points. Howat averaged 24.2 over his final six WSC games.



UP AND IN. Arlington High School's Jim Donchess goes high to drop in two of his 22 points last Friday in the varsity Cardinals' 65-63 victory over La Grange. Arlington Gymnasts Take Varsity Crown

Make room for another trophy in that bulging Arlington High School trophy case.

Arlington's varsity gymnasts, a frequent contributor through the years to the hardware collection at the school, added a West Suburban Conference award last Friday evening.

Coach Tom Walthouse's unbeaten squad, favored to rule the varsity alignment in the league headliner, didn't disappoint their followers at Maine East, piling up 139½ points in the seven-team meet.

Host Maine East, showing a strong squad, posted 103½ for second place and York was third with 87½. The four other units were far behind.

York did emerge with frosh-soph honors Saturday morning as they compiled 129½ points for a three-point advantage over runnerup Arlington.

The Conference championships are determined on the basis of both the league meet and dual record, but Arlington and York still grabbed the coveted first place awards. The Cards and Barons were unbeaten in dual meets.

Two versatile seniors paced Arlington in its varsity accomplishment at Maine.

Jim Johannesen paved the way with 36 points although Johannesen yielded the rugged all-around title to teammate Bert Schmitt. Bert collected 29 markers.

JOHANNESEN SCORED with a first on the horizontal bar (89-86), third on the parallel bars (82-80), second in tumbling (64-64), and third in the all-around (515 points).

Schmitt, a standout senior who has shared many runnerup honors behind Johannesen in the all-around, took home the top prize Friday with a 551 award.

Schmitt scored with a 116 on the side horse, 160 on the high bar (second), 148 on the parallel bar (fifth), and 127 on the still rings (eighth).

Wayne Lessner of York followed Schmitt in the all-around with a strong 166 on the parallel bars. Lessner had 543 total points to 551 for Schmitt and 515 for Johannesen.

TOM RIESING contributed 16½ points for Walthouse's champs with a second on the trampoline (70-75) and tie for third in tumbling (65-62).

Rick Atwater gave Arlington 11 markers thanks to a 120 routine on the trampoline (fifth) and 107 in tumbling (sixth).

Roy Rettburg had a 161 routine on the rings for second place and nine points, and he edged teammate Doug Dattilo who had 160 for third. Steve LeVan came through with a third on the side horse, showing a 145 routine which was only two points shy of second place.

Also scoring for the Arlington varsity were Hank Taylor with a fourth and Sam Cullison with a sixth on the side horse, sophomore Lee Brown with a sixth on the high bar, and Don Von Ebers with a sixth on the parallel bar.

WAYNE CROCKETT paced the Arlington frosh-sophs to their second place finish as he collected 38 points with a first on the parallel bars, second on the side horse, second in the all-around, sixth on the rings, and seventh on the high bar.

Crockett, who was hobbling on crutches the previous night, rebounded with a sparkling effort, missing the all-around title by only six points. Jim Gilbert of York was the winner with 351 points.

Freshman Jim Brousseau collected 17½ markers for Arlington with a tenth on the side horse, tie for second on the high bar, and third in the all-around.

GUY JESSOGNE added 16 points with a second in tumbling and fourth on the tramp, and Jack Finch came through with 15 as he placed second on the parallel bars and fifth on the rings.

Doug Atkins was also in double figures for the Cardinal frosh-sophs with a first on the side horse on a 99 routine.

Also scoring for the Arlington frosh-sophs were Dick Carlson with a fourth on rings, Terry Haines with a sixth on the trampoline, Gary Withey with an eighth on the high bar, Neil Suzuki with a tie for fifth on the parallel bars, Bob Ekstrand with a fifth in tumbling, and Bob Gleichman with a ninth in the all-around.

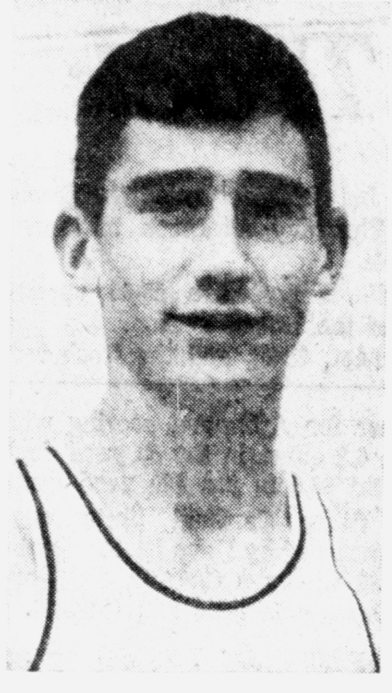
Chicagoland Prep League

Pomplun, Hogan on All-Star Cage Team

by BOB FRISK

Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside of St. Viator High School were named to the 1965-66 Chicagoland Prep League all-star basketball squad released this week by the division coaches.



PAUL POMPLUN
Mr. Inside

FRANK HOGAN
Mr. Outside

Paul Pomplun, the Lions' 6-7 senior center, and Frank Hogan, 5-11 junior guard, gained two of the ten positions on the Chicagoland honor team.

Pomplun was Mr. Inside, a shrewd operator under the basket who was red-hot over the final seven games of the conference campaign.

Hogan was Mr. Outside, a deadly shooter from 15-20 feet out.

Unanimous selections Tom Hunter and Sevira Brown of Chicago DeLaSalle and Dennis Stankiewicz of St. Ignatius head the Chicagoland all-stars with three teams landing two slots each.

DELASALLE, ST. Viator, and St. Patrick each picked up two positions. Gaining one were St. George, St. Mel, St. Ignatius, and St. Joseph.

CHICAGOLAND ALL-STARS

Hunter (DeLaSalle)	6- 5
Brown (DeLaSalle)	6- 4
Stankiewicz (St. Ignatius)	6- 2
Ryan (St. Mel)	5- 9
Miller (St. Joseph)	6- 4
Geist (St. George)	6- 4
Pomplun (St. Viator)	6- 7
Burke (St. Patrick)	6- 7
Hogan (St. Viator)	5-11
Martinez (St. Patrick)	6- 0

Ten boys, including St. Viator's Dan Collins, were named to the honorable mention list.

Pomplun's selection came as no surprise after the 6-7 senior tore apart the division with some impressive efforts over the final half. Pomplun had 83 points in his first seven league outings this winter and 151 over the final seven.

The lanky Lion tossed in 62 points in his final weekend doubleheader to climb into fifth place in the league scoring derby with 234 points, a 16.7 standard.

Pomplun had 30 or more points in three Chicagoland tilts. He hit St. Mel for 30 both times and collected 32 against St. Joseph.

Pomplun also turned in some strong games under the boards.

HOGAN HAD 112 first half points and 109 in the second half as he wound up league action with a 15.8 average.

The junior sharpshooter enjoyed his finest night when St. Viator shocked DeLaSalle by 17 points. He threw in 32 that time, hitting 12 of 17 shots from the floor.

Hogan was in double figures in 10 of his 14 conference appearances.

Presenting the other all-stars:

TOMMY HUNTER—This 6-5 De La Salle whiz looms as a possible All-Stater. A great jumper, Hunter didn't feature many exceptional nights on the attack because of the Meteor balance. He scored 219 league points with a high of 22 against St. Patrick. Hunter was a strong rebounder.

SEVIRA BROWN—Brown was DeLaSalle's top scorer in league play and the fourth best Chicagoland scorer with 263 points. Sevira's best nights came against St. George (28) and Holy Cross (27).

DENNIS STANKIEWICZ—Dennis tied for the league scoring title with 281 points in 14 games although he was held to only two markers in one outing. Knee problems bothered this St. Ignatius star, but he still came up with some strong performances, both in scoring and under the boards. His best night was a 32-point effort against St. Mel.

JOHNNY RYAN—Ryan tied Stankiewicz for the league scoring crown, concluding his conference season with a 34-point night against St. Viator. This St. Mel sharpshooter was never held under double figures and he hit 20 or better eight times.

TOM MILLER—An injury slowed down Miller midway in the league season, but the 6-4 St. Joseph star still finished with 199 points. Tom had a high of 27 against St. Ignatius, and he flipped in 25 in the season finale against St. Pat's.

DON GEIST—Geist was the third best point-producer in the Chicagoland with 271 points. A regular at St. George for four years, Don was a steady performer on the attack and under the boards. No club had much success stopping this rugged 6-4 senior who enjoyed his best night against St. Mel when he bombed in 34 points.

JOE BURKE—St. Pat's 6-7 center scored 211 points in 14 conference games with a high of 31 against St. Joseph. Burke was steady, a capable rebounder and scorer who could be counted on to deliver in the clutch.

CARLOS MARTINEZ—A star of the present and future is this St. Patrick sophomore. Martinez was as poised as a senior veteran as he worked in the backcourt for the Shampoints with a high of 25 against St. Ignatius.

Named to the honorable mention list were Collins of St. Viseoph, Dennis O'Toole of DeLaSalle, Ray Carski of St. George, Bob Fields of St. Mel, Tom Rice of St. Ignatius, John Lucas of St. Patrick, Don Olson of St. Joseph, Joe Gac of Holy Cross, and Mike Harrison of St. Mel.

Under a new scoring system this year, the top 12 finishers in each event earned points for their schools.

Knights Top Two Levels

Cards Whip Prospect in Varsity Track

Arlington took varsity honors, but Prospect ruled the frosh-soph and frosh competition last Thursday afternoon in indoor track activity on the Knights' track.

Coach Bruce Samoore's Cardinals posted a 55-45 varsity victory in their first competition of the 1965-66 season.

Prospect won the frosh-soph meet, 55-36, and the frosh feature, 48-37.

Vaughn Pederson and Jack Pollard of Prospect and Steve Ewart of Arlington were double winners in the varsity headliner.

Pederson skimmed over the 60 yard high hurdles in 8.3 seconds and the 60 yard lows in 7.6. Pollard won the 880 in 2:06, the mile run in 4:38.7, and finished second in the 50 yard dash behind Ewart.

EWART FLASHED a 5.8 clocking in the 50 to nip Pollard at the wire. Steve also came back for a 55 second effort in the 440 yard dash.

The victorious Arlington team had four other winners. The Cards took the 880 yard relay in 1:46 and the mile relay in 3:50.4, and Kim Markshausen and Tom Hahn topped individual events.

Markshausen tossed the shot 46 feet three inches for an Arlington first, and Hahn cleared 5-6 in the high jump.

In addition to Pollard and Pederson, other Knights firsts were claimed by Phil Cordina in the pole vault (12 feet) and Leroy Rateike in the broad jump (19-4½).

DAN DUCEY registered three firsts in leading Prospect to a 19-point frosh-soph victory.

Ducey won the 60 yard high high hurdles in 10.1, the 60 yard lows in 8.6, and the high jump at five feet four inches.

Other Prospect winners in the individual events were Jeff Schneider in the shot put (40-8½), and Bob Benoche in the broad jump (16-4).

Terry Pitts was a double winner for Arlington, scoring with a 6.2 effort in the 50 yard dash and 60.0 in the 440 yard dash.

Other Cardinal firsts were garnered by Dave Dieters in the 880 yard run (2:14.5), and Rory Cassidy in mile run (5:00.5).

PROSPECT PICKED up six firsts en route to a 48-37 frosh victory over Arlington.

Knight winners were Carter in the 880 yard run (2:24), Brauchle in the 440 yard dash (61.0), Paulson in the low hurdles (9.5), Bach in the mile run (5:22), and Wulbecker in the broad jump (15-3½).

Knights JV Quintet Beaten by Palatine

First place slid out of sight last weekend.

Prospect JV cagers had been in a first place, Mid-Suburban League tie with Forest View. Both carried 7-2 conference marks.

Then, on Friday, the Knights lost 55-46 to Palatine.

FV. ON Saturday, whipped Conant and won the M-SL title. Prospect slipped into second with Maine West, each at 7-3. The Pirates, at 5-5, finished fourth.

That Friday affair found Palatine rushing off to a 12-6 first quarter advantage. Dave Freeman and Dick Smith, with two buckets apiece, led the charge. Knights Mike Anderson and Dan Carda made all their team's markers.

In period two Freeman and Smith continued to pace the Pirates. Freeman connected on a pair of goals while Smith got one goal and three free throws. They were aided by two driving lay-ups from teammate John Ekeberg. Nine Prospect points were put in by Tom Grafton.

At the intermission Palatine was on top 28-15. The leaders had hit 12 of 23 from the floor as the Knights were making just five of 20.

AN 11-8 THIRD quarter margin put the Pirates in front 39-23. Fred Sanborn's six points gave Palatine its biggest lead of the game and the gap remained at 16 until only 4:30 remained in the contest.

Tom Walters and Butch Leonard helped rally Prospect. Each contributed six points to a 23 point burst in the final quarter. However, their comeback still left the Knights five behind, at 45-40, with 2:42 left. During the next two minutes both teams added four to their total.

With 43 seconds showing on the clock a pair of foul shots by Fred Bahn lifted the Pirates seven ahead, at 51-44. Smith made two at the line with 29 seconds remaining. Those charity tosses decided the issue.

Palatine's Smith was high scorer in the game. He hit six of 15 from the floor and six of seven free throws for 18 points. Freeman and Sanborn added 10 apiece for the winners who made 48.9 per cent (21 of 43) of their goal tries and 13 of 20 (65 per cent) at the line.

GRAFTON, WITH 12, and Anderson, with 11, paced Prospect's point makers. Carda had seven for the losers who made 17 of 45 (37.8 per cent) from the floor and 60 per cent (12 of 20) at the line.

For the season the Pirates, coached by Chuck Johannson, compiled a 7-10 record. The Knights, under Don Arseneau, finished at 14-4.

Track Standouts

Northwestern's track twins — senior distance stars Craig Boydston and Lee Assenheimer — have given notice that they'll be putting school and conference records in jeopardy again this year. In their first meet of 1966 — the Chicago Invitational — they finished one-two in the two-mile event. Boydston ran it in 9:07.4, Assenheimer in 9:09, both well under Lee's old school record of 9:14.7.

Maine West Triumphs

'Cats Tamed, 67-59 In Final League Tilt

by MARV PRELLBERG, JR.

Maine West's varsity basketball team took some of the recently developed ferociousness out of the Wheeling Wildcats last Friday night, when it journeyed into the Wheeling High arena and tamed the Cats by earning a hard fought 67-59 victory.

On the previous weekend Wheeling had given itself a new image in Mid-Suburban League cage circles by upsetting Palatine and Conant. This enabled Coach Mike Owens' charges to leave the cellar position all to Maine West.

If this feeling of loneliness was incentive enough for the Warriors to bounce off the bottom and bring the Wheeling five back down to the cellar level is only a matter of speculation. However, whatever the reasons, Coach Gaston Freeman's quintet undoubtedly saved its finest season performance for the regular season finale.

MAINE WEST WAS behind for a good portion of the game but never let the Wildcats take a commanding margin. When the Warriors made their move in the third period to take over the lead, they did so with authority.

The Maine five strangely did not lead in a couple of the important statistics department, but its all-around performance was tops. The Warriors shot at a 53 per cent slip from the field, hitting on 24 of 45 attempts. Wheeling scored two less field goals but had a better shooting percentage record — 56 per cent.

From the free throw lane the Wildcats outshot the Warriors percentage-wise, 79 per cent, to 56 per cent. Where Wheeling fell down was in the ball-handling and passing department.

Maine West only lost possession of the ball approximately a half-dozen times due to court infractions and missed passes. The Wildcats turned the ball over to Maine West some 19 times because of turnover errors. This enabled the visitors to fire up six more field goal attempts than Wheeling, and led the Wildcats into some needless fouling in their efforts to regain possession of the ball.

INDIVIDUALLY IT was a story of two fine efforts by Maine West's little Ken Mueller and Wheeling's Tom Neuckranz. Both regulars sparkled in sharing the game's high point honors with 23 each.

Mueller was a big factor in Maine's last half resurgence, getting 15 of his total during the final two quarters. Neuckranz always seemed to come up with a key tally which kept the Wildcats in the contest until the final 42 seconds.

TOM NEUCKRANZ

The whole first half was a story of exchanging the lead. Twelve times the lead changed hands during the first and second quarters of action. Maine West held a 9-8 lead at the end of the first quarter.

THE SECOND quarter was nip-and-tuck all the way until the Wildcats put on a six point spurt late in the quarter to take a five point lead. The first half ended with Wheeling on top 29-24, and conceivably headed for its third straight triumph.

With 3:15 left in the third period Maine West's Al Fritz popped in a field goal and a free throw to tie the score at 38-38. Mark Newman came back with a basket for Wheeling to once again give his mates the lead 40-38, but the Warriors then struck back with five straight points to take a 43-40 lead.

A few moments later Scott Bischoff swished a long shot from the side to once again tie the count at 45-45. Mueller came right back for Maine West with a two-pointer, and the Warriors took a lead which they never again relinquished.

The third quarter ended with Maine West holding a 53-49 lead, and the Warriors kept the locals from catching up in the final quarter in spite of the fact that they missed seven times from the free throw lane.

Wheeling was within four points up until the last 42 seconds in the contest. At that point Maine West proceeded to ice the victory with four straight points for the final 67-59 count.

This defeat gave Wheeling a final MSL season record of 2-8, the same as Maine West.

In Regional Cage Contest . . .

Knights Bump 'Cats; Lundstedt Tallies 35

By MICHAEL HESS

There are games in which a final score tells everything that need be told, but, in other games, a final score tells nothing.

In opening regional cage competition at Prospect on Monday, the hosts finished ahead of Wheeling. Closing tally of that contest was 60-40.

What those finishing totals don't indicate is enough to fill an entire story, this story. For instance, the most important things not told are:

That there were only eight points registered in the first quarter. And that the Wildcats, stalling beautifully, were ahead at that juncture 5-3.

THAT THE scoreboard read 19-13 at intermission. And that the Knights, keeping their composure though unable to burn up the nets as they wished, had partially broken the stall and taken the lead.

That the second half was all Tom Lundstedt. And that the 6-3 Prospect center, in addition to causing the game to become quite one-sided, put in 35 points bringing his season total to 493, just 12 short of a new school mark.

Next Game?

Prospect cagers played the second game in their own regional tourney last night (Wednesday). The Knights met Barrington which won its first game 66-56 over Antioch on Monday. Due to a Wednesday deadline, results of that Prospect-Barrington contest cannot be reported at this time but complete details of the game will be carried in this section next week.

That Wheeling ended its season and two star seniors their prep careers with the loss. And that Tom Neuckranz, who made eight in the wind-up battle, had 255 points this year and 410 points in his career, both school records. Mark Newman had 10 in the last affair, 181 this year and 398 in his career.

That the Knights had their season record under coach Dick Kinneman upped to 19-4, already better than the 18-6 standard of one year ago. And that, for headman Mike Owens, the 'Cats finished at 5-17 topping last year's 1-19.

NOW THAT'S A lot which can't be related by just a final score. But there's more . . .

Nine seconds into the contest Lundstedt put Prospect ahead 2-0 with a six-footer. Wheeling didn't take a shot for three minutes and four seconds at which time Newman tied it up with an eight-footer. Craig Wolf and Scott Bischoff made a foul for each side before Greg Fedyski put the Wildcats ahead 5-3 with a jumper from 10 feet.

That's the way the initial period ended.

In the second quarter the Knights' Tony Kulasa got the tip and banged in a goal from 20 feet. In the next three minutes Wheeling took two shots, made both, and went up 9-5 on Newman's twin six-footers. A pair of Lundstedt lay-ups helped knot the score, 3:10 from the intermission, at 10 apiece.

WITH JUST 1:58 left in the half the tally was still even at 13-13. Then, in quick succession, Lundstedt's tap in, J. D. Thorne's driving lay-up and Dan Agard's rebound gave Prospect its 19-13 bulge as time ran out.

During the last two periods Lundstedt made 26 of his team's 41 points in an avalanche of scoring which buried the 'Cats.

Lundstedt opened half number two with a five-footer. He followed with a tap in. After Agard sank a pair from the line Lundstedt, within 72 seconds, made a three-footer, a lay-up, a hook shot and two free throws. Wheeling's stalling tactics had been destroyed and the Knights led 33-21.

Before he left Lundstedt made 14 more markers.

Last period action began with the score 35-25. Lundstedt made two lay-ups while Bischoff and Fedyski were making foul shots for the Wildcats. Lundstedt hit a seven-footer and another lay-up before he connected on a jumper. Then Thorne and Kulasa popped in long range goals for Prospect and the score was 47-30.

IN 38 SECONDS Lundstedt made a free throw, a hook, a lay-up and another foul shot. The score was 53-30 the cloak showed 4:36, Lundstedt left, and reserves came in for both teams Lundstedt ended with 15 of 21 from the floor and five of 11 at the line for his 35 points. His season collection of 493 left him 11 short of the school record of 504 held by George Pomey.

TOM LUNDSTEDT
Nears Record

Neuckranz finished his prep career at 2:31 and Newman at 2:19.

Overall the Knights sank 24 of 44 goal tries (54.5 per cent) and 12 of 26 at the line (46.1 per cent). A mark of 15 for 34 (44.4 per cent) belonged to the 'Cats who hit 67.0 per cent (10 of 15) at the line. There were just 14 turnovers in the game, seven committed by each team.

So, the next time a final score is seen or heard, don't assume that it tells the whole story. Most of the time, it doesn't.

In Regional Cage Contest . . .

Knights Bump 'Cats; Lundstedt Tallies 35

By MICHAEL HESS

There are games in which a final score tells everything that need be told, but, in other games, a final score tells nothing.

In opening regional cage competition at Prospect on Monday, the hosts finished ahead of Wheeling. Closing tally of that contest was 60-40.

What those finishing totals don't indicate is enough to fill an entire story, this story. For instance, the most important things not told are:

That there were only eight points registered in the first quarter. And that the Wildcats, stalling beautifully, were ahead at that juncture 5-3.

THAT THE scoreboard read 19-13 at intermission. And that the Knights, keeping their composure though unable to burn up the nets as they wished, had partially broken the stall and taken the lead.

That the second half was all Tom Lundstedt. And that the 6-3 Prospect center, in addition to causing the game to become quite one-sided, put in 35 points bringing his season total to 493, just 12 short of a new school mark.

Next Game?

Prospect cagers played the second game in their own regional tourney last night (Wednesday). The Knights met Barrington which won its first game 66-56 over Antioch on Monday. Due to a Wednesday deadline, results of that Prospect-Barrington contest cannot be reported at this time but complete details of the game will be carried in this section next week.

That Wheeling ended its season and two star seniors their prep careers with the loss. And that Tom Neuckranz, who made eight in the wind-up battle, had 255 points this year and 410 points in his career, both school records. Mark Newman had 10 in the last affair, 181 this year and 398 in his career.

That the Knights had their season record under coach Dick Kinneman upped to 19-4, already better than the 18-6 standard of one year ago. And that, for headman Mike Owens, the 'Cats finished at 5-17 topping last year's 1-19.

NOW THAT'S A lot which can't be related by just a final score. But there's more . . .

Nine seconds into the contest Lundstedt put Prospect ahead 2-0 with a six-footer. Wheeling didn't take a shot for three minutes and four seconds at which time Newman tied it up with an eight-footer. Craig Wolf and Scott Bischoff made a foul for each side before Greg Fedyski put the Wildcats ahead 5-3 with a jumper from 10 feet.

That's the way the initial period ended.

In the second quarter the Knights' Tony Kulasa got the tip and banged in a goal from 20 feet. In the next three minutes Wheeling took two shots, made both, and went up 9-5 on Newman's twin six-footers. A pair of Lundstedt lay-ups helped knot the score, 3:10 from the intermission, at 10 apiece.

WITH JUST 1:58 left in the half the tally was still even at 13-13. Then, in quick succession, Lundstedt's tap in, J. D. Thorne's driving lay-up and Dan Agard's rebound gave Prospect its 19-13 bulge as time ran out.

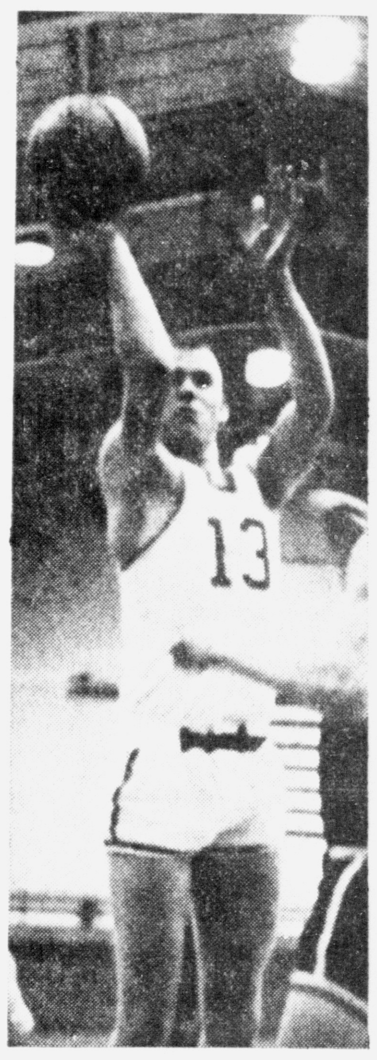
During the last two periods Lundstedt made 26 of his team's 41 points in an avalanche of scoring which buried the 'Cats.

Lundstedt opened half number two with a five-footer. He followed with a tap in. After Agard sank a pair from the line Lundstedt, within 72 seconds, made a three-footer, a lay-up, a hook shot and two free throws. Wheeling's stalling tactics had been destroyed and the Knights led 33-21.

Before he left Lundstedt made 14 more markers.

Last period action began with the score 35-25. Lundstedt made two lay-ups while Bischoff and Fedyski were making foul shots for the Wildcats. Lundstedt hit a seven-footer and another lay-up before he connected on a jumper. Then Thorne and Kulasa popped in long range goals for Prospect and the score was 47-30.

IN 38 SECONDS Lundstedt made a free throw, a hook, a lay-up and another foul shot. The score was 53-30 the cloak showed 4:36, Lundstedt left, and reserves came in for both teams Lundstedt ended with 15 of 21 from the floor and five of 11 at the line for his 35 points. His season collection of 493 left him 11 short of the school record of 504 held by George Pomey.



TOM LUNDSTEDT
Nears Record

Neuckranz finished his prep career at 2:31 and Newman at 2:19.

Overall the Knights sank 24 of 44 goal tries (54.5 per cent) and 12 of 26 at the line (46.1 per cent). A mark of 15 for 34 (44.4 per cent) belonged to the 'Cats who hit 67.0 per cent (10 of 15) at the line. There were just 14 turnovers in the game, seven committed by each team.

So, the next time a final score is seen or heard, don't assume that it tells the whole story. Most of the time, it doesn't.

Realty Salesmen's Cars Radio-Equipped

With its Des Plaines office adding two-way mobile radios and a base station in its office at 650 Graceland Ave., the Gladstone Realty Co. has perhaps the largest fleet of radio-equipped salesmen's cars in the nation.

The new installation supplements the existing system of mobile units in the Gladstone office at 9726 Franklin Ave. in Franklin Park

John L. Markay and Vincent J. Bolger, partners in the firm, first investigated the advantages of two-way radio in the real estate business when they put in the first base station at Franklin Park and radios in two cars back in 1956.

"AS ONE EXAMPLE," he continues, "when one of our salesmen has finished showing a property, he has the flexibility in showing other properties that may come up for discussion after the specific showing by calling his base station. In just a few minutes, the prospective seller is contacted by the office and the information is relayed to the salesman.

"No time is lost, he does not have to leave the car to make a phone call, the seller is happy to have the extra time to prepare for the prospects, and the prospects themselves appreciate the fact that they did not have to wait in the car while the necessary arrangements were made."

"As an operating tool," Markay said, "radio makes each salesman a great deal more productive. Phone calls are kept to an insignificant minimum, and the salesman can stay on the outside almost constantly without coming into the office and still be as close to the office as his two-way radio."

GLADSTONE'S clients range from the customer seeking to buy or sell a home to persons or organizations interested in selling, leasing or buying various types of commercial, industrial or vacant properties.

In addition, the firm was also one of the pioneers in the highly-successful "trade-in homes" activity with the formation of Trade-In Homes, Inc. This program is particularly advantageous to the client who wishes to purchase another home but does not wish to own two homes. By utilizing Gladstone Realty's guaranteed sale plan the owning of two homes is not necessary.

"In all of these varied activities," Markay emphasizes, "radio contact puts the office constantly at the scene of production. Our listings are always up to date, and we never have the problem of a client, buyer or seller, being inconvenienced in the showing of a property."

Markay goes on to add that each associate has instructions to report accidents, fires, etc. to the base station who in turn can notify the proper agency which is one of the many community services that Gladstone performs. (BB

Spacious 'Juliette' Features a Balcony

Realcoa has added a Shakespearean touch to a modern-day home in its Juliette model in Airy Trace. While few families today are expected to play the balcony scene, this unusual interior design sets off a sweeping 25 foot living room, with a dramatic full-wall optional fireplace. As you enter, the vaulted ceiling gives an immediate feeling of spaciousness.

The balcony, with its wrought iron railing, adds an old-world touch to this extremely functional floor plan. On the main floor a panelled family room, with its own convenient powder room, provides access to the patio through vacuum insulated sliding glass doors.

Up just a few steps and you're in the family-sized, roomy kitchen with its deluxe accessories including double bowl sink, garbage disposal, built-in oven and range, and dishwasher. Handsome cabinets line the walls. A completely separate dining room can be serviced from the kitchen and easily entered from the balcony walkway.

In a secluded "quiet" wing, three twin-size bedrooms are tucked away from living and recreation centers. The large master bedroom features a private bath, plus His and Her closets. A complete bathroom serves the other bedrooms conveniently. Emphasis is placed on abundant storage space. All bedrooms have double closets, the master bedroom has two, and the double garage has extra space for bicyles, wagons, mowers and outside garden implements. The basement makes an ideal children's play area, or contributes still more space for hobby activities or a utility room.

"Our experience at the Shires in Des Plaines, proved there is still strong demand for the three-bedroom home," Realcoa President Bill Alter commented. "First, many young couples with small children and older families where the children have moved away don't really need more space than this. Yet they want to move into a settled community, where the age group and social life is varied.

They prefer this to a development where many families move in at the same time and then move on a few years later making resale difficult or depressing prices as a result of such activity, or a retirement community where all families are of advanced years. Our Juliette at $30,500 represents a sound home investment for these families at an attainable price. Our three-bedroom model, with its emphasis on gracious living areas and extra-large storage space, fits their needs ideally."

Realcoa Airy Trace homes come with oak hardwood floors in living, dining and bedrooms, solid vinyl tile foyers, and 10 ampere electrical systems with automatic circuit breakers. All models are fully insulated, and exteriors utilize tasteful combinations of brick and aluminum siding. Double hung wood windows are standard equipment, and all gutters and downspouts are provided. Lots are completely landscaped, and paved walkways and driveways are included in base price of homes.

Airy Trace sidewalks and streets, as well as storm and sanitary sewer systems are in and paid for by the builder.

Furnished model homes can be seen from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. every day of the week at State (Arlington Heights) Road, ¼ mile north of Golf Road in Arlington Heights. Prices start with the Juliette at $30,500, through larger four and five bedroom models offered to $38,400. (RE

Timbercrest Sales Ahead of Last Year

Not every homebuyer shares the supposedly popular dream of a house nestled among century-old oaks in a stand of virgin woodlands, according to developer Irv Miller of Timbercrest.

He reports sales on the unwooded lots of the northwest suburban community are running ahead of last year, when only densely wooded sites were offered. "Our third unit, which adjoins the woods but has no sites with trees actually on them, is half sold out after only two months. Sales are running about 25 per cent ahead of the same period for 1965."

The builder said the fact that Timbercrest is now an established residential section of the village of Schaumburg and that its model home line has been improved are factors in this year's success. He also stated that the unit three lots share the atmosphere of the community's wooded sections without the disadvantages of difficult lawn care and leaf removal.

THE TIMBERCREST homes, built by Mor-Well general contractors, range in price from $21,900 to $26,900 and are shown in nearly every basic design and styling motif. The price of each home includes a natural woodburning fireplace in a finished, paneled family room; ceramic-tiled baths with marble-topped vanities and colored fixtures; fully improved homesite a minimum of 70 feet in frontage; wood windows; wall-to-wall carpeting; built-in range hood and exhaust fan and face brick, rough-sawn cedar and alum[illegible]m siding exterior.

Miller said financing terms have been arranged to enable qualified buyers to own any of these new homes for as little as 10 per cent down payment. The six furnished models are located on Schaumburg Road one mile west of Roselle Road and are open daily and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Spacious 'Juliette' Features a Balcony

Realcoa has added a Shakespearean touch to a modern-day home in its Juliette model in Airy Trace. While few families today are expected to play the balcony scene, this unusual interior design sets off a sweeping 25 foot living room, with a dramatic full-wall optional fireplace. As you enter, the vaulted ceiling gives an immediate feeling of spaciousness.

The balcony, with its wrought iron railing, adds an old-world touch to this extremely functional floor plan. On the main floor a panelled family room, with its own convenient powder room, provides access to the patio through vacuum insulated sliding glass doors.

Up just a few steps and you're in the family-sized, roomy kitchen with its deluxe accessories including double bowl sink, garbage disposal, built-in oven and range, and dishwasher. Handsome cabinets line the walls. A completely separate dining room can be serviced from the kitchen and easily entered from the balcony walkway.

In a secluded "quiet" wing, three twin-size bedrooms are tucked away from living and recreation centers. The large master bedroom features a private bath, plus His and Her closets. A complete bathroom serves the other bedrooms conveniently. Emphasis is placed on abundant storage space. All bedrooms have double closets, the master bedroom has two, and the double garage has extra space for bicyles, wagons, mowers and outside garden implements. The basement makes an ideal children's play area, or contributes still more space for hobby activities or a utility room.

"Our experience at the Shires in Des Plaines, proved there is still strong demand for the three-bedroom home," Realcoa President Bill Alter commented. "First, many young couples with small children and older families where the children have moved away don't really need more space than this. Yet they want to move into a settled community, where the age group and social life is varied.

They prefer this to a development where many families move in at the same time and then move on a few years later making resale difficult or depressing prices as a result of such activity, or a retirement community where all families are of advanced years. Our Juliette at $30,500 represents a sound home investment for these families at an attainable price. Our three-bedroom model, with its emphasis on gracious living areas and extra-large storage space, fits their needs ideally."

Realcoa Airy Trace homes come with oak hardwood floors in living, dining and bedrooms, solid vinyl tile foyers, and 10 ampere electrical systems with automatic circuit breakers. All models are fully insulated, and exteriors utilize tasteful combinations of brick and aluminum siding. Double hung wood windows are standard equipment, and all gutters and downspouts are provided. Lots are completely landscaped, and paved walkways and driveways are included in base price of homes.

Airy Trace sidewalks and streets, as well as storm and sanitary sewer systems are in and paid for by the builder.

Furnished model homes can be seen from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. every day of the week at State (Arlington Heights) Road, ¼ mile north of Golf Road in Arlington Heights. Prices start with the Juliette at $30,500, through larger four and five bedroom models offered to $38,400. (RE

Timbercrest Sales Ahead of Last Year

Not every homebuyer shares the supposedly popular dream of a house nestled among century-old oaks in a stand of virgin woodlands, according to developer Irv Miller of Timbercrest.

He reports sales on the unwooded lots of the northwest suburban community are running ahead of last year, when only densely wooded sites were offered. "Our third unit, which adjoins the woods but has no sites with trees actually on them, is half sold out after only two months. Sales are running about 25 per cent ahead of the same period for 1965."

The builder said the fact that Timbercrest is now an established residential section of the village of Schaumburg and that its model home line has been improved are factors in this year's success. He also stated that the unit three lots share the atmosphere of the community's wooded sections without the disadvantages of difficult lawn care and leaf removal.

THE TIMBERCREST homes, built by Mor-Well general contractors, range in price from $21,900 to $26,900 and are shown in nearly every basic design and styling motif. The price of each home includes a natural woodburning fireplace in a finished, paneled family room; ceramic-tiled baths with marble-topped vanities and colored fixtures; fully improved homesite a minimum of 70 feet in frontage; wood windows; wall-to-wall carpeting; built-in range hood and exhaust fan and face brick, rough-sawn cedar and alum[illegible]m siding exterior.

Miller said financing terms have been arranged to enable qualified buyers to own any of these new homes for as little as 10 per cent down payment. The six furnished models are located on Schaumburg Road one mile west of Roselle Road and are open daily and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Balanced Design in 'Dahlia' Split-Level

Newly-unveiled model home in Garden Estates in Des Plaines, is "The Dahlia" — an eye-catching split-level featuring unusual balance of design in both exterior and interior concepts. Priced at $29,300, the Colonial-styled home has three bedrooms, one-and-a-half baths, lower-level family-rec room, separate laundry-storage room, and attached double garage. Carpeting, and landscaping of the fully-improved lot, are also included.

Garden Estates is located on Dempster Street, five blocks east of Elmhurst Road (Route 83).

Exterior lines of "The Dahlia" convey an impression of estate-like spaciousness, with the main two-level section of the home centered between one-story wings of equal size. On the left is the front entrance and the main living area, while the right wing is taken up by the two-car garage. The entire lower-level exterior is of colorful face brick, with a wainscot of contrasting stone extending across the front of the main living wing.

ENTERING THE home, the visitor finds a double-size guest closet conveniently to one side, just off the entry area with its attractive vinyl-tiled floor. The living room is over 19' by 14' in size, with a wide view window across the front wall of the house. Beyond, at the rear of the main living wing, is the combined informal dining area and kitchen. The dining area is well-lighted, with separate entrance to the living room. The kitchen offers a step-saving layout, with cabinets and appliances — including built-in oven and range — in a choice of matching finish.

Continuing the well-planned traffic pattern throughout the home, the wide stairs to upper and lower levels are centered — terminating in a large, near-square distributing hall on the sleeping level. The three bedrooms feature double, sliding-door closets, and big double windows — those in the master bedroom being of wrap-around design at a corner of the room. A special linen closet is just outside the main bath, which features modern soft-lite fixtures, built-in vanity and colorful ceramic tile finish.

Most of the lower level in "The Dahlia" is taken up by the paneled family-recreation room, over 21' long and nearly 18' wide. In one corner, near the stairs, are the powder room and a spacious closet for children's toys or other storage. At the rear of the home is the separate laundry-utility room. With its own entrance, via the garage and rear entrance of the house, this provides a well-located mudroom for active children and daily family use.

OTHER SPECIAL features of the new "Dahlia" include: oak hardwood floors, pickled and varnished woodwork, fitted storm windows and screens, full insulation and exterior drain tile all around, gas forced air heat, and concrete side drive.

The new "Dahlia" and other attractive model homes are open daily, from 10 a.m., in Garden Estates — all-residential community located on Dempster Street, five blocks east of Route 83, in Des Plaines. (RE

Heated Bathtubs Can End Cold Feet

Heated bathtubs are catching on with homeowners across the nation, reports the Chicago Better Heating-Cooling Council.

Thousands of homeowners are adding this inexpensive, but luxurious touch to their modern bathrooms, and they have a good point. Why put up with a chill when your back touches the part of the tub above the water line?

According to Miss Sheila Petersen, home heating consultant for the Council, it is relatively simple to install a heated bathtub when remodeling the bathroom if you have a modern hydronic (hot water) heating system. Before the new bathtub is put in place, have your plumbing-heating contractor place a piece of tubing or a heating element uderneath the tub, and connect the tubing or heating element to the heating system's piping. This will heat the tub and make it act as a radiator.

Here's another tip from Miss Petersen: Have your contractor install a modern baseboard heating unit in the bathroom, if you don't already have one, and then place your towel racks above it. The baseboard unit will help keep your towels dry and warm. (RE

Reduction Noted in Apartment Vacancies

While overbuilding and vacancies continue to be a trouble source in a majority of reporting cities, some areas which have experienced high vacancy rates in office and apartment buildings are reporting a decrease and further improvement is foreseen in 1966.

This factor was revealed in a survey conducted by the Institute of Real Estate Management of its chapter presidents who were asked to prepare brief summaries outling business conditions in their regions and to list problems they expect during 1966 in the management field.

Their comments appear in the latest issue of the Journal of Property Management, a bimonthly publication of the Institute. IREM is an affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

PRINCIPAL REASON for the lowering of the vacancy rate is the slowing down of construction of new units where an oversupply existed, the report showed. Construction had been proceeding at a rapid pace without proper consideration for the indicated market potential, according to the survey.

Among the cities where the vacancy rate was said to be declining or expected to improve in either the office or apartment field or both were Chicago, Cleveland, Houston, and Minneapolis.

However, vacancy in apartment and/or office buildings is still a serious problem in many areas and is expected to become one in still others this year where large numbers of new units are being added to the supply, the IREM chapter presidents say.

While instances are cited such as the loss of a major industry to a community, or the federal government moving its offices to its own facilities as was done in Phoenix, overbuilding was named as the number one cause of the high vacancy rate either where it already exists or is expected.

ANOTHER PROBLEM noted in the survey — and one related to that of vacancy in areas which have seen many new apartment and office buildings added to the market recently — is that of convincing the owners of older buildings in and around the core areas of the city that they must renovate their buildings to compete with the new projects.

Gus B. Thames, Mobile, president of the Alabama chapter, said that owners "must be shown how this renovation can be accomplished in order for these older properties to show a fair net return."

The increase in taxes and the rising cost of operation of rental properties were mentioned also as problems of major concern. The president of the Chicago chapter, Henry A. Chetham, said "Serious thought will have to be given to possible rent adjustments. We will have to take a hard look at rent schedules, giving particular attention to the increases in taxes, payroll, and social security."

ONE PROBLEM peculiar to its area was listed by Henry W. Ludman, president, Greater New York chapter. "If the water shortage continues for another summer, what to do about air conditioning could well become a serious problem for New York City."

Copies of the Journal of Property Management are available for $2.50 each from the Institute of Real Estate Management, 36 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago 60603. Subscription is $10 per year.

Employe's Idea Wins $1,000 Bonus

More and more companies, such as Automatic Electric, Northlake, are becoming "think factories." Their employees are finding that it pays to think.

This is particularly true when the company provides a cash reward for ideas it can utilize to improve its efficiency and reduce its operating and manufacturing costs.

Edward P. Smith of 1305 Mulberry Lane, Mount Prospect, an 18-year veteran of Automatic's tooling department, did "think factory." And his suggestion on how to core a 5/16 inch diameter cord-hole in the company's telephone handsets won him $1,000.

FOR AN idea that became effective during 1965, he is the second employee at the General Telephone & Electronics' subsidiary to receive a check covering this amount.

Automatic Electric, the largest producer of telephones and electronics equipment for the independent telephone industry, recently paid one of its staff engineers $1,000 for an idea he submitted last year.

Coring the 5/16 inch hole as prescribed in Smith's outline requires a movable insert for each handset's cavity.

By means of "positive action cam pins" an insert is placed in the molding press—as the door closes. This insert forms the cord-hole in the end of the telephone handset.

WHEN THE press door is opened, the cam pins are withdrawn automatically.

This is an important step in manufacturing telephones as well as telephone components. With the injection of plastic into the molds, the plastic must enter into each and every cavity at the right angle. The molds, in turn, act as tunnelgates—which prevent entrance of unnecessary plastic into the newly molded handsets.

Automatic Electric employs 13,600 persons of this area, which makes it one of the largest manufacturing companies in the Chicago-area. (BB

Employe's Idea Wins $1,000 Bonus

More and more companies, such as Automatic Electric, Northlake, are becoming "think factories." Their employees are finding that it pays to think.

This is particularly true when the company provides a cash reward for ideas it can utilize to improve its efficiency and reduce its operating and manufacturing costs.

Edward P. Smith of 1305 Mulberry Lane, Mount Prospect, an 18-year veteran of Automatic's tooling department, did "think factory." And his suggestion on how to core a 5/16 inch diameter cord-hole in the company's telephone handsets won him $1,000.

FOR AN idea that became effective during 1965, he is the second employee at the General Telephone & Electronics' subsidiary to receive a check covering this amount.

Automatic Electric, the largest producer of telephones and electronics equipment for the independent telephone industry, recently paid one of its staff engineers $1,000 for an idea he submitted last year.

Coring the 5/16 inch hole as prescribed in Smith's outline requires a movable insert for each handset's cavity.

By means of "positive action cam pins" an insert is placed in the molding press—as the door closes. This insert forms the cord-hole in the end of the telephone handset.

WHEN THE press door is opened, the cam pins are withdrawn automatically.

This is an important step in manufacturing telephones as well as telephone components. With the injection of plastic into the molds, the plastic must enter into each and every cavity at the right angle. The molds, in turn, act as tunnelgates—which prevent entrance of unnecessary plastic into the newly molded handsets.

Automatic Electric employs 13,600 persons of this area, which makes it one of the largest manufacturing companies in the Chicago-area. (BB

Art Cichy Chairs Fire Safety Meet

Thirty representatives from the manufacturing companies of General Telephone & Electronics Corp. met recently in Des Plaines for a three-day loss prevention seminar.

Chaired by Art Cichy, 300 Lincoln Court, Addison, the fire protection and safety engineer at Automatic Electric Company, Northlake, and Gene Dymek, GT&E's loss prevention manager, the conference was directed toward improving the science of fire protection and fire prevention.

ENGINEERS and administrators from Automatic Electric, Sylvania Electric Products Inc, Lenkurt Electric Co., Inc., and other General System companies met in the Flying Carpet Motel to obtain a better understanding of loss prevention functions and discuss ways of improving working relations among all the safety engineers within divisions of the manufacturing companies.

On the morning of the second conference day, to demonstrate the many safety features and devices of AE's 2,170,000 square-foot plant, Cichy arranged for the group to tour and lunch at the Northlake facilities.

Largest producer of telephone and electronics equipment for the independent telephone industry, Automatic employs more than 13,000 men and women of this area.

The representatives observed the procedures these employees use in manufacturing modern communications equipment.

THEY SAW the fabrication and assembly of the advanced telephone switching equipment for the U. S. Government's worldwide communications network.

Inspecting the areas where the company is producing remote control systems, the 30 visitors saw equipment being assembled and tested which will enable a single operator to control pipeline and power systems stretching hundred of miles.

More than 2,639 persons took this tour through the plant during 1965. (BB

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

If you're going to plant some trees and shrubs on your property come spring take your time deciding on what you want. Look around for plants with attractive color, outstanding bark characteristics, and unusual shape and form.

Evergreens are always good for winter color . . . but so are deciduous trees. Some types of these plants can add year round beauty to your landscape even though they lose their leaves in winter. For instance, there's a plant called the Winterberry . . . it's a type of holly. This shrub loses its leaves in fall but has bright red berries which hang on until midwinter.

Then there's Redosier or red-twig dogwood. It got its name because it has red bark. There's another dogwood called yellow-twigged that has bright yellow bark. Both of these shrubs are unusual . . . and they're attractive during the winter months.

The pin oak keeps its leaves throughout most of the winter. And although the leaves are dead brown, they create a pleasing variation to the winter landscape.

One small tree that will receive a lot of publicity this spring is the Sarvistree. It is a member of the rose family, as are the various fruit trees. Although there are bush types of Amelanchiers which grow about four feet high. The Sarvistree attains a height of 30 feet or more. This tree is known also as Juneberry, Shadblow, Serviceberry and many others. Its scientific name is Amelanchier laevis or Amelanchier arborea.

Sarvistree is the heaviest wood that grows in the United States. Its dry weight is 53 pounds per cubic foot! It is one of the most resistant trees to damage caused by ice, snow and high winds. It can be used as a specimen tree, either as a single stem or clump form. For a small home it is excellent for use as a lawn specimen, and can also used- for background effect in a large shrub border. The fall color of the Sarvistree leaves are terra cotta with a light striped gray with a tint of pink.

Look around your neighborhood, read some catalogues, and then consult your local nurseryman, you'll come up with many distinctive and attractive trees and shrubs that will give color to your grounds for the entire year. (BB

HOW To Make The RIGHT DECISIONS When Buying A Home

What will it cost you each year to maintain a home? You should determine this before you buy. All homes, including new ones, require maintenance. Some kinds of construction require more than others. Exterior painting is less for a brick home, but initial cost is usually higher.

In addition to these, there are taxes and insurance, the rates for which vary in different locations.

Estimates of all these costs should be obtained before you buy, and your local Realtor is the one who can guide you on learning all there is about the home you want.

YOUR REALTOR CAN HELP YOU MAKE THE RIGHT DECISIONS

WOULDN'T YOU RATHER HAVE MONEY . . .

than a bunch of dust catchers taking up valuable storage space around your home?

Take the attic, for instance. There's that old chair . . . still sturdy, but never used any more . . .

and the stove you replaced years ago . . .

and the trunk Dad took to college . . .

and Junior's old typewriter . . .

and in the basement . . .

wash tubs you haven't used since you got your automatic . . .

the bicycle no one has ridden in ages . . .

that old croquet set . . .

and the radio that hasn't been turned on since TV.

There's probably a lot more, too . . . all of it in good condition . . .

"But who wants it?" you say!

Someone does want it . . . and they're looking for it in Paddock Publications Want Ads.

HOW To Make The RIGHT DECISIONS When Buying A Home

What will it cost you each year to maintain a home? You should determine this before you buy. All homes, including new ones, require maintenance. Some kinds of construction require more than others. Exterior painting is less for a brick home, but initial cost is usually higher.

In addition to these, there are taxes and insurance, the rates for which vary in different locations.

Estimates of all these costs should be obtained before you buy, and your local Realtor is the one who can guide you on learning all there is about the home you want.

YOUR REALTOR CAN HELP YOU MAKE THE RIGHT DECISIONS

WOULDN'T YOU RATHER HAVE MONEY...

than a bunch of dust catchers taking up valuable storage space around your home?

Take the attic, for instance. There's that old chair . . . still sturdy, but never used any more . . .

and the stove you replaced years ago . . .

and the trunk Dad took to college . . .

and Junior's old typewriter . . .

and in the basement . . .

wash tubs you haven't used since you got your automatic . . .

the bicycle no one has ridden in ages . . .

that old croquet set . . .

and the radio that hasn't been turned on since TV.

There's probably a lot more, too . . . all of it in good condition . . .

"But who wants it?" you say!

Someone does want it . . . and they're looking for it in Paddock Publications Want Ads.

The Way We See It

Equal Vote Issue Crucial to Suburbs

A few weeks ago a West Coast publicity firm was hired to help sell Sen. Dirksen's proposed Constitutional amendment to nullify the Supreme Court's one man, one vote ruling.

Now we have received their first pamphlet. It is just as unconvincing as previous efforts to prove that a step backward would actually mean progress.

The pamphlet starts by claiming that "most" states "always" have adhered to a system of electing one house of the legislature on a geographical basis. This is not true of Illinois and other neighboring states.

The Northwest Ordinance of 1787 guaranteed equal representation in the lation. This Ordinance is a good indication of the intent of the Founding Fathers.

The Illinois constitutions of 1818, 1848, and 1870 provided for equal representation by population in both houses of the legislature.

But because there was no penalty provided, rural legislators defied the state constitution's mandate to reapportion for half a century, from 1903 to 1954. They forced the acceptance of area representation in 1954 as the only method available at that time to the majority to gain partial relief from malapportionment.

Plainly, tradition in Illinois is on the side of the one man, one vote doctrine.

The pamphlet also ignores the Supreme Court's ruling that each individual has a Constitutional right to an equal vote.

People cannot properly be deprived of a Constitutional right, such as freedom of speech or trial by jury, even by referendum. The right to an equal voice in government is basic and inviolable.

The pamphlet repeats the scare story that big-city bosses will take over if voting is equal. Experience is deflating that bogeyman, however. In a study made recently for the National municipal League, William J. D. Boyd wrote:

"Rather than being dominated by the big cities, as is commonly supposed, the new legislatures will see suburban representatives increase the most."

Boyd's study showed suburbs gaining in population, big cities losing, and the trend being away from big city domination instead of toward it.

It is worth pointing out, too, that big cities do not have a monopoly of political bossism. Downstate bosses can have a grip as tight as Daley's.

Finally, the Dirksen Amendment, in the name of saving state government, would sound its death knell.

A primary cause of the shift of governmental power to Washington has been the failure of state governments to meet the needs of growing populations.

Rural representatives have ignored these problems because they were largely the problems of urban and suburban areas and not of the farms and small towns. Thus, the root of state legislative failure has been in malapportionment resulting from the area representation concept.

The only way to reverse the flow of power and to preserve the Federal system is to elect state legislatures which represent the people, know their problems, and will seek solutions.

It is no accident that the last Illinois General Assembly, which had many more suburban legislators than ever before because of the at-large election, was the most productive legislature within memory.

The suburbs cannot afford to go back to the horse and buggy days when urgent problems of schools, mental health, traffic, pollution, highways and tax reform were neglected by an indifferent rural power bloc.

The Truth on Pesticides

A recent four-day symposium in Washington on pesticides again pointed up the need for more research and study in this field.

Such research should have the highest priority. Nothing is more important than the health of people.

The symposium again brought forth the contending voices which have been debating pesticides for the past few years.

Some speakers proved how thoroughly pesticides have penetrated to wildlife in every corner of the world. Even penguins which never leave the Antarctic and feed on nonmigratory local crustaceans have DDT in their fat or liver.

Pesticide defenders cited the benefits of chemicals in increasing crop yields and quality. They argued that pesticides are safe when used according to directions.

One of the problems, of course, is to police the use of pesticides. How can we make sure they are used according to directions? But a more fundamental problem is to learn the full truth about their effect on man and his environment. This will require a lot more research and study. The federal government should provide the manpower and money needed to find the answers.

High Campaign Costs

The announcement was made on the last day of February that Great Britain will elect a new parliament a month hence. One month is time enough for campaigning in Britain and the total cost of the whole affair probably will be less than was spent recently in electing just a mayor of New York.

High campaign costs are a menace to democracy. Today a candidate for office must either have a personal fortune or obligate himself to interests which are willing to give him hefty contributions.

It is hard to say which is worse: making public office a monopoly of the wealthy, or electing officials who are beholden to special interests.

Television has been called the key to a solution. E. William Henry, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, proposed last year that television stations be required to give time to candidates in proportion to the time they sell them. The free time would be divided equally.

This is a good proposal. Since television operates under license to use the public air waves, it should be willing to cooperate in helping solve the acute problem of sky-high campaign costs.

Man in the News

The First President

by PAT HENSEL
Staff Writer

A wiry, slight man with deep brown eyes and thinning gray hair fidgeted with his pen.

"I guess—well, I guess I would read something."

He had just been asked what he'd rather do if he had a spare two hours, wasn't tired, and wasn't worried about anything.

THE MODEST, but far from shy, wiry man was George Seaton of Burr Ridge, first president of the board of education of DuPage County Junior College District 502.

As such, he faces one of the most monumental jobs ever to confront the county's educational task force.

Elected to the college board late in January, he has been president since its first meeting early in February.

Top item on the agenda is physical organization of a junior college, and "getting a staff to carry on the work of establishing the college," Seaton said.

THAT'S WHERE his professional training comes in.

Effective Tuesday, he is a retired vice president of operations for the Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

"But in establishing a college, you have to have certain policies in mind," Seaton continued. "You have to keep in mind just what it is you're trying to do.

That's where his civic experience qualifies him. As chairman of the planning committee and a director of the Chicago Metropolitan Housing and Planning Council, Seaton comprehends the scope of his new task.

GEORGE SEATON

"Our duty, at first, was to study housing progress," he said of his work with the MHPC. "This, naturally, got us into planning. We hadn't got into planning very long before we realized we couldn't confine ourselves just to Chicago. It had to be the whole area."

THE 65-YEAR-OLD board president likens his work with MHPC to his work with the junior college.

"I'm sure none of the board members has any preconceived idea of just what is needed to make this project the successful one we envision.

"Only by constant talking and studying together can we come to some conclusion" as to crieteria for organizing and staffing the junior college.

Seaton and his wife built the home they live in back in 1939. A nine-room two-story "country house," it sits on more than three acres of wooded, rolling land in the far south end of DuPage County. There's a creek.

HE PONDERED a moment before confiding what he liked best about his home.

"Well, this land, for the most part, never had been grazed. So, there are quite a few varieties of wild flowers. I guess the wild flowers, and the naturalness of the land, are what my wife and I like best."

Parents of three children, and grandparents of five, the Seatons have an extensive library.

STILL PLAYING with his pen, he said, "I like to vary my reading. I like to keep up with the things I'm interested in."

The list, apparently, is endless, but the extent of his library can cope with the problem:

"When I want to read about something in particular, I get books from wherever I can—generally from my own library."

Asked where, or how, he accumulated so many books, Seaton sprang another surprise. He was on the board and member of the executive committee of the Great Books Foundation.

INTRODUCING THE subject of "vices" in the rambling interview, Seaton was reminded of another tidbit (but did not explain the connection):

"That's always a question: What are vices? But, I guess I ought to mention I was on the championship track team for the Illinois Athletic Club."

Seaton said he found himself drawn into the election for the junior college board after the committee which organized the college district "decided they ought to put up a slate to carry out their original concepts."

Because of his executive and administrative experience the committee felt he might know something about how to get a job done.

THROUGH HIS professional and civic work, Seaton has developed sort of a "hot line" with the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, the Randolph Commission, and, consequently, with the state legislature and U. S. Congress.

He is a member of the Fair Employment Practices Commission, was vice president of the Illinois School Board Association, and is known locally for service on the Districts 181 and 86 Hinsdale school boards.

He doesn't know if the junior college board will follow to the letter a 100-page survey prepared in 1964 to aid the establishment of a college.

"I hesitate to declare it a foundation," Seaton said, still toying with his pen.

"But, I think DuPage is a prize area for a community college, and that's exactly what this board wants as its objective."

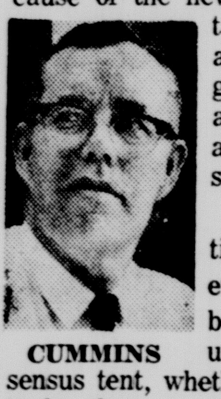
Cummins Comments

Consensus on the Mound

By BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

President Johnson's determination to agree with his critics as well as his supporters is having a confusing effect on newspaper readers.

This is to be expected because of the newness of the tactic. After a while we'll get used to it and be better able to understand it.



CUMMINS

But for the time being everyone is being dragged under the consensus tent, whether he wants to be there or not.

Secretary Rusk favors war to the end and the President says that makes him "first with me." But Sen. Fulbright and others disagree with Rusk and the President agrees with them too. Hubert Humphrey wants no truck with the Viet Cong but Bobby Kennedy sees them in a future Viet government. Both men have the hearty support of the President. This is Consensus with a capital "C." It's pretty hard to beat.

IN FACT, I can see it sweeping the country. Really, it's lots better than all the wrangling about who is right or wrong.

I can picture myself in the ball park early next fall. We are nearing the end of a terrific pennant race. The Chattanooga Cup Cakes are tied with the Schenectady Slipped Disks for the league lead. And this is the big one. Yes, folks, this is it. Everything is riding on every pitch. You can feel the tension crackling in the air. The team that wins this game wins the pennant!

The Cup Cakes seize the lead in the second inning when one of Curt Corby's curve balls hangs and Biff Bellows belts it into the upper deck.

But the Slipped Disks fight back. In the fifth inning one of Slim Slade's sliders gets away from him and "Nails" Nesbitt hammers it over the right field wall.

THEN THE pitchers take over. They are magnificent. Their curve balls break like they are rolling off a table. Their fast balls look like aspirin tablets. And so the game goes into the bottom of the 9th still tied at 1-1.

The Cup Cakes go out in order. So do the first two Slipped Disk batters. Then Stu Mulligan steps to the plate. A ball. A strike. A ball. A strike. A ball. Full count. "The string is out," Milo Hamilton tells the radio listeners.

On the next pitch, Mulligan takes a mighty swing and connects. The ball soars to deepest center field, back . . .back . . . back . . .over the head of the outfielder. Mulligan rounds second and heads for third . . .then rounds third and heads for home. Can he beat the relay? He slides home in a cloud of dust. What does the umpire say?

The umpire, who is none other than The Old Arbiter, Landon Bates Jackson, has one hand spread out palm down and level with the ground. The other hand has been jerked, thumb protruding, to a spot above his shoulder.

MULLIGAN IS both safe and out at the same time!

Everyone in the crowd jumps for joy. The Cup Cake fans are ecstatic because their team has won the pennant. So are the Slipped Disk fans.

They used to say "Somebody loses, somebody wins." But that's old hat since Landon Bates Jackson started umpiring.

Critic's Corner

'Unorganized' Earn Support

by DAVE HANKS
Staff Writer

Organized, unorganized and over organized.

Which category are you in?

I fit better in the unorganized department.

But I'm not alone, because I have several friends who are worse. There is an associate who completely rebels against it.

Besides that, he's lazy.

For instance, his office desk is mass confusion.

He misplaces telephone messages, writes notes to himself, then loses them in the jumble. Occasionally, he makes an effort to get organized. But what this amounts to is putting various things into certain categories or stacks. Then he forgets which stack or category materials are in, so ultimately he puts them back into one pile and is still frustrated.

HANKS

One day he misplaced a notebook which was a necessity to carry on his job. He first accused friends of hiding it, frantically searched his car, his apartment, only to find it where he left it—in his top desk drawer.

INCIDENTALLY, it had been left there during one of his "organization" campaigns, and he would "always" remember that it was there.

On the personal side, he lets 16 out of 17 shirts get dirty before he takes them to the laundry. I must admit he keeps getting a bigger collection of shirts because when he runs out completely he simply buys a new one to wear.

And then last Feb. 16, early in the morning he quietly installed his '66 license plates.

I used to sit across from a co-worker who was just the opposite — over-organized.

FIRST OF ALL, she had to clean the desk every morning before she started work, then would complete the same task every evening.

Then she would carefully open all mail, determine which was important, decide what would be done in the morning, the afternoon, the next day, — never, etc.

By then it was 10:30 a.m. and time for her 14th "organized" cup of coffee. Next comes the telephone calls, retyping of notes, then lunch.

After a second "organization effort" in the afternoon, some days she actually gets some work completed. Sometimes this means reorganization of notes — again, then reorganization of what she's reorganized — it never ceases.

THEN THERE is another associate, a model of organization. At the job sharply at 8 a.m., everything completed by a certain time, time to relax, interruptions don't seem to bother him. He is calm, collected and, of course —organized. He's disgusting!

It doesn't end there; he leaves work at a certain time, arrives within 10 minutes of the same time every evening, and leaves for work at the same time every day.

I'll bet he doesn't even scratch his head unless it's planned in advance.

I'm wondering what would happen if someday everything went wrong. Would he react in the same calm manner?

WELL, I'M just vicious enough to hope it happens and I'm there to watch. I hope he comes apart at the seams.

Now that I think about it, organized people are real bores and over organized people are nerve racking. I'll stick with the unorganized, maybe we don't accomplish much, but we sure enjoy ourselves.

The Way We See It

Equal Vote Issue Crucial to Suburbs

A few weeks ago a West Coast publicity firm was hired to help sell Sen. Dirksen's proposed Constitutional amendment to nullify the Supreme Court's one man, one vote ruling.

Now we have received their first pamphlet. It is just as unconvincing as previous efforts to prove that a step backward would actually mean progress.

The pamphlet starts by claiming that "most" states "always" have adhered to a system of electing one house of the legislature on a geographical basis. This is not true of Illinois and other neighboring states.

The Northwest Ordinance of 1787 guaranteed equal representation in the lation. This Ordinance is a good indication of the intent of the Founding Fathers.

The Illinois constitutions of 1818, 1848, and 1870 provided for equal representation by population in both houses of the legislature.

But because there was no penalty provided, rural legislators defied the state constitution's mandate to reapportion for half a century, from 1903 to 1954. They forced the acceptance of area representation in 1954 as the only method available at that time to the majority to gain partial relief from malapportionment.

Plainly, tradition in Illinois is on the side of the one man, one vote doctrine.

The pamphlet also ignores the Supreme Court's ruling that each individual has a Constitutional right to an equal vote.

People cannot properly be deprived of a Constitutional right, such as freedom of speech or trial by jury, even by referendum. The right to an equal voice in government is basic and inviolable.

The pamphlet repeats the scare story that big-city bosses will take over if voting is equal. Experience is deflating that bogeyman, however. In a study made recently for the National municipal League, William J. D. Boyd wrote:

"Rather than being dominated by the big cities, as is commonly supposed, the new legislatures will see suburban representatives increase the most."

Boyd's study showed suburbs gaining in population, big cities losing, and the trend being away from big city domination instead of toward it.

It is worth pointing out, too, that big cities do not have a monopoly of political bossism. Downstate bosses can have a grip as tight as Daley's.

Finally, the Dirksen Amendment, in the name of saving state government, would sound its death knell.

A primary cause of the shift of governmental power to Washington has been the failure of state governments to meet the needs of growing populations.

Rural representatives have ignored these problems because they were largely the problems of urban and suburban areas and not of the farms and small towns. Thus, the root of state legislative failure has been in malapportionment resulting from the area representation concept.

The only way to reverse the flow of power and to preserve the Federal system is to elect state legislatures which represent the people, know their problems, and will seek solutions.

It is no accident that the last Illinois General Assembly, which had many more suburban legislators than ever before because of the at-large election, was the most productive legislature within memory.

The suburbs cannot afford to go back to the horse and buggy days when urgent problems of schools, mental health, traffic, pollution, highways and tax reform were neglected by an indifferent rural power bloc.

The Truth on Pesticides

A recent four-day symposium in Washington on pesticides again pointed up the need for more research and study in this field.

Such research should have the highest priority. Nothing is more important than the health of people.

The symposium again brought forth the contending voices which have been debating pesticides for the past few years.

Some speakers proved how thoroughly pesticides have penetrated to wildlife in every corner of the world. Even penguins which never leave the Antarctic and feed on nonmigratory local crustaceans have DDT in their fat or liver.

Pesticide defenders cited the benefits of chemicals in increasing crop yields and quality. They argued that pesticides are safe when used according to directions.

One of the problems, of course, is to police the use of pesticides. How can we make sure they are used according to directions? But a more fundamental problem is to learn the full truth about their effect on man and his environment. This will require a lot more research and study. The federal government should provide the manpower and money needed to find the answers.

High Campaign Costs

The announcement was made on the last day of February that Great Britain will elect a new parliament a month hence. One month is time enough for campaigning in Britain and the total cost of the whole affair probably will be less than was spent recently in electing just a mayor of New York.

High campaign costs are a menace to democracy. Today a candidate for office must either have a personal fortune or obligate himself to interests which are willing to give him hefty contributions.

It is hard to say which is worse: making public office a monopoly of the wealthy, or electing officials who are beholden to special interests.

Television has been called the key to a solution. E. William Henry, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, proposed last year that television stations be required to give time to candidates in proportion to the time they sell them. The free time would be divided equally.

This is a good proposal. Since television operates under license to use the public air waves, it should be willing to cooperate in helping solve the acute problem of sky-high campaign costs.

'Unorganized' Earn Support

by DAVE HANKS
Staff Writer

Organized, unorganized and over organized.

Which category are you in?

I fit better in the unorganized department.

But I'm not alone, because I have several friends who are worse. There is an associate who completely rebels against it.

Besides that, he's lazy.

For instance, his office desk is mass confusion.

He misplaces telephone messages, writes notes to himself, then loses them in the jumble. Occasionally, he makes an effort to get organized. But what this amounts to is putting various things into certain categories or stacks. Then he forgets which stack or category materials are in, so ultimately he puts them back into one pile and is still frustrated.

Man in the News

The First President

by PAT HENSEL
Staff Writer

A wiry, slight man with deep brown eyes and thinning gray hair fidgeted with his pen.

"I guess—well, I guess I would read something."

He had just been asked what he'd rather do if he had a spare two hours, wasn't tired, and wasn't worried about anything.

THE MODEST, but far from shy, wiry man was George Seaton of Burr Ridge, first president of the board of education of DuPage County Junior College District 502.

As such, he faces one of the most monumental jobs ever to confront the county's educational task force.

Elected to the college board late in January, he has been president since its first meeting early in February.

Top item on the agenda is physical organization of a junior college, and "getting a staff to carry on the work of establishing the college," Seaton said.

THAT'S WHERE his professional training comes in.

Effective Tuesday, he is a retired vice president of operations for the Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

"But in establishing a college, you have to have certain policies in mind," Seaton continued. "You have to keep in mind just what it is you're trying to do.

That's where his civic experience qualifies him. As chairman of the planning committee and a director of the Chicago Metropolitan Housing and Planning Council, Seaton comprehends the scope of his new task.

GEORGE SEATON

"Our duty, at first, was to study housing progress," he said of his work with the MHPC. "This, naturally, got us into planning. We hadn't got into planning very long before we realized we couldn't confine ourselves just to Chicago. It had to be the whole area."

THE 65-YEAR-OLD board president likens his work with MHPC to his work with the junior college.

"I'm sure none of the board members has any preconceived idea of just what is needed to make this project the successful one we envision.

"Only by constant talking and studying together can we come to some conclusion" as to crieteria for organizing and staffing the junior college.

Seaton and his wife built the home they live in back in 1939. A nine-room two-story "country house," it sits on more than three acres of wooded, rolling land in the far south end of DuPage County. There's a creek.

HE PONDERED a moment before confiding what he liked best about his home.

"Well, this land, for the most part, never had been grazed. So, there are quite a few varieties of wild flowers. I guess the wild flowers, and the naturalness of the land, are what my wife and I like best."

Parents of three children, and grandparents of five, the Seatons have an extensive library.

STILL PLAYING with his pen, he said, "I like to vary my reading. I like to keep up with the things I'm interested in."

The list, apparently, is endless, but the extent of his library can cope with the problem:

"When I want to read about something in particular, I get books from wherever I can—generally from my own library."

Asked where, or how, he accumulated so many books, Seaton sprang another surprise. He was on the board and member of the executive committee of the Great Books Foundation.

INTRODUCING THE subject of "vices" in the rambling interview, Seaton was reminded of another tidbit (but did not explain the connection):

"That's always a question: What are vices? But, I guess I ought to mention I was on the championship track team for the Illinois Athletic Club."

Seaton said he found himself drawn into the election for the junior college board after the committee which organized the college district "decided they ought to put up a slate to carry out their original concepts."

Because of his executive and administrative experience the committee felt he might know something about how to get a job done.

THROUGH HIS professional and civic work, Seaton has developed sort of a "hot line" with the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, the Randolph Commission, and, consequently, with the state legislature and U. S. Congress.

He is a member of the Fair Employment Practices Commission, was vice president of the Illinois School Board Association, and is known locally for service on the Districts 181 and 86 Hinsdale school boards.

He doesn't know if the junior college board will follow to the letter a 100-page survey prepared in 1964 to aid the establishment of a college.

"I hesitate to declare it a foundation," Seaton said, still toying with his pen.

"But, I think DuPage is a prize area for a community college, and that's exactly what this board wants as its objective."

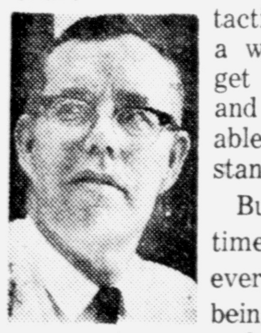
Consensus on the Mound

By BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

President Johnson's determination to agree with his critics as well as his supporters is having a confusing effect on newspaper readers.

This is to be expected because of the newness of the tactic. After a while we'll get used to it and be better able to understand it.



CUMMINS

But for the time being everyone is being dragged under the consensus tent, whether he wants to be there or not.

Secretary Rusk favors war to the end and the President says that makes him "first with me." But Sen. Fulbright and others disagree with Rusk and the President agrees with them too. Hubert Humphrey wants no truck with the Viet Cong but Bobby Kennedy sees them in a future Viet government. Both men have the hearty support of the President. This is Consensus with a capital "C." It's pretty hard to beat.

IN FACT, I can see it sweeping the country. Really, it's lots better than all the wrangling about who is right or wrong.

I can picture myself in the ball park early next fall. We are nearing the end of a terrific pennant race. The Chattanooga Cup Cakes are tied with the Schenectady Slipped Disks for the league lead. And this is the big one. Yes, folks, this is it. Everything is riding on every pitch. You can feel the tension crackling in the air. The team that wins this game wins the pennant!

The Cup Cakes seize the lead in the second inning when one of Curt Corby's curve balls hangs and Biff Bellows belts it into the upper deck.

But the Slipped Disks fight back. In the fifth inning one of Slim Slade's sliders gets away from him and "Nails" Nesbitt hammers it over the right field wall.

THEN THE pitchers take over. They are magnificent. Their curve balls break like they are rolling off a table. Their fast balls look like aspirin tablets. And so the game goes into the bottom of the 9th still tied at 1-1.

The Cup Cakes go out in order. So do the first two Slipped Disk batters. Then Stu Mulligan steps to the plate. A ball. A strike. A ball. A strike. A ball. Full count. "The string is out," Milo Hamilton tells the radio listeners.

On the next pitch, Mulligan takes a mighty swing and connects. The ball soars to deepest center field, back . . .back . . . back . . .over the head of the outfielder. Mulligan rounds second and heads for third . . .then rounds third and heads for home. Can he beat the relay? He slides home in a cloud of dust. What does the umpire say?

The umpire, who is none other than The Old Arbiter, Landon Bates Jackson, has one hand spread out palm down and level with the ground. The other hand has been jerked, thumb protruding, to a spot above his shoulder.

MULLIGAN IS both safe and out at the same time!

Everyone in the crowd jumps for joy. The Cup Cake fans are ecstatic because their team has won the pennant. So are the Slipped Disk fans.

They used to say "Somebody loses, somebody wins." But that's old hat since Landon Bates Jackson started umpiring.

Suggests Adapting Park Swim Pools for School Team Use

I was one of many parents who attended the recent meting of the school board of District 214 when we heard that the question of continuing the interscholastic swimming program was on the agenda.

It seemed obvious that the have neatly scuttled the program were it not for the objections voiced by the parents. We were dismayed when Supt. Slichenmyer reported to the board that the athletic directors and coaches were not in favor of continuing the sport.

Perhaps if these men showed just half of the enthusiasm displayed by the boys they coach the sport would really flourish. I would think they would be the top supporters of any athletic program.

There is no question that our teams need pools. Here is hoping some dedicated group will promote a plan to better use our park district pools. These represent a tremendous investment and are only being enjoyed for a few weeks during the year.

Certainly there must be some way that a removable enclosure could be designed so that they could be used the year around.

Sees Dogmatism Blocking Path To Viet Peace

It has been exciting to watch and read about the great debate which has been going on at official levels concerning the Viet Nam problem. It is re-assuring to know that we have in government weighty and intelligent people such as Maxwell Taylor, Dean Rusk, the Senators Fulbright, Morse, Gore and others.

Perhaps the most inspiring of all is the renewed realization that we live in a society where open discussion and deliberation are that society's true strength and reason for being.

Yet I do feel, from the tone of public testimony by persons connected with the Johnson administration, that our government's general attitude toward political and ideological matters elsewhere tends to be that of both judge and jury.

Also, it is disturbing that one has some difficulty in detecting outward signs of humility and self-appraisal on the part of our official position abroad. This disturbs me, because I believe that rigidity and dogmatism, whether done honestly or for effect, have a way of blocking more satisfactory methods of relating to problems.

I do not believe a sense of humility, and a willingness to self-examine, imply weakness necessarily. They prove just the opposite, in my view. I think it was Socrates who said that the un-examined life is not worth living.

I do not blame individual persons for our problems. The whole world is a victim of its continued belief in physical force when all else fails. Nor do I want to minimize the unreasonableness and resolve of groups which may oppose us.

Instead, I am very much concerned that my countrymen realize the unilateral importance of attitude in connection with our country's job of helping to organize a significant peace.

School Holiday On Washington's Birthday Urged

Yesterday I was surprised to learn that the students attending schools in School District 26 were not given a day's vacation on Washington's Birthday.

I fully understand the necessity for the school board to meet state requirements for a specific number of school days in each school term. Even with this in mind I advocate Washington's Birthday become a holiday for school children and if necessary an extra day be added to the term in June.

It seems to me in times like these when young men are burning draft cards and college students are obstructing national policy (I have no objection to college students or anyone else questioning our national policy but obstructing the policy is another matter) we would do well to teach our children an appreciation of patriotism and nationalism and the observance of the first president's birthday is one manner of teaching these principles.

Publicity Helps Maternity Center Benefit

The members of the northwest area fund-raising team for The Chicago Maternity Center have asked me to thank you in their behalf for the very fine coverage you have given their benefit party during the past few weeks.

Our Feb. 12 party was especially successful and we know that the publicity we had through Paddock Publications was a significant factor.

As a rather time-worn publicity chairman for the team, I sincerely appreciate all the assistance you have given me — not only in the placing of our items, but your suggestions and advice. Thank you so very much. It has been a special pleasure to carry through my assignments because of your help.

Our benefit party again realized a substantial sum which has been forwarded to The Chicago Maternity Center. We are elated to have lived up to our reputation of being the top fund raising team in the entire Chicago area. We are grateful for your assistance.

Grant to Benefit Student Workshop

A National Science Foundation grant has been awarded the Chicago Planetarium Society for the continuance of an Astro-Science Workshop for Chicago area high school students, according to Prof. J. Allen Hynek, chairman of Northwestern University's Astronomy Department and director of the workshop.

THE PROGRAM, largest of its kind in the nation, is considered a prime source of future astronomers for the United States.

Letters will be sent to Chicago area high school principals requesting nominations of students whose achievements and interests might qualify them for the program.

Fifty students will be chosen early in May. They will meet each Saturday at the Adler Planetarium and Astronomical Museum to work with visiting astronomers from cooperating universities.

The Workshop is sponsored by the Chicago Planetarium Society. Seven Midwest universities cooperate in the academic program.

Six present and past students of Astro-Science Workshop were named the honors group of the Westinghouse Talent Search. Among them was Uldis Saule, Willowbrook Community High School. (A15

Register Story Compared to TV Soap Opera

Enclosed is the story of the Keeling case which appeared in the Bensenville Register of Feb. 17, 1966.

I have talked to a lot of good citizens of Bensenville and they all agree that this was the most amateurish article they had ever read—like Peyton Place on TV.

I doubt very much if the quotes of the Bensenville officials were accurate. It seems to me that it is the newspaper's duty to report the actual facts of a case and leave the "hearts and flowers" to the soap operas.

Now that I have returned the article I can finish reading the rest of the paper.

PTA Supports Junior College Board on Site

At the last general meeting of the Hillcrest PTA a resolution was passed supporting selection of the Rathje site in Schaumburg Township for the junior college.

We would appreciate continuing efforts to obtain this site!

The consensus of our membership believes that the benefits this area would derive, far outweigh the questionable estimate of loss of revenue to our township by using this site for a school instead of industry.

We feel sure that a college of this type would in all probability hasten industrial building within the township. It is a well known fact that this arrangement gives industry a ready labor market.

We fel it would definitely increase our real estate values and be an additional boon to local economy through faculty and student spending in the area.

INDUSTRY SOUNDS OFF

in the 1966 Paddock Industrial Review

A special newspaper section for and about the Economic, Physical and Future growth of Industry in the great Northwest Suburban Area.

The Northwest Suburbs represent one of the country's most active, prosperous and enthusiastic areas . . . these people are proud of their community, their homes, and of the industrial infiltration that has affected their neighborhoods and their lives.

This influx of industry to the suburbs has made people aware of the association of industry with suburbia, and consequently, they want to know more about the inner working of their industrial neighbors.

To answer this desire, Paddock Publications publishes a yearly Industrial Review. This is delivered to our readership as a special, self-contained newspaper section containing complete editorial coverage about the great industrial present and future. Also, it lets the various participating industrial companies present their own personalized story, written by the companies, themselves, if desired.

Suggests Adapting Park Swim Pools for School Team Use

I was one of many parents who attended the recent meting of the school board of District 214 when we heard that the question of continuing the interscholastic swimming program was on the agenda.

It seemed obvious that the have neatly scuttled the program were it not for the objections voiced by the parents. We were dismayed when Supt. Slichenmyer reported to the board that the athletic directors and coaches were not in favor of continuing the sport.

Perhaps if these men showed just half of the enthusiasm displayed by the boys they coach the sport would really flourish. I would think they would be the top supporters of any athletic program.

There is no question that our teams need pools. Here is hoping some dedicated group will promote a plan to better use our park district pools. These represent a tremendous investment and are only being enjoyed for a few weeks during the year.

Certainly there must be some way that a removable enclosure could be designed so that they could be used the year around.

Sees Dogmatism Blocking Path To Viet Peace

It has been exciting to watch and read about the great debate which has been going on at official levels concerning the Viet Nam problem. It is re-assuring to know that we have in government weighty and intelligent people such as Maxwell Taylor, Dean Rusk, the Senators Fulbright, Morse, Gore and others.

Perhaps the most inspiring of all is the renewed realization that we live in a society where open discussion and deliberation are that society's true strength and reason for being.

Yet I do feel, from the tone of public testimony by persons connected with the Johnson administration, that our government's general attitude toward political and ideological matters elsewhere tends to be that of both judge and jury.

Also, it is disturbing that one has some difficulty in detecting outward signs of humility and self-appraisal on the part of our official position abroad. This disturbs me, because I believe that rigidity and dogmatism, whether done honestly or for effect, have a way of blocking more satisfactory methods of relating to problems.

I do not believe a sense of humility, and a willingness to self-examine, imply weakness necessarily. They prove just the opposite, in my view. I think it was Socrates who said that the un-examined life is not worth living.

I do not blame individual persons for our problems. The whole world is a victim of its continued belief in physical force when all else fails. Nor do I want to minimize the unreasonableness and resolve of groups which may oppose us.

Instead, I am very much concerned that my countrymen realize the unilateral importance of attitude in connection with our country's job of helping to organize a significant peace.

School Holiday On Washington's Birthday Urged

Yesterday I was surprised to learn that the students attending schools in School District 26 were not given a day's vacation on Washington's Birthday.

I fully understand the necessity for the school board to meet state requirements for a specific number of school days in each school term. Even with this in mind I advocate Washington's Birthday become a holiday for school children and if necessary an extra day be added to the term in June.

It seems to me in times like these when young men are burning draft cards and college students are obstructing national policy (I have no objection to college students or anyone else questioning our national policy but obstructing the policy is another matter) we would do well to teach our children an appreciation of patriotism and nationalism and the observance of the first president's birthday is one manner of teaching these principles.

Publicity Helps Maternity Center Benefit

The members of the northwest area fund-raising team for The Chicago Maternity Center have asked me to thank you in their behalf for the very fine coverage you have given their benefit party during the past few weeks.

Our Feb. 12 party was especially successful and we know that the publicity we had through Paddock Publications was a significant factor.

As a rather time-worn publicity chairman for the team, I sincerely appreciate all the assistance you have given me — not only in the placing of our items, but your suggestions and advice. Thank you so very much. It has been a special pleasure to carry through my assignments because of your help.

Our benefit party again realized a substantial sum which has been forwarded to The Chicago Maternity Center. We are elated to have lived up to our reputation of being the top fund raising team in the entire Chicago area. We are grateful for your assistance.

Register Story Compared to TV Soap Opera

Enclosed is the story of the Keeling case which appeared in the Bensenville Register of Feb. 17, 1966.

I have talked to a lot of good citizens of Bensenville and they all agree that this was the most amateurish article they had ever read—like Peyton Place on TV.

I doubt very much if the quotes of the Bensenville officials were accurate. It seems to me that it is the newspaper's duty to report the actual facts of a case and leave the "hearts and flowers" to the soap operas.

Now that I have returned the article I can finish reading the rest of the paper.

Letters, Cards Brought Joy

This is a letter of appreciation and thanks to the friends and acquaintances of the late Ira Peak, formerly of Itasca. Their many letters and cards over the years brought much joy and happiness to him. A special thanks to "the boys" who were always a source of happiness to him.

PTA Supports Junior College Board on Site

At the last general meeting of the Hillcrest PTA a resolution was passed supporting selection of the Rathje site in Schaumburg Township for the junior college.

We would appreciate continuing efforts to obtain this site!

The consensus of our membership believes that the benefits this area would derive, far outweigh the questionable estimate of loss of revenue to our township by using this site for a school instead of industry.

We feel sure that a college of this type would in all probability hasten industrial building within the township. It is a well known fact that this arrangement gives industry a ready labor market.

We fel it would definitely increase our real estate values and be an additional boon to local economy through faculty and student spending in the area.

Eagle Scout Recognition Day Called Success

The Northwest Suburban Council has recently completed its Ninth Annual Eagle Recognition Day and Dinner Program.

You have provided some very valuable assistance in making this activity a success. Without the cooperation of men like yourself, the Northwest Suburban Council could not bring to boys within its boundaries, a successful Scouting program.

May I extend sincere thanks to you on behalf of all Eagle Scouts and offer the resources of Scouting to you on any opportunity that we may be of assistance.

Appreciated Hoffman Herald Story on Owls

I am delighted with the owl story in the Herald today.

Bless your hearts. Another blow has been struck in the interest of conservation — which has become an overwhelming concern to me.

I'm grateful to you for seeing the merit in the story — maybe the remaining 10 owls will be preserved to return to their nesting grounds.

8 New Library Systems Approved

The Illinois State Library Advisory Committee has forwarded recommendations to Secretary of State Paul Powell concerning eight library systems under the plan authorized by the General Assembly in its last session.

Secretary Powell will act immediately on receiving the documented recommendations adopted at a committee meeting in Chicago.

Approval was indicated for Chicago; Illinois Valley, headquarters in Peoria; System 16, Champaign; Northern Illinois, headquartering in Rockford, and System 21, headed by Morris Library, Southern Illinois University.

Conditional approval was advised for Western Illinois, headquartering at Monmouth, Rolling Prairie, Decatur, and Corn Belt, with the main library at Bloomington. These latter three systems fall short in either population (150,000) or area (4,000 square miles) requirements, but such discrepancies can be rectified without much trouble by annexing contiguous areas to the systems, the committee advised.

ALL THESE systems will be funded with establishment grants March 1 on approval of Secretary Powell. Chicago, Western, and Rolling Prairie, having progressed to the final functional stage, are eligible for area and per capita grants March 1 and all eight will be in position to receive area and per capita grants July 1.

These are the first systems ready to activate in a contemplated 21 systems. The appropriation available under legisla-

IN MEMORIAM

After nearly 7½ years of reporting local square dance activity I have come to feel like godmother to the whole square dancing world. Its successes and joys are mine—but, sadly, so are its failures and sorrows. That's why I grieve, too, at the news of the death in Viet Nam of Ross Paterson, a Palatine lad and former member of a local square dance teen club. He was only a name to me, 'way back in 1960 and 1961, as I wrote news of the Cardinal Promenaders, but it was easy to see that he went all-out for the success of his club. Ross was one of those kids who was determined to make "teenager" a word to be proud of.

Last month he went all-out for his country, too. Former fellow club members have asked me to add their condolences, via this column, to all the others going to his bereft family. Ross Paterson is still only a name to me, but I hope that his friends will permit my condolences to go along with theirs.

Most of the time it's fun to write this column. Not today, though.

Anyone wishing to add to the Ross Paterson Memorial Fund is asked to send the contribution to the Bank of Elk Grove. Ross' parents have designed the orphans of the First Cavalry, Air Mobile Division, as beneficiaries of the fund. A square dance in Ross' honor is being discussed by his many friends; full information about it will appear here if the discussions bring results.

A hat show, rummage sale and smorgasbord dinner are on the agenda of the Palatine American Legion Auxiliary. First event will be the hat show which is slated for Sunday afternoon, March 13 at 2 p.m. in the Legion home, 122 W. Chicago Ave.

Hats from the Flair Shop in Des Plaines will be available.

Hours for the rummage sale, also to be held at the Legion Hall on Friday, March 25, will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and items will include clothing, knick knacks, homebaked cookies, cup cakes and brownies.

The Spring smorgasbord has been set for Sunday, April 24, according to Mrs. Paul Magnuson, ways and means chairman. Serving will be from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the Legion Home and the public is being invited.

PLANS FOR THESE events were discussed at the unit's Feb. 24 meeting. Announced during the meeting was the poppy poster contest which is open to all area school children. Unit President Mrs. Frank Orzelek reports that the contest is divided into three classes: first class, students in 4th, 5th and 6th grades; second class for 7th, 8th and 9th grades; and third class for 10th, 11th and 12th grades.

There will be three winners in each class, with the three first place winners entered in the district contest and those winners advancing to the state contest.

Any child interested in entering this contest who does not receive instructions at school may contact Mrs. Magnuson at Flanders 8-3805. Posters must be entered by the end of April as judging will take place May 1. Last year a Palatine Unit entry was third place winner in the state judging.

MRS. JAMES KISSNER displayed for sale Veterans' Crafts, made by disabled veterans out of the hospital. She also asked for cancelled stamps, especially commemorative or foreign stamps, for use by veterans in hospitals.

The unit's district meeting will be held March 17 at the Portage Park Post, Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago. (S

TOPS Hear Testimonial

Tops of the Evening, a diet club of women in the Arlington Heights area, recently heard a testimonial talk by Mrs. Evelyn Kolichman of Skokie Slendarettes. Mrs. Kolichman is a perfect example of a TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) member as she lost 140 pounds and has kept her weight at that goal since shedding it four years ago.

Seventy-five persons listened to her describe how "I Did It, So Can You."

DEDICATED to weight reduction through sensible diet and exercise, the local Tops of the Evening met every Tuesday evening at 7:30 in Pioneer Park Fieldhouse, Arlington Heights.

Group leader, Mrs. J. Kaufmann, may be called at CL 5-4803, for details

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS

HOW TO PLAY

To play, merely check the ads in the Sunday Suburbanite on Sunday, or the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications. Different set of numbers each Sunday and each Thursday means two different games with the same card. Many ads contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the Bingo Bug (shown above). Other numbers, most of them in this symbol, will be scattered throughout the paper. On the want ad pages the numbers will be included in special type with the notation of "Newspaper Bingo Bug Sez." If you can match all 24 numbers on any one of your Bingo cards (see example of a winning card) with those appearing in either the Sunday Suburbanite, or the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications (but not both), you have a "Bingo" and you are a winner.

$100 WEEKLY!!

Winners will share a weekly cash prize of $100. If there is only one winner, he gets all $100. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share equally. If there are no winners any week, the $100 weekly prize money will be added to the following week's prize fund!

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE PAPER

Each Sunday Suburbanite game is complete within one issue of the Sunday Suburbanite; each Paddock Thursday game is complete within one issue of the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications. You cannot use numbers from both issues for the same game. A new set of numbers will appear in the Sunday Suburbanite each Sunday, plus another new set of numbers in the Paddock Thursday editions. A new color Bingo card will be available each week at the participating stores. To be a winner, you must use a Bingo Card of the correct color for that week's games. The color card for each week's games will be announced each week in the newspaper.

IF YOU ARE A WINNER . . .

If you nave a winning Bingo Card, all 24 numbers of which appear in either the Sunday Suburbanite or your Thursday edition of Paddock Publications, write your name, address, phone number and from which store you procured the card on the back, and drop in the mail to Paddock office. Envelope must be postmarked by Friday of that week; or bring your card in to the office of Paddock Publications at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights by 9 a.m. of the following Monday morning.

RULES OF THE GAME:

DIFFERENT COLORED CARDS EACH WEEK

The color of the cards changes each week. To be a winner, you must use a Bingo Card of the correct color for that week. Mutilated cards will not be honored. All 24 numbers must be covered to win.

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS

Bingo numbers will be drawn at random from a Bingo Number cage at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

Some duplication of Bingo Numbers may exist in certain sponsors' ads due to a newspaper production problem. This duplication in No Way affects the total number of Bingo numbers drawn. All numbers Drawn at Random from our Bingo Cage Appear Somewhere In Each Issue Of the Newspapers.

'Mary, Mary' Leads Go to Joan Hazlett, Bob Johnson

Joan Hazlett, a former Elk Grove Villager now residing in Arlington Heights, will play the title role originally written especially for Barbara Bel Geddes when Masque and Staff presents Jean Kerr's "Mary, Mary" later this month.

The author had been delighted with Miss Bel Geddes' performance in "The Moon Is Blue" some years before and, dismayed that this charming comedienne was subsequently acting only in serious plays, decided to write a comedy just for her. Luckily, Miss Bel Geddes liked the play and agreed to take the part.

Barry Nelson, Miss Bel Geddes' co-star in the play, had also been in the earlier production. Even though he was recommended to her as a natural for "Mary, Mary," Mrs. Kerr was at first reluctant to cast him, quipping, as the story goes, that "I don't want my play to seem like 'Son of the Moon Is Blue.' "

BARRY NELSON was the best actor for the part, and he helped to make "Mary, Mary" one of the great successes of American stage history. It was one of the few non-musical plays to run over 1,500 performances in New York.

Playing the Barry Nelson role opposite Joan Hazlett in the Masque and Staff production will be Bob Johnson. Bob, coincidentally, also played in the group's performance of "The Moon Is Blue" two years ago.

JOAN HAZLETT

"Mary, Mary" is the fourth play to be presented by Masque and Staff in the popular dinner-and-play format it introduced to northwest community theater two years ago. Earlier productions were "Moon Is Blue," mentioned above, "Everybody Loves Opal" and "Janus." The play will be staged in The Green Tree Inn in Bensenville. For a single admission price, patrons are served a full dinner, including dessert, and then remain at their tables to see the play.

ACCORDING TO the play's producer, Jim Spahr, the restaurant facility being used this year is considerably larger than that employed previously, and he promises guests greater comfort and "more elbow room." He urges, however, that reservations be made as early as possible, especially for the Saturday night performances, which fill up fast.

The play is scheduled for the evenings of March 18, 19, 20 and 25, 26 and 27, and April 1, 2 and 3. Dinners (including a fish entree, among others, for Fridays) will be served beginning at 7 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays and at 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Additional information may be obtained and reservations made by calling HE 9-7971 or by calling HE 9-7971

Choral Society Re-elects Kjos

Neil A. Kjos Jr., sales manager of Kjos Music Co. of Park Ridge, was re-elected president of Northwest Choral Society at a recent meeting of the society's board of directors.

The non-profit cultural organization is open to any interested singers in northwest Chicagoland. Persons wishing to sing in the spring concert should apply before March 15. They may come to the weekly rehearsals held at 8 p.m. Mondays at Good Shepherd Community Church, Home Avenue and Ballard Road, Des Plaines. (Bill

Lyric Lists Casts For Two Operas

Lyric Opera of Chicago's 1966 season premiere presentation of "Boris Godounov" will have Nicolai Ghiaurov, bass star of the past three seasons, in the title role.

Selection of Ghiaurov was announced by Lyric last week along with the rest of the singers for "Boris Godounov" as well as the cast for Lyric's first production of Bizet's "The Pearl Fishers."

THE MARINA OF "Boris Godounov" will be the Yugoslavian mezzo-soprano, Ruza Pospinov, who just recently made her U.S.A. debut.

Making his American debut as Prince Shuisky will be Bulgarian tenor Milen Paunov.

Carlo Cossutta, tenor from Trieste who made his U.S. debut with Lyric Opera in the 1963 season, will appear as the pretender to the Czarist throne, Dimitri.

William Wildermann, a mainstay of the Lyric company for many years, will return after an absence of several seasons to sing the principal role of Pimen in "Boris Godounov."

FOR LYRIC'S "The Pearl Fishers," Mirella Freni, Italian soprano who made her Lyric debut last season, will be the Leila. Alfredo Kraus, who has sung many leading tenor roles in Lyric productions the past four years, will be the Nadir.

Sesto Bruscantini will add to his list of Lyric mountings as Zurga, and Nicolai Ghiuselev, another Bulgarian bass, heard previously at the Metropolitan and San Francisco Operas, will be heard as Nourabad.

Watercolor Program Set for Art Guild

Rudolph Ohrning, member of the American Watercolor Society, will give a landscape demonstration in watercolor for meeting of the Des Plaines Art Guild next Monday, at 8 o'clock, at the West Park Field House in Des Plaines.

Ohrning is a graduate of the American Academy of Art, Chicago. He has exhibited nationally in the American Watercolor Society in New York, the National Academy of Design in New York, the Knickerbocker Artists in New York, the Allied Artists of America in New York, Swedish-American Exhibition in Chicago and the Alabama Watercolor Society in Birmingham Museum of Art.

HE HAS ALSO exhibited at the Illinois State Fair, Union League Club of Chicago, State Museum in Springfield, and the Renaissance Society at the University of Chicago. He has had many one man shows in the Chicago area and is represented in the Sales and Rental Gallery of the Art Institute of Chicago.

Members and guests are invited to attend this demonstration by Ohrning.

Paintings by members of the Des Plaines Art Guild will be on exhibit in conjunction with the Family Night Supper at the Northwest Suburban YMCA on Friday March 18, from 2 to 10 p.m. and at the spring art show at the Des Plaines Trust and Savings Bank, on Sunday, May 22. Bill

Lyric Members Attend Luncheon

Mrs. Richard Impey of Arlington Heights, president of Northwest Chapter of Lyric Opera of Chicago, and Mrs. Gilbert B. McIntosh II of Palatine, benefit chairman, attended a luncheon Monday for Rise Stevens, Metropolitan Opera star, and Carol Fox, Lyric's general manager.

The luncheon was held by the Lyric Guild which will sponsor the opening night performance by the Metropolitan Opera National Co. of Carlistle Floyd's "Susannah." The benefit proceeds of that performance on April 18 will go to the Lyric Gurild Production Fund. (Bill

'Mary, Mary' Leads Go to Joan Hazlett, Bob Johnson

Joan Hazlett, a former Elk Grove Villager now residing in Arlington Heights, will play the title role originally written especially for Barbara Bel Geddes when Masque and Staff presents Jean Kerr's "Mary, Mary" later this month.

The author had been delighted with Miss Bel Geddes' performance in "The Moon Is Blue" some years before and, dismayed that this charming comedienne was subsequently acting only in serious plays, decided to write a comedy just for her. Luckily, Miss Bel Geddes liked the play and agreed to take the part.

Barry Nelson, Miss Bel Geddes' co-star in the play, had also been in the earlier production. Even though he was recommended to her as a natural for "Mary, Mary," Mrs. Kerr was at first reluctant to cast him, quipping, as the story goes, that "I don't want my play to seem like 'Son of the Moon Is Blue.'"

BARRY NELSON was the best actor for the part, and he helped to make "Mary, Mary" one of the great successes of American stage history. It was one of the few non-musical plays to run over 1,500 performances in New York.

Playing the Barry Nelson role opposite Joan Hazlett in the Masque and Staff production will be Bob Johnson. Bob, coincidentally, also played in the group's performance of "The Moon Is Blue" two years ago.

JOAN HAZLETT

"Mary, Mary" is the fourth play to be presented by Masque and Staff in the popular dinner-and-play format it introduced to northwest community theater two years ago. Earlier productions were "Moon Is Blue," mentioned above, "Everybody Loves Opal" and "Janus." The play will be staged in The Green Tree Inn in Bensenville. For a single admission price, patrons are served a full dinner, including dessert, and then remain at their tables to see the play.

ACCORDING TO the play's producer, Jim Spahr, the restaurant facility being used this year is considerably larger than that employed previously, and he promises guests greater comfort and "more elbow room." He urges, however, that reservations be made as early as possible, especially for the Saturday night performances, which fill up fast.

The play is scheduled for the evenings of March 18, 19, 20 and 25, 26 and 27, and April 1, 2 and 3. Dinners (including a fish entree, among others, for Fridays) will be served beginning at 7 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays and at 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Additional information may be obtained and reservations made by calling HE 9-7971 or by calling HE 9-7971

Choral Society Re-elects Kjos

Neil A. Kjos Jr., sales manager of Kjos Music Co. of Park Ridge, was re-elected president of Northwest Choral Society at a recent meeting of the society's board of directors.

The non-profit cultural organization is open to any interested singers in northwest Chicagoland. Persons wishing to sing in the spring concert should apply before March 15. They may come to the weekly rehearsals held at 8 p.m. Mondays at Good Shepherd Community Church, Home Avenue and Ballard Road, Des Plaines. (Bill

Lyric Lists Casts For Two Operas

Lyric Opera of Chicago's 1966 season premiere presentation of "Boris Godounov" will have Nicolai Ghiaurov, bass star of the past three seasons, in the title role.

Selection of Ghiaurov was announced by Lyric last week along with the rest of the singers for "Boris Godounov" as well as the cast for Lyric's first production of Bizet's "The Pearl Fishers."

THE MARINA OF "Boris Godounov" will be the Yugoslavian mezzo-soprano, Ruza Pospinov, who just recently made her U.S.A. debut.

Making his American debut as Prince Shuisky will be Bulgarian tenor Milen Paunov.

Carlo Cossutta, tenor from Trieste who made his U.S. debut with Lyric Opera in the 1963 season, will appear as the pretender to the Czarist throne, Dimitri.

William Wildermann, a mainstay of the Lyric company for many years, will return after an absence of several seasons to sing the principal role of Pimen in "Boris Godounov."

FOR LYRIC'S "The Pearl Fishers," Mirella Freni, Italian soprano who made her Lyric debut last season, will be the Leila. Alfredo Kraus, who has sung many leading tenor roles in Lyric productions the past four years, will be the Nadir.

Sesto Bruscantini will add to his list of Lyric mountings as Zurga, and Nicolai Ghiuselev, another Bulgarian bass, heard previously at the Metropolitan and San Francisco Operas, will be heard as Nourabad.

Watercolor Program Set for Art Guild

Rudolph Ohrning, member of the American Watercolor Society, will give a landscape demonstration in watercolor for meeting of the Des Plaines Art Guild next Monday, at 8 o'clock, at the West Park Field House in Des Plaines.

Ohrning is a graduate of the American Academy of Art, Chicago. He has exhibited nationally in the American Watercolor Society in New York, the National Academy of Design in New York, the Knickerbocker Artists in New York, the Allied Artists of America in New York, Swedish-American Exhibition in Chicago and the Alabama Watercolor Society in Birmingham Museum of Art.

HE HAS ALSO exhibited at the Illinois State Fair, Union League Club of Chicago, State Museum in Springfield, and the Renaissance Society at the University of Chicago. He has had many one man shows in the Chicago area and is represented in the Sales and Rental Gallery of the Art Institute of Chicago.

Members and guests are invited to attend this demonstration by Ohrning.

Paintings by members of the Des Plaines Art Guild will be on exhibit in conjunction with the Family Night Supper at the Northwest Suburban YMCA on Friday March 18, from 2 to 10 p.m. and at the spring art show at the Des Plaines Trust and Savings Bank, on Sunday, May 22. Bill

Lyric Members Attend Luncheon

Mrs. Richard Impey of Arlington Heights, president of Northwest Chapter of Lyric Opera of Chicago, and Mrs. Gilbert B. McIntosh II of Palatine, benefit chairman, attended a luncheon Monday for Rise Stevens, Metropolitan Opera star, and Carol Fox, Lyric's general manager.

The luncheon was held by the Lyric Guild which will sponsor the opening night performance by the Metropolitan Opera National Co. of Carlistle Floyd's "Susannah." The benefit proceeds of that performance on April 18 will go to the Lyric Gurild Production Fund. (Bill

Open New Exhibit at Count ryside Gallery

"Kaleidoscope" is the title of the new showing of art works on exhibit for the month of March at the Countryside Gallery. The show will feature oil paintings, watercolors, constructions and kinetic sculpture. The kinetic or motorized sculpture is by special guest sculptor, John W. Kearney of Chicago, while the paintings and constructions are by the Countryside Gallery artists Paul McCarron, Chicago; Rachel Burgess, River Forest; and R. Thomas Faeger and Sallie Gracey, Park Ridge.

The artists will be present to converse with visitors at the opening reception tomorrow evening (Friday)from 7:30 to 10:30, and visitors are welcome.

Kearney, who is considered one of the foremost innovators of the kinetic art form, received his art education from Cranbrook Academy at Bloomfield Hills, Mich., having studied with Carl Milles. The artist has taught for 16 years at the Contemporary Art Workshop in Chicago.

HIS EXHIBITS HAVE been nationwide, and in 1963 - '64 he lived and worked in Rome on a Fulbright Grant and an Italian Government Grant. He has had one-man shows in Rome, Venice New York City and recently at the Fort Wayne Art Museum. He is represented in the A.C.A. Gallery in New Yrok City and has exhibited many times in the Art Institute of Chicago. He is listed in Who's Who In American Art.

Paul McCarron studied at the Art Institute of Chicago where he received a B.F.A. and an M.F.A. His work has been shown throughout the Chicago area and nationally. The artist served as the director of the Old Town Art Center in 1964 - '65, and previously was employed as medical illustrator for the Prosthetic Rehabilitation Institute of Northwestern University.

Prior to that McCarron worked as staff assistant at the McCormick Place Art Gallery for three years and is presently staff assistant for the Vincent Price Collection, Sears Roebuck and Co. The artist works primarily in oil on canvas.

RACHEL BURGESS received a B.F.A. from the University of Syracuse, has done graduate study at the Art Institute of Chicago and has studied since with Abbott Pattison, Theodore Halkin and Rudolph Pen.

Her work has been exhibited at the Old Orchard Festival of Arts, McCormick Place, the Illinois Professional Exhibit at Springfield, among others, and she is represented at the sales and rental gallery at the Art Institute.

In 1964 the artist was among those chosen to exhibit her work at the Sakura (art supplies) Co., Osaka, Japan. She is a member of the Chicago Society of Artists and the North Shore Art League and works primarily in oil.

THOMAS JAEGER, who is an architect and partner in the firm of Buderus and Sunshine, Park Ridge, is also assistant professor of architecture at the Chicago Circle campus of the University of Illinois. He has studied at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts, the University of Illinois, and the graduate department of architecture, at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The artist works with mixed media, i.e. collage and construction, as well as oil and watercolor. He recently exhibited his work at the Faculty Show for 1965 - '66 at the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle.

Sallie Gracey has been among the artists chosen by jury for the Countryside Gallery since it was founded in November of 1962. She is a watercolorist, and has traveled extensively throughout the United States gathering new impressions for her paintings, working largely on the spot out-of-doors.

SHE HOLDS AN M.A. degree from Stanford University and is a language arts teacher in junior high school in Park Ridge. Her paintings were exhibited in the New York Art Student League's Woodstock Gallery in August, 1965, and she has participated in numerous art shows in the Chicago area.

For further information about these artists or the March show at the Countryside Gallery, call 253-3005 during regular gallery hours, 1 - 4 p.m. daily except Monday. (Bill

Script Too Wordy

Winston Actors Are Stronger Than Play

by JIM PHILLIPS
Paddock Drama Gritic

It should have been "Exit the Play" instead of "Exit the Body."

That was the word from Palatine last Friday evening as Winston Little Theatre's undertakers attempted to dress up their characterization casket with a wilted farcical flower grown by one Fred Carmichael, who is still at a loss to understand why his wordy little vehicle never got much further than Dorset, Vt. Uniquely, he wrote his own answer to that question and called it "Exit the Body."

It wasn't that WLT's stalwars didn't sing an acceptable "Abide with Me" over the corpse. Betty Kandlbinder did an accurately calm job on Lillian Seymour; Marilyn Ostrowski placed Jenny in a suitable frame of lunacy — almost overdone in places, especially in Act I. Ray Smithers moved the role of Randolph better than he did the action of his performers (Smithers was director); Adelaide Fairfield's Helen O'Toole was quite proper, complete with excellent diction. Bonnalee McAuley, in a difficult role of wisecracker, was in fine form voice and gesture wise.

KAREN COSTIN'S Crane Hammond was a little stiff at first, then relaxed. However, her lack of excitement, vocally, did much to deaden the "body discovering" moments of the first act. At her first sight of the man in the closet, it was almost as if someone had whispered from the wings, "Okay, now you faint!" And without too much vibrantly-vivid vim and vigor, Miss Costin very calmly accepted the task. So did her audiencee. Too bad.

Angelo Polvere hasn't been seen by this critic before, but during the evening he could have proved a reincarnation of Percy Kilbride. Polvere latched onto the Kilbride voice once-in-awhile. This is all right, but you must be consistent if you're going to give your audience New England twang and Kilbride kolloquialism.

At times, Polvere let his twang unclang and his Kilbride slide. Nevertheless, he shows great promise as a character actor for Winston. He appears very relaxed on stage and conscious of the value of timing lines.

CLIF HARMON as Lyle Rogers, Jerry Butz as Phil Smith and Rudy Kandlbinder as Richard Hammond did well in parts that contain extremely unlikely lines.

ALT's problem wasn't all in the script. It was on the stage, too. Director Smithers should have recognized the unnecessary line situation in act I and used a hatchet here and there.

Also, he could have jabbed a pin in the backsides of some of his characters in the same act. There were instances when the gals merely stood there and stated their parts. Act I and Act II are bad enough as it is without having frozen people on stage attempting to defrost themselves to prepare the audience for Act III's bedlam.

AND ACT III was good. Director Smithers plotted well, staged in fine fashion and his on-stage colleagues cooperated beautifully for some very funny moments. But unfortunately, you could tell they liked this act more than the previous two. And who can blame them?

Set decor, dress, make-up and lighting were WLT advantages. Of course, Cutting Hall of Palatine High School is not the greatest advantage to playdoer or playgoer. If the slanted seats don't get you, the lack of backstage room will.

All in all, WLT's "Exit," was amusing, but hardly exciting. And that's where you must depend upon the players when you havent got the script. Many cast members merely read their lines with little voice inflection. The gals have a real opportunity to become individualists in this show. (Miss Ostrowski had the greatest advantage because hers is a defined character. The others are not.)

The enthusiastic audience facing the Winston group Friday night proves that the organization's efforts haven't been for "nuttin'." There is talent to burn in WLT and occasionally a wet match will be thrown into the production schedule.

TABLES BRIMMING WITH bright, gay spring hats to tempt the fashion appetites of Seventh District Juniors and their friends turned Elmhurst Country Club into a paradise for hat lovers Saturday when the Juniors held their seventh annual "February Flair." Just about everyone left the show with a hat box containing a new spring chapeau and the Juniors estimate proceeds were in excess of $1,500. Making their selections are Mrs. Walter Borg and Mrs. Paul Burke of Mount Prospect Juniors.

HATS SOMETIMES GROW on trees as they did Saturday at "February Flair." Held in Elmhurst Country Club, sponsors were the eight junior women's clubs in the Seventh District IFWC. Mrs. Phillip Leone and Mrs. Don Georgen of Mount Prospect Juniors were among the hundreds of area women making spring hat selections at the "Flair." Proceeds go to the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children and the Northwest Mental Health Association. (S

MRS. RAYMOND KESSELL chose a yellow dress as a background for the spring hats she modeled in the Juniors' annual "February Flair" hat show and sale. Ways and means chairman of Schaumburg Juniors, Mrs. Kessell dons a brimmed flower bonnet as the club president, Mrs. Arthur Wagner, tries on a high-styled silk organza hat. Modeling for the show were representatives from the eight junior women's clubs in the Seventh District. The "Flair" is one of several joint projects of the junior clubs.

La Leche Schedules March Meet

The third meeting in a monthly series of four meetings will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Kientzle, 1820 N. Douglas, Tuesday March 8. Topic of this meeting will be "The Baby Arrives and the Family in Relation to the Breastfed Baby." Although this is the third meeting in the series any woman interested in breastfeeding is invited. The first and second meeting subjects can be attended when the series is repeated in May.

Members of the League believe in better mothering through breastfeeding. "Purpose of our organization," said the president, Mrs. Paul Hultman, "is to help and encourage those mothers who really want to breastfeed their babies and all too often are discouraged by society and 'well-meaning' friends."

MRS. HULTMAN continued, "Too many mothers today, through no fault of their own, do not nurse their babies. Chief causes are lack of information and discouragement. Medical surveys indicate that up to 90 per cent of the mothers in this country can nurse their babies if they want to."

Women interested in the League may call Mrs. M. Sheppard at 259-3784. (S

TABLES BRIMMING WITH bright, gay spring hats to tempt the fashion appetites of Seventh District Juniors and their friends turned Elmhurst Country Club into a paradise for hat lovers Saturday when the Juniors held their seventh annual "February Flair." Just about everyone left the show with a hat box containing a new spring chapeau and the Juniors estimate proceeds were in excess of $1,500. Making their selections are Mrs. Walter Borg and Mrs. Paul Burke of Mount Prospect Juniors.

HATS SOMETIMES GROW on trees as they did Saturday at "February Flair." Held in Elmhurst Country Club, sponsors were the eight junior women's clubs in the Seventh District IFWC. Mrs. Phillip Leone and Mrs. Don Georgen of Mount Prospect Juniors were among the hundreds of area women making spring hat selections at the "Flair." Proceeds go to the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children and the Northwest Mental Health Association. (S

Key to Happy Marriage: Trust Your Spouse

What makes a satisfactory marriage? The possession by each spouse of such positive qualities as warmth, trustfulness and a sense of responsibility certainly helps. And so does the ability of each partner to project these qualities effectively to the other.

This is the finding of Dr. Eleanore Braun Luckey, head of the department of child development and family relations University of Connecticut, based on a study of 80 couples similar in age, education, income, vocation and other factors.

When husbands and wives agree that each is considerate of the other and is cooperative, the marriage is likely to be satisfactory to both, Dr. Luckey found.

WHEN ONE partner believes himself to be generally aggressive and mistrustful, the marriage is likely to be less satisfactory to both, according to the study.

A wife who admits she is often skeptical of her husband's motives is apt to be rated as generally mistrusting by her spouse. A husband who says that he is often likely to doubt his wife's word and is hostile is apt to be found by his wife to be a less than satisfactory mate.

Sometimes husbands and wives see themselves quite differently from the way they are seen by their partners. This can affect a marriage positively or negatively, depending on the circumstances, the report indicates. For instance, if a man thinks he is generous and cooperative and his wife credits him with possessing these virtues to an even greater extent than he thought, the marriage is likely to benefit.

IF, ON THE other hand, a wife believes she is more giving, self-effacing and cooperative than her husband, but her husband fails to agree with this assessment, the marriage is likely to suffer.

Happily married couples, the report indicates, believe that they share positive qualities to about the same extent.

"It is striking," Dr. Luckey told Women's Medical News Service, "that happily married couples often seem to hold themselves, as well as their partners, in high esteem. Underlying their relationship is the idea, 'What can I do to make a go of our marriage?' "

WITH unhappily married people, the story is quite different, according to the investigator. She says that a troubled husband or wife seeking help from a marriage counselor is more likely than not to ask, "What can be done to change my spouse?" Seldom, she says, is the question put, "How can I change to improve my marriage?"

Dr. Luckey notes that the qualities most likely to contribute to less than satisfactory marriages are skepticism and mistrustfulness.

Let's Shop for Antiques

Antique collecting has become one of the "growingest" trends in America today. Shops, exhibits, auctions, attics and basements are constantly combed by the imaginative homemaker.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, March 9, 10 and 11, she will have an opportunity to shop for the unusual to her heart's content as the Mount Prospect Woman's Club opens its third annual Antiques Fair at the Mount Prospect Country Club.

Choice domestic and imported furniture, as well as accessories and objects d'art from days past, will be on sale as 18 registered antiques dealers display their wares.

THE $50,000 show will include art glass, brass, pewter, silver and Early American patterned glass. Among the larger objects will be spinning wheels, butter churns and gleaming 18th century furniture.

Of special interest to the Americana collector will be an extensive display of early prints and old books.

Sure to delight the children as well as their parents and grandparents is a collection of dolls dating back 150 years and the miniature furniture which furnished the elaborate doll houses of that bygone era.

Complete lunches and snacks will be available at all times during the show.

MRS. JOHN Weber is chairman of the Antiques Fair and Mrs. R. A. Bulman is co-chairman. Other committee members are Mrs. Leslie Parker, Mrs. Clinton W. Meyer, Mrs. Herald Witte and Mrs. George Morris. Mrs. L. Zmudka is ways and means chairman.

Proceeds from the show benefit the scholarship and philanthropy fund of the Mount Prospect Woman's Club which each year awards scholarships to several local students and makes donations to both local and national philanthropies.

Hours of the show are Wednesday and Thursday, March 9 and 10, from 11 a.m. until 9:30 p.m.; Friday, March 11, from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m.

"WOULDN'T IT BE FUN to run this spinning wheel?" muses young Kathy Majercik, two-year-old daughter of Mrs. Edward Majercik, 918 S. See-Gwun, Mount Prospect. Kathy's mother is ticket chairman for the Antiques Fair which the Mount Prospect Woman's Club will hold at Mount Prospect Country Club next week. Proceeds will be used for the club's philanthropies.

Nutrition Verdict:

U. S. Has Problems

The nutrition status of people in the United States is in general very good, the Nutrition Foundation reports. An abundant and varied food supply and a relatively high standard of living assure that most people in this country are reasonably well nourished, and yet there are important problems associated with eating, the Foundation warns.

The worst nutritional hazards in America are overweight, iron deficiency anemia and malnutrition caused by diseases that are not primarily nutritional in origin.

An over-all review of nutritional problems in the U.S. today was recently published in Nutrition Reviews by Dr. Grace A. Goldsmith of Tulane University's School of Medicine, New Orleans. The Reviews is published by the Nutrition Foundation, a nonprofit institution supported by major companies in the food and allied industries, which provides grants to leading universities for scientific research in nutrition and seeks to advise the general public on new developments in nutrition science.

DR. GOLDSMITH, a well-known nutritionist, reported that precise studies of the nutritional status of the nation as a whole have never been made, although other countries have made such studies.

The most recent analysis of nutritional status of Americans was done by the Department of Agriculture about 10 years ago. That study found that there is a high rate of overweight across the nation. Overweight is believed to be associated with the onset of, or contribute to the seriousness of, a number of disease conditions.

For the overweight, the Foundation stresses its recommendations of eating reduced portions of the foods making up a balanced diet. Most "fad diets" or lose weight quick schemes are not balanced, and the Nutrition Foundation advises against them.

TEENAGE GIRLS, the study reported, have the poorest food nabits of any group in the nation. This should cause concern, Dr. Goldsmith warned, since girls are getting married earlier and there are an increasing number of teenage pregnancies. A balanced diet selected from wholesome foods including meat, milk, eggs, vegetables and cereals, in place of soft drinks and snacks, is urged for all teenage girls.

The most common nutritional deficiency found in Americans, the report says, is iron deficiency anemia in infants. In this condition, the oxygen-carrying capacity of the blood is reduced. This reflects unfavorably on many body functions.

If the mother's diet before birth of the child contained enough iron, the baby would have enough to last for a short period of time. Neither cow's milk nor breast milk supply enough iron for a baby, however, so most pediatricians suggest the infant be given iron-enriched special infant cereals or iron-rich foods—such as egg yolk, meats and green leafy vegetables.

NUTRITIONAL problems associated with other diseases are also numerous, Dr. Goldsmith reported. People with tuberculosis, cancer and diseases of the intestinal tract and mental illness victims may not eat enough or eat properly. Deficiencies of protein may adversely affect alcoholics and victims of kidney or intestinal tract diseases.

Vitamin deficiences may also occur in people with illnesses other than those of nutritional origin. The administration of some drugs may cause vitamin deficiencies or nutritional upsets which can be countered by alert physicians.

Fortunately, nutritional deficiency diseases are a rarity in this country, Dr. Goldsmith's report concluded. But, she warned, there is room for improvement of the nutrition of large segments of our population.

Collection Is Held to Aid Area Migrants

Rolling Meadows Juniot Woman's Club is again holding its annual collection drive for the Spanish-American migrant workers in the area and readers are being asked to donate used clothing, furniture or other usable items.

All donations received are turned over to Mrs. A. Toledano, 2104 Hawk Lane, Rolling Meadows, who distributes these items to the needy families. Among items needed are usable linens, bedding, cooking utensils, flatware, furniture and baby items. Most desperate need is food of any king, especially flour, pinto beans, shortening, instant dry milk and canned goods.

Arrangements can be made to pick up large furniture items by calling Mrs. Joseph Hayer, chairman of the Community Achievement Committee of the Junior's at Cl 5-7229 or Mrs. Toledano, CL 3-8270. Smaller items can be brought to the home of Mrs. Hayer, 3407 Peacock Lane, Rolling Meadows or to Mrs. Toledano. (SF

She Aims to See the World

By PAT ADAM
Suburban Living Editor

World War II left Mrs. Doris Moseley, British-born resident of Arlington Heights, a widow with two teen-age children and a lot of memories.

She decided the future might be brighter in America than in England.

So through friends Doris found sponsors in the United States, and in 1952 she and her 15-year-old daughter Diana arrived in New York. Son Roger stayed behind in England to finish school.

Full of ideas of what she wanted to see in the land she had admired for many years, the English widow managed to see two of them her very first day in the U. S. A. One was Fifth Avenue; the other, a drugstore.

WITH A CHUCKLE, Doris recalled how eagerly she ordered a banana split and then two "sunnyside up" eggs at the drugstore counter, both rare items during wartime and postwar England. It was with some chagrin she found she couldn't finish either one.

From New York Doris and her daughter traveled to Champaign-Urbana where a position awaited her at the University of Illinois Women's Club and where later Diana attended and was graduated from the University.

Once Diana was finished at Illinois and Doris had her citizenship, she applied for a teaching post in Arlington Heights where a University friend assured her "some of our nicest girls live." She got a job.

FIRST A FIFTH grade teacher and now the librarian at South Junior High, Doris Moseley considers her move to Arlington Heights "the nicest thing that ever happened to me." And of her job as librarian she says, "I just love it."

Like any conscientious mother, after first coming to the United States, Doris was concerned mainly with educating her two children. Following completion of his schooling in England, Roger obtained a scholarship to Princeton and later to Harvard Medical School. He now is finishing up his residency as a heart surgeon at a Boston hospital. Daughter Diana is happily married to a computer expert and living in California.

With son and daughter educated and settled in their individual careers, Doris now is having the time of her life fulfilling an ambition to see the world. Grandmother of seven at age 58, she explains:

"THERE'S SUCH A short time and I want to see as much as I can."

She gets seven weeks of vacation each summer, and so far Doris has visited in Europe twice, spending 23 days seeing Russia "top to bottom" on one trip, taken a round-the-world tour, traveled to Mexico and now looks forward to next summer's trip—a tour of South America.

This yen to travel was first sparked by a fifth grade geography teacher, who, though she never saw them herself, managed to make such faraway places as Singapore, Hong Kong, Siam (now Thailand), Lake Titicaca in Peru, Popocateptl in Mexico and the pyramids of Egypt come alive for her young pupil. Doris has now seen them all except Lake Titicaca, and she'll see that next summer.

HER FIRST TRIP after moving to Arlington Heights was to have been to England, but having started a pen pal correspondence with a Polish school teacher, Doris decided to visit Poland and Russia instead.

She is still at a loss to explain how she was invited to an embassy party in Moscow while such American citizens as the president of Glidden Paint Co. and the mayor of Las Vegas were not. But she enjoyed every minute of the party and every one of her 23 days in Russia.

One thing that impressed her about the Russians was the contrast between what she describes as a "grim" attitude toward war and space and their almost child-like enjoyment of songs and dancing. The people were friendly to her, she says, and she remembers gratefully the woman bypasser who, noticing that Doris wore no earrings in her pierced ears, retraced her steps to give the American visitor the tiny blue ones she was wearing. Doris still treasures this gift, given so spontaneously.

"I WAS ASKED so often why the United States wanted war, and I tried to explain that we don't, that they seemed to be the ones who wanted it," she commented. "Their fear of us was obvious, and I found it enlightening to see us from their point of view."

From her round-the-world trip that included stops in Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Macao, the Philippines, Singapore, India, Thailand, Egypt, Greece, Italy, France and England, the traveler from a land of health and plenty learned first-hand about the sickness and poverty rank in in the rest of the world.

"The misery of the world is increible," Doris exclaimed as she told of seeing children in Hong Kong covered with yaws disease sores and people living in homes made of cardboard cartons.

SHE STILL recalls vividly the leper who grabbed at her leg.

"I looked down and saw this thing clawing at my leg, and I couldn't believe it was human."

These experiences aroused in Doris Moseley a desire to give a year of her life after she retires within a few years to helping those in misery. If she's able then, she thinks she'd like best to serve in India.

"I just feel it would count most there."

Meantime, the youthful-looking grandmother looks forward to her South American tour next summer. She's hoping to visit Comas, the Peruvian city with which Arlington Heights residents have established a friendly relationship.

HER ZEST FOR traveling probably is matched only by her enthusiasm for her adopted land.

"I'm a sort of schizophrenic," she laughed. "When I'm here, I think of how I love little old England, but when I'm there, I can't wait to get back."

DORIS MOSELEY relies more on memories than mementoes to recall her travels around the world, but she does treasure a few figures she brought back with her. Frugal habits developed during wartime living in England have helped the British-born school librarian to fulfill her ambition to "see as much of the world as I can." (Staff photo)

Key to Happy Marriage: Trust Your Spouse

What makes a satisfactory marriage? The possession by each spouse of such positive qualities as warmth, trustfulness and a sense of responsibility certainly helps. And so does the ability of each partner to project these qualities effectively to the other.

This is the finding of Dr. Eleanore Braun Luckey, head of the department of child development and family relations University of Connecticut, based on a study of 80 couples similar in age, education, income, vocation and other factors.

When husbands and wives agree that each is considerate of the other and is cooperative, the marriage is likely to be satisfactory to both, Dr. Luckey found.

WHEN ONE partner believes himself to be generally aggressive and mistrustful, the marriage is likely to be less satisfactory to both, according to the study.

A wife who admits she is often skeptical of her husband's motives is apt to be rated as generally mistrusting by her spouse. A husband who says that he is often likely to doubt his wife's word and is hostile is apt to be found by his wife to be a less than satisfactory mate.

Sometimes husbands and wives see themselves quite differently from the way they are seen by their partners. This can affect a marriage positively or negatively, depending on the circumstances, the report indicates. For instance, if a man thinks he is generous and cooperative and his wife credits him with possessing these virtues to an even greater extent than he thought, the marriage is likely to benefit.

IF, ON THE other hand, a wife believes she is more giving, self-effacing and cooperative than her husband, but her husband fails to agree with this assessment, the marriage is likely to suffer.

Happily married couples, the report indicates, believe that they share positive qualities to about the same extent.

"It is striking," Dr. Luckey told Women's Medical News Service, "that happily married couples often seem to hold themselves, as well as their partners, in high esteem. Underlying their relationship is the idea, 'What can I do to make a go of our marriage?' "

WITH unhappily married people, the story is quite different, according to the investigator. She says that a troubled husband or wife seeking help from a marriage counselor is more likely than not to ask, "What can be done to change my spouse?" Seldom, she says, is the question put, "How can I change to improve my marriage?"

Dr. Luckey notes that the qualities most likely to contribute to less than satisfactory marriages are skepticism and mistrustfulness.

Nutrition Verdict:

U. S. Has Problems

The nutrition status of people in the United States is in general very good, the Nutrition Foundation reports. An abundant and varied food supply and a relatively high standard of living assure that most people in this country are reasonably well nourished, and yet there are important problems associated with eating, the Foundation warns.

The worst nutritional hazards in America are overweight, iron deficiency anemia and malnutrition caused by diseases that are not primarily nutritional in origin.

An over-all review of nutritional problems in the U.S. today was recently published in Nutrition Reviews by Dr. Grace A. Goldsmith of Tulane University's School of Medicine, New Orleans. The Reviews is published by the Nutrition Foundation, a non-profit institution supported by major companies in the food and allied industries, which provides grants to leading universities for scientific research in nutrition and seeks to advise the general public on new developments in nutrition science.

DR. GOLDSMITH, a well-known nutritionist, reported that precise studies of the nutritional status of the nation as a whole have never been made, although other countries have made such studies.

The most recent analysis of nutritional status of Americans was done by the Department of Agriculture about 10 years ago. That study found that there is a high rate of overweight across the nation. Overweight is believed to be associated with the onset of, or contribute to the seriousness of, a number of disease conditions.

For the overweight, the Foundation stresses its recommendations of eating reduced portions of the foods making up a balanced diet. Most "fad diets" or lose weight quick schemes are not balanced, and the Nutrition Foundation advises against them.

TEENAGE GIRLS, the study reported, have the poorest food habits of any group in the nation. This should cause concern, Dr. Goldsmith warned, since girls are getting married earlier and there are an increasing number of teenage pregnancies. A balanced diet selected from wholesome foods including meat, milk, eggs, vegetables and cereals, in place of soft drinks and snacks, is urged for all teenage girls.

The most common nutritional deficiency found in Americans, the report says, is iron deficiency anemia in infants. In this condition, the oxygen-carrying capacity of the blood is reduced. This reflects unfavorably on many body functions.

If the mother's diet before birth of the child contained enough iron, the baby would have enough to last for a short period of time. Neither cow's milk nor breast milk supply enough iron for a baby, however, so most pediatricians suggest the infant be given iron-enriched special infant cereals or iron-rich foods—such as egg yolk, meats and green leafy vegetables.

NUTRITIONAL problems associated with other diseases are also numerous, Dr. Goldsmith reported. People with tuberculosis, cancer and diseases of the intestinal tract and mental illness victims may not eat enough or eat properly. Deficiencies of protein may adversely affect alcoholics and victims of kidney or intestinal tract diseases.

Vitamin deficiences may also occur in people with illnesses other than those of nutritional origin. The administration of some drugs may cause vitamin deficiencies or nutritional upsets which can be countered by alert physicians.

Fortunately, nutritional deficiency diseases are a rarity in this country, Dr. Goldsmith's report concluded. But, she warned, there is room for improvement of the nutrition of large segments of our population.

Collection Is Held to Aid Area Migrants

Rolling Meadows Juniot Woman's Club is again holding its annual collection drive for the Spanish-American migrant workers in the area and readers are being asked to donate used clothing, furniture or other usable items.

All donations received are turned over to Mrs. A. Toledano, 2104 Hawk Lane, Rolling Meadows, who distributes these items to the needy families. Among items needed are usable linens, bedding, cooking utensils, flatware, furniture and baby items. Most desperate need is food of any king, especially flour, pinto beans, shortening, instant dry milk and canned goods.

Arrangements can be made to pick up large furniture items by calling Mrs. Joseph Hayer, chairman of the Community Achievement Committee of the Junior's at Cl 5-7229 or Mrs. Toledano, CL 3-8270. Smaller items can be brought to the home of Mrs. Hayer, 3407 Peacock Lane, Rolling Meadows or to Mrs. Toledano. (SF

Let's Shop for Antiques

Antique collecting has become one of the "growingest" trends in America today. Shops, exhibits, auctions, attics and basements are constantly combed by the imaginative homemaker.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, March 9, 10 and 11, she will have an opportunity to shop for the unusual to her heart's content as the Mount Prospect Woman's Club opens its third annual Antiques Fair at the Mount Prospect Country Club.

Choice domestic and imported furniture, as well as accessories and objects d'art from days past, will be on sale as 18 registered antiques dealers display their wares.

THE $50,000 show will include art glass, brass, pewter, silver and Early American patterned glass. Among the larger objects will be spinning wheels, butter churns and gleaming 18th century furniture.

Of special interest to the Americana collector will be an extensive display of early prints and old books.

Sure to delight the children as well as their parents and grandparents is a collection of dolls dating back 150 years and the miniature furniture which furnished the elaborate doll houses of that bygone era.

Complete lunches and snacks will be available at all times during the show.

MRS. JOHN Weber is chairman of the Antiques Fair and Mrs. R. A. Bulman is co-chairman. Other committee members are Mrs. Leslie Parker, Mrs. Clinton W. Meyer, Mrs. Herald Witte and Mrs. George Morris. Mrs. L. Zmudka is ways and means chairman.

Proceeds from the show benefit the scholarship and philanthropy fund of the Mount Prospect Woman's Club which each year awards scholarships to several local students and makes donations to both local and national philanthropies.

Hours of the show are Wednesday and Thursday, March 9 and 10, from 11 a.m. until 9:30 p.m.; Friday, March 11, from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m.

"WOULDN'T IT BE FUN to run this spinning wheel?" muses young Kathy Majercik, two-year-old daughter of Mrs. Edward Majercik, 918 S. See-Gwun, Mount Prospect. Kathy's mother is ticket chairman for the Antiques Fair which the Mount Prospect Woman's Club will hold at Mount Prospect Country Club next week. Proceeds will be used for the club's philanthropies.

She Aims to See the World

By PAT ADAM
Suburban Living Editor

World War II left Mrs. Doris Moseley, British-born resident of Arlington Heights, a widow with two teen-age children and a lot of memories.

She decided the future might be brighter in America than in England.

So through friends Doris found sponsors in the United States, and in 1952 she and her 15-year-old daughter Diana arrived in New York. Son Roger stayed behind in England to finish school.

Full of ideas of what she wanted to see in the land she had admired for many years, the English widow managed to see two of them her very first day in the U. S. A. One was Fifth Avenue; the other, a drugstore.

WITH A CHUCKLE, Doris recalled how eagerly she ordered a banana split and then two "sunnyside up" eggs at the drugstore counter, both rare items during wartime and postwar England. It was with some chagrin she found she couldn't finish either one.

From New York Doris and her daughter traveled to Champaign-Urbana where a position awaited her at the University of Illinois Women's Club and where later Diana attended and was graduated from the University.

Once Diana was finished at Illinois and Doris had her citizenship, she applied for a teaching post in Arlington Heights where a University friend assured her "some of our nicest girls live." She got a job.

FIRST A FIFTH grade teacher and now the librarian at South Junior High, Doris Moseley considers her move to Arlington Heights "the nicest thing that ever happened to me." And of her job as librarian she says, "I just love it."

Like any conscientious mother, after first coming to the United States, Doris was concerned mainly with educating her two children. Following completion of his schooling in England, Roger obtained a scholarship to Princeton and later to Harvard Medical School. He now is finishing up his residency as a heart surgeon at a Boston hospital. Daughter Diana is happily married to a computer expert and living in California.

With son and daughter educated and settled in their individual careers, Doris now is having the time of her life fulfilling an ambition to see the world. Grandmother of seven at age 58, she explains:

"THERE'S SUCH A short time and I want to see as much as I can."

She gets seven weeks of vacation each summer, and so far Doris has visited in Europe twice, spending 23 days seeing Russia "top to bottom" on one trip, taken a round-the-world tour, traveled to Mexico and now looks forward to next summer's trip—a tour of South America.

This yen to travel was first sparked by a fifth grade geography teacher, who, though she never saw them herself, managed to make such far-away places as Singapore, Hong Kong, Siam (now Thailand), Lake Titicaca in Peru, Popocateptl in Mexico and the pyramids of Egypt come alive for her young pupil. Doris has now seen them all except Lake Titicaca, and she'll see that next summer.

HER FIRST TRIP after moving to Arlington Heights was to have been to England, but having started a pen pal correspondence with a Polish school teacher, Doris decided to visit Poland and Russia instead.

She is still at a loss to explain how she was invited to an embassy party in Moscow while such American citizens as the president of Glidden Paint Co. and the mayor of Las Vegas were not. But she enjoyed every minute of the party and every one of her 23 days in Russia.

One thing that impressed her about the Russians was the contrast between what she describes as a "grim" attitude toward war and space and their almost child-like enjoyment of songs and dancing. The people were friendly to her, she says, and she remembers gratefully the woman bypasser who, noticing that Doris wore no earrings in her pierced ears, retraced her steps to give the American visitor the tiny blue ones she was wearing. Doris still treasures this gift, given so spontaneously.

"I WAS ASKED so often why the United States wanted war, and I tried to explain that we don't, that they seemed to be the ones who wanted it," she commented. "Their fear of us was obvious, and I found it enlightening to see us from their point of view."

From her round-the-world trip that included stops in Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Macao, the Philippines, Singapore, India, Thailand, Egypt, Greece, Italy, France and England, the traveler from a land of health and plenty learned first-hand about the sickness and poverty rank in in the rest of the world.

"The misery of the world is increible," Doris exclaimed as she told of seeing children in Hong Kong covered with yaws disease sores and people living in homes made of cardboard cartons.

SHE STILL recalls vividly the leper who grabbed at her leg.

"I looked down and saw this thing clawing at my leg, and I couldn't believe it was human."

These experiences aroused in Doris Moseley a desire to give a year of her life after she retires within a few years to helping those in misery. If she's able then, she thinks she'd like best to serve in India.

"I just feel it would count most there."

Meantime, the youthful-looking grandmother looks forward to her South American tour next summer. She's hoping to visit Comas, the Peruvian city with which Arlington Heights residents have established a friendly relationship.

HER ZEST FOR traveling probably is matched only by her enthusiasm for her adopted land.

"I'm a sort of schizophrenic," she laughed. "When I'm here, I think of how I love little old England, but when I'm there, I can't wait to get back."

DORIS MOSELEY relies more on memories than mementoes to recall her travels around the world, but she does treasure a few figures she brought back with her. Frugal habits developed during wartime living in England have helped the British-born school librarian to fulfill her ambition to "see as much of the world as I can." (Staff photo)

Good Medical Care Depends On Doctor-Patient Rapport

A good patient-doctor relationship is essential to good medical care.

In cultivating a rapport, however, situations may arise which, if left unresolved, could pose problems.

For example:

SHOULD YOU ask your doctor in advance the cost of any treatment, test or operation you may need?

By all means. Your doctor welcomes a frank and honest discussion. Perhaps he'll even suggest how payments might be met over a period of time, if your illness imposes a financial hardship.

2. Should you complain about your pharmacist bill to your doctor?

No. The price you pay for a prescription is determined entirely by your pharmacist, not your doctor.

3. IS THERE any limit to questioning your doctor about your condition?

Absolutely not. During an illness, most of us worry about the nature of our trouble . . . how long will it keep us from work . . . will it recur or leave us with some disability. Since worry only complicates an illness, your doctor will welcome your questions. To avoid overlooking anything that's a source of anxiety, jot down some of the things on your mind and refer to the list when you see your doctor. Above all, believe what he tells you.

Should you feel free to telephone your doctor for medical advice?

Yes. Your doctor will welcome a telephone call when you aren't feeling well, but he'll expect you to use some discrimination in calling. If, for example, you have a stomach upset following an evening on the town, think twice before calling. When you have a legitimate reason for calling, however, give an accurate description of your trouble so he can decide if he is urgently needed or may defer seeing you.

5. IF YOU'RE moving to a new locality, should you ask your doctor to release your medical records to another physician?

Yes. Most doctors will release medical records for transfer to another physician. However, there may be some question about the release of x-rays as these are usually the property of a radiologist. If asked, however, he may lend them for a reasonable length of time to your new physician. (SSD

GARDENING TIPS

Your Garden . . . Day by Day

by MARY B. GOOD

March 3

Not much time left to finish up your dormant spraying of fruit trees and ornamentals. Remember the temperature must stay over 40-45 degrees at least eight hours to spray. But don't delay, because once the leaf buds open, it is too late to use dormant spray. Prune grape vines early to avoid "bleeding" from the cut ends. Other fruit trees and bushes can be pruned between now and the middle of March.

March 4

Just out in paperback, "Grandmother's Household Hints" by Helen Lyon Adamson, a volume of household advice from the 1800's, contains this amusing item: "To Kill Plant Lice: Take 3½ ozs. of quassia chips, add 5 drams of stavesacre seeds in powder; place in 7 pts. of water and boil down to 5 pts. When cold, the liquid is ready for use; use it by means of a watering spout or syringe."

March 5

Check your lawn for snow mold and save that yard now with a good fungicide. Also check for low spots in the lawn where ice has a tendency to form and make plans to remedy it later.

March 6

A lovely surprise! Cut branches of forsythia and other early flowering shrubs as the buds swell. Give the branches a warm water spray, keep in water, and voila—instant spring!!

March 7

How'd you like $10,000.00 this year? The W. Atlee Burpee Seed Co. is still offering that prize to the first person to come up with a pure white marigold. Just for fun, why not include the addition of a near-to-white in your planting program this year? Climatic conditions could influence the combination of genetic factors and produce a white marigold in your garden.

March 8

Look over your bulbs in storage for rot and thrip damage. If you failed to do so before, dust all good specimens with a bulb dust containing DDT to discourage the wintering-over of thrips. Discard damaged bulbs.

March 9

Apply manure to your asparagus plants or use nitrate of soda (½ oz. to each plant) just before growth starts this spring.

Children Need Check-ups

Foot Health Is Important

"Children's feet need regular checkups," states Dr. Edwin N. Barron Sr., Little Rock Ark., podiatrist and president of the American Podiatry Association. "With a good percentage of our youth suffering from a wide variety of foot ailments" he emphasizes the need for both preventive care and regular maintenance.

"When foot problems become evident in the child, early professional care should be sought," advises Dr. Barron. "This is important in order to keep the disorders from developing into lasting, painful deformities by the time he or she becomes an adult.

"The bones in the feet (there are 26 in each) take almost 20 years to develop completely, but enough damage can be done during the first six years of a child to cause him distress for the rest of his life.

"Socks that are too short, shoes that are improperly fitted and garments, such as leotards that bind the feet, are contributing factors to breakdowns in foot health for these cause undue pressure and resulting trouble."

The American Podiatry Association urges parents to check their children's feet on a regular basis and obtain professional care when indicated. Dr. Barron suggests looking for cracks in the skin, especially between the toes, blisters, ingrown nails and warts — and watch how your child walks — often the first sign of foot trouble.

HE FURTHER cautions against urging your child to walk until he is ready and says never pass on shoes from one child to another.

Children's feet grow faster in the early years of life (up to age 12 children's foot size can change every three months); size of shoes should be checked at more regular intervals.

The following chart offers a guide:

2 to 6 years	after 4 weeks
6 to 10 years	after 8 weeks
10 to 12 years	after 12 weeks
12 to 15 years	after 16 weeks

'Y' Women to Host Husbands at Dinner

Once a year Northwest Suburban YMCA Women's Auxiliary has a Men's Night, and March 17 is this year's date. The auxiliary has scheduled Harriet Allyn for the 6:30 p.m. dinner meeting to be held in the 'Y' all-purpose room.

Harriet Allyn is an artist in her field of original character sketches and comedy. Her one-woman show does not rely on falling curtains or musical background. Instead, a quick whisk of a scarf or deft handling of a purse portrays characters of real-life people.

MISS ALLYN began her career in the theater immediately after years of study at Northwestern University School of Speech. She has done several seasons of stock and repertory work in the theater, playing one season with Geraldine Page in Tennessee William's "Summer and Smoke." Recently, she did a half-hour television show of her own sketches on CBS—TV.

At the meeting the "Y" Auxiliary, numbering over 250 women, will vote on payment of $4,000 toward its pledge of $20,000 to the "Y" building fund. To date, $13,500 has been paid on the pledge.

Reservations for the dinner will be accepted until March 14 by calling Mrs. Earl Ogier, 358-6430, or Mrs. John Gobeille, CL 5-8410. (S

Benefit Dance For 'Friends'

Arlington Heights couples, the Walter Hiddings, Andrew McMillans, Keith Rices and George Applegrins, will be dancing at a "Discotheque" Saturday evening in Devonshire Community House, Skokie. The benefit is sponsored by Chicago Junior School Village Friends in Elgin.

A Chinese dinner will start off the evening's festivities, while two "go go" girls entertain during the meal. Later an Arthur Murray instructor will put the guests through their paces with the latest dances.

VILLAGE FRIENDS is one of 15 groups who provide scholarships for students from broken homes who reside at Chicago Junior School. The campus gives the boys and girls a home atmosphere while attending school and takes children in grades one through eight.

Mrs. Hidding is president of Village Friends, and the three other local women are members. (S

WELCOME WAGON

Good Medical Care Depends On Doctor-Patient Rapport

A good patient-doctor relationship is essential to good medical care.

In cultivating a rapport, however, situations may arise which, if left unresolved, could pose problems.

For example:

SHOULD YOU ask your doctor in advance the cost of any treatment, test or operation you may need?

By all means. Your doctor welcomes a frank and honest discussion. Perhaps he'll even suggest how payments might be met over a period of time, if your illness imposes a financial hardship.

2. Should you complain about your pharmacist bill to your doctor?

No. The price you pay for a prescription is determined entirely by your pharmacist, not your doctor.

3. IS THERE any limit to questioning your doctor about your condition?

Absolutely not. During an illness, most of us worry about the nature of our trouble . . . how long will it keep us from work . . . will it recur or leave us with some disability. Since worry only complicates an illness, your doctor will welcome your questions. To avoid overlooking anything that's a source of anxiety, jot down some of the things on your mind and refer to the list when you see your doctor. Above all, believe what he tells you.

Should you feel free to telephone your doctor for medical advice?

Yes. Your doctor will welcome a telephone call when you aren't feeling well, but he'll expect you to use some discrimination in calling. If, for example, you have a stomach upset following an evening on the town, think twice before calling. When you have a legitimate reason for calling, however, give an accurate description of your trouble so he can decide if he is urgently needed or may defer seeing you.

5. IF YOU'RE moving to a new locality, should you ask your doctor to release your medical records to another physician?

Yes. Most doctors will release medical records for transfer to another physician. However, there may be some question about the release of x-rays as these are usually the property of a radiologist. If asked, however, he may lend them for a reasonable length of time to your new physician. (SSD

Sodality Plans Lenten Service

Our Lady of Providence Sodality has planned a Lenten Evening of Recollection for the women of St. John the Evangelist Church in Streamwood. Thursday, March 10, at 8 p.m., following 7 o'clock Mass, Father Patrick O'Malley will conduct the session.

Father O'Malley, an assistant at St. Jarlath's parish in Chicago, recently spoke before the Holy Name at St. John's, and response was so enthusiastic that the sodality has invited him to the women's program. He will discuss their special interests and problems to provide a meaningful Lenten service.

Mrs. Isabel Vasquez, 289-3596, is spiritual chairman of the sodality. (SSD

Newcomers Allocate Showboat Proceeds

For the consecutive year, Mount Prospect Newcomers Club has voted to donate all proceeds from its annual "showboat" benefit to the Community Counseling Center of the Salvation Army's Family Service Division in Des Plaines.

The center deals with domestic problems such as marital conflict, difficult relationships between parents and children, emotional upsets, alcoholism and unmarried motherhood. Professional social workers are employed.

The newcomers met Feb. 23 to plan this year's benefit, "Showboat Goes Western," set for May 7 at Chevy Chase Country Club.

TWO MARCH events were also announced, a ladies luncheon March 10 at the Homestead Restaurant, Evanston, and a general meeting for March 23, which will be Guest Night.

Reservations for the luncheon should be made with Mrs. Ralph Lockett, 439-3424. Members who will bring guests to the general meeting should return the proper form to Mrs. Richard Strahs, 403 N. Pine, Mount Prospect, by March 5.

NEWCOMERS who wish to join the golf group which starts in June at Rob Roy course are asked to contact Mrs. R. Felhofer, 392-1862, or Mrs. J. Lister, 392-2042.

Any new area residents interested in the club may call Mrs. D. Furst, 392-7717. (S

GARDENING TIPS

Your Garden . . . Day by Day

FROM THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS GARDEN CLUB

by MARY B. GOOD

March 3

Not much time left to finish up your dormant spraying of fruit trees and ornamentals. Remember the temperature must stay over 40-45 degrees at least eight hours to spray. But don't delay, because once the leaf buds open, it is too late to use dormant spray. Prune grape vines early to avoid "bleeding" from the cut ends. Other fruit trees and bushes can be pruned between now and the middle of March.

March 4

Just out in paperback, "Grandmother's Household Hints" by Helen Lyon Adamson, a volume of household advice from the 1800's, contains this amusing item: "To Kill Plant Lice: Take 3½ ozs. of quassia chips, add 5 drams of stavesacre seeds in powder; place in 7 pts. of water and boil down to 5 pts. When cold, the liquid is ready for use; use it by means of a watering spout or syringe."

March 5

Check your lawn for snow mold and save that yard now with a good fungicide. Also check for low spots in the lawn where ice has a tendency to form and make plans to remedy it later.

March 6

A lovely surprise! Cut branches of forsythia and other early flowering shrubs as the buds swell. Give the branches a warm water spray, keep in water, and voila—instant spring!!

March 7

How'd you like $10,000.00 this year? The W. Atlee Burpee Seed Co. is still offering that prize to the first person to come up with a pure white marigold. Just for fun, why not include the addition of a near-to-white in your planting program this year? Climatic conditions could influence the combination of genetic factors and produce a white marigold in your garden.

March 8

Look over your bulbs in storage for rot and thrip damage. If you failed to do so before, dust all good specimens with a bulb dust containing DDT to discourage the wintering-over of thrips. Discard damaged bulbs.

March 9

Apply manure to your asparagus plants or use nitrate of soda (½ oz. to each plant) just before growth starts this spring.

Children Need Check-ups

Foot Health Is Important

"Children's feet need regular checkups," states Dr. Edwin N. Barron Sr., Little Rock Ark., podiatrist and president of the American Podiatry Association. "With a good percentage of our youth suffering from a wide variety of foot ailments" he emphasizes the need for both preventive care and regular maintenance.

"When foot problems become evident in the child, early professional care should be sought," advises Dr. Barron. "This is important in order to keep the disorders from developing into lasting, painful deformities by the time he or she becomes an adult.

"The bones in the feet (there are 26 in each) take almost 20 years to develop completely, but enough damage can be done during the first six years of a child to cause him distress for the rest of his life.

"Socks that are too short, shoes that are improperly fitted and garments, such as leotards that bind the feet, are contributing factors to breakdowns in foot health for these cause undue pressure and resulting trouble."

The American Podiatry Association urges parents to check their children's feet on a regular basis and obtain professional care when indicated. Dr. Barron suggests looking for cracks in the skin, especially between the toes, blisters, ingrown nails and warts — and watch how your child walks — often the first sign of foot trouble.

HE FURTHER cautions against urging your child to walk until he is ready and says never pass on shoes from one child to another.

Children's feet grow faster in the early years of life (up to age 12 children's foot size can change every three months); size of shoes should be checked at more regular intervals.

The following chart offers a guide:

2 to 6 years	after 4 weeks
6 to 10 years	after 8 weeks
10 to 12 years	after 12 weeks
12 to 15 years	after 16 weeks
15 to 20 years	after 6 months

'Y' Women to Host Husbands at Dinner

Once a year Northwest Suburban YMCA Women's Auxiliary has a Men's Night, and March 17 is this year's date. The auxiliary has scheduled Harriet Allyn for the 6:30 p.m. dinner meeting to be held in the 'Y' all-purpose room.

Harriet Allyn is an artist in her field of original character sketches and comedy. Her one-woman show does not rely on falling curtains or musical background. Instead, a quick whisk of a scarf or deft handling of a purse portrays characters of real-life people.

MISS ALLYN began her career in the theater immediately after years of study at Northwestern University School of Speech. She has done several seasons of stock and repertory work in the theater, playing one season with Geraldine Page in Tennessee William's "Summer and Smoke." Recently, she did a half-hour television show of her own sketches on CBS—TV.

At the meeting the "Y" Auxiliary, numbering over 250 women, will vote on payment of $4,000 toward its pledge of $20,000 to the "Y" building fund. To date, $13,500 has been paid on the pledge.

Reservations for the dinner will be accepted until March 14 by calling Mrs. Earl Ogier, 358-6430, or Mrs. John Gobeille, CL 5-8410. (S

Benefit Dance For 'Friends'

Arlington Heights couples, the Walter Hiddings, Andrew McMillans, Keith Rices and George Applegrins, will be dancing at a "Discotheque" Saturday evening in Devonshire Community House, Skokie. The benefit is sponsored by Chicago Junior School Village Friends in Elgin.

A Chinese dinner will start off the evening's festivities, while two "go go" girls entertain during the meal. Later an Arthur Murray instructor will put the guests through their paces with the latest dances.

VILLAGE FRIENDS is one of 15 groups who provide scholarships for students from broken homes who reside at Chicago Junior School. The campus gives the boys and girls a home atmosphere while attending school and takes children in grades one through eight.

Mrs. Hidding is president of Village Friends, and the three other local women are members. (S

GARDEN TO BE COLORED in this week's contest of the World Flower and Garden Show is a practical Midwest garden planned by Charles Klehm & Son Nursery of Arlington Heights. Its pink and white flowering crabs are the largest trees ever "forced" for the annual garden show. The garden also will feature hundreds of peonies and tree peonies in full bloom. The flowers will be petunias, marigolds, ageratums, coleus, impatiens and begonias along with hardy azaleas. In the background will be a large espalier over which St. Francis on the wall appears to give his blessing. After you've colored the picture, mail it along with your name, address and age to Paddock Publications, 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights, by next Tuesday, March 8. Children 7 through 11 are eligible to enter the contest.

Auxiliary Holds Friendship Coffee

Mrs. Thomas Peters of Elk Grove Village was hostess recently at a "Friendship Coffee" to introduce prospective members to the Countryside Auxiliary of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society.

To acquaint guests with the society's program, staff member, Mrs. Sara Leonard, showed a film, "Debbie," which explains the Auxiliary's program of securing adoptive and foster homes for children.

The meeting was conducted by the Auxiliary's vice president, Mrs. Roger Sullivan of Palatine, who announced that Tag Day, an event in which all Chicagoland auxiliaries participate, will be April 22. Mrs. Warren Walkley of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Anthony DiOrio of Palatine were appointed Tag Day co-chairmen.

Mrs. Sullivan also announced that a past president of Countryside Auxiliary, Mrs. George Koester of Palatine, was recently appointed Council President by the society. (S HOSTESS AT A RECENT Countryside Auxiliary Friendship Coffee, Mrs. Thomas Peters, greets Mrs. Sara Leonard, staff member of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, and her assistant, Miss Gretchen Wright. Miss Wright holds reels of "Debbie" which were shown to prospective auxiliary members.

COUNTRYSIDE AUXILIARY GUESTS receive brochures explaining program and aims of Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society from Mrs. Sara Leonard. Standing are Mrs. Glen Hauck, Mrs. Ray Howland, Mrs. Frank Hunter and Mrs. Albert Nuti, all of Palatine, and Mrs. Leonard. Seated are Mrs. Edward Busse, Schaumburg, Mrs. James Farley, Palatine, and Mrs. Michael Bartnett, Hoffman Estates.

Hospital Plans Gala Ball for May 14th

Hobnobbing with celebrities, dancing to a name band, an elaborate buffet and betting on filmed horse races with play money are included in the plans for Northwest Community Hospital's first annual benefit ball.

To be held Saturday, May 14, in the Post and Paddock club and also in the huge new room just completed, ticket sales will begin in mid-March. A $15 per person or $30 per couple price has been set with an additional charge of $50 for couples wishing to be listed as patrons in a booklet which will also tell the hospital story in words and pictures.

COCKTAILS, with strolling minstrels, will be served in the Post and Paddock and the buffet and dancing and entertainment will follow in the new room.

Chairman of the benefit is Dr. Constantine Soter and committee heads are Mr. and Mrs. William Ball, racing entertainment; John G. Woods, political personalities, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Alfini, entertainer personalities; Mrs. William Pailey, social; Mrs. Robert Rich, decorations; Mrs. Frederick Hodgdon, tickets and reservations; and Mrs. Clifford Jensen, booklet.

Make Closet Handy for Everyone

Every home needs a big cedar closet where off-season clothing can be stored. This closet should be located in a family room, hallway or basement rather than in a bedroom so that it's accessible to all members of the family.

Space under a stairway could also be enclosed, lined with cedar, and outfitted with hanging rods to create a family storage closet.

The closet lining can be either western red cedar or incense cedar boards installed without finish of any kind. But don't count on the cedar lining to do the whole job.

BE SURE ALL clothing to be stored has been dry cleaned or laundered so there are no food or other spots to attract a hungry moth. Also use zippered garment bags as added protection against insects and dust.

These three items — cedar closet lining, garment bags, and pre-cleaned clothing — provide triple insurance against attack from moths, silverfish and other destructive insects. (S

Area Couple Marks 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Fisher of rural Barrington will observe their 50th wedding anniversary Friday, March 4.

They were married in Chicago March 4, 1916 and made their first home near Fargo, N. D. In 1922 they moved to their present home on Cuba Road.

Their daughters, Mrs. C. Warren Burg and Mrs. Roland E. Johnson, will honor them at an open house for relatives and friends Sunday, March 6, from 2 to 4 p.m., at the Johnson home at 1430 Gloria Drive, Palatine.

Helping the couple observe the occasion will be their two grandchildren, Roland and Connie Johnson. (S

Child Study Group Plans Dad's Night

The Child Study Group of Barrington will hold its annual Father's Night Wednesday, March 9. To bring variety to the program, there will be a potluck dinner served at 7 p.m. The program, following the dinner, will be a movie produced for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., "If These Were Your Children."

This film focuses attention on the behavior of young children and is based on the premise that children often reveal their thoughts and feelings more readily through behavior than through the spoken word. It is hoped that the parents attending the program will be able to recognize early clues to possible emotional problems.

Anyone interested in this program is invited. Those wishing to participate in the dinner may contact Mrs. Theodore LaBarre at 381-4187. For those able to attend only the movie, the film will begin at 8:15. The Child Study Group meetings are held in the Crafts Room of the Barrington Field House. (S

Suburban Living

Especially for Women

THE ROARING TWENTIES presented by Music-on-Stage, Inc. Talent Bank for Our Lady of the Wayside Woman's Guild of Arlington Heights will be represented by Sally Hausman, Prospect Heights, Irene Francis, Mundelein, Don Price, Mount Prospect, Joyce Wahlquist, Wheeling, and Pat Sacco, Mundelein.

Gals of '60s to Glance at '20s

For a change of pace, Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Woman's Club, Arlington Heights, will be entertained with portions of the "Roaring Twenties" at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, March 10, in Pioneer Park. Entertaining will be the Music-on-Stage, Inc., Talent Bank, a musical group of Northwest suburban residents. The group was organized in 1956 and is dedicated to provide as much entertainment for audiences as they themselves enjoy in producing and performing in the not-for-profit shows.

Of the original 30 charter members, four remain: Mrs. Ray Dietrich, vice president, Prospect Heights; Jack Wassmer, president, and Mrs. Jack Wassmer, assistant director and publicity chairman, residents of Palatine; and Don Price of Mount Prospect. At present the group has more than 50 members and is celebrating its 10th year. In the past such Broadway classics as "Red Mill," "South Pacific," "Rose Marie," "New Moon," "Music Man," "Kismet," and "Plain and Fancy" have been presented.

Music on Stage is now working on its current spring production, "Wildcat." The show is to be staged March 26, 27, and April 1 and 2 at Prospect High School Little Theatre. Pamela Johnston, Groom On Honeymoon in Mexico

A former Arlington Heights girl, Pamela Johnston, was married Jan. 22 in St. Peter and Paul Church, Cary, to George Kraus, son of Gussie Kraus of Cary. The bride's parents, the Lewis Johnstons, now reside in Chicago.

Until her marriage, the bride had been teaching elementary school in Lakeland, Fla. She and the groom, who is a building contractor, will reside in Cary after a 6-week honeymoon in Mexico.

The wedding took place at 4 in the afternoon, as Father Dietsch performed the double ring rites.

THE BRIDE entered the sanctuary wearing a white satin brocade dress with bateau neckline, long sleeves and a chapel train. A matching headband held her 3-tiered elbow-length veil in place, and she carried a cascade of white mums, roses and stephanotis.

Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Robert Kavanagh of Chicago, who wore a floor-length moss green crepe dress with a matching green crepe headband and veil. Her bouquet was composed of white mums and yellow roses.

JOHN IRELAND of Cary, the groom's brother-in-law, was his best man, and Ray Johnston of Rolling Meadows and Eugene Kraus of Algonquin seated the guests. Mr. Johnston is an uncle of the bride, and Mr. Kraus is the groom's brother.

Immediately after the ceremony a buffet reception was held at the Moose Lodge in Crystal Lake, where 100 guests danced to the music of the Golden Tones.

A corsage of red roses was pinned to the shoulder of Mrs. Johnston's beige lace dress as she witnessed her daughter's marriage. Mrs. Kraus chose a beige silk jacket dress and had a corsage of yellow roses.

New Fabrics May Irritate Sensitive Skin

There's always a fly in the ointment, it seems. According to two Louisiana physicians, Dr. Silas E. O'Quinn and E. Barrett Kennedy, those widely advertised wrinkle-proof, crease-resistant, waterproof fabrics may contain a booby trap. The doctors have found that some people develop a skin allergy from formaldehyde, one of the chemicals used to finish fabrics.

Sometimes the offending compound can be removed by repeated laundering. If, however, skin irritation persists, it is wise to get rid of the garment. (Remember, a gift to your favorite charity-run thrift shop is tax deductible, so it won't be a total loss!) (S

Cornish Hens, Caesar Salad Are Gourmet Fare

Recipes Brought From New Orleans

by LOIS SEILER

Anyone who has dined at Brennans in New Orleans has enjoyed an unforgettable experience in eating pleasure.

This exceptional restaurant has achieved national acclaim for its superb food, and because so many of its patrons requested certain recipes, they issued a cook book featuring the favorites of their clientele.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Koller of Arlington Heights were frequent diners at Brennans when they lived in Houma, La., 50 miles from New Orleans.

"We enjoy gourmet food, and this restaurant has the finest." Mrs. Koller said.

Naturally the recipes in Brennans cook book have become the Kollers' favorites, particularly now when they are so far away from New Orleans and can prepare some of these specialties at home.

"ONE OF Brennans' most noteworthy recipes is for Rock Cornish Hens," explained Margaret Koller, "and it is one of our favorites for dinner parties."

The hens are cut in half, de-boned, filled with a delicious dressing and tied together again. The bread dressing includes such ingredients as raw oysters, ground ham, onion, celery and shallots, seasoned with parsley, bay leaf and thyme.

Baked for an hour, one half of a hen is used for each serving, with the dressing underneath. A rich gravy made of chicken stock is served over the hens. Mrs. Koller's own innovation is to add a jigger of vermouth to the gravy, which gives it extra zing.

BECAUSE THE Kollers love salads, they play a prominent role in Mrs. Koller's meal planning, often taking preference over a cooked vegetable. And so it is with Brennans, as they always accompany the elegant hens with a hearty Caesar Salad.

The flavorful dressing for this salad is made right in the salad bowl and consists of such ingredients as mashed garlic and anchovies, raw egg, lemon juice, horseradish and parmesan cheese, along with the usual vinegar and oil. It is tossed with Romaine lettuce, and croutons are sprinkled over all.

The recipe makes two large servings, which is ideal for the small family. But it can easily be increased to suit any number.

The restaurant is also famous for its different and delicious garlic bread, which is served with almost all of its meals.

French bread is cut in half lengthwise in their recipe, and the outer crust is rubbed well with garlic. The bread side is covered with melted butter and sprinkled with parmesan cheese, parsley and paprika. Additional garlic is squeezed over the top, and the bread is baked for a mere 5 to 10 minutes.

"This bread can be made in advance or even frozen, then heated before serving," said Margaret Koller. "Leftover bread freezes well, too," she added.

This tasty bread will add zest to any meal and is delightful with the Rock Cornish Hens. To top off this excellent gourmet fare, Mrs. Koller's choice is Cherries Jubilee.

The Koller family moved from Louisiana three years ago to their home at 1258 N. Yale in Arlington Heights. They have a son, Stan, 18, who is a freshman at Western Illinois University at Macomb.

GARLIC, ANCHOVIES and parmesan cheese are among the many flavorful ingredients used in the tasty Caesar salad being prepared by Mrs. Earl R. Koller of Arlington Heights. She makes this salad according to the same recipe used by the famed Brennans restaurant in New Orleans and couples it with Brennans elegant Rock Cornish Hens.

BRENNANS ROCK CORNISH HENS

½ cup butter
1 cup finely-chopped onion
½ cup finely-chopped shallots
½ cup finely-chopped celery
½ cup ground ham
1½ dozen raw oysters, drained and chopped
2 eggs, slightly-beaten
4 cups pulled bread, soaked in oyster liquid and squeezed dry
1 teaspoon powdered thyme
2 bay leaves
Salt and pepper to taste
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 Rock Cornish Hens

In a 9-inch skillet, melt butter; saute onion, celery, shallots and ham. Add oysters and heat thoroughly. Remove from heat and stir in eggs and bread. Toss well with a fork.

Return mixture to heat; add thyme, salt, pepper and parsley. Heat.

Cut hens in half and remove breast bones. Stuff hens, putting the halves together, and tie the legs. Brush well with melted butter. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in a pre-heated oven for one hour or until done. Remove hens to serving platter and keep warm.

Prepare the following gravy:

Drippings from roasting the hens
2 tablespoons flour
1½ cups chicken stock

Blend the flour into the drippings and brown. Then stir in the chicken stock. Stir until smooth and cook until thickened. Strain gravy and serve over hens. Serve a half hen per person, with dressing underneath. Serves 4.

BRENNANS CAESAR SALAD

Romaine lettuce
2 strips anchovies
1 pod garlic, slivered
1 raw egg
Juice of ½ lemon
½ teaspoon horseradish
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
1½ tablespoons salad oil
1 teaspoon parmesan cheese
Croutons

In a salad bowl, mash anchovies and garlic. Dip the egg (in the shell) for a quick moment into boiling water. Break into the salad bowl. Add the horseradish, vinegar, oil, cheese and Worcestershire sauce. Mix ingredients well.

Break romaine lettuce into the dressing and toss. Sprinkle with the croutons. Serves 2 generously.

BRENNANS GARLIC BREAD

1 loaf French bread
4 cloves garlic, peeled
½ cup butter, melted
¼ cup parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon paprika

Thoroughly rub outside crust of bread with two slightly-crushed cloves of garlic. Split loaves in half, lengthwise. Completely cover cut surface with melted butter.

Combine cheese, parsley and paprika and sprinkle over buttered surface. Press (with garlic press) the remaining 2 cloves garlic over bread.

Place in a 350 degree oven for 5 to 10 minutes, or until very hot. Cut into serving-size pieces. Serves 6. (SH

Paddock 'Hen Party'

Bruises, Aches and Fun Mix Well at Ice Skating Soiree

Footstools, a lounge chair and a coffee table in the middle of a private ice skating pond added many of the comforts of home on a wintry night last week when Paddock "girls" gathered for their annual skating festival. Not included in the "comforts" however, was the coziness of warm, soft carpeting as those who found the hard, icy "floor" will vouch.

For the get-together, one of many "hen parties" enjoyed each year by the genial Paddock girls, the 20 skaters bundled up in long underwear, umpteen sweaters and ear muffs. In the good old days the boys lent a helping hand, but for this evening the skaters pulled, tugged and laced their own skates.

Once on the ice they kept their toes toasty by sipping piping hot buttered rum ladled from a huge pot on the barbecue grill into thermo cups. After a few dozen spills and tumbles and a game of crack the whip the gang dined on hot dogs and the trimmings in the home of the hostess, Women's Editor Marianne Scott.

Fireside entertainment by Paddock "virtuosos" of the organ and guitar concluded the merriment and the next-day re-hash compared bruises and aches. But who ever heard of a lounge chair skater?

NO SONJA HENIE, Mary Schulze of Arlington Heights came to recent ice skating party armored with pillow in the right place. Mary gets an assist from a wobbly friend, Joan Gary of Mount Prospect as she gingerly glides onto the ice.

CLOWNING ON ICE, especially hwen you skate only once a year, takes a lot of skill. Atlhough Doe Baran of Prospect Heights hammed it up she maintained her record of no tumbles. (S

AN EXPERT SKATER by Paddock standards is Verla York of Mount Prospect who shows Oklahoman, Jane Warren how it's done. Jane had seen very little snow and less ice skating until moving to Arlington Heights last year.

Judge Walter Dahl to Speak

Judge Walter P. Dahl, recently appointed presiding judge of the Juvenile Court, will be the featured speaker at the March 10 general meeting of Arlington Heights branch of the American Association of University Women. The meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m. in Arlington Heights Savings and Loan building.

DURING the branch business meeting, members will vote on emerging issues which will be sent to the State and Association Program Development Chairmen for consideration as ideas for future topics.

A committee led by Mrs. Charles A. Aldag, branch first vice president in charge of program development, met last week and drew up the following five issues from which members will choose three:

How can we manage our money more effectively?

What is the responsibility of the educated woman in the modern world?

United States involvement in Latin America.

Are the new concepts in early learning being effectively implemented in the elementary grades?

Paddock 'Hen Party'

Bruises, Aches and Fun Mix Well at Ice Skating Soiree

Footstools, a lounge chair and a coffee table in the middle of a private ice skating pond added many of the comforts of home on a wintry night last week when Paddock "girls" gathered for their annual skating festival. Not included in the "comforts" however, was the coziness of warm, soft carpeting as those who found the hard, icy "floor" will vouch.

For the get-together, one of many "hen parties" enjoyed each year by the genial Paddock girls, the 20 skaters bundled up in long underwear, umpteen sweaters and ear muffs. In the good old days the boys lent a helping hand, but for this evening the skaters pulled, tugged and laced their own skates.

Once on the ice they kept their toes toasty by sipping piping hot buttered rum ladled from a huge pot on the barbecue grill into thermo cups. After a few dozen spills and tumbles and a game of crack the whip the gang dined on hot dogs and the trimmings in the home of the hostess, Women's Editor Marianne Scott.

Fireside entertainment by Paddock "virtuosos" of the organ and guitar concluded the merriment and the next-day re-hash compared bruises and aches. But who ever heard of a lounge chair skater?

NO SONJA HENIE, Mary Schulze of Arlington Heights came to recent ice skating party armored with pillow in the right place. Mary gets an assist from a wobbly friend, Joan Gary of Mount Prospect as she gingerly glides onto the ice.

CLOWNING ON ICE, especially hwen you skate only once a year, takes a lot of skill. Atlhough Doe Baran of Prospect Heights hammed it up she maintained her record of no tumbles. (S

AN EXPERT SKATER by Paddock standards is Verla York of Mount Prospect who shows Oklahoman, Jane Warren how it's done. Jane had seen very little snow and less ice skating until moving to Arlington Heights last year.

The collection of casual clothes, tailored suits and coats, afternoon dresses and children's ensembles will be modeled by club members and their children. Appearing on the runway will be Mrs. G. Fitzgerald, Mrs. M. Garry, Mrs. J. Fogarty, Mrs. R. Lahti, Mrs. R. Schwettman, Mrs. L. Gross, Mrs. R. Goeke, Mrs. W. T. Blood, Mrs. R. Goetz, Mrs. J. Orlebeck, Mrs. F. Carlton, Mrs. J. Zamrazil Jr., Mrs. J. Raufeisen and Mrs. R. Jaeger and daughter Betsy.

Here's New Trick with Old Favorite

Take that popular twosome—jelly and peanut butter. Spread lavishly on bread then dip in an egg-milk mixture and grill to a golden doneness. Top with a quick dusting of confectioners' sugar and nutmeg and you've a guaranteed success.

The crusty exterior blends toothsomely with the sweet fruit flavored filling on the inside. It's an ideal lunch for the school crowd; fine, too, for a quick-and-easy family supper on those days when Mom is involved in afternoon civic activities. And preparing Jiffy Grilled Jelly (any jam or jelly) and Peanut Butter Sandwiches is a fun way for the young lady of the house to begin the test of her culinary skill.

JIFFY GRILLED JELLY AND PEANUT BUTTER SANDWICHES

Grill or Skillet

12 slices white bread
1 jar (10 to 12 ounce) preserves, marmalade or jelly, any flavor desired
¾ cup peanut butter, creamy or chunk style
¾ cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
Confectioners' sugar
Nutmeg

Spread 6 slices of bread with desired preserves, marmalade or jelly. Cover with remaining bread slices spread with peanut butter. Add milk, sugar, salt and vanilla to eggs. Stir until sugar dissolves. Dip each sandwich into egg mixture quickly; turn and quickly remove from egg mixture. Drain. Brown on both sides in butter or margarine, turning sandwich only once. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and nutmeg and cut in half diagonally. Yield: 6 sandwiches. (SH

Food a Bargain

Only 19 cents out of every dollar is spent on food in the United States, which is a bargain any way you look at it, quality or quantity or nutrition-wise.

Think of the servings you get from a large roast, served the first time as a roast, then part of the remainder sliced for sandwiches, or heated in left-over gravy to go over rice, noodles or biscuits. What's left from that can be ground and combined with chopped celery and pickle with enough mayonnaise for salad or sandwiches.

Meat Flavoring

The syrup left from pickled fruits, such as peaches or pears, makes a delicious flavoring for roast meats. Try pouring such juices, diluted with an equal amount of water, over a roast veal or beef.

Men Will Like This Hearty Chicken Dish

Men love hearty chicken dishes. Classic Country Captain was first introduced in the South by sea captains who had eaten this curry-flavored favorite in the Orient. Now it is a national classic and perfection for dinner on a winter evening.

COUNTRY CAPTAIN

1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving pieces
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 medium onion, chopped
1 small green pepper, chopped
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 teaspoons curry powder
½ teaspoon leaf thyme
1 can (1 pound) seasoned stewed tomatoes
¼ cup currants or raisins
Hot cooked rice
Toasted blanched almonds
Chutney

Sprinkle chicken pieces on both sides with salt and pepper. Heat butter in large skillet; add chicken and brown on all sides. Remove chicken from skillet and add onion, green pepper, garlic, curry powder and thyme. Cook until onion is tender but not brown. Add stewed tomatoes, currants and chicken. Cook, covered, 20 to 30 minutes, until chicken is tender. Serve over rice with almonds and chutney. Yield: 4 servings.

Fruited Pork Chops Easy to Fix

Double thick pork chops smothered in onions and tart apples and topped with a slice of tangy pineapple will prove to be one of your family's favorite casseroles.

This hearty Fruited Pork Chop casserole can be made ahead of time and baked the hour before dinner. Or, set the automatic control of your oven and go off to enjoy your bridge game or shopping.

FRUITED PORK CHOPS
(serves 4)

4 double thick pork chops
4 slices apple
4 slices onion salt
pepper
4 slices pineapple

Brown pork chops on both sides in casserole. Top with apple, onion and seasonings. Cover casserole and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until done. Remove from oven and top with pineapple slice. Bake 15 minutes or until pineapple is tipped with brown. (SH

Fancy Eggs

For fancy deviled eggs for relish tray, fold crumbled blue cheese into hard cooked egg yolks that have been seasoned with mayonnaise, mustard, salt, pepper and bits of chive or onion. Stuff whites with mixture. Sprinkle with paprika and chopped parsley. (SH

'Pretty Up,' Russia Orders Its Women

Latest reports from Russia are that the government wants Soviet women to make themselves prettier. They can still sweep the streets and man the bulldozers, but beauty care now is not only in order, it is an order, and "snow facials" are set forth as the first essential step.

In fact, in an effort to catch up and match up with Western beauty, Soviet officialdom is setting up an Institute of Cosmetology with no less than 300 skin specialists doing scientific research on the subject.

THE RUSSIAN "discovery" of the snow facial comes a bit late. Snow and ice are accepted skin beauty treatments used for years in exclusive beauty salons throughout the United States and Europe. Both snow and ice have excellent astringent properties. Therefore, they reduce oiliness, which helps to heal and prevent skin blemishes, refine coarse pores and generally leave the skin looking clearer, softer, smoother.

American scientists are well ahead of Soviet scientists with the development of a new kind of "ice-o-derm" treatment for the skin, which offers all the inherent beauty benefits of snow and ice, plus special healing and antiseptic qualities. Formulated especially for deep-pore cleansing, it gives an icy tingle when applied, and it is said that one can almost "feel" it helping to clear a problem skin.

Understanding Can Stop Birth Blues

An ounce of prevention can avert postpartum depression, a not uncommon condition following childbirth.

Dr. Lloyd Elam, who heads the department of psychiatry at Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn., believes that if a woman is encouraged by her physician to air her fears and problems during pregnancy, she may get just the support she needs to handle them effectively, and may thus avoid "birth blues."

ACCORDING TO Dr. Elam, "Any pregnant woman who suffers a loss, fears an increase of responsibility or has a diminishing ability to take care of things is a likely candidate for postpartum depression."

Sensitive understanding is the "miracle drug" such a woman needs during her pregnancy and afterwards as well, says the psychiatrist.

Dr. Elam notes that postpartum depression usually sets in about the fourth day after the baby is born, but that its forerunner, apathy, often begins on the second day. If such a sign appears, it should be treated promptly. (S

Horn Blowing May Aid Bite

Playing of certain types of wind instruments may help correct malocclusion, (faulty bite), Dr. S. Seidner, Tel Aviv, Israel, has reported. He pointed out that playing a signal horn may aid orthodontic treatment in children with protruding upper teeth and playing a blockflute may be helpful in treating protruding lower teeth.

Week's Best Food Buys

Consumers are reacting to higher food prices. Volume is down in more stores. There are supply back-ups of the major menu-making meats. Result: promotions are scheduled for more beef cuts, bacon, smoked butts and occasionally lamb. Fryers and turkeys also are off in some stores.

Butter is higher again. Large eggs cost more too. Produce quality continues to vary widely; prices too. Asparagus is on the way.

CHICAGO AREA food values:

Meats: round and sirloin steaks, rib roasts, ground beef, rump roasts, blade cut chuck roasts, second line bacon brands, smoked pork butt, pork steaks.

Poultry: fryers, hen turkeys.

Produce: potatoes, onions, carrots, cabbage, lettuce, radishes; bananas, midwest apples, grapefruit. (SH

Speedy Barbecue

Cubed steaks give a quick skillet barbecue on the evenings when the homemaker doesn't have much time to prepare dinner. Panfry the steaks in lard or drippings in the frying-pan, then add ¼ to ½ cup of barbecue sauce. Cover the frying-pan tightly and cook slowly approximately 30 minutes, thus allowing the flavor of the barbecue sauce to develop fully.

French-fried frozen potatoes heated in the oven give a quick accompaniment along with a big bowl of green salad with favorite dressing. Dessert might be another quickie: chocolate ice cream cake roll from the freezer.

Chef's Touch

With small cookie cutter, cut fancy figures from chilled, sliced jellied cranberry sauce. Use for eye interest on an orange-frosted cake, molded fruit salad or company sandwiches. (SH

For Luncheon Try Raisin Ham Mousse

California raisins make the distinctive difference in this satisfying ham mousse. Mold ground ham, plump raisins, celery and lots of good seasonings with unflavored gelatin for a special luncheon entree. It has a built-in dressing of mayonnaise and whipped cream. Slices of canned pineapple and cranberry sauce make colorful garnishes.

DELUXE RAISIN HAM MOUSSE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1¼ cups water
1½ teaspoons prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup California raisins
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
¾ cup whipping cream
1/3 cup mayonnaise
3 cups ground cooked ham
1 cup finely chopped celery

Sprinkle gelatin on ½ cup water to soften; stir over low heat until dissolved. Take from heat; add remaining ¾ cup water and salt. Chill until slightly thickened. Meanwhile, boil raisins with water to cover 5 minutes; drain and cool. Fold raisins, horseradish, whipped cream, mayonnaise, ham and celery into gelatin. Turn into 8½ x4½x2½-inch loaf pan. Chill until firm. Unmold to serve. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Quick Casserole

When you know you are going to have a busy afternoon and will get home too late to cook, try this Quick Chicken Tetrazzini. Prepare the dish in the morning, refrigerate it, and have your husband pop it into the oven an hour before dinner. In a casserole dish arrange cooked spaghetti, top with your favorite creamed chicken mixed with canned mushrooms, and sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 1 hour. (SH

Here's New Trick with Old Favorite

Take that popular twosome—jelly and peanut butter. Spread lavishly on bread then dip in an egg-milk mixture and grill to a golden doneness. Top with a quick dusting of confectioners' sugar and nutmeg and you've a guaranteed success.

The crusty exterior blends toothsomely with the sweet fruit flavored filling on the inside. It's an ideal lunch for the school crowd; fine, too, for a quick-and-easy family supper on those days when Mom is involved in afternoon civic activities. And preparing Jiffy Grilled Jelly (any jam or jelly) and Peanut Butter Sandwiches is a fun way for the young lady of the house to begin the test of her culinary skill.

JIFFY GRILLED JELLY AND PEANUT BUTTER SANDWICHES

Grill or Skillet

12 slices white bread
1 jar (10 to 12 ounce) preserves, marmalade or jelly, any flavor desired
¾ cup peanut butter, creamy or chunk style
¾ cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
Confectioners' sugar
Nutmeg

Spread 6 slices of bread with desired preserves, marmalade or jelly. Cover with remaining bread slices spread with peanut butter. Add milk, sugar, salt and vanilla to eggs. Stir until sugar dissolves. Dip each sandwich into egg mixture quickly; turn and quickly remove from egg mixture. Drain. Brown on both sides in butter or margarine, turning sandwich only once. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and nutmeg and cut in half diagonally. Yield: 6 sandwiches. (SH

Food a Bargain

Only 19 cents out of every dollar is spent on food in the United States, which is a bargain any way you look at it, quality or quantity or nutrition-wise.

Think of the servings you get from a large roast, served the first time as a roast, then part of the remainder sliced for sandwiches, or heated in left-over gravy to go over rice, noodles or biscuits. What's left from that can be ground and combined with chopped celery and pickle with enough mayonnaise for salad or sandwiches.

Meat Flavoring

The syrup left from pickled fruits, such as peaches or pears, makes a delicious flavoring for roast meats. Try pouring such juices, diluted with an equal amount of water, over a roast veal or beef.

Men Will Like This Hearty Chicken Dish

Men love hearty chicken dishes. Classic Country Captain was first introduced in the South by sea captains who had eaten this curry-flavored favorite in the Orient. Now it is a national classic and perfection for dinner on a winter evening.

COUNTRY CAPTAIN

1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving pieces
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 medium onion, chopped
1 small green pepper, chopped
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 teaspoons curry powder
½ teaspoon leaf thyme
1 can (1 pound) seasoned stewed tomatoes
¼ cup currants or raisins
Hot cooked rice
Toasted blanched almonds
Chutney

Sprinkle chicken pieces on both sides with salt and pepper. Heat butter in large skillet; add chicken and brown on all sides. Remove chicken from skillet and add onion, green pepper, garlic, curry powder and thyme. Cook until onion is tender but not brown. Add stewed tomatoes, currants and chicken. Cook, covered, 20 to 30 minutes, until chicken is tender. Serve over rice with almonds and chutney. Yield: 4 servings.

Fruited Pork Chops Easy to Fix

Double thick pork chops smothered in onions and tart apples and topped with a slice of tangy pineapple will prove to be one of your family's favorite casseroles.

This hearty Fruited Pork Chop casserole can be made ahead of time and baked the hour before dinner. Or, set the automatic control of your oven and go off to enjoy your bridge game or shopping.

FRUITED PORK CHOPS
(serves 4)

4 double thick pork chops
4 slices apple
4 slices onion salt
pepper
4 slices pineapple

Brown pork chops on both sides in casserole. Top with apple, onion and seasonings. Cover casserole and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until done. Remove from oven and top with pineapple slice. Bake 15 minutes or until pineapple is tipped with brown. (SH

Fancy Eggs

For fancy deviled eggs for relish tray, fold crumbled blue cheese into hard cooked egg yolks that have been seasoned with mayonnaise, mustard, salt, pepper and bits of chive or onion. Stuff whites with mixture. Sprinkle with paprika and chopped parsley. (SH

'Pretty Up,' Russia Orders Its Women

Latest reports from Russia are that the government wants Soviet women to make themselves prettier. They can still sweep the streets and man the bulldozers, but beauty care now is not only in order, it is an order, and "snow facials" are set forth as the first essential step.

In fact, in an effort to catch up and match up with Western beauty, Soviet officialdom is setting up an Institute of Cosmetology with no less than 300 skin specialists doing scientific research on the subject.

THE RUSSIAN "discovery" of the snow facial comes a bit late. Snow and ice are accepted skin beauty treatments used for years in exclusive beauty salons throughout the United States and Europe. Both snow and ice have excellent astringent properties. Therefore, they reduce oiliness, which helps to heal and prevent skin blemishes, refine coarse pores and generally leave the skin looking clearer, softer, smoother.

American scientists are well ahead of Soviet scientists with the development of a new kind of "ice-o-derm" treatment for the skin, which offers all the inherent beauty benefits of snow and ice, plus special healing and antiseptic qualities. Formulated especially for deep-pore cleansing, it gives an icy tingle when applied, and it is said that one can almost "feel" it helping to clear a problem skin.

Understanding Can Stop Birth Blues

An ounce of prevention can avert postpartum depression, a not uncommon condition following childbirth.

Dr. Lloyd Elam, who heads the department of psychiatry at Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn., believes that if a woman is encouraged by her physician to air her fears and problems during pregnancy, she may get just the support she needs to handle them effectively, and may thus avoid "birth blues."

ACCORDING TO Dr. Elam, "Any pregnant woman who suffers a loss, fears an increase of responsibility or has a diminishing ability to take care of things is a likely candidate for postpartum depression."

Sensitive understanding is the "miracle drug" such a woman needs during her pregnancy and afterwards as well, says the psychiatrist.

Dr. Elam notes that postpartum depression usually sets in about the fourth day after the baby is born, but that its forerunner, apathy, often begins on the second day. If such a sign appears, it should be treated promptly. (S

Horn Blowing May Aid Bite

Playing of certain types of wind instruments may help correct malocclusion, (faulty bite), Dr. S. Seidner, Tel Aviv, Israel, has reported. He pointed out that playing a signal horn may aid orthodontic treatment in children with protruding upper teeth and playing a blockflute may be helpful in treating protruding lower teeth.

Week's Best Food Buys

Consumers are reacting to higher food prices. Volume is down in more stores. There are supply back-ups of the major menu-making meats. Result: promotions are scheduled for more beef cuts, bacon, smoked butts and occasionally lamb. Fryers and turkeys also are off in some stores.

Butter is higher again. Large eggs cost more too. Produce quality continues to vary widely; prices too. Asparagus is on the way.

CHICAGO AREA food values:

Meats: round and sirloin steaks, rib roasts, ground beef, rump roasts, blade cut chuck roasts, second line bacon brands, smoked pork butt, pork steaks.

Poultry: fryers, hen turkeys.

Produce: potatoes, onions, carrots, cabbage, lettuce, radishes; bananas, midwest apples, grapefruit. (SH

Speedy Barbecue

Cubed steaks give a quick skillet barbecue on the evenings when the homemaker doesn't have much time to prepare dinner. Panfry the steaks in lard or drippings in the frying-pan, then add ¼ to ½ cup of barbecue sauce. Cover the frying-pan tightly and cook slowly approximately 30 minutes, thus allowing the flavor of the barbecue sauce to develop fully.

French-fried frozen potatoes heated in the oven give a quick accompaniment along with a big bowl of green salad with favorite dressing. Dessert might be another quickie: chocolate ice cream cake roll from the freezer.

Chef's Touch

With small cookie cutter, cut fancy figures from chilled, sliced jellied cranberry sauce. Use for eye interest on an orange-frosted cake, molded fruit salad or company sandwiches. (SH
